Speaking of reminiscences, we have the following letter from a "Collector for Fifty Years," as an old-timer signs himself. He says that Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer, the president of the American Philatelic Society, was a dealer in Philadelphia forty years ago or more and that he remembers that Mr. Wolsieffer had a rubber stamp ingeniously following the design of the Centennial envelopes that proclaimed the fact that Mr. Wolsieffer had stamps to sell to all and sundry. Further, he pays a tribute to Mr. L. W. Durbin who was a fine type of dealer and built up a reputation in Philadelphia for intelligent and courteous practices that was not confined to that city. The closing sentence of this letter is quoted: "Dealers in those days did not seem to be genial fellows as a rule, and they seemed to view all their customers with the cold eye of suspicion. The fact is that they were individuals who were courted as many collectors did not know that places or shops existed where stamps could be bought. Scott's albums were handled by the Western News Company in Chicago in the '70's, but there were not many indications of stamp collecting in the newspapers or in the down-town districts of the big cities. Of course, there were always advertisements of dealers to be found in the juvenile publications, but they were mostly mail-order firms; and in fact, one or two of them advertised that business was transacted only by mail."

News of the death of W. F. Greany, San Francisco, has been received from Mr. H. B. Seagrave, Pontiac, Michigan, who says: "I have seen no announcement of the death of W. F. Greany, San Francisco, California, who has been a correspondent of mine for very many years. He passed away last October, after having dealt in stamps for a long period of time. He lost many stamps in the earthquake there in 1906." Mr. Greany handled stamps commercially for over fifty years and his advertisement offering stamps, coins and curios has been familiar to several generations of collectors. His stock was rich in proprietary revenue stamps and state general issues and his illustrated price-list of sixty-four pages was pored over by collectors almost everywhere. Mr. Greany had a special collection of Colombian Republic issues that attracted attention even among the many fine collections possessed by Californians, thirty years ago. Mr. Greany's age was a ripe one and though he was not prominent in organized philately, a countless number of collectors knew his name.

Mr. J. V. Yegge, DeWitt, Iowa, has shown us a three cent of 1861 on the envelope with the neat cancellation in postmark form: "Chicago to Cedar Rapids, Jan.10.West." This railroad cancellation was one of the first to be employed on the mail car of Armstrong's "invention" and we are anxious to know if any of our readers can confirm the year date of the use of the postmark. Too, we wish to know if any of these railroad postmarks showing "east" instead of "west" in the postmark are in the hands of collectors.

Heaven help the poor postmaster general for we no longer can. We have hinted at times in the past that it is meet that those philatelists who are at home with the utensil that is mightier than the sword refrain from inditing their gems of thought to him unless there is some reasonable excuse. Now comes the blow that makes father quail. We are told that it was suggested to the boss of stamp works that it would be fitting the department to issue a Fourth-of-J stamp that would be good for post only during July. That is all right w us as our birthday is on the fifth of J but pity the poor P. M. G. who has "Sir" the writer and tell him why and h the "suggestion" of the writer wi thankfully received is not feasible practical. We are of the opinion that Stamp Agency has the effect of light ing the volume of mail to Washing from collectors but we doubt if the t ever will come when the young colle is not willing to help the postmaster g eral out with ideas, both novel striking!

WAR ISSUES OF BRITISH COLONIES

Reported by CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

On May 20th, Mr. Robert Levis showed fine collection of the War Issues of British Colonies and Possessions at Collectors Club.

In the course of his very interesting adress on the history of these stamps, Mr. Levis gave us many interesting de-tls of the different issues, numbers is-ed, and the rarity of many of the e'ors. He stated that he had nearly one hundred varieties and errors not in the Scott Co. catalogue.

Mr. Levis disclosed quite a romance in gard to one of his sets of rare War ues.

He ascertained that a Captain Hall of ew South Wales was the commanding itish officer at the capture of New inea from the Germans in 1914, and he sured two sets of the rare surcharges R. I. on the German New Guinea mps. The Captain was engaged to a iss Macawber of Australia and after e war they were married and the ney they received for the War Pro-ionals went to furnish their new home.

Mr. Levis showed complete sets of ew Britain on German New Guinea, th the two different spaces between the e of the surcharge, and he explained t one of these was printed at the coast wn and the other at an inland town.

He also showed most of the errors in e surcharges.

In the Marshall Isles, Togo and Samoa, showed the regular sets complete and ny of the rare errors.

In Jamaica he showed an extraordinary of errors with a number of uncata-gued varieties.

Mr. Levis also brought with him his llection of 20th Century British Colo-nls; very complete and interesting with ny of the rarities.

CHAPTER VII.

Building a Collection.

For doing anything, there are good ways and bad. In everything, a bad start should be avoided. Having spread out your nucleus quantity of specimens among the pages of your album, you now come face to face with an interesting problem, to solve which in the preceding chapter, ten ways are listed.

Which shall you choose? The answer would seem to be comprised in another question: What stamps shall I give preference to?

Already you know your favorite countries. The point to decide now is: Shall your collection be of twentieth century or nineteenth century issues? If nineteenth century, shall the specimens be used or unused, regular postals or commemoratives?

These queries involve consideration of the following:—

(a) Nineteenth centuries belong to the obsolete class, and therefore not as "common" as current twentieth centuries.

(b) Twentieth centuries embrace stamps issued since the close of the year 1900, and with the numerous issues during and since the Great War by old and new countries, offer an almost inexhaustible field. New series appear ever so often, adding zest to some philatelists and causing dismay to others.

(c) If confining your collection to twentieth century issues you can restrict your specimens to used or "unused mint condition" stamps only, augmenting your collection by acquisition of new series as they make their debut in the postal world. Nineteenth century "mints" are harder to get, being scarcer and commanding premiums over their "par" face values.

(d) Commemorative stamps are special series issued to celebrate some national anniversary or to mark the occurrence of some notable event. They are in every respect legitimate postage stamps. Most collectors include in their collections under the same consideration as for the regular issues; but some collectors keep separate albums to hold commemoratives only. The latter are frequently of unusual design and size.

(e) Regular series are stamps issued strictly for postal purposes, namely: franking mail matter and parcel posts. Stamps used for telegraph services, telephone taxes, proprietary medicines, documentary stamp duties, receipt and cheque taxation, tobacco imposts, notarial registrations, stock or share certificates, etc., are not properly classifiable as regular postal series. They belong to the group known as "revenue stamps", and are best collected separately and kept apart from the regular postage stamps.

(f) Stamps for "postage dues" or "short postage tax" fall under the category of regular postal series.

(g) Special issues, such as regular stamps with surcharges or other authorized additions imprinted on their face or back, are particularly prized when genuine and are to be entirely discountenanced when doubtful.

If you will bear in mind the foregoing observations and decide on a definite category or categories of stamps to put into your collection, you will be rendering your hobby so much more specific in aim, thereby bringing your ambition perceptibly nearer your reach.

Philatelists cannot be standardized. The pursuit of the hobby is modifiable by one's individual predilections. Consequently, it is entirely up to you to favor such groups of stamps as you may find of especial appeal to yourself.

After you have decided on your groups, there still remains the matter of what particular stamps of each such groups. This phase may be decided on any one of the following bases:— (i) By value. (ii) By sets. (iii) By colors.

If your basis is "by value" (i), you may limit your specimens either to stamps having a certain face value and less, or to those having a certain face value and higher. If "by sets" (ii), you may build up the sets of which you already have nucleus specimens, or you may choose to build up the series that attract you by their designs, or dates of issue, or the reason that prompted their birth. If "by colors". (iii), you may select only such specimens as will, because of their size, or color scheme, or general appearance, enable you to build up artistically balanced harmonizing pages.

Each of these three bases is elastic. No hard and fast rules are applicable. But your main program should never be lost sight of. The results will prove gratifying—in the pleasure derived, the work accomplished and the intrinsic monetary worth of the filled album.

BOOK REVIEW

Any of our subscribers who would like a copy of the "Stamp Collecting" Year Book may procure one by remitting 25c to F. H. Vallancey, 89 Farringdon St., London, E.C.4, England. This is the first edition and is dated May, 1925. It contains a large amount of information that will prove of value to anyone at all interested in philately. A glance at its contents reveals a review of the year, a list of the new books that have been published, a table of currencies, a list of the exhibitions held during 1924-25, a philatelic glossary, a list of the members of the Stamp Trade Protection Association, itinerary of a two-days' tour among London dealers, a list of philatelic societies and exchange clubs, a directory of the world's philatelic press, a directory of dealers, both domestic and foreign, and other departments of interest. What we have written will demonstrate the value of the work and we can heartily commend its ninety pages to our readers.

A second edition of the "Postage Stamps of Ireland" has just been issued by W. G. Meredith, 5 Elmbourne Road, London, S.W.17, England. This second edition has been made necessary by the many important changes in prices that have occurred during the past year. The handbook gives full details of the plates and settings of all the Irish overprints of 1922-23. It contains a complete priced catalog of all the normal types, controls and varieties, together with many illustrations. The publishing of the second edition has given the author opportunity to enlarge it by including complete details of the plates and setting of the overprints. Price 60c.

½c Provisionals

The postmasters in numerous sections of the country were required to split 1c stamps in order to prepay the extra ½c postage required on circular letters, in accordance with the new rates that went into effect on April 15th. These historical covers are not available in quantities and are likely to be extremely desirable and difficult to obtain as time goes on. I can offer a limited quantity, which I can guarantee as going through the mails, at the very low price of $1.50 per cover. These were used from a post office where no ½c stamps were available.

Franklin Carrier

Mr. Hugh M. Clark of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company has shown me quite an unusual piece, namely, a very fine horizontal pair of the 1c blue Franklin Carrier, with green grid cancellation, the pair being on a small piece of the cover. In addition, it has a part of a green cancellation which on comparison with other covers shows it to be the well known "N. O. U. S. City Post" cancellation. This is the first used pair that I recall ever having seen.

Norse-American Series

Those who have examined the 5c stamp of the recently issued Norse American series will note with great interest that the Viking ship shows the Norwegian flag at one end, whereas the American flag is on the other end. I do not refer to the blue flags in the border, but the actual flags on the ship. A sharp glass will plainly show the stars and stripes. We are afraid that the engraver who copied the little sketch of the ship was not well up on his history, for Viking ships sailed the seas at a time when the American flag was something of the far distant future. We also find in this series, like the Pilgrim stamps, that the Department overlooked mentioning "U. S." or "United States," so that if one not posted on the subject picked up a stamp, he would believe that it was issued both by the Norwegian and American Governments.

½c Postage Due

The question has been asked a number of times as to how the Department contemplated collecting the ½c postage due. The question has been satisfactorily answered by a post-card sent out by the Honorable Secretary of the Collectors Club of New York, wherein he paid postage by a 1½c stamp only, evidently not being fully informed as to the prevailing postal rates for private postal cards. The Department attached to the card a ½c Postage Due stamp and in addition attached an unused ½c stamp by means of a clip and collected 1c postage—quite a novel way to conclude the transaction.

New 1925 Envelopes

Mr. H. Clay Reed writes to report that he has located two more new envelopes with the new watermark not mentioned in his recent list.

1½c Schermack Perforation

Mr. Benjamin Cadbury writes that he has just seen a copy of the 1½c flat plate variety with Schermack No. 3 perforation, the stamp having been used by the Olsen Rug Company of Chicago. The use of our stamps with any other than the regular official perforations is becoming unusual, for the metered mail seems to be putting the old stamp affixing machines out of the market. As a result, those not using the Government coils, as a rule, use the metered mail, so that it is quite possible the time is not far distant, when the Department will no longer issue imperforated stamps for this purpose.

Arkansas State Revenues

Mr. William H. Moore writes that the State of Arkansas is about to issue a new series of State Revenue stamps in two types, one to collect cigar tax which will be printed in red and the other type to collect the cigarette tax, and these will be printed in green. The designs in both cases were drawn by Mr. Oliver A. Ebbing, an artist connected with the Democratic Printing & Lithographing Co. where the stamps are to be printed. Mr. Moore writes that this firm has received an initial order for a million of these stamps. He does not inform us as to the denominations that will appear.

We wish to thank Messrs. C. W. Haynes, H. L. Hammellman, Harry Griffin and H. F. Metz for notes of interest.

KARAGEORGES NO. 2 ATHENS, GREECE

PHILATELY IN PHILADELPHIA

By GEORGE NOX MCCAIN.

(The following article appeared in a recent issue of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. It was sent us by Roy N. Tope, and we consider it interesting enough to pass on to our readers. —W. O. W.)

Recently a small bag full of old envelopes, torn into halves and quarters, faded, crumpled, some dirty, others indecipherable as to superscription, were delivered to a gentleman in this city.

All of the letters in the bag had passed through the mails—some of them fifty years ago.

They had been fished out of several bales of waste paper shipped here from a British seaport.

England, it is not generally known, sends thousands of tons of waste paper annually to the United States.

It is the result of "clean-up days" in homes, offices and stores, besides ragmen's findings.

It is converted into paper stock at American mills.

The apparently disreputable bag of waste, which weighed only a few pounds and could be carried in one's hand, proved to be a gold mine.

Dickens' "Golden Dustman" never made such a haul in his picturesque career.

It yielded material which, when carefully sorted, selected, cleaned and passed under the microscope, showed values of $2,000.

The wealth was in the canceled, old and rare stamps.

Philadelphia is one of the four great stamp-collecting centers of the world. In Europe it is London and Paris; in this country, New York and Philadelphia.

Stamp-collecting, or philately, is not, as the uninitiated imagine, the mere fad of schoolboys and the hobby of grown men.

It has developed in the course of years into a science. It has its technical libraries, experts and learned authorities, counterfeiters and historians and national and international societies.

Millions of dollars are invested in collections.

The most distinguished collector in the world is His Majesty of Great Britain.

His collection of stamps is said to be priceless.

In Philadelphia there is one collection, meticulously guarded, whose estimated value is around $100,000.

A "stamp catalogue" of today contains 1500 pages.

The cable brought the news from Paris ten days ago that three Philadelphia philatelists had been awarded medals for the excellency and variety of their collections at the International Stamp Exposition.

Two of these Philadelphia connoisseurs thought it worth while to go to Paris to this exposition.

Collectors from all over the world are in attendance.

Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman, of New Jersey, who witnessed the opening of this Philatelic World's Fair, wrote that it was the most remarkable thing of its kind he had ever seen.

People stood in queues for half an hour before they could reach the ticket window.

Last year I sent a story from Paris about the open-air stamp mart in the Champs Elysee.

The only one in the world.

Hundreds of men and women had gathered on a Sunday—they gather every Sunday—to buy, sell, trade and exchange stamps.

They were doing business on this particular day under umbrellas in a rainstorm.

P. M. Wolsieffer, of this city, is president of the American Philatelic Society.

It is nation-wide in its membership. It publishes a very interesting magazine.

Eugene Klein, of Philadelphia, is the expert of the society. He is one of the highest authorities in the world of stamps.

His reference collection is contained in a number of large volumes carefully stored in a fireproof safe.

Every sort of stamp in the world, genuine or in fac-simile, including samples of the fakes and counterfeits, is contained within their covers.

Counterfeiting rare stamps is more profitable and far less dangerous than making spurious money.

But, like the Government's bogus coin detectors, there are hundreds of stamp collectors who can spot a counterfeit the moment they see it.

Major Joseph A. Steinmetz, Eugene Klein and Philip H. Ward were the Philadelphia medalists at this year's Paris Stamp Exposition.

Major Steinmetz received two medals: One for his remarkable collection of air-mail stamps, the other for his "old classics."

The latter are samples of the first issues of stamps of all nations.

It is these, really libraries of stamps, on which a valuation of approximately $100,000 is placed by experts.

For years Major Steinmetz, who is an engineer and manufacturer of this city, has been one of this country's most enthusiastic and discriminating collectors.

Stamp-collecting is a costly hobby if the desire is to make a complete assemblage of special issues.

A collector who specializes in rarities needs an almost unlimited bank account to draw upon.

Eugene Klein's collection of the stamps of Turkey in Asia won him a Paris medal.

Philip H. Ward has specialized in Irish stamps, and for this he was awarded a medal for its perfection.

A perfect general collection, comprising stamps of all issues, dates, colors and occasions, etc., is the rarest of all.

Besides, it is the costliest to get together.

The record price to date for a stamp, and the enthusiastic connoisseur has all these facts at his finger ends, is $32,000.

It was paid by Arthur Hind, of Utica, N. Y., for what is known as the rarest stamp in the world, a British Guiana issue.

A matter of $500 for a rare stamp is not a subject to arouse unusual enthusiasm these days.

There are more than 300 devoted stamp collectors in this city.

Edgar L. Green possesses the second collection in size and value.

Philip Dengler has made a wonderful collection of United States stamps.

George M. Emery's specialty is United States 3-cent green stamps. In addition, Mr. Emery is an expert in fancy cancellations on these issues.

The leading woman collector is Miss Debby Lewis Kirk, of Germantown.

Miss Kirk, who is 80 years of age, has been collecting for fifteen years.

Prior to that time she had done only little traveling. Her aroused interest in other lands, through philately, has made of her almost a tourist extraordinary.

During the intervening years she has traveled extensively in South America and Europe. At present she is in Paris attending the International Exposition with Mr. and Mrs. Klein.

O. D. Wilkinson is noted among philatelists for his excellent general collection.

Julius Windner's is a unique assemblage. His specialty is revenue stamps, of which he has one of the most complete collections in this country.

There is a speculative value to stamps, as every expert is aware.

In 1918 a single sheet of a 24-cent United States carmine, airmail stamp was issued in Washington.

The reason only one sheet was run through the presses was that it was suddenly discovered that the airplane engraved upon the stamps was flying upside down.

A dealer in this city obtained possession of the sheet and disposed of the stamps at $2 each.

They are commanding $750 each today.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS.

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

NEWS GLEANINGS

—The Los Angeles committee on A. P. S. convention has selected the Biltmore Hotel for headquarters. The dates of the convention are August 24th to 28th.

—We are informed by Edwin P. Seebohm that Oscar Selianoff of San Francisco was recently found dead in a local hotel where he did his own cooking on a small gas stove. The tube became disconnected in some way, he had fallen asleep, and was found dead in his bed. He had recently sent out circulars to local collectors offering for sale his stamps, of which he had an extensive assortment.

—Robin Lampson of the Fellowship Stamp Agency complains that the Philatelic Agency in Washington is taking too much time in filling orders. He believes that a sufficient number of clerks should be put on duty to handle the evidently large business that the Agency seems unable to deal with expeditiously.

—Ernest A. Oborne of the Pikes Peak Stamp Co., Colorado Springs, Colo., made an address recently before the Lions Club of that city in which he spoke of stamp collecting and the stamp business as an institution of the present day. The Gazette-Telegraph of Colorado Springs gave Mr. Oborne's talk a good report and we commend to other dealers and collectors the use of local organizations as a means of making friends for philately.

—The postmaster general gave a radio address on "Better Mailing" that was an interesting illustration of the carelessness of the public in making the dead letter office work overtime. Hence, "Better Mailing Week," in June. The famous "Nixie" has been defined as "a letter or parcel so improperly addressed that it can neither be delivered to the addressee nor returned to the sender without special treatment."

—The following is a list of prize-winners at the exhibition at the Municipal Pier, Chicago, during Boys' Week: Juniors—First place, Weston J. Potter, 1022 North Shore avenue; second place, George Harvath, 2816 Wilson avenue; third place, Jack Thompson, 122 East 56th street. Seniors—First place, Joe Rosenbaum, 3540 Grenshaw avenue; second place, William Hanzel, 2436 S. Lawndale avenue; third place, Joseph C. Salck, 6206 South California avenue.

—Under date of May 25, 1925, the post office department advised postmasters that the Lexington-Concord stamps, 1, 2 and 5c, are no longer available as the supply has been exhausted.

—We thank the Springfield, Ill., P. M. for the May 10th issue of the Postmark, with its page of pithy postal paragraphs, combining instruction and amusement. The instigator of the sheet is a clever chap who knows a thing or two about stamps and human nature, to boot. He says: "Cutting the one cent stamp in half does not give you a ½c stamp." Too, he has a "Twenty Years Ago To-Day" and a "To-Day" column; see here:

TWENTY YEARS AGO TO-DAY:

Ladies wore bustles.
The Postmaster did not have to work.
Farmers came to town for their mail.
The butcher threw in a chunk of liver.
The codfish hung by its tail in the old cellar-way.
Advertisers did not tell the truth.
Doctors wanted to see your tongue.
Nobody had appendicitis.
Nobody swatted the fly.
You never heard of a Tin Lizzie.
Nobody "listened in" on a radio.
Most young men had livery bills.

TO-DAY:

A man is like steel, no good when he has lost his temper.
The Postmaster works, "everybody".
Farmers are served mail for breakfast.
The Postoffice advertises for "Help" (Co-Operate).
The information window is open at the Postoffice, "ask them".
Mail matter flies through the air.
Milkshake is a favorite drink.
Information about mail, other than your own, forbidden.

(A Philatelic Moving Picture.)

As true a tale as that water runs up hill.

By "M. T." DOME.

"Most of these have little value", said the dealer, "but tell your grandmother that I assure her of $300 at least for those you have shown me, and more if she has more of the same. I'll be up to your rooms by five o'clock and sooner if I can get away. Take care, don't lose them! My glass shows me that they are genuine, and my offer ought to prove it. See you later. Good-bye."

And John, with the vision of T-H-R-E-E H-U-N-D-R-E-D D-O-L-L-A-R-S! ! and the joy it would bring his "Granny" before his eyes, fairly sprinted down the stairs, and almost into Mr. Gettit, who had stopped to light a cigarette in the lower doorway.

"Say, what did he offer you? $300.00? (he must know they're O. K.). And he's coming up at 5 P. M., eh? Well, he's stalled me the same way before, too. I heard you tell 'm how bad you need the money and I'll give you cash an' Right Away, no waitin' 'til 5 o'clock, that's me!, old C. U. Gettit. But say, maybe he offered you too much and won't show up at all. Maybe that's exactly why he don't go right away! Say, the Public Library is only a few blocks away. Let's both go over there and see what they're worth. They've got regular books on stamps there, and we'll get one and find out. I know them over there and they'd let me take a book that you couldn't get, not knowin' 'em so well. No, it won't do any harm. Let's go!"

"Sorry, but all the 'Swatt's' catalogs are out. Nothing left but an 1898", said the librarian.

"Well, let's see that", said the genial Mr. Gettit. And as he led the way to a table he turned to John and exclaimed, "This is just as good. You know those stamps you had were issued before this catalog was printed, so they'll be in here, altho' some of the later ones won't. Let's see." And he turned to "Canada", but couldn't seem to find the stamp he wanted at first. He seemed to have a little better luck with some of the "United States", but they turned out to be even less valuable than what the dealer had offered John for them.

John, gazing over the room, finally espied a man poring over a book on the cover of which was plainly visible, "Swatt's 1925". "Say, Mr. Gettit, maybe that man could find what you're looking for in that newer stamp-book." And without waiting, John slipped across the aisle and, boy-like, started in, "Mister, I beg your pardon, but could you help us find out about a stamp?"

Mr. Gettit was quite red in the face as John and the stranger, who said he would like to see the stamps, walked over to him.

"What? These? Why, anyone at all familiar with stamps knows that they are the "Thirteen Pence, orange, 1850's! Valuable if genuine, and they sure look O. K. Where did you get them?" "Oh, your grandmother's, eh? Well, I'd like to own 'em myself, but haven't the money. They're worth at least $1000.00 on cover that way. Yes, apiece! You'd have to find a buyer, of course, to get that price. But if your "friend" here wants to buy them you ought to get $750.00 at least for each of them. And if he won't give that, why, here's my address. Come and see me tomorrow some time and I'll help you sell them myself. I'm sorry I had to 'help' you, Mister Gettit!"

Mr. Gettit mumbled something to himself, but tried to look more pleasant and hearty as they left the building. And as they started uptown on the "El" to see "Granny" (for John was afraid of a taxi and more at home on the cars), Mr. Gettit became his old hearty, condescending self. Even at $750.00 for those Canadas he knew where he could sell them at a good profit. And he'd make the "old lady" throw in all the others, some good ones among 'em, too, tho' not so valuable as the Canadians. And maybe he could beat down the price a bit, "but darn that fellow, anyway, with his butting into a perfectly good deal!"

But "Granny" held out manfully, although in a daze at hearing the news, and the deal was finally closed for $4000.00 for all the stamps and envelopes she had. A few hundred dollars below what the friendly collector had told John they were worth, but thousands of dollars more than her wildest dreams. Mr. Gettit returned in an hour with a man and the money and the long-cherished stamps passed out of their old owner's hands.

Bewildered by her good fortune, and saying over and over to the now jubilant John, "John, dear, I knew everything would turn out all right. But weren't we lucky!" Old "Granny" Smith could scarcely contain herself.

"We're all packed up! And would we stay now, after the way we've been treated? Never! ! But I know just what we will do! We'll take the first train to Kansas, where my only brother has invited us so often. And we won't arrive empty handed, either, with all this money! Come, John, we'll start this very hour! No one here will even notice that we've gone, or care that we've gone or where we've gone. So let's start right away."

And they did, much to the sorrow of one stamp dealer who was expecting to "put one over", and to Mr. Ruff, who would have liked to have exhibited his authority to the other tenants, but had to content himself with the remark, "Good riddance, but at that they left the place clean".

III.

Years later, in a palatial living-room, sitting in a big, comfortable lounging chair. John, now wealthy and older, is looking over a well filled album with John, Jr. "Son, I rather like to find you are so interested in stamps, for it was some old stamps that gave your father his education and start. Dear old 'Granny' Smith, who brought me up, never lived long enough to see all the good her 'stamps' did. And even the man who bought them did not know how much good his money did for all of us. Funny thing, too, I saw in a paper about a year after we came West where some man with the same name (maybe the same man) was haled into court for selling a New York collector a number of Canadian 'fakes', and the buyer proved it, too, and made this Gettit return his money. Queer, too. The stamps this Gettit had sold were described as 'counterfeits, evidently made by an expert engraver, of the famous "Thirteen Pence" Canada of 1850', the same stamps as dear old 'Granny' sold, if I remember rightly. But hers were genuine! Even that Mr. Gettit who bought them never doubted it. On envelopes, too. Maybe he was a wayward man, and mixed up in some queer deals, but grandad's old letters, or rather stamps, did help all of us no end!" And he turned over the pages of "Canada" to the "Canal Zone".

"It's a poor fake that does nobody good" might serve as the moral. But remember, "This tale is as true as that water runs up hill"! !

THEOPHILUS INGE

Professor Theophilus Inge, M. A.,
Taught the dead languages all thru the day,
But promptly each evening, at five-forty-five,
He glanced at his wrist watch and then came alive,
And study-ward wending his way at a trot,
He dragged out his stamp album, glass, tongs and Scott;
Or, while Dame Inge vainly besought him to meals,
He sat like a deaf-mute, immersed in MEKEEL'S.

Only one nightmare bestrode poor old Inge:—
There was not in existence a peelable hinge.
In all Philately, the thing he despised
Was to find his stamps sticking, as tho vulcanized.
For, if the adhesives too lightly he'd lick,
They'd peel from the space where he wished them to stick;
But if, with more moisture, the hinge he would plaster,
When he wished it to peel, it would stick all the faster.

He cherished a secret ambition for fame,
Thru inventing a hinge that would honor his name.
So, oft to the Chemistry Proff's he would steal,
For help in designing a hinge that would peel.
Gauze tissue, in beakers of mixture, they'd brew,
Made of Tar, Cement, Rubber, Molasses and Glue;
And gave not a thought to the fingers they'd singe,
In the hope of evolving a peelable hinge.

But, Alas! The Inge Hinges! When tested, they gave His Mauritius Queen's Heads a permanent wave.
It took a stamp-puller to tear off the fringe,
But the centers stuck fast on the peelable hinge.
The Professor was plunged to the depths of despair.
He raved in six idioms; tore out his hair;
And true to proverbial traits masculine,
He called for his spouse in the Greek for "Oh, Min!"

Mrs. Inge was a woman of practical turn,
Who valued inventions by what they would earn.
So, loading the flivver right up to the wheel
With all the remains of the hinge that would peel,
She set out for Nassau Street in her Tin Liz,
To sell them to dealers, "Terms—Cash."—"As is.",
And the bag full of frames torn off the design,
For auction sales, marked "Trifling thin spot, but fine."

Near Hartford, she blew out a tube, the first day,
With not a garage for ten miles, either way.
That conscienceless female felt nary a twinge,
As she made a neat patch with a peelable hinge.
At the first big accessory plant on the road,
As emergency patching, she sold the whole load,
With a ten per cent. contract for "right to infringe"
On Theophilus Inge and his peelable hinge.

INSIDE STORY OF POSTAGE STAMP

(Clipping from H. J. Freiberger.)

New York spends dollars and then more dollars on chewing gum and chocolate, on hair-pins and safety-pins and plain pins, on shoe shines, and shoe-laces and rubber heels. The amount spent on any one of these little commodities, if converted into dollar bills and laid end-to-end would reach from here to—well, the moon perhaps! Those little things that gobble up the pennies and the nickles and the dimes—they're what Gilbert K. Chesterton calls "Tremendous Trifles."

And, talking of "Tremendous Trifles," there's a little rectangle of colored paper that cost the people of New York City $21,861,160 during the year of 1923.

Theatre tickets, do you suppose? You're wrong.

Moving picture tickets? Baseball tickets? Commutation tickets? Wrong again. Wrong every time.

Two-cent stamps!

There's a "Tremendous Trifle" for you, with a vengeance! And, for once, there's a trifle on which one can't be blamed for throwing one's money away. There's never any doubt that one gets value received for the money spent for a postage stamp. Never any fear, either—well, hardly ever, that is—that one is spending the money wantonly and wilfully for luxuries. Some letters, of course, may come under the luxury class, but—well, ask the boy or girl or man or woman who receives them. The recipient will tell you that that letter was a necessity, almost every time.

According to figures compiled by the Auditor's department of the New York Post Office, 1,093,058,000 two-cent stamps were sold in New York City last year. And that's only the beginning of the postage stamp story, or this Tale of Tremendous Trifles. There were 435,353,875 one-cent stamps sold. Special delivery stamps were bought to the number of 6,125,000. Stamps of one, two, and five dollars had numerous purchasers, too.

Of the one-dollar stamps 472,500 were sold and there were sales of 24,500 of the two-dollar kind. Even the expensive five-dollar sort—they're never, by any possible chance, reduced to $4.98 on Post Office bargain day, for the simple reason that Post Office bargain day doesn't exist—were sold to the extent of 3,800. Altogether, of all denominations from one cent up to five dollars, 1,752,824,675 stamps were sold during the year, and if that isn't a Pike's Peak of Tremendous Trifles, what is?

Postal cards are popular little commodities too. New York City found a use for just 158,984,266 during the year. And the Post Office never advertises them, nor sells six for five cents. It has a good, steady-going, well-established trade, the New York Post Office has. That's what comes of doing business on a strictly cash basis, and not throwing money away for expensive fol-de-rols like advertising, and souvenirs for the women and children on Saturday afternoons. The United States Government relies strictly on the merit of its goods. Its stamps are engraved in steel, and its colors are mixed specially for true color and permanency. And look at its volume of business!

But the public which so blithely spends its millions for postage stamps is careless about the letters to which it affixes them. Twenty million letters a year go to the Dead Letter Office in Washington, and of these 1,731,318 went from New York City last year. Largely, the postal authorities say, that is a result of carelessness in addressing, and can be avoided. What's the use of buying postage stamps and then wasting them, to say nothing of wasting the probably important, and often valuable, contents of a package or letter? These one million odd dead letters ought to rise up like a ghost to smite with contrition every careless letter writer in New York. A letter has no business being dead!

Now we've preached that bit of a sermon, are you ready for another little batch of figures? Very well, then, listen to these: the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington produces every day in the year an average of fifty million postage stamps, with a face value of $1,000,000. This requires 3,000 pounds of paper, 2,200 pounds of ink, and 3,200 pounds of gum. The Treasury statisticians say that these stamps would cover eight acres, and, if placed end to end—why is it that statisticians are so fond of placing things end to end?—would make a strip eight hundred miles long.

Washington Philatelic News

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

New 10c Rotary Print Perforated 10

Under date of Monday, June 8th, there was placed on sale at the Philatelic Agency in Washington, the 10c yellow, portrait of Monroe, printed on watermarked paper and perforated 10—the product of the rotary press. This stamp has appeared heretofore from the flat plate perforated 11, from the rotary in sidewise coil form and quite recently an imperforate sheet of the flat plate type was located.

We were advised some time back that this stamp was about to be issued, but it was placed on sale without any advance notice, for there was a demand for the variety in order to take care of those offices requiring the stamp in precanceled form.

More of the rotaries will appear so we are informed after the first of July.

Provisional 1½c on 1c Envelopes

On June 2nd, the 1½c on 1c envelopes, recently mentioned in this chronicle, were placed on sale at the post office in Washington. Two types have appeared—one with double line and one with solid figures, and I am further informed that dies for doing this overprinting have already been forwarded to Knoxville, Tenn., Baltimore, Md., and New York, N. Y. I have not as yet received impressions from the dies sent to these other cities but they are supposed to be the same as those used in Washington.

On May 25th, the Third Assistant Postmaster General issued the following order through the Postal Bulletin of May 27th:

"Postmasters and employees of the Postal Service are notified that the department has authorized the revaluing of post office stocks of 1-cent envelopes to 1½ cents to meet the new postage rates on third-class matter at certain of the larger post offices where excessive quantities of 1-cent envelopes remained in stock on April 15 and it is impracticable to dispose of the surplus by affixing additional postage as directed by instructions issued to postmasters by the department.

The envelopes are being revalued in post office cancelling machines equipped with special dies designed to imprint '1½' in the center of the embossed stamp and four vertical cancelling bars over the original numerals '1' in both lower corners. Postmasters already supplied with revaluing dies are authorized to place the overprinted envelopes on sale to the public at the rates given for 1½ cent envelopes of corresponding size, in the stamped envelope price list, Form 3,200, such envelopes to be recognized in the Postal Service as having the same postage and redemption value as 1½-cent envelopes of original manufacture.

Revaluing dies will only be available for use in 'International Flyer' and 'Universal model G' machines and the overprinting of surplus envelopes will be confined to post offices having such cancelling equipment available. Postmasters are not authorized under any circumstances to revalue 1-cent envelopes by pen, rubber stamp, in private printing presses, or in any other manner than with the special cancelling machine dies furnished with proper instructions by the department.

As only a relatively small number of dies are available at present, it will be necessary to restrict their use to post offices having specially large quantities of 1-cent envelopes and where the need for storage space is urgent. Postmasters who have been communicated with concerning the revaluing of surplus envelopes will receive proper instructions later.

In the majority of post offices it will be possible for postmasters to dispose of surplus 1-cent envelopes by affixing additional postage in accordance with instructions on page 21 of the April Postal Guide under the heading 'Postmasters not to report surplus stocks of 1-cent stamps and envelopes to the department.' Postmasters will therefore refrain from writing the department concerning the disposition of 1-cent envelopes unless specifically requested to do so or where the conditions are unusual and merit special consideration. Postmasters at both free and non-free delivery post offices are directed to retain ample stocks of 1-cent envelopes, without affixing additional postage or revaluing, as needed for use later to meet the requirements for drop letters at non-free delivery post offices and for inclosing books and catalogues of 24 pages or more, still mailable at the 1-cent rate for each two ounces or fraction thereof at both free and non-free delivery post offices.

The department expects the co-operation of postmasters in adjusting their post office stocks of stamped envelopes to meet the requirements under the new postal rates, to prevent losses."

As we desire to keep our readers fully posted as to these varieties as they appear, we would thank them to send us two copies of each variety, color of paper, size or die that they might locate at their office, and I will gladly reciprocate with other copies.

½c Postage

Mr. Charles L. Smith sends us a very curious cover in which the Central Trust Company of Salt Lake City sent out a circular letter properly paid by 1½c in postage. A number of the communications were returned to the bank as undeliverable and in doing this, the 1½c Postage Due for the return was collected by means of a 1c Postage Due plus a precanceled ½c postage stamp. 50 Covers, $2.00

This is an "unnamed" combination of issues from 1851 to 1900. They're all United States stamps still on the original envelopes on which used and all were used in the periods of their issue. Of course, they're not all different—50 different covers would run $20.00 or probably more, and I have no such packets in stock. However, I have tried to give a variety of postmarks, some nice combinations of more than one value on a cover and some interesting cancellations and back stamp marks.

Send the $2.00—get your 50 covers by first class mail — and return them if you don't like them. That is as fair as anyone can offer.

Air Mail Service

Under date of June 3rd, the Information Service of the Post Office Department announces in connection with the New York to Chicago overnight airmail service, that all major operations have been completed and only a few minor details are to be worked out before these two great cities are connected by the new service, which will begin functioning on July 1st next.

Emergency landing fields have been established ten to fifteen miles apart in the mountainous regions of Pennsylvania. High powered beacon stations have been picked and illuminated so that every possible safety may be provided against danger for the air men while flying at night.

Already, experimental test flights have been made in order to pick out the blind spots of the course. The schedule as mapped out calls for a plane to leave the New York field each night, except Saturday and Sunday, at 9.30 P. M., and arrive at the Chicago field at 5.45 A. M. on the following morning.

To connect with these planes, mail must leave the New York post office for the field at 8.00 o'clock. One hour will be consumed between the field and the post office in Chicago, so that the mail will actually arrive at the Chicago post office at 6.45 A. M. East bound mail will leave the Chicago office at 7.30 each evening and reach the New York post office at 7.30 the following morning.

The postage rate has been fixed at 10c an ounce or fraction thereof.

Under date of June 6th, an Associated Press notice with a Chicago heading announces the establishment of this service and further states that it is proposed to extend this mail route from Chicago to London. The service will employ airships of a new type, combining the advantages of the aeroplane and the dirigible. The time for the Chicago-London airmail with the new craft it is said would be fourteen hours. The establishment of "Floating Islands" of huge masses of anchored steel and masonry in the ocean will be employed. This latter information, however, does not come officially through the Post Office Department.

1908, 1c Green Endwise Coil, Scott's No. 348

Both of the 1c coils of 1908 have heretofore been rare but of late there has been an unusually large find in San Francisco, of the endwise coil, Scott's No. 348, which now lists at 25c. A number in excess of three hundred coils were located and there is no doubt that this new find will warrant the Scott Company in dropping the price very materially in the new catalog. The sidewise variety, however, still seems to be evasive.

1922 2c, Diagonal Perforation

Mr. John T. Daniel has recently located in the San Francisco post office a sheet of the current 2c stamps with diagonal would be horizontal perforations the vertical perforations being omitted. It is difficult to classify the variety, for the perforation that appears is neither vertical or horizontal, although it certainly is a part-perforated item. The pane found was in somewhat damaged condition and it was from plate No. 15749.

Canal Zone

The Scott Stamp & Coin Company have shown me one of the oddest errors that has come to my attention in many a day, namely a copy of the 5c blue, No. 43, with a portrait of the 2c stamp—that is, an error of center. The copy is a used one and Mr. Costales informs me it is from the printing of 1917. Although many thousands of the stamp have been examined since this copy was located, so far a second copy has not been found.

Mr. R. S. Carter writes from the Zone that there is a rumor that a 3c and 14c overprinted stamp will shortly appear.

Philippines

The Economist Stamp Company recently located an unused copy of the 1c green, Philippine, issue of 1898, with inverted overprint. The stamp which is believed to be unique has gone into the collection of one of our well known New York specialists in U. S. Colonies.

BUFFALO N. Y. STAMP CLUB

The new Buffalo Stamp Club, with which the Buffalo Collectors Club recently was merged, has elected the following officers: president, Adolph Steeg; vice presidents, James Storer and F. J. Sleght; treasurer, H. C. Flierl and secretary, R. E. Townsend.

Stamp collecting is growing in popularity in Buffalo, and within a few weeks after a campaign for members for the club had started, there were 60 names placed on the roster. Formation of the club is expected to increase interest in the city, and the membership it is expected, will gradually increase.

Club rooms in the heart of the business district have been secured. They have been tastily decorated and furnished, and weekly meetings are now being held there.

A junior branch of the Buffalo Stamp Club will be formed in the near future. An out of town auxiliary is also being formed. It will include philatelists from Western New York and Northwestern Pennsylvania, with headquarters in Buffalo.

Hundreds of persons, of all types and ages, stopped to gaze at the large and unusual philatelic display in the Main street window of Ulbrich's, stationer. The entire window had been turned over to the stamp display, which had been supervised by James Storer, T. J. Gundlach, Warner Bates, W. H. Fedders and H. C. Flierl.—WARNER BATES.

ARREST OF HERMAN WORTH

A New York paper just at hand announces the arrest of Herman Worth of 5 Ann St. for the alleged theft of from $40,000 to $50,000 in postage stamps from the Western Union Telegraph Co. The paper states that he was held in bail of $75,000 but this is probably an error and $7,500 intended.

MR. HUSTIS' SUGGESTIONS

By FRANK L. APPLEGATE.

I surely appreciated the various art from the pen of Mr. Hustis, espe those dealing with gum, stickers, worth knowing and his mail auction gestion.

"What is MEKEEL'S worth to yo good, too, Mr. Hustis. I would he to attempt putting down the full but am ready at any time to stand substantial increase in my subscripti

But what I want to endorse partic is the "Mail Auction Suggestion." Mr. Hustis' ideas and mine run i same groove. Many the auction in which I am interested in a doz less lots only, and I have hit on the of enclosing a 2c stamp and a requ sales prices on the few lots I bi Most of the auction managers seem to comply although a few ignore t quest. Also I always feel just a bold in repeatedly asking for some that is not announced as a prerequis all. Mr. Hustis' suggestion coul adopted by all auction firms with to both parties.

The prices thus gathered together prices obtained from such auction r as are published where they apply to stamps as I am interesed in are a corded in a blank record book I ruled with a substantial part of each for each variety. The catalogue nu price and trading features of the v are entered in red ink in the margi posite the upper line of the space a typical entry of a sale would be in black ink.

B. L. D. Dec. '24 *, "o. g. well cent."

Note the day of month is omitte the year abbreviated as very few dealers are holding more than one month, and I want to keep written to the minimum. My bids I add in and thus although not a complete as I do not get all the catalogues on all I get I have an accurat readily accessible one as far as it g

Try it, and make the spaces fo variety large enough so that a fe vertised prices, giving reference, et also be written in when desired.

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON,
Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

It is good June hay weather here in the East—Hott—two t's for emphaticness. On Main Street, our principal thorofare, where the unprincipled motorists dart with speed and uncertainty, in spite of our neatly uniformed and alert traffic officers, the mercury hit 110 in what was called shade. So please do not send in any mint stamps (except for your return postage and registry, as this Forum is to be conducted from a R. F. D. Station — stop on signal only — out amongst the little green apples, poison ivy, riv-u-lets, cows 'n insects, and not very far removed from the cannon's roar, Camp Devens, Mass., being our nearby station. You see that is no place for "O G" specimens, even tho the roof doesn't leak.

On the other hand, send any old thing you care to, and it will be gladly welcomed. The intensive study of the U. S. 3c, 1851-57 now appearing in the American Philatelist, has reached the chapter on cancellations, and doubtless many of the Forum readers are expectantly awaiting the next installment of Dr. Chase's most admirably presented work on this fine old duo of our early issues.

While the 3c stamp of '51 has many odd cancellations, the 3c of '57 has far more, as so many of the devices used on the imperfs appeared on the 3c '57's, while we also find many of the well known, and liked, cancellations of the Civil War 3s, starting with the 3c '57's.

Most every collector saves just a few cancellations on early U. S., and I feel safe in saying that the 3c '61-67's have the greatest number of odd cancels of all issues prior to 1870. The little blue locomotives had probably the greatest percentage of odd cancellations of any of our stamps, for while they ran but a year, the cancellations encroached on both sides of their year of usage, while some few cancellations occur on these locos only, for example, the Waterburys in some cases, and the West Meridens, and No. Cambridges, etc.

You have probably heard of the Indian head cancellation quite frequently. As a said-to-be-authentic one has recently arrived on cover (there are some fake Indians prowling round) will make mention of it. The head falls on the 2c red-brown of 1883, and is facing the left, being not unlike the head appearing on our pennies, both in appearance and in size. The ink is a none too good black. The head is without any surrounding circle or frame whatever. The postmark is 33 mm. across, the outer frame being made up of two circles close together, with an inner ring 18 mm. across, holding the date, in this copy "Mar 14, 1877." Between these rings is "Head Tide, Maine". It is a nicely conceived idea for a town of this name, and is very neatly made.

Why it is called the Indian head is beyond me, for it looks just like the Liberty head. No Indian, so far as I have seen and read, wore an inviting little shock of hair projecting out above their foreheads, for all the world like a scalp handle. It simply wasn't done. My vote is for Liberty.

Some readers of the Forum send in cancellations that they allow are most wonderful. Am not going to quote their findings exactly verbatim; but listen to this,—imagine a piece of cut cork with four rather irregular cuts into one side, giving us four nearly parallel lines. These are listed as being anywhere from a garden rake to an elephant, and they look as much like one as tother. Then there crop up the multitude of old-blobs of cut cork, rough stuff you know, where the porosity of the cork leaves odd shaped little white blotches in the general black effect of the smudge cancellation. My attention has been called to the "Lady smelling of a rose", "Wheelbarrow", and "Man in the moon", in fact everything is mentioned in these cork obliterators except the village pump.

I have found that when something intentional appears, that the silhouette (in colorless form when cut out of a cork) is comparatively well made, and of good size likewise, so that it is going to look the same way if 100 hits are made from it.

What can I say when a reader sends in a long jagged slashed piece of cork, calling my attention to the "Umbrella"? while all the time it looks to me like a Cubist's portrayal of "The dying centipede". Am getting to a point where I believe most everything isn't anything. Reader, please be reasonable—why would any sane Postmaster depict such scenes?

STAMP COLLECTORS' LATEST

Editorial from Boston Herald.

There is money in air mail covers. The envelopes, with their duly canceled postage stamps, that have covered communications carried by airplane in the first transcontinental flights and by airship in the first oversea flights have a money value. They have come bounding into philately as the most attractive productions in many years. Stamp dealers have eagerly picked them up. They are things that cannot be multiplied. Never again will any postage stamps bear the imprint placed upon the stamps attached to mail covers conveyed by the Los Angeles on her trial trips to Bermuda and Porto Rico.

For the covers which went out on the airship's first flight to Bermuda the stamp dealers now charge $2 each. On her second trip the Los Angeles was given a big load of mail, 20,000 letters being put on board. Collectors and dealers had waked up, it seemed, to the opportunity furnished to them by the novelty of oversea air mail, and had made sure that there would be mail enough to satisfy their desires. But the supply was inadvertently made too large for the extent of a high-priced demand, and 25 cents a cover has been quoted as the selling price.

Thus the Los Angeles has done something in the way of making philatelic history. The Shenandoah has been out of it, being attached to the navy and unavailable for postal service. Transoceanic air mail, over the Atlantic or a major part of the Pacific, will probably be inaugurated by a test flight of the Los Angeles, before the projected giantesses, more than twice her size, are able to take to the air, and the prospect is that the envelopes carried on that voyage will fetch the highest figures in the market, unless the ship is swamped with an extraordinary load of mail.

NEWS GLEANINGS

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The WEEKLY has received greetings from Herman Toaspern at Madrid under date of May 21st. He has been attending a big auction of the Union Filatelica Espanolia, where he purchased many rarities. He will be in Europe for two months.

—Harold H. Shepard, formerly of Amherst, Mass., is now located at Maryland Experimental Station, College Park, Md. Will the party in York, Pa., who wrote him without giving name kindly communicate with Mr. Shepard and his order will be filled.

—We have received from the Jopling Co., 44 Risca Road, Newport, Wales, a special pricelist of Portugal and Colonies which will be well worth securing. The list is a very comprehensive one and the firm prides itself upon its fine stock of these stamps.

—We have been shown by Albert E. Gorham a specimen of the new 1½c surcharge on the regular 1c envelope. It comes on Nos. 5, 8 and 13 envelopes. Accompanying the same was a first day cover bearing the postmark June 8th and the special delivery charge was paid by one of the new 10c rotary press stamps from sheet 16108, the first sheet placed on sale in Washington.

—Stephen G. Rich, formerly principal of the Essex Fells, N. J., Public School, has left the teaching profession and is now New Jersey field representative for the textbook publishing house of Lyons and Carnahan, of Chicago and New York. He has removed to Verona, N. J.

—The Davenport Democrat and Leader of May 4th, told of how a young bootlegger of its town was taken in tow "on a charge of counterfeiting government revenue stamps on the liquor after the bureau of engraving had notified Prohibition Officer Roy E. Muhs that the alleged stamps were fraudulent." The wily crook shies at forging one of the stamps of our great and awful government, postage or revenue, as a rule. That reminds us that nothing further has been heard of the alleged counterfeits of the current two-cent stamps, distributed from Chicago.

—The post office people are anxious to have us know that the foreign registry fee remains at ten cents. Mencken thinks it absurd that his registered letter to Bombay costs 15c while his letter, registered, to Catonsville, means an outlay of 17c; he's a fussy fellow.

—Guatemala has a good slogan on its stamp cancellation, reading, in English: "Guatemala Land of Perpetual Springtime." It sounds like Billy Baxter's: "Philippines, place of perpetual plenty."

NOTES ON 19TH CENTURY GUATEMALA

By CHARLES S. LANGSTROTH.

Quetzal Issue of 1882.—The 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c and 20c of 1882, in two colors, were issued in sheets of 100, 10 x 10, with sheet margin all around. The marginal imprint "American Bank Note Company" appears four times on each sheet, twice at the top and twice at the bottom, in each case extending along three stamps, the second, third and fourth, and the seventh, eighth and ninth, in both top and bottom rows, being printed in the green ink of the centers. The collector should be on the lookout to secure strips of three of each value with sheet margin carrying the imprint, as occasionally they can be found in that shape and make a very effective exhibit.

Calman's article in 1888 listed only the 2c and 20c as existing with inverted center, but later the 5c as well turned up; I have found an account of its sale (A. J. of P. May 1891) at the auction of the Lehman collection in New York in April, 1891. The 2c with inverted center then sold for $8.10, while the 5c used brought $25. The catalogue follows about this same ratio today, pricing the 2c at $20 and the 5c at $75 used, while the other value known in that form, the 20c, is listed at $25. In my opinion these prices are fully justified by the small supply in existence.

Dorpat says that the 5c is known imperforate, but I have never seen it. Can he have seen a proof? These are to be had of all five values on thin paper, but are not very plentiful and I think well worth the 50 cents generally asked for them.

Surcharges on Red Railway Stamps.—The best account of the surcharges of 1886 is to be found in an article on that issue by J. R. M. Albrecht in Gibbons' Weekly for April 16, 1910, and should be in your scrap-book, as it gives not only the most complete list of the minor varieties but also their positions in the several settings. One addition however should be made to his article, where he says he does not know the position in the setting of the error "255" in the 25c value, never having seen a copy of it. This error occurred in the first stamp in the fourth horizontal row, having been so noted as far back as June or July, 1892 in the American Journal of Philately (quoted in P. J. of A. July, 1892 page 238.)

The check list of these surcharges in the leaflet by Pope is not so complete, and also contains several inaccuracies which might mislead if not noted. In the 25c he lists a minor variety of no period after the fourth 25c, which should be "comma instead of period," and the same in the 50c and 75c. Also, he lists the inverted "ales" of "Nacionales" as being found in the 50c value, whereas it belongs under the 75c. And I would strike out of his list his fifth minor variety of the 150c, "G of Guatemala inverted and double," which I have never seen nor do any of the other writers refer to it.

The variety "Centvos" catalogued by Scott under the 25c value as No. 26f is another variety not mentioned elsewhere, nor have I ever seen it. Can it be simply one of those errors of slight significance, caused by a piece of type having failed intermittently to print, in this case the "a"? If so, the catalogue description is misleading, and should be changed to read like that of the other similar varieties, viz., "26f. 'a' of 'Centavos' missing." And as regards Scott's No. 28f, the double printing of the 75c, which the catalogue describes as "double surcharge, one vertical," this should not be limited to doubles, one of which is vertical, as it is to be found with both surcharges horizontal and also with one of the surcharges diagonal.

One curious fact about this issue is that all the writers without exception have been in error as to the nature of the 1 peso stamps upon which the surcharges were printed. Albrecht calls them "Railway Tax stamps," while Calman says they were "stamps issued for collection of taxes on the coupons of the Ferro Carril del Norte (Northern Railroad)," which is also the description given to them by both Pope and Barnsdall. This last is fantastic, in view of the fact that the Northern Railroad existed at that time only in the imagination of President Barrios, and, while bonds may very well have been issued, certainly the coupons thereon paid no taxes. The fact is that these stamps were used to indicate payment of installments on subscriptions to the capital stock of the projected railroad, and a description of them may be found in an article in Scribner's Magazine for June, 1887, page 701. The author tells how Barrios did all in his power to promote this greatly needed road and with the money raised among his people commenced construction. "A good illustration of the lack of capital among the people is shown in the method of raising the capital stock of this railroad. The par value of a share was $40, payable in quarterly installments of $1 each, the whole payment thus extending over ten years, an arrangement intended to make the undertaking popular and engage the interest of even the poor Indios. The man who subscribed for 20 shares was looked upon as a wealthy and most public-spirited citizen. Now it was not possible to open subscription offices all over the republic, so subscriptions were made payable in adhesive stamps, which could be purchased as postage stamps were, and whenever forty of these special stamps were attached to the accion it was a fully paid share." Only a few m were built, when the contractors fa and the death of Barrios put a stop to enterprise. I might add that const tion of this railroad was again un taken in 1892, and a part of it was op for trains in 1894, but it was not fi completed until 1908, nearly a quarte a century after the issue of our 1 stamp.

Another curious error in relatio this railroad stamp is to be foun some articles on Guatemala and als the Gibbons catalogue, where the por on the stamp is said to be that of Rivera Paz. About a year ago I sho one of these stamps, without the charge, to a Guatemalan friend of m Senor Felix Avila, at that time co in Los Angeles, and he said the por was not that of Paz but of J. Ru Barrios. He was quite certain on matter and said there could be no d about it, since the portraits of the presidents of Guatemala were as fam to him as those of Andrew Jackson General Grant would be to an Ameri Paz was president from 1839 to 1845, Barrios from 1873 until his death in tle in 1885. It was the latter's nep General Reina Barrios, president f 1892 to 1898, whose portrait was use the "Exposition" issue of 1897. U its illustration of that issue, the Gibl catalogue is a little ambiguous in labe the portrait that of "President rios," without stating which of the presidents is intended. An equest statue of the elder Barrios is picture the 2c of the pictorial issue of 1902, his portrait is on the $1.25 stamp of current Perkins Bacon issue.

Harper's Magazine for November, (which can generally be found in public library) contains a portrait Rufino Barrios, which is identically same as the portrait on our red rail stamp except that he is looking to left instead of to his right; it shows the same queer little necktie, the left tied too long and hanging down exa as on the stamp. If you can find an copy of that issue of Harper's, this trait will form an interesting item your collection of the 1886 surchar There is also a portrait in the Scrib article which described the rail stamps, but it shows Barrios at a l period of his life, with his beard same but his style of neck-wear chan and accordingly it is not quite so sig cant an item for the collection.

Lithographed or Engraved.—Nearly collectors find difficulty in distinguis between the lithographed stamps of 1 and the engraved stamps of 1887-94 the same design, and often even a de will show that he is not familiar with

CONGRESSMAN HARDY, STAMP COLLECTOR, RETURNS FROM ABROAD

NEW YORK, June 9—An American congressman returned today from a three months' pleasure trip in Europe with the astounding statement that he did not feel competent to offer any observations on political or economic conditions on the continent.

Guy C. Hardy, Republican representative for four terms from Colorado, and owner of the "Canyon City Daily Record," arrived today, with Mrs. Hardy, on the United States liner, "Republic," after a three months' tour in Europe.

"We traveled for pleasure only," said Mr. Hardy. "The lack of knowledge of languages alone is an inseparable barrier to any adequate understanding on the part of such Americans as myself, and I have heard so many of my colleagues make speeches in Congress after their vacations that I have no hesitation in declining to expose my ignorance."

...its of difference. Much advice has ...n published upon the matter, but the ...ers never cover the whole ground and ...r conclusions are sometimes unre...le. Some recommend a "tin-foil test," ...reby a piece of thin tin-foil is pressed ...d upon the stamp in question and "if ...pressure shows the raised design upon ... foil the stamp is engraved, while if ... foil remains smooth then the stamp ...rely lithographed." The writer's first ...clusion is doubtless correct, since a ...graphed stamp would not leave such ...mpression of its design, but his second ...clusion by no means follows, since an ...raved stamp might for any one of ...ral reasons also fail to leave such an ...ression.

...better test, often recommended, is to ...mine the horizontal lines of the back...und at the very top of the stamp, since ...he engraved stamp the top four of ...e lines at the left and the six on the ...t were "re-cut" and hence show much ...ier and darker than on the litho...ohed. This test is a good one when ... ill work, but often it is of no assist...e where these lines are covered by a ...cellation or where the stamp is not a ... clear impression. And with the 1c ...collector may be deceived on this point ...ny event, since even the lithographed ...ip of that value shows something of ... effect of re-cut lines at the top; of ...se these lines do not always stand ... quite so sharp as on the engraved ...ip, but they are there to a varying ...ee on practically all of that value.

...With the exception of the 1c, there is ...eason for any difficulty in distinguish...the lithographed from the engraved, ...e in each value above the 1c there is ...e actual difference in the design. In ... 2c and 5c, the distinguishing char...eristic is to be found in the numerals, ...ch were redrawn for the engraved ...e. While the outside dimensions of ...u of these numerals remained about ... same, the actual line composing it ... drawn thinner so that the space en...ed within the curved parts of the 2 ...5 is much larger. It is difficult to ...ge of this difference except by actual ...parison, when it becomes quite ob...us. And in the 10c, the difference lies ...he space between the two numerals, ...ch are very close together in the ...graphed (less than the thickness of ...1") while in the engraved they are ...ther apart (nearly twice the thickness ...the "1").

...he two other values, 20c and 25c, may ... be distinguished by an obvious dif...nce in the design, although I have ...er seen this described. The distinction ...o be found in the outside frame line ...the right side of the stamp. In the ...graphed, this frame line does not ...s the end of the right-hand ribbon ... carries the word "Centavos", the ...ap being unframed at that place, while ...the engraved the frame runs clear ...ss the end of this ribbon. But do ... attempt to apply this test to any of ... other values, as this distinction is ...nd only in the 20c and 25c. This ...rne line is complete on the 1c in both ...graphed and engraved. It is found ...the 6c also, a value which was issued ...r in the engraved set. But all the ...r values in both lithographed and en...ved issues show no such frame line ...ss the end of the right-hand ribbon.

On this subject there is considerable inconsistency in the Scott catalogue. The illustration of the 10c engraved (No. A16) shows this frame line carried across the end of the ribbon, although it does not belong there on that value. (Also the numerals are not far enough apart for the engraved 10c.) As a consequence, the illustrations of these issues in the catalogue serve to confuse rather than to assist the collector, and the omission of No. A16 would be better than the present arrangement. And further confusion is caused, in regard to the 5c, by the last sentence in the explanation following the list of the engraved set, where the catalogue says: "The 5c of the engraved issue has a larger numeral than the lithographed stamp, as is shown in the illustrations". Now this applies only to the second type of the engraved 5c (with wide fancy numeral) which causes us no difficulty anyhow as it appeared in the engraved set only, and the collector's real problem remains to distinguish between the lithographed and engraved of the narrow type of 5. Perhaps it would be better to omit altogether from the catalogue the illustrations A15 and A16, also the explanatory note, and to substitute therefor small drawings showing the differences of design of each value, perhaps something like those so satisfactorily used to illustrate the differences in the 1899 and 1905 issues of Cuba. This would not take much more space than the present arrangement, and would finally eliminate one of the most troublesome ambiguities in the whole catalogue. I might add that the lists as at present given are quite correct, the whole difficulty being caused by the misleading explanation of the 5c, the incorrect illustration of the 10c, and the omission of any illustrations of the distinctions in the 2c, 20c and 25c.

After classifying your stamps of these two issues, there is a simple test which you can use as a check on the results in the case of four out of the six values that appeared in both issues. Curiously enough, this has never been suggested before (or at least I have never seen it) and yet the material for it is probably right at hand in your own collection, as it is simply to compare the stamps of these two issues, as you have classified them, with the same stamps in subsequent surcharged issues. The 2c lithographed was surcharged 1c in 1886 (Scott's No. 42) while the 2c engraved was surcharged 1c in 1894 (No. 50). The 10c engraved was twice used for surcharges, in 1898 and 1900 (Nos. 82 and 98). Both issues of the 20c were so used, the lithographed in 1898 (Nos. 79 and 83) and the engraved in 1901 (Nos. 106 and 107). And the 25c engraved was surcharged in 1898 (No. 80) and also in 1901 (No. 108). These surcharged stamps are all common (the total catalogue value of the ten being $1.46), and include in one or both issues two-thirds of the values involved.

The best account of these two issues is to be found in an article, devoted exclusively to them, by W. B. Savary in the Stamp Herald, June 10, 1917, which should by all means be in your scrapbook. It is curious, however, that an article so well prepared should contain such a slip as the following: "In all the engraved stamps, and probably in the 1c lithographed, the entire stamp was made by one impression; but in all the lithographed stamps, except the 1c, the numerals of value were printed by a separate operation, and are rarely found exactly in the correct position". (Italics are mine). It is quite true that in the lithographs, except the 1c, the numerals may be found almost anywhere in the value tablet; the cause of this was that all the values were printed from one stone, the numerals being changed on the stone and not always symmetrically placed in the tablet. Most assuredly this change was not effected in the printing, by a separate operation. Moreover, I cannot endorse Mr. Savary's criticism of Scott's catalogue for listing the 5c unused as scarcer in the engraved than in the lithographed. As he says, the 5c in the lithographed set is "comparatively rare", but I believe Scott is justified in pricing the engraved stamp higher. The 5c engraved is less frequently found unused than any value in the lithographed set. Many a collection that shows a complete mint set of the lithographed, will have the 5c engraved in used form. This stamp is fairly plentiful used, but its scarcity unused is doubtless due to the suddenness of the change, not long after its issue, in the design of the numeral to the wide type of 5. I might add here that in my opinion Scott's catalogue of Guatemala is on the whole remarkably satisfactory, as to both classification and pricing.

Unsolicited Testimonials

"I consider the Portuguese Colonial collection of 1,500 varieties the best money-maker at $67.50 I have had in a long time, and will want another one—the fourth—in about ten days. The dealer who cannot make money with these collections must be lacking appreciative customers." D. M. Ward, 608 Buchanan St., Gary, Ind.

"My collection numbered 27,220 varieties at the time I ordered the 1,500 Portuguese Colonial collection from you at $67.50. I want to say that in all my dealings I have never made a purchase which was so thoroughly appreciated. The stamps were not only good in quality, but also in character, and I added to my large collection 695 stamps cataloguing $248.07, and have 805 varieties left with which to make up exchange books. I am indeed pleased!" Senator F. A. Godcharles, Harrisburg, Pa.

This is the collection which has been praised far and wide, both by collectors and dealers, as the most remarkable offering made in years. Scores of pleased testimonials, similar to the above, are on file, most of them expressing not only the deepest satisfaction, but also wonderment as to "how we can do it."

The collection is mounted by countries in a blank book. Most of the stamps are unused and every copy having been selected with care, the condition is practically perfect throughout. Beautiful Vasco da Gama issues rub elbows familiarly with scarce provisionals and other hard-to-get varieties, cataloguing up to several dollars each. Twentieth century issues are present in parade array, some of the smaller colonies being almost complete. One of the best features is the large number of sets, many of which are entirely complete. All in all, a most attractive assembling, and one of unusual value and merit.

EDITORIAL.

We are particularly pleased to learn that the radio is being utilized for the dissemination of philatelic information and while little has been said on this subject for some time, some of our readers have not been idle in impressing the radio into stamp service. For instance, Mr. A. F. Merell, ex-president of the Chicago Philatelic Society, who has been a resident of San Francisco for a good many years, writes: "I have been boosting philately through the 'children's hour' of K F R C and giving each one who is a stamp collector or will start a collection, twenty-five to fifty old stamps, old U. S., with a nice letter on collecting; and the responses are numerous and hearty. In fact, I am kept busy but I get a great kick out of the work. I enclose a typical letter that came in today." The letter in question must warm the cockles of our friend's heart as it breathes a spirit of gratitude that is sincere, couched in the enthusiastic terms of boyhood.

A sombre note is tolled in the following extract from a San Francisco paper that has come from Mr. J. A. Rausch: "Collector Ends Life When Necessity Calls for Sale of Stamps. A collection of rare stamps, the estate of Frank O. Selianoff, an oldtime café employe, probably will be offered for sale by Public Administrator William J. Hynes in the hope that the stamps may be placed in some San Francisco museum. Selianoff killed himself April 30th. His stamp collection, once valued at $10,000, had been depleted as Selianoff, whose earnings were reduced with the advent of prohibition, had needed funds. Selianoff is said to have killed himself when he realized he would have to sell the rarest stamps in his collection." We are shocked to hear of the tragedy, particularly as we had been in correspondence with Mr. Selianoff, in consequence of our discontinuance of his articles on cancellations on U. S., which we ran for some time last year. It was thought that some of the cancellations described and illustrated were open to some suspicion on the score of official authenticity and it was felt that to be on the safe side and in fairness to Mr. Selianoff as well as ourselves, further instalments should be held in abeyance. Mr. Selianoff wrote: "I am not unmindful of the right of any man to be shown a cancellation before he accepts as authentic; every cancellation I have described in my articles I know to be authentic." The tragic finale of Mr. Selianoff's philatelic endeavors grieves us and we know that he was intensely interested in stamps.

The latest number of the American Philatelist, in its lists of nominations for officers during the ensuing fiscal year was barren of names for the presidency. This absence of candidates indicates that it was generally thought that Mr. Wolsieffer would be willing to succeed himself and that no candidates cared to dispute his right to the title. There has been a hurried effort to fill the breach made by the refusal of Mr. Wolsieffer to exercise his privilege; and here it may be added that Mr. Michaels, chairman of the board of vice-presidents has declined a nomination for the presidency. Two candidates have been proposed, Mr. H. A. Diamant of St. Louis and Mr. A. H. Wilhelm of San Francisco. The Cleveland Branch has nominated Mr. Diamant and the San Francisco Stamp Society has named its president, Mr. Wilhelm. These nominations restore the balance and a friendly rivalry is in prospect, with a possibility of more candidates for president. This is fitting and it is now assured that due attention will be given to the elective contest.

Notification has been made that at a meeting of the New York Stamp Society, Branch of the American Philatelic Society, held June 4th, at the Collectors Club, on motion of Mr. Joseph Hoffman, seconded by Mr. H. M. Konwiser, the American Philatelic Society was invited to New York for its 1926 session, provided that the convention will be held during the month of October, 1926, when the great exhibition will be in progress. No doubt the thoughts of some of the members of the A. P. S. have been dwelling upon this contingency with the idea of reconciling the date of the 1926 convention to the time of the exhibition. The course of action whereby the selection of New York as the logical seat of next year's meeting will be made will be successfully followed, no doubt, as popular opinion favors the plan.

We must not ignore the fact that collecting is receiving the benefit of a sustaining influence this summer that is apparent from the number of fine notices that it is receiving in the newspapers. Among the clippings that are awaiting a word, that appearing in the Philadelphia Public Ledger of May 25, 1925, stands forth. On the editorial page, George Nox McCain, gives a column in which he compiles what is almost a directory of the Philadelphia philatelists. We believe that Mr. McCain has recognized on previous occasions the news possibilities of stamp collecting and in the present instance, he employs a recent find as the subject of his opening remarks and proceeds to give his theme a local significance in his inimitable way.

We cannot forbear to mention that if time is fleeting, philately is permanent insofar as it engages the attention of some of us. Here we find that Mr. Hugh C. Barr has acquired the Uptown Stamp Company. He writes: "To you this will come as a voice from the past, harking back to the days when H. C. Barr of Davenport, Iowa, was a boyish factor in the stamp trade; the days of Edwards, Peeke & Co.; B. S. Ross; and the heyday of C. H. Mekeel. Too, you will also recall the fact that at one time in the 'dim distant,' articles of agreement were duly drawn up between said H. C. Barr and one C. E. Severn by which said party of the second part was to become editor of a philatelic magazine to be published by said party of the first part." The magazine in question never saw daylight because Mr. Barr was bundled off to a university in the east, to become, later, a most proficient Spanish scholar, we may say, incidentally. As for Mr. Peeke, the "Edwards" was fictional, his business was established in 1868 and he conducted it from his home on Calumet Avenue, Chicago. When he died, not so many years ago, a New York dealer succeeded in obtaining a fine lot of stock from the family. As for Byron S. Ross, Chicago, he traded his huge stock of stamps to the Burtons for a hotel at Hurley, Wisconsin; Mr. Ross had been a letter-carrier and finally devoted his whole time to the stamp business. C. H. Mekeel certainly made his impression on philately and his many years of affiliation with it, from first to last, are remembered; he was one of the most brilliant men who ever had to do with stamps.

Here is an echo of the time when life was not so complex as it is now. On an old cover, addressed to a doctor in DeWitt, Iowa, is the not unreasonable request, written in pen and ink: "Please forward as there is only one mail per week."

It is only fair to proclaim the en prise of the Philatelic Journal of G Britain whose editor asks why sh not a philatelic course of instructio instituted on "gramophone" records. enthusiasm for the idea may be aro too easily but the observations of English editor are plausible: " gramophone is now being used so lar for instructional purposes that we certain a few discs, carefully made real authority on stamps, would mand a ready sale. In addition, it w provide for future generations a per nent record of the voice of one of present-day giants."

tamps having bilingual inscriptions common: Belgium alone has a couple dred of them. Stamps with trilin- l inscriptions are scarcer: Labuan North Borneo exhibit English, Ara- and Chinese; Obock and Somali st have French, Arabic, and Amharic riptions, the latter the written lan- ge of Abyssinia. But these are all ng languages. It has remained for Egyptians to present us with some- g entirely novel in the way of both gn and lettering, as has been done the recently issued International graphic Congress commemoratives.

he stamps are extremely tall rectan- , with Arabic at top meaning "King- of Egypt," beneath which is the ivalent expression in French, "Roy- ne d'Egypte." At bottom the stamps e the value in ordinary and Arabic erals, in French and Arabic words. ve the value is the inscription "Con- ss International de Geographic le re 1925," in four lines, with crescent multiple stars at each side. The ral design is exceedingly striking, as epresents the god Thoth, the patron iscience and commerce, inscribing a ne on a pylon which is surmounted by winged sun disc of Re.

he god is shown writing the first er of the name, which is enclosed in artouche, and hence must be that of a g. This hieroglyph is a viper, indi- ng "F". The fourth character in the ouche is a hand, meaning "D". The bird glyphs between indicate vowels, roximately "U" and "A", hence we e the name "FUAD", the present king Egypt, written in the ancient hieroglyp- c character.

bove the cartouche are two other racters, that at the right, a bee, the roglyph indicating royalty: that at the e, a phonogram, the determinative sign the male, probably a whip. Hence pair of glyphs mean "King." Com- ined, the glyphs indicate "Upper and wer Egypt."

elow the cartouche we find two other phs, that at the left being the crux ata, or "key to the Nile", meaning ", probably pronounced "nukh" and ning "life." The right-hand char- er, a cobra, means "z" or "wz", prob- ly pronounced "wez" or "wuz", and ns "prosperity."

utting all the signs together, and ding from the top downward, we have ng of Upper and Lower Egypt, Fuad, ng live the King!" As far as I know is the first attempt to use the char- ers of a long-extinct language to write a inscription on a postage stamp.

here are three values: 5 milliemes r -brown, 10 mill. rose, 15 mill. blue.

BARBADOS, POSTAGE AND REVENUE, 1925

By Harry E. Huber.

The new Postage & Revenue series of Barbados stamps mentioned in the Crown Agents' Bulletin of October-December, 1924, as being in printing, and as having been dispatched in the issue of January-March, 1925, were received at Bridgetown at the end of March, and issued on April 1st.

The stamps measure 20x25½ mm., and were printed by De La Rue & Co., Ltd., London, from single working line engraved plates in sheets of 80 (10 horizontal by 8 vertical) not divided into panes. A double marginal line surrounds the pane, and crosses in the four margins, between the 5th and 6th rows at the top and bottom, and between the 4th and 5th rows at the sides, aid in perforating. In the lower margin (under the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th stamps) appears the name of the printers, Thomas De La Rue & Company, Limited, London, in small caps. To produce the large quantities required of the lower values, probably necessitated the manufacture of more than one plate for the ¼d, ½d and 1d, as the writer has a block of the 1d with plate number 1 in the left margin (inside the double marginal line), opposite the fourth horizontal row.

The perforation is single line 14, and the watermark, multiple Crown and script CA for all values. Colored papers were used for the 3d and 4d (yellow), 1s (emerald green), and 2s (blue).

The central oval of the design contains the Colonial Seal (King George in a chariot driving two sea horses), with the motto around the upper part, "Et Penitus Toto Regnantes Orbe Britannos" (literally, "and Britain rules in all parts of the world"). At the top in a straight line is "Postage & Revenue," and at the bottom "BARBADOS", in colorless caps. Acanthus leaf ornamentation appears in the upper corners, and over the ovals (in the lower corners) in which the value is expressed in color. On the ¼d, ½d and 2½d, the "d" is to the upper right of the fraction; on the others, it is to the right, with a dot under it.

The Colonial Seal design has undergone several changes in the stamp issues of the Georgian reign. The King's Head and Seal series, issued in July-August, 1912, embodied an obsolete form of the Seal with Queen Victoria in the chariot. A representation of the up-to-date Seal with His Majesty King George V driving the sea horses, was incorporated in the large Seal series of June 16, 1916. The 4d and 3s in a modified form of this design, and printed in two colors, appeared on February 18, 1918. As the size, 25x20 mm. was very inconvenient, stamps in reduced size (18½x22½mm.) and except for the omission of the Colonial motto, duplicating in every respect the 1916 design, were issued November 14, 1921.

The perforation is badly centered on many stamps of the Postage & Revenue series, and also those of the small Seal series of 1921, which undesirable feature is found, too, in the current stamps of Bermuda, Cayman Islands, St. Vincent, and the Turks & Caicos Islands, all of which are produced from single working line engraved plates.

On April 1st, 1920, the 1d War Tax on letters to the British Empire and the U. S. A., in effect from October 15, 1917, was removed, but in 1921 the Empire letter rate was raised to 2d, and this was made applicable to U. S. A. letters in the following year. The inland letter rate remained at 1d.

Advantage was not taken by Barbados of the postal increases permitted by the seventh congress of the U. P. U. held at Madrid in November, 1920, and the foreign post card and letter rates have remained unchanged at 1d and 2½d respectively, which accounts for red and blue being retained as the colors of these values. The registration fee also remains unchanged at 2d.

Coincident with the issue of the unified Postage & Revenue series on April 1st, 1925, the 1d letter rate to the British Empire and U. S. A. was restored, from which action it is expected that the Post Office will lose between £1500 and £2000 in the next year.

The number of letters and post cards dispatched abroad in recent years are shown in the following tabulation:

DEATH OF JAMES H. LYONS

On Saturday, June 6th, occurred the death of James H. Lyons, a notable figure in New England philately. For nearly thirty years he was a member of the Boston Philatelic Society and up to within the last two years he has been actively identified with the trade.

The Managing Editor knew Mr. Lyons intimately and it is not possible to convey in words the debt of gratitude that he owes him. When Mr. Lyons, as proprietor of the Hub Stamp Co., some twenty-five years ago, had his office on Washington St., Boston, it was the meeting place of the many collectors of the city who gathered there not only to trade but to profit by the philatelic knowledge that Mr. Lyons possessed. The writer cannot forget the encouragement given him when under the name of the Otis Stamp Co., he developed a prosperous business and profited largely by his business acumen and the sound advice received.

About twenty years ago Mr. Lyons became actively associated with the New England Stamp Co., as the manager of the office, and here his philatelic instinct had a wide range. His knowledge of stamps was probably unsurpassed from the standpoint of values, and he became a very useful member of the office force. His health began to fail about two years ago and it became necessary for him to retire from active labors. Singularly his wife had recently been compelled to go to a hospital and she died on Monday, June 8. The funerals of both occurred on Tuesday, June 9, a co-incidence that is very marked.

The Managing Editor has had numerous philatelic friends, but he has had no one whom he can hold in kinder remembrance than James H. Lyons, and there are many who, profiting by his keen interest in and love for stamps, will heartily endorse this altogether too poor a tribute to his life and labors.

AZORES.—H. & G. H. Jopling informs us that the Padroes de Guerra set has been surcharged for use in the Azores.

CUBA.—Under date of May 30th last, Mr. J. D. Sague advises that the current stamps printed on wove paper watermarked "star" are in use.

FRENCH SOUDAN.—Stamp Collecting announces that they have received from Whitfield King & Co., the 10c and 15c in new colours, viz.:—10c mauve and blue, and 15c yellow green and green.

GUADELOUPE.—Stamp Collecting chronicles the 45c in carmine and grey, having received copies from Whitfield King & Co.

HUNGARY.—We are indebted to Mr. Gordon A. Dahlberg for a complete set of the new Sporting series mentioned in this column some time ago. The values are as follows:

100k (Athletics), green and brown.
200k (Winter Sports), brown and blue green.
300k (Skating), dark blue.
400k (Swimming), dark blue and green.
500k (Boxing), dark purple.
1,000k (Boy Scouts), dark violet.
2,000k (Football), dark lilac.
2,500k (Jumping), olive bistre.

Mr. Dahlberg adds that the series is entirely speculative and unnecessary and issued to get the collector's money.

JAPAN.—Mr. C. R. Stier has sent for chronicle a set of covers issued in commemoration of the 25th Wedding Anniversary of the Emperor and Empress. They were issued on the 10th of last May and a Government Circular was issued which is translated by Mr. Stier as follows:

The 3 sen, brown and silver is for domestic first class mail.

The 20 sen, olive green and silver is for foreign first class mail.

They show the Flying Bird of Wonder, or Chinese Pheonix, and clouds of good omen, all of which express congratulations.

The silver margins represent the Silver Wedding Anniversary.

The 1½ sen, violet, is for domestic postal cards.

The 8 sen, carmine rose is for foreign postcards.

They illustrate pine trees and cranes holding pine branches in their bills, symbols of good omen in Japan. There are 25 stars in the circle.

The chrysanthemums are of old design to denote happiness and good wishes. Special postmarks are provided which read: Outer circle, top; 25th Wedding Anniversary. Outer circle, bottom: Kobe. 1925. May 10th. Inner circle: "Heaven and earth will last forever". (In old type writing).

The sides are decorated with mandarin ducks which denote a happy union.

MALTA.—Mr. G. V. Stewart in reporting the one pound, carmine and black notes that this new variety comes in a rather muddy shade of carmine and the ink of the latter color is of a most peculiar sort which is strongly absorbed by the paper, giving the stamp the appearance of having been soaked in water.

NIGERIA.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the ½p green, 1p red, 2p grey and 3p violet on script watermarked paper.

PORTUGAL.—We have received from the Economist Stamp Co. and H. & G. H. Jopling the set of Pombal stamps of two values but of three designs in each. All are in blue and of 15c and 30c, denominations. The types show the likeness of Marquez de Pombal, the monument erected to his memory and the "Plan of Reconstruction of Portugal." Each stamp has the word "Continente" in black at the base and the 30c value also bears the surcharge "Multa", in black.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—Word comes from H. & G. H. Jopling that the same values and designs of the Pombal series have been issued for the following colonies, the only difference being that for the word "Continente" the name of the colony has been substituted. The colors are as follows: Azores, dark green; Angola, dark lilac; Cape Verde, deep violet; Guine, scarlet vermilion; Maderia, slate black; Mozambique, dark sepia and St. Thomas & Prince, orange vermilion. Also Macao, 2a, and 4a, vermilion (the tree designs in each value); Timor, the same, in carmine and India, 6r and 1t, in crimson.

SIAM.—Two new values in the current air mail type are to hand from our Bangkok correspondents, the Oriental Stamp Co., viz.: 2s brown on yellow, 1b blue and brown.—Stamp Collecting.

SWITZERLAND.—Messrs. Francis J. Field, Ltd., inform us that a special "semi-official" stamp has been issued in connection with the Bale Flying [illegible] which took place on Sunday last, [illegible] 10th. The design is stated to represe[illegible] monoplane, but looks like a flying f[illegible] tain-pen, carrying a letter over Futuri[illegible] landscape. Oh, these Futurists! Stra[illegible] to say—but perhaps appropriately eno[illegible] after all—the libel (beg pardon! label printed in black.—Stamp Collecting.

THE STORY OF THE BISECTS

By W. W. MACLAREN.

I believe it has been my good for[illegible] to own, and possess at one time, largest number of bi-sected 10c stamps ever assembled together.

In November last, I received a l[illegible] from a lady living in Syracuse, N[illegible] saying that she had thought best to stroy the old family correspondence.

For some time she had been bur[illegible] it, in many cases not even untying bundles, when she ran across my ad tisement in a magazine.

She wrote me and enclosed sev[illegible] sample envelopes, all having the earl[illegible] stamps. I replied, quoting my bu[illegible] prices on the varieties sent, and a[illegible] days later received a letter saying was shipping me a package, which cluded over one hundred covers wit[illegible] stamps, also some 5c brown stamps, some 10c black stamps, which were in half and used to pay 5c postage.

Of these latter she said she hesit[illegible] about sending them fearing "the cut in two rendered them valueless." tunately for me, the package arrived a few minutes later, as my heart rapidly working into high.

Knowing just what to expect, I not at all surprised upon opening bundle to find seven 5c 1847 and five bisects. These bisects were all on velopes, of good quality, postma[illegible] Concord, N. H., in blue, and were by Rev. J. B. Foote, a Methodist mini to Miss Mary Stilphen, who soon a[illegible] wards became his wife. She die[illegible] 1859, and the letters passed into the session of her daughter, Martha F[illegible] Crow. Upon her death, they became property of Miss Elizabeth L. F[illegible] from whom I purchased them.

Rev. J. B. Foote was the first g[illegible] uate of the Concord Biblical Insti[illegible] afterwards the Theological School of ton University, and hence he is sidered Boston University's oldest al[illegible] nus.

Later I was informed by Miss F[illegible] that she still had four bisects from

THE 1s AND 2s KANGAROOS

By A. H. Davis.

We now come to the consideration of two more members of the "Stalwarts," "Die Hards," or whatever you care to call the original Old Guard of Kangaroos that appeared to the world in 1913—just in time to see pride, apotheosis, and irretrievable downfall of "the goose-step" in Europe.

To ordinary collectors, who ignore small differences of watermark, the 1s and 2s stamps of Australia today are just the same as when they first appeared, save, perhaps, a slight change of colour in the 1s, which is now green instead of blue-green. Thus in Messrs. Whitfield King & Co.'s simplified catalogue—excellent as that pithy work is in most ways—these two issues of 1913 are shown as still current. We think this rather a mistake, as the three Australian Kangaroo watermarks are of sufficient difference to merit attention, even from novices. However, this is by the way.

These two values have not only both survived the general wrack and change of the war period, but have other points in common. Both have gone through the phases of watermark just before alluded to; both are popular values for use on parcels within the commonwealth; and both are printed in the same way—from vertically double plates, giving 240 designs or stamps apiece.

Paper.

The paper used in the 1913 Kangaroo stamps of these values (1s and 2s) shows rather more than usual range of texture. Whilst first wmk. Kangaroos are nearly all on thinnish paper, these two values may be found on unusually thin.

The second wmk. provisionals of 1914-15, being printed on the coarse thickish paper used for printing the King's head stamps of the period, practically are uniform as to paper besides shade.

Although the third wmk. 1s Kangaroos can be found on paper distinctly thinner than usual, it has never been seen by me on the real "thin" paper which shows design—without offset—on the reverse side. A few sheets of the 2s came out on this paper late in 1918. As often happens when the paper is distinctly abnormal, the shade is affected, and these 2s stamps are unusually dark in shade.

Watermark.

The first wmk. 1s is well authenticated with inverted wmk., though by no means common in that condition. I never had this variety unused, though knowing of a specialist in Australia who has a mint block of four. The first wmk. 2s stamp is not known with wmk. so.

Neither 1s nor 2s of the second wmk. has ever been reported with inverted wmk., and this provisional issue of 1914-15 has been so thoroughly threshed out that one is tempted to venture the statement they never will be. The way in which these stamps may be found with abnormal second wmks.—and it is all too common—is for the same to only half show on the stamp, due to the sheets of King's head paper not fitting the Kangaroo plates, being rather too large for them.

Both 1s and 2s values with third inverted watermarks are well known. Yet, though among used stamps the 2s seems to be of less infrequent occurrence, the writer has never seen it unused.

Perforation.

No varieties of perforation seem ever to have been found in the 1s value, in any wmk., but the second wmk. 2s has been reported with double perforation, though whether vertically or horizontally does not seem clear. But when we come to the third wmk. 2s, we find the most important imperf. error:—

The Big 2s Variety.

In 1919, at the General Post Office, Adelaide, a sheet of 2s was found in which the top row was not perforated. That the comb machine had not operated on the top row of a single sheet was not wonderful, seeing the thousands of sheets that had been prepared of Commonwealth stamps. What was wonderful was that it had passed the officers, who carefully check every sheet before issue, and in this respect, at the time of writing (1923), it still remains the only partly perforated A.C. sheet on record. Well, some enterprising South Australian bought the top of the sheet, forwarded it to a Melbourne dealer, and it was duly recorded in the philatelic records of the time. The dealer sold it in three pairs and a strip of three to well known Melbourne philatelists, by whom they are well held, and not likely to leave the island-continent. A pair was shown at a meeting of the Philatelic Society of Victoria. They have been described as imperforate at sides, but this under-rates their worth. As there is no perforation at top, they are really imperforate on three sides, indeed, wholly so but for the perforation at foot.

Shades of the 1s.

If the writer of these articles has sometimes had to find fault with Messrs. Gibbons's catalogue, he hopes it will be understood that this has been done in no carping spirit. "Gibbons's" is to the British philatelist what Shakespeare is to the British bookman and playgoer—supreme. But even as it is just the person who knows least about our great poet who believes — or professes to — in his perfectibility, so with our great cataloguers.

To those who, like the writer, daily and continually have to use their catalogues, it must be a constant source of wonder at the extreme care that has been consumed in their compilation; and all stamp collectors who do not stick in their stamps higgledy-piggledy, but try to classify them in orderly fashion, are under a big debt to this reliable firm. The writer's grievance is that their list of Australian Commonwealth stamps is probably—almost certainly—the poorest and most incomplete in the book. And, even as it takes no Dr. Sam Johnson to pick holes in Shakespeare, so has the same critic finally to confess—if he be honest—that among British poet-dramatists Shakespeare is first, there is no second; it is somewhat the same with British philatelists.

Even as it stands, Gibbons A.C. list is probably the most reliable we have, the chief objection to it being incompleteness. The genesis of all this digression was a consideration of the shade of the 1s Kangaroo. In the A.C. Handbook several are given for the first wmk. Gibbons give it as blue-green and, though the writer is aware of several slight differences of shade, he has never seen one that is not covered by the generic "blue-green."

It is the same with the second wmk. Gibbons's "blue-green" is more correct and guiding than giving sub-shades that are all included in it.

It is in the third wmk. that Gibbons fail—in omission. Again they give the one shade "blue-green." Whilst it is perfectly true that the third wmk. 1s started in this colour, it has seen several distinct variations since, and since the borderlines were taken away it has chiefly appeared in a more or less pure green.

The reason why the early printings were in so decided a shade of blue-green was owing to there being a green Kangaroo stamp in use—the ½d. Since that risk of confusion was abrogated, this value has evinced a considerable range of colour; indeed, the chief variety in this value is a shade. This is a provisional printing, apparently an experiment, that appeared at the end of October, 1920, when the 1s appeared in an arrestingly peculiar hue that has been variously described as sea-green, grey-green, &c.

However, as the experiment seems to have been a failure—at any rate, this shade faded away the following November—there are so few copies extant that they are not likely to trouble any except specialists.

Shades of the 2s.

This value, too, was for a long time remarkably constant in hue for an Australian stamp. But whilst the first wmk. 2s was nearly always an ordinary brown, it can be found in quite a deeper shade. The second wmk. 2s is found, on the other hand, only in a rather light brown in addition to just brown.

As in other values, a far greater range of shade confronts us when we come to the third wmk., and this is natural enough, as these stamps have endured for so many years. Red-brown, deep brown, black-brown, grey-brown, are the chief shades, besides the brown similar to the first two wmks.

Flaws of the 1s and 2s.

As far as my knowledge goes, these are singularly few.

The only noteworthy ones in the 1s value I can call to mind is a "two-islands" variety, and another in which the island of Tasmania is enlarged. This occurs in the second vertical stamp above the imprint on the right side.

The most noticeable flaw I have observed on the 2s is that in which the map seems tied to the frame on the right side by two white lines. This occurs in the upper plate, in the stamp next to the southwest corner one, on the bottom row.—Stamp Collecting.

REVENUE NOTES

By F. L. APPLEGATE, Medford, Ore.

I hereby extend a blanket invitation to all lovers of Revenue Stamps of all kinds to correspond with me in regard to any original observations or discoveries, especially those appertaining to National and state issues.

State Excise Stamps.—Since the adoption of the cigarette stamp tax by Iowa, in 1921, the popularity of this source of state taxation, then an innovation, has grown enormously. South Dakota, South Carolina, Utah, Georgia, Arkansas, Tennessee and North Dakota have followed in rapid succession and Oregon and perhaps other states are slated for similar action in the near future. To date less than one hundred varieties have been issued by the various states most of which are still current and it behooves the wide awake collector to get into the field while they are yet available. Some few issues are already obsolete and hard to get as no dealer has bothered to stock them although interest in these issues is bound to grow it seems to me.

The 1900 Hyphen Hole Varieties.—It has always been a mystery why the Scott Catalogue does not catalogue as separate varieties the "hyphen-hole" roulettes of 1900 while separately pricing the private die stamps of the same date. By the way, these are much better described as "slot perforated" for they are perforated, a portion of the paper being removed, and hence not rouletted.

The last sentence in the note under No. 4042 in the catalogue, I am sorry to say, is misleading, as the roulette and perforated varieties of only some denominations are "worth about the same." I tried many sources, including the Scott Co., before, after several years, I finally secured specimens of the ½c with the hyphen hole, and then got them from England. I have not yet succeeded in getting uncut copies of the 40c and 80c documentary hyphen hole and the $3.00 brown is also a scarce one as the color was changed to lake almost immediately after the adoption of this form of separation. The distinct yellow brown ¼c proprietary, 4002b, is I believe found only with the slot perforation while the 1¼c brown violet being an early printing only exists rouletted.

THE STAMP MARKET

Last month we had some notes on the value of Everest and other labels used for special posts, and since a correspondent asks about the value of the Rouyn air-mail labels, issued last year in Canada for the service to the goldfields district. The actual value is a rather uncertain quantity, but the lowest prices noted have been from the U. S. A., where such things enjoy a larger vogue than here. The green label, much the scarcer, was priced at $4, and the red (nominal face value 24c) at 35 cents.

New Hebrides.—The New Hebrides provisionals issued in 1924 have now arrived at more reasonable prices. Last summer we advised collectors to wait and see before buying at the prices quoted then, 25sh to 30sh per set. The uniformity of prices amongst the various dealers was remarkable, suggesting a common source, but they are now obtainable at half or less of the above mentioned prices. The British set is worth more than that of the three French provisionals, but are rather difficult to obtain singly.

These stamps appear to have filled a real need pending the arrival of the new series expressed in the two currencies. It is worth noting that these provisionals were sold on a gold basis, the franc being taken at its par value. The old sets had nearly all become exhausted or destroyed owing to depreciation or spoilation after 10 or more years of tropical conditions. We must be thankful that the British Colonies only issue provisionals at relatively rare intervals compared with the French Colonies, who issue them wholesale. The farce of the latter is that they are not designed to meet any genuine local shortage or demand, but are issued in Paris. In the case of the French Colonial provisionals of 1924, nearly all were sold in Paris and trifling numbers sent out to the Colonies to legitimise the issue. Unfortunately in some Colonies they were never placed on issue at all, so that they cannot be regarded as genuinely issued varieties. Most of the new 1925 overprints have not appeared in their respective Colonies; in fact, collectors in the French Colonies complain they are unable to get them!

Jamaica. — Modern Jamaican stamps are always popular, and the recent statistics published in this journal have given a fillip to the pictorial issues. The 3sh is the best of these, referring, of course, to the obsolete issue on old CA paper. The numbers issued of this was small for a large Colony like this, and its market value is now moving up briskly. It is perhaps even scarcer in fine used condition. The same remarks apply in a lesser degree to the 5sh duty. The 10sh was another much-boomed stamp, but a good number were issued for so high a value, and it is not likely to increase in anything like the same ratio as the two lower values mentioned.

Malta Again.—The high prices paid for Maltese stamps have been bringing out the speculators' stocks, and a number of the high values, especially of the "Self-Govt." series, have been coming forward. Even the rare 10sh CA is being offered in blocks of four. The 10sh script unsurcharged has been the dark horse of the series. It is now believed that only about 50 per cent. more of this were issued than the 10sh CA. Needless to say, its catalogue value in Gibbons has long been obsolete, the new figure given being £10, and agreeing more nearly with its price in the French list.

Recent Europeans.—Turning to some famous modern Continental stamps that have turned out so well, it is to be noted that the popular Tin Hat series keeps its high price. Few thought when the 2fr was offered at 1s6d that it would turn out so well. As it is stated 30,000 were issued, it is remarkable that the price has soared so much. There is little doubt carefully regulated speculation has helped it on considerably. Our friends across the Channel are not afraid of handling large parcels of scarce stamps they fancy, so that stamps relatively common soon reach high levels. Thus one may see in French journals stamps like the scarce 25c brown portrait Monaco (1922) offered by the 100 or more. If someone here offered the 3d Leeward white back in mint sheets, there is little doubt that the price would fall, but in the case mentioned it does not seem to have this effect. The example par excellence is the recently issued 5fr green of Monaco. 75,000 were printed of this (not 8000 as an advertiser states) but some eight thousand were destroyed owing to bad printing, leaving 67,000, practically all of which went into philatelic hands. Despite this number, the speculative fever has raised this stamp to a relatively high figure, though actually far more exist than of any of our old friends the St. Kitts provisionals (except the ½d and 1d).

N. W. Pacific.—The long-awaited permanent issue for the N. W. Pacific territory may have arrived here by the time this is in print, and it is worth turning to the overprinted issues to see if there is anything likely to turn out good or show any sharp increase. The first set was imported on a fairly generous scale during the war, and there is not likely to be any striking movement here. Some of the later high values may appreciate and can be picked up quite reasonably used at the present time. The 4 violet and in blue are believed to been only issued in small numbers tip is to buy up all the 4d blue possib its current catalogue price, it will The two chief rarities are the 1920 visionals, 1d on 5d and 1sh. Mos these appear to have been used, and copies should be well worth acquirin the basis of their present catalogue p only a few hundred were issued gether, so that the figures quoted ar out of the way.

The first list of revised prices fo current Gibbons' catalogue contain eral interesting, though mostly exp alterations. In addition to the s previously mentioned, several o reach double figures, including the r £1 values of Cyprus and St. Kitts-N

There is no need to dwell on again, except to say neither are like remain even at their present figures.

The policy of general destructio British Colonial stamps when they superseded by a new set, which has the rule of late, is a good one a bound to still further popularise stamps and increase the security o investment in them. The miserable dling of remainders that went on some of the later Queen Victoria s like the Leeward Islands sexag issue will long be remembered, an loss of popularity of issues so treate lasted until the present time.

There are plenty of Georgian and Edwardian stamps that still show hood of very substantial increments the collector keen on the financial could not be on firmer ground th specialising in this class of stamp.—atelic Magazine.

HISTORY ON THE POSTAGE STA

It is a bridging of many cen which today places upon a postage s by photogravure, one of the ceda Lebanon, those stout trees which bered the temple of Solomon and were sought by early shipbuilders we are scripturally told, "have cedars from Lebanon to make mast

Solomon, with all his wisdom, those about and after him, had little foresight in forestry than have we t and the cedars of Lebanon are a gone; a few remain to speak of a long gone.

Bringing them into association w thing so modern as the postage sta productive of more of a contrast ir than we are apt to realize, for w so used to the stamp that we do not of it as specially new. It is not s as the radio or the airplane or eve telephone, but its use goes back less a century.

We get the sense of bringing bac Bible in finding that Grand Leban Grand Liban, is now to have p stamps of its own, under French tion, as is Syria. For the Syrian s picture Tarsus, the birthplace of St. and Antioch and Damascus; an stronghold of the Hittites at H appears in three views. The stamps the Palmyra of Zenobia, with the colonnade of the temple of Baal, ar bridge of Daphne in the grove of A not far from Antioch. There is B which Bible readers know as Ca Phillipi; and along with them is La the repute of which rests not u Biblical basis, but which needs no duction to smokers of Turkish to Tyre and Sidon, and ruined Baalbe in the Lebanon stamp gallery.

Perhaps in this taking over of the age stamp is as striking evidence could have that storied lands o which in our thought have had lit reality, are coming out of their slumber and taking a hand in the ac ties of today.—Syr. Post-Standard

POST OFFICES OF THE U. S. EXP. FORCES

Mr. Michael Miller, 800 Equitable Building, Baltimore, Md., has sent this list of Offices of the U. S. Expeditionary Forces which should be of much interest to the readers. It is requested that any additions to this list be sent to Mr. Miller, address above, for a list of this kind is difficult to make up, as well as interesting to any who were in any way connected with the A. E. F., be they philatelically inclined or not. The list of French Offices is given in Y. & T., "France Specialized," and their numbers run from 1 to 630. Some day we may have a complete listing of all forces in the Great War, so do your bit.

COMMENDABLE PUBLICITY

In the Sunday edition of the Vancouver (B. C.) Daily Province for February 22nd was a very fine feature, "Stamps,—Just Dirty Bits of Paper but Maybe Worth a Fortune," by Stephen Golder. It occupies nearly a page and is splendidly displayed, forming a feature that publicity committees might well copy. Mr. Golder also sends us another similar feature published in the same paper and entitled, "In the Days Before Postage Stamps." This, too, occupies nearly a page in the Province and illustrations are varied and attractive. If Mr. Golder's services were available his knowledge of stamps and all around newspaper ability would make him a valuable asset to American philatelic publicity. He has the qualifications required of knowledge of stamps and the newspaper instinct.

TWO TYPES OF COLLECTORS

By Charles G. Wilson.

There are people in this world so constructed that they can but see the material side of everything in life. A man of this type sees in a grove of majestic hemlocks just so many thousands of board feet. In the fields of the countryside he sees naught but bushels of corn and wheat which can be stored in his barns and later changed into gold. In the brooks and the rivers, coursing through the hills on their eternal race to the sea, he sees power, the power whch turns the dynamo and produces kilowatt hours and volts which can be transmuted into cash. Mind you, this man is not to be sneered at. The world needs him, needs his material sense of things—and pays him in dollars.

But there is another type of man, of a happier turn of mind. He is ever richer in the realm of the mind than the builders of roads and hewer of empires, though always poorer in that form of wealth measured by the dollar mark. This man sees in the same grove of hemlocks poems of rarest beauty, harps that the wind plays on with crooning, strumming fingers on peaceful summer nights, but which on nights of storm vibrate in crescendo to the fury of the war songs of the wind gods. And he says feelingly:

"Poems were writ by fools like me,
But trees were made by God."

In the fields he sees the violet, the buttercup, and the golden crop of springtime of the dandelion. He is the friend of all the furred and feathered host of the grass and hedgerows. In the brooks he can hear the melodious voice of nature singing her age-old songs of joy, of happiness, of peace.

Let these two men go into a museum. In a glass case are articles and clothing made by American Indians. There are waistcoats, moccasins, leggings, all covered with beads in barbaric splotches of color. There are tanned squaw dresses trimmed with elk teeth, warshirts fringed with the scalps of slain enemies. There are hatchets, pipes, papoose cradles. But most prominently displayed is a war bonnet of magnificent eagle feathers, each tufted with red horsehair, the crown of a dusky, savage king.

The first man looks at the war bonnet, cold, disinterested. In it he sees only a relic of savage tribes now gone. He turns away.

But the second man stays and looks long and intently. He has long since ceased to see the war bonnet. There is a far-away look in his eyes. He is seeing many things.

He sees the little papoose riding in its cradle on its mother's back across great prairies of grass waving in the wind with a motion like the waves of the sea.

He sees the lithe and naked boy a few years later riding guard on the pony herd, shooting with the bow and arrow, running races, playing games, as is the way of boys the world over.

He sees the slender youth following his chieftain, who carries the pipe, setting out on his first war trail. His newly shaven scalplock is very noticeable and his face is hideous with paint. And beneath it all there is a very human, throbbing, nervous heart.

He sees the sudden dash upon the enemy band, hears the twang of bowstring and the thud of arrow striking home. In his ears are the warwhoop and the scalp yell as the young novice takes his first scalp and holds the bleeding thing proudly aloft as if it were a thing of utmost beauty.

He sees the young warrior, now c to man's estate, clad in the splendor new buckskins, standing in the will near the tepees of the maidens. It is courting season and the love notes of wooer's flute float out in the evening

Long, long, he gazes at the bonnet on beyond it his vision pierces thro the years and reconstructs the f but happy days when it was ear Each feather, each red tuft upon feather, means a deed of bravery, adventure with death as the penalty failure, the life work of a red man long turned to dust.

And stamp collectors are of these types.

The first type sees in stamps t monetary value. He collects them profit, from a sense of value, for tho he never sells them he looks upon t as a good investment. He it is tha interested in the technicalities, the sha errors, varieties, and he will sit up night to find a curlicue or a plate cr To him the stamp world is vastly debted for without him there would no catalogues, no dealers.

But the true stamp lover is the co tor who collects stamps not for t value in dollars, not for what they bring on the market later, not for th selves, but for the wealth of history tradition that they bring to him. this man stamps are romantic illus tions in a great book, the History Mankind. From portraits of kings queens he can sit at his own are and reconstruct the glitter of courts, pomp and pageantry of royalty. W his stamps he roams the world in evening and never leaves his own hea With them he can fight over the war the world. The animals of the Ark port themselves before him for amusement. Congo savages, fi Somali slave-traders, cannibals from Southern Sea in their war canoes c within his vision. And before him it the "proud panoply of war" the figh men of the nations sweep by in rev And with the development of the fl machine and the issues of airmail sta he can sweep across the plains of Middle West, out over the old emig trails his forefathers trudged, urging the bull teams with goad and whip. over the towering battlements of Rocky Mountains, down the timb slopes of the Cascades to the City by Golden Gate.

A $50,000 FIND

A LONDON HOARD OF RARITIES DISCOVERED AFTER SIXTY YEARS

By FRED. J. MELVILLE (Daily Telegraph).

A new chapter in the romance of stamp collecting is the tale I unfold this week. A treasure store of unsuspected rarities has been discovered in the heart of Mayfair. London has had no prominent share in the big stamp finds of the past, and the circumstances of this important haul present some entirely novel features. Picture the young scion of a noble house, captivated by the newest fashion of his schooldays, the collecting of stamps in the early sixties. He is an enterprising youth and has ample means. All his rivals are intent on getting stamps from the remote colonies, which they obtain by "swapping," and by the favor of merchants and business houses with extensive foreign correspondence.

This collector set about his task on different lines. He sent a £5 bank note or less to each of a number of colonial postmasters asking to be supplied with stamps to the amount. This was in 1863 and 1864, and the replies came duly to hand, most of them just formal letters acknowledging the remittance and detailing the amounts of stamps enclosed and balance retained for cost of postage. The letters, enclosures and all were laid aside, the collector having embarked on a military career, and probably abandoned his schoolboy hobby.

Sixty-one years elapse. A titled lady searching for a bundle of papers in an attic of the family's town mansion, has by chance disturbed the packet of the boy's letters, and seeing some stamps brought out the packet for investigation. Neither she nor her husband knew anything of stamps, but they supposed these might be of some value. They invited Mr. H. R. Harmer, the Bond Street auctioneer, to see the lot, and eventually placed them in his hands for sale by auction. I have seen them all, and the old correspondence relating to them, and have no doubt they will provide one of the sensations of the auction room next season.

OLD STAMPS IN SHEETS.

A remittance of 10s sent to Ceylon brought two sheets (each of 120) of the ½d lilac stamp of 1858 on white glazed paper, a stamp which fetches £4 a copy, and of which probably no living collector had ever seen a full sheet until now. One of the sheets is still intact; from the other two stamps have been removed. It will stir the imagination of the specialist in Ceylons to reflect what a difference a few years might have made here, if the 1857 stamp of the same type but on blued paper had been sent, a stamp which is quoted at £25 a copy.

A remittance of £5 sent to the postmaster of Vancouver, British Columbia, brought a couple of sheets of the 2½d reddish rose stamp of 1861, now a £3 stamp. One sheet of 240 is still intact, and there are 118 remaining of the second sheet.

An unique item is an almost complete sheet of the 1d orange-vermilion Queensland, of 1863, also worth £3 a stamp singly, but of exceptional interest in the sheet. The first eleven stamps from the top of the sheet have gone, leaving a balance of 229. There are other remarkable part-sheets of Queensland, including blocks of 106 and 16 of the 2d blue. 49 of the 3d brown and 22 of the 6d yellow-green. In all I counted 514 of these early Queenslands, representing a cost of £3 10s 4d to their original purchaser, but valued today in thousands. These large blocks will assist materially in extending our knowledge of these stamps, and it is curious that they should turn up at this juncture when the special committee of the Royal Philatelic Society charged with the compilation of a Queensland handbook has nearly completed its labours.

A £10,000 HAUL.

Western Australia also figures in this find in a block of 49 of the 2d blue, clean cut perforation, of 1861, and a block of 80 of the 1d lake of 1864. Another consignment came from Grenada, seven complete sheets of 120 each of the 1d green of May, 1862, and a broken sheet of 96. The Ionian Islands which were ceded by Britain to Greece in May, 1864, were also canvassed by this enterprising collector and among his store several intact sheets, and a number of broken sheets are preserved. A letter from the postmaster tells of a shortage of the yellow (½d) stamps, but there is one full sheet of it without margins, and a block of 49; two complete sheets of the blue and four sheets of the carmine stamps. In olden times the Ionian Islands stamps were so plentiful in sheets that one of the early stamp dealers used many of them for mural decoration. They are not often to be found in sheets now.

Another packet consists of large blocks of the original stamps issued by the postal administration of the Counts of Thurn and Taxis in Germany, before Prussia bought out the last remnants of their postal monopoly which had existed from ancient times.

These are the chief items in a most surprising and valuable find in London. There are letters, etc., indicating that other stamps had been procured in similar manner, including some from Mauritius, but no traces are left of the stamps. In all of the stamps recovered after sixty years in the limbo of things forgotten, the total cost to the first purchaser at face value was under £20;

All Prices Cancelled
Pursuant to the terms set forth on the front inside cover page of my 1925 price-list, all prices quoted in that list are cancelled as of July 1st. The reason for this will be apparent when one considers that I issue my list each fall and that nine months see price changes in any line of business.
However, a large percentage of the prices will continue good until my 1926 list is ready in October.
Just order from the list as formerly, but include a supplemental list of from 50 to 75 per cent of the total amount of your order. That will give me the opportunity of selecting stamps the prices of which have not been changed.

CANADIAN EXHIBITION

We have already published in the WEEKLY particulars relating to the Third Canadian Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Montreal, October 5-9. We have just received from Exhibition officials a supplementary announcement which we are very pleased to publish. The WEEKLY urges its readers to enter in the various classes. Full details are obtainable from A. Newman, Room 318, Windsor Station, Montreal, or Prof. R. deL. French, McGill University, Montreal. The supplementary information follows:—

Classes—The following classes have been added: Class B-10—Canadian Precancels, Class 1-7—Rarities.

Trophies—In addition to the regular gold, silver and bronze medals offered as prizes for the best entries in the Exhibition, the Committee has received to date trophies from the following: Association for Stamp Exhibitions, New York (medal); Canadian Philatelic Society, Toronto, Ont. (cup); Stamp Herald, Kitchener, Ont. (medal); Mr. J. Moert, Kitchener, Ont. (album); Mr. H. W. Purvis, Yorkton, Sask. (cup); Winnipeg Stamp Club, Winnipeg, Man. (cup); Mrs. E. N. Oughtred, Montreal (cup); The Collectors Club, New York (medal); St. Lawrence Stamp Collectors Club, Montreal (cup); Mr. Robson Lowe, London, England (medal).

Insurance—The Committee has arranged with a group of Lloyd's Underwriters to insure exhibits against all risks while in the hands of the Committee at the rate of 12½ cents per $100.00.

Accommodation—The Committee will gladly undertake to make reservations for you at the Mount Royal Hotel where the Exhibition will be held. This hotel is one of the finest in Canada, is a modern fireproof building of 1,100 rooms and 1,100 baths. We would like you to make your reservations through us, as we hope to secure reduced rates if a sufficient number of registrations are made.

Official Catalogue—The Publicity Committee are preparing a book which will be a veritable digest of Canadian Philately. We will make this a useful book of reference for years to come. All exhibitors, together with descriptions of their exhibits, will be listed. As we intend to have the catalogue ready at the opening of the Exhibition, it is necessary that we have all entry blanks and descriptions of exhibits on hand by August 24, 1925. Descriptions of Exhibits are to be furnished by the exhibitor and will be published unaltered as far as possible.

Auction—An Auction will be held, at which many desirable items will be offered.

Entertainment Program—The Committee will arrange sight-seeing trips, also excursions to points of historic and scenic interest in the vicinity of the city. A banquet will be held on October 8th. Prizes will be awarded to those present on this evening. A number of prominent philatelists will give short daily talks of interest.

Transportation—Arrangements have been made with the Canadian Pacific Railway to place private cars at our disposal, at such points as Toronto, Winnipeg, Chicago, Boston, Detroit and New York, providing a party of sixteen or more can be gathered at these points.

Montreal—The popularity of our city as a convention center needs no elaboration.

Classification—In reply to numerous inquiries, the Exhibits Committee has ruled that the same item may be entered in any or all classes for which it is eligible. However, an entry fee of $1.00 will be charged for each class in which an exhibit is entered. For example: A specialization collection of Canada might be entered as a whole in Class B-3, while the 10d., etc., might also be entered in Class I-7.

Important—Please do not put off everything until the last minute. The Committee will have its hands full during the four weeks preceding the Exhibition. If you wish to co-operate with us, you will let us hear from you soon. This is essential, if we are to give you our best attention, which we desire to do.

Correspondence—In writing, please address Professor R. De L. French, McGill University, on all matters relating to exhibits, accommodations, donations of trophies, etc. Relative to insurance, auction, program, etc., please address Mr. T. M. Barrington, 616 Victoria Avenue, Westmount, P. Q. Regarding the official catalogue or transportation, please address Mr. A. Newman, Room 318 Windsor Station, Montreal, P. Q.

THE PHILATELIC INDEX

By CHAS. J. PHILLIPS.

I should like to call the attention of all those who write articles on stamps and all stamp students, to a work about to be published which they will find of the greatest assistance.

When we are studying any particular branch of philately we generally wish to know what has been published upon that particular subject. Personally, I have found this so important that I gave several months of spare time to going through many of the more important stamp magazines and making notes of all articles I thought worth while.

I am glad to say that the Philatelic Congress of Great Britain has taken up this matter and a strong committee has had charge of the preparation of such a work which is now finished and will be on sale at the Twelfth Congress to be held in Cambridge, England, on June 22-25th. This work is entitled, "The Philatelic Index."

The edition is a strictly limited one and copies can be had from Mr. Sale, Repton, King Edward Road, New Barnet, England. The cost price is not definitely fixed, but it is expected to be $5.00 and money orders for that amount should be sent to Mr. Sale with your orders.

J. O. MOORE, INC. HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

Our Stamp Club was entertained this past week by Mr. Willard O. Wylie, who gave us a talk on "The Making of a Philatelic Paper." He mentioned trade papers in general, then took up the philatelic newspaper in particular. There were many interesting details mentioned in the talk, and we gathered that the operating of such a paper is not exactly all fine fun that the boys think it to be when they start their paper with "Vol. I, No. 1."

The thing that impressed me the most was the hour our Managing Editor starts his work each day—he begins at 6 a. m. —how do you like those office hours???

I have always wondered why THE WEEKLY was so different from the many other stamp papers, and the answer might be that you have to get up early to get ahead of MEKEEL'S. We heard about the effort to reach 10,000 subscribers, how the list would increase, then recede, and the reasons for this. For example, the advent of our Columbian Issue created great philatelic activity, and now, no doubt, the fact that New York City is to have the International Exhibition in 1926 will cause new philatelists to appear, though to date we are without any information concerning the Exhibition itself.

Such events create additional readers of stamp papers, and in turn the advertising increases, and the paper is able to expand both in reading matter, and in the number of illustrations.

Here are a few observations of my own after many years of reading of stamp papers. One often hears said, "I could have had that collection if I had gone after it a little bit earlier." Advance information; getting ahead of the other fellow; "first pick"; all are recognized as of greatest philatelic importance. You can secure advance information by your own study, you learn that certain stamps are really scarce, and then you save them. Presuming that you have chosen knowingly, you will never be disappointed when the new catalog comes out.

Two stamps cataloguing at $7.50 each were under discussion, one of which was seldom offered, while the other is generally found on approval sheets. This may be applied to sets of most any country, there is usually one "joker" (a hard-to-get stamp) in a set. Example being our 13c present issue used, they are quite uncommon though in use many years.

So you may get advance information from your own study, and by reading the many stamp papers. Then get ahead of the other fellow by reading the stamp ads, and acting.

Looking back on the past two years, I can recall a number of ads that I let slip by, which appeared good, and which are now proven to be very fine stamps at the price they were advertised. Act at once is the only way to answer a stamp ad, for the good things in stamps are soon swallowed up.

Mr. L. S. Fairbanks has sent in the best "Patent" cancel on a 3c green American that has ever been called to my attention. It has 25 punch holes in a small circular position inside a ring. The holes are not just round points dug into the face of the stamp; but are actual little cut lines cut right down into the stamp with a black dot at each incision, looking very much as though made by an enlarged grill point. There is a new type of Jack o' Lantern without any nose whatever, yet a very pretty J. o' L.

Mr. G. A. Hitchcock has sent in some nice covers again. They are arranged in pairs, one being a cover without stamp, postmarked "Troy N Y 5 Cts" in blue, its accompanying cover having the same pmk. across a 5c 1847 stamp. This shows that towns were sometimes without a supply of '47s as both covers were used within this period. It is estimated that not over one cover in two hundred bore an 1847 stamp while the issue was current. No wonder they are scarce.

Two other covers bear the pmk. Bridgeport, Ct., across the 5c 1847s, one in blue, the other in bright green. A 3c 1861 cover has a circle enclosing a spray of rose in a vertical position with nice leaves below the rose itself. Dr. Evans has also shown this same cancel on the 10c '61. The cover shows this to come from Amherst, Mass. There is a fine copy of the rare 3c 1867 grilled all over, used from Washington, D. C., which may be a new town to add to your list of towns using this grill, if you keep a list.

Mr. S. C. Rogers brought in his collection telling me to help myself for the Forum. I did so to the extent of some 25 new cancels, and he has just left the office after fetching in his other collection with probably a like number. Many are on covers, and are just what is needed in identifying the towns which used some of these cancellations. A large 5 pointed star on 3c '61 shows the letters UNION, one letter to each point, and is a beauty. Another 3c '61 shows a blue cross in a circle, while another in blue has a flowery border, the center being a star with a small ball in the middle. In a small block is cut a square and compass, this being printed in olive green, and it is a real rarity.

On 1c Continentals are two with the year dates cut into small rectangular blocks reading 76 and 77. Two 3c greens show a large numeral 7 inside a well made shield. On one the outer edge of the shield is regular in outline, while the edge of the other shield is in saw tooth form as though the edge had been filed all round. A 6c Nat'l has a big anchor with the rope twined round it. These will be shown in our illustrations which are now approaching finality.

Please send no items later than the 1869 issue durng the summer, thank you. Also note change in address at top of column.

—Mr. G. C. Rheinfrank, Chicago, is now devoting his full time to his business after having been sequestered in the hospital. Recently, he had a distinguished visitor, Mr. Branch Rickey, manager and vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League. Mr. Rickey bought a large packet of stamps for his son, who is a budding philatelist. This incident shows that prominent men are not too busy to take a keen interest in the stamp activities of their sons.

EDITORIAL.

The following letter has been received from the Reverend Elias Rasmussen, Windom, Minnesota: "I am sending you a picture of the Viking ship and crew that sailed across the Atlantic in 1893, to the World's Fair, Chicago. My father, Rev. R. Rasmussen, was one of the twelve men. Because of the interest in the new Norse centennial stamps, the five cents of which carries the picture of Viking, I thought that you might be interested in this picture. I have a few that father brought with him from Norway." We appreciate this interesting souvenir with its representation of Viking and the captain and his crew, as we remember the interest evoked in Chicago in 1893, when the hardy voyagers deported at Chicago; and moreover, the significance of the prototype of the boat on the five cent stamp is appreciated by philatelists. We thank the Reverend Elias Rasmussen to whose favors we are no stranger, as, for instance, "Notes on Norway No. 4," in the issue of May 18th, clearly show.

The opening of the New York-Chicago over-night air mail service on July 1, 1925, will be observed with exercises in the two cities that are concerned, we read; and the department has prepared all the details for the successful inauguration of the service. With a flying time of nine hours and fifteen minutes, the two great centers are in closer communion than ever before and, no doubt, the advantages of the service will be recognized with approval by the public. The postage rate is ten cents an ounce or fraction thereof; and the post-office department says that the new route is an augury of further improvements in commercial aviation.

Let us cite a concrete example of procedure that may well be copied by those philatelists who feel that they should like to aid in standardizing philately in a public sense but who do not know just how they may turn their hands to advantage. About a month ago the Chicago Tribune published a ringing editorial on "Get a Hobby, and Ride It," suggested by the observance of Boys' Week. In the list of hobbies that are suggested as filling the bill, it happens that stamp collections are the first to be mentioned. This was satisfactory, but a few days later in the Voice of the People Column, a letter, signed by Mr. George Bradbury, a Chicago collector, attracted the eye; and as Mr. Bradbury says, the heading was supplied by the column conductor showing that he knows the drift of things. Instead of a single shot, we have a double-barreled boom for collecting. Here is the opening paragraph of Mr. Bradbury's note of appreciation:

THE STAMP COLLECTING HOBBY.

"CHICAGO, May 20.—Permit me to express my appreciation of your editorial 'Get a Hobby and Ride It.' I think this editorial was likewise appreciated by a larger number of your readers than any one you have printed for a long time. It appeals to the human element in all of us. It seems that we all have a hobby, collecting rare paintings, furniture, clocks, violins, and antiques in general, to say nothing of the professor who was recently found to have a hobby of digging tunnels.

"Not the least important of all the hobbies is that of stamp collecting. Most all boys in their school days are stamp collectors. Some have kept it up until the present day, having collections which run into the millions of dollars."

We are pleased to have received with the compliments of the distinguished author, Dr. Emilio Diena of Rome, Italy, a copy of his work in pamphlet form, "L'Incisore dei Francobolli di Sicilia, Tommaso Aloysio Juvara," which is a biography of Tommaso Aloysio Juvara, the engraver of the Bomba heads of Sicily. The history is published as a tribute to Juvara on the fiftieth anniversary of his death which took place on May 29, 1875, and is abridged from Dr. Diena's article in Il Corriere Filatelico of May, 1925. The fact that Dr. Diena deputed himself to serve Juvara in the capacity of biographer, whose genius is perpetuated in a philatelic sense in the stamps of Sicily, is tantamount to saying that the review has been done with discrimination and sympathy; and it results in a sheaf of pages that is a valuable contribution to our literature generally and especially that on the subject of the Bomba stamps. A full-page photographic fac-simile of a leaf evidently from the old postal archives shows the completed 10 grana; seven frames of the same denomination, in different colors, so it is noted; and the stamp showing the frame cancellation nicely applied. This is an interesting historical exhibit. The accomplishments of Juvara are detailed with particular reference to philatelic achievement and a work of solid merit is placed before the public by the master, Dr. Diena. Naturally, the history is in Italian; and it is to be added, the pamphlet is handsomely fashioned, typographically.

The Associated Press under a Berlin date-line, June 15th, says that an issue of new stamps for Germany is planned for late this year, depicting poets and musicians, Beethoven, Goethe, Schiller and Bach. Germany, while not original in adopting the portraits of musical and poetical geniuses for stamp use, will give a good illustration of the idea in the finished product, it is likely. Fine engravings of Goethe and Schiller, not to mention Beethoven and Bach, in miniature, will be worth having.

In the Australian Stamp Journal for May, there is a sensible article on color names as applied to philately that strikes a hopeful note; and the author dismisses at the outset any desire to reconcile colors, in their scientific aspects to the nomenclature already adopted in stamp circles. He says that color-names used in philately at best are to be regarded in a comparative sense; and with a basis of knowledge of the various names signifying color bases, the collector will not stray far afield. The writer, while saying that a "shade" should be dark and that a "tint" is light, accepts the philatelic idea of shade in order to lead up to what in our opinion is the greatest source of confusion in identifying color variants; and that is the use of descriptive terms that by no means are invariable in their suggestions, such as "sap green," "sky-blue," "cinnamon," and to give both ends of the alphabet their fling, "agate" and "zenith blue." When the use of such descriptives which are arbitrary appellations and are loose in their suggestions is avoided, the subject becomes relatively simple. While accuracy should be striven for, it is perhaps enough to approximate the color in words. The use of a color chart is advised and in this connection, the color guide published by Stanley Gibbons, Limited, London, is of service. In conclusion, we quote the author: "However, there is very little disagreement regarding the relationship between colour-names except where ambiguous and fancy terms are concerned. Any good color chart will illustrate the direction in which one color differs from another."

There is a blizzard of new issues stamps are swirling all around the col tor. The long set of Portugal to celebr the genius of the writer, Camilio Cast Branco, to be followed by the surchar for the colonies of Portugal; the Greece; the Egyptian, with their pictu antiquities, to commemorate the In national Geographical Congress, Cai new Malta, with distinctive designs the shillings values and a complete for Northern Rhodesia, making "R desia" as a stamp-issuing country onl memory, not to mention many ot novelties, are making philatelic hist in jig-time. Different reactions fol the swarm of stamps and while we k that some collectors yearn for the c forts of the albums of decades ago w each stamp stood forth clearly, in c sequence of the limited number of sta available, yet it must be remembered t there are a great many collectors of l affiliation with collecting, who have thought of approximate completeness a collecting sense. They demand ac and they are getting it.

NOT A N. Y. C. STAMP AGENCY?

By G. M. Vaughn.

closed herewith is an article from . Y. Evening World, concerning the -American Commemorative Issue of s.

s article gives impetus to the old ion "Why not a Philatelic Agency N. Y. Post Office." I have made ted inquiries at the G. P. O. here when this issue would be put on at the local offices and beyond the that they didn't know, no informa- vas available.

course we can send to Washington ur supply, but as this article says, t come, first served" is the order e day there and the way our orders illed bears that out perfectly. My ular hobby is plate number blocks and I am perfectly willing to pay a ium for them, but I am adverse to dea of having to go to a dealer for rivilege; simply because he has the and means of getting from a sup- lly common source that which the ge small collector is entitled to but

DISPLAY BY MAJOR J. A. STEINMETZ

Reported by Charles J. Phillips.

The last meeting of the Collectors Club for this season took place on Wednesday, June 3rd, when Major Steinmetz came up from Philadelphia and gave us a great treat, not only in the class of stamps he showed, but by his interesting and chatty comment upon his own stamps and upon the subject of how and what to display to best catch the public eye. At the outset he said that many of the gems of his collection were in Paris, where he exhibited, as they had not arrived back in time to show at this meeting.

Major Steinmetz told us that he had kept a careful record of the cost of his collection for thirty years and that he was convinced that the selling value today showed an average increase of 10% per annum on the total cost. Not bad this—to have a hobby that has been a great pleasure and relaxation for thirty years, and further to find this hobby, has paid better than most of his stocks and bonds bought during the same period. The collection starts with some Ship Letters of 1800 to show postal marks before the adhesive stamps came in. Then a number of the Genoa embossed "Letter Sheets" of 1828 passed by Dr. E. Diena.

Very interesting and rare items were the Franks used in 1838 by Northern Liberties, Philadelphia, this being one of the group of some 38 towns now merged into Philadelphia. Then came some pages of New Yorks, first the proofs, trials and reprints, then a nice series on covers. A series of Carrier Stamps were shown. Among them I noted a New York 3c blue used on letter to Hong Kong, via England. A Baltimore, black horseman with a double shift was another good item. In the New Yorks was also a fine copy of the 2c vermilion. The Philadelphia Carriers were a nice lot with a 1c on blue glazed paper very fine. The Franklin Carrier of 1851 was shown used on letters, three copies in all. Major Steinmetz shows many examples of the "building up" of a stamp from its first inception by the engraver until its completion. For instance, take the 30c stamp based on the head of the Franklin Carrier, with the background of the 3c and so on in many states of the proofs.

In the General Issues, Major Steinmetz showed a nice lot of 1847, the 5c in singles, pairs and strips on covers and the 10c in six singles and three on covers. In the 1851 issue, fine examples of the cracked plates of the 1c and 3c. In the 1869 he produced what was a great surprise to all the members present. A cover from the Thomas A. Biddle correspondence franked with a 90c plus 15c and two 3 cents, this being the first 90c that any of us had seen used on cover. In the 1870-75 issues, he showed a large number of stamps on chemical papers, and double papers, and Cog Wheel perforations, and numerous items from the Patent Files.

After this he showed a few interesting pages from his general collection and I noted:—Cape of Good Hope, both the rare errors in the Woodblocks; Buenos Aires, Steamship, 3p green, 4p red and 5p ochre; Hawaiian numerals, 1c blue on thin azure, 2c blue on thin azure, three copies and a fine 2c duck's egg color; Reunion, first issue, 15c and 30c; Switzerland, Geneva, 5c + 5c, Vand 4c, Zurich 4rp.

I should like to refer to one other interesting part of this fine collection. For many years Major Steinmetz has made a point of securing one original page from any famous collection that has been broken up, showing how great collectors arranged and wrote up their stamps," for example, J. K. Tiffany, the Earl of Crawford, etc., etc. He has sheets from some 25 famous collections.

The members all voted the display as a very interesting and instructive show and hoped to see more of this collection on a future occasion.

I have bought a further good lot of these popular stamps and have made up three new books which contain 93 of the 30 reis, 118 of the 60 reis, and 42 of the rare 90 reis. Also a number of good copies of 1844 180r, 300r & 600r and 1861 280r red and 430r yellow.

The 1½c Harding Brown

One of our contemporaries recently advised that a new 1½c die had been made and described the supposed difference between this die and the die formerly used for this denomination. Although I looked over my entire stock and could not find the two varieties, I felt it safer to write the Bureau before actually informing our readers as to whether a second die was made or not.

I am now in a position to advise that there has been no second die for the 1½c stamp, and that they have been using the same die from the first. The Bureau advises under date of June 12th that a second die has not been made, and that in the case of the first one, they simply took the 2c Harding Memorial stamp—removed the figures "2" in the corners as well as the dates in the upper right corners— the figures "1½" were then engraved and the transfer die made from the altered roll. As the original Harding stamp was printed in black, it was necessary to work over the entire stamp, especially the portrait, in order to give it depth for the new color in which it is printed. This information is official over the signature of Mr. A. W. Hall, the Director.

New Plate Spacings

In a recent chronicle I called our readers' attention to the fact that the Bureau had begun to space certain stamps further apart on the plate, both horizontally and vertically, in order to cut down the large amount of waste which has heretofore appeared due to poor perforating.

I now learn that the Bureau changed the stamp gauge on plates in order to eliminate this waste, and that the first set of plates sent to the press were of the 2c denomination, Nos. 16505 to 508 inclusive. These plates were experimental and no other plates were made on the new gauge until this set had proven successful and authority had been received from the Post Office Department to proceed with same. Since receiving their approval, the following plates have been laid down in accordance with the new gauge: Nos. 16656 to 59, 16741-758, 761-764, 785-88, 790-92, as well as all plates made after 17107 of this 2c denomination.

So far, only the ½c, 1½c and 2c have been laid down in this manner and I am informed that a star appears on the 2c plate in order to indicate the new gauge from the old. I have not as yet seen a block showing the star, but imagine it is near the plate number as formerly. These plates as previously advised in this column are known to the Bureau as star plates, and the vertical and horizontal spacing is somewhat wider apart than normal.

Norse-American Series

Through the courtesy of Messrs. H. W. Porter and Louis G. Barrett, we are able to add a number of new plate combinations to the recent list previously given in this column.

10c Rotary Print

Mr. C. E. Nickles kindly sends me a first-day cover of the new 10c. perf. 10 rotary print, perforated 10 on unwatermarked paper, which I mentioned last week as having been issued in Washington on June 8th. The variety in precanceled condition has been placed on sale at several other post-offices.

The stamp is in a deep orange shade much more attractive than the impression from the flat plate, and it is only to be regretted that the stamp still carries a background, for it would be an unusually handsome variety if the head stood out as in the case of the 5c.

So far, there has appeared the following denominations perforated 10 from the rotary press: 1c, 1½c, 2c, 4c, 5c, 6c and 10c.

Mr. H. W. Porter has shown me two very distinct shades of the 1½c, sufficiently different to warrant their being chronicled as separate varieties. One is printed in a deep brown, similar to the 4c and is the first shade that was issued at Washington The other is in a light brown shade, similar to the flat plate variety, and at first glance you take it to be an impression from the flat plate.

1½c Envelopes

Mr. Douglas Beattie adds to our recent list of 1½c envelopes by sending a sample of the die H2 on blue, size 3, H. B., Wmk. 26. This is the first H2 on blue that I have as yet seen.

Mr. Beattie advises that he has also seen the current 4c black, size 8, L. B. on white, with the new watermark 27.

Postal Label

In my notes of April 27th, mention was made of a peculiar label found on an early cover, calling attention to paid postage. Mr. A. W. Claflin in me that he has a cover mailed Baltimore without year date, carry 1c and 2c Continental stamp on there is a label 2½" x 1" reading a lows:

"This letter was dropped in the timore P. O. without a stamp and have been sent to the Dead Letter in two days. The postage was pa box 700 and any return will be de to charity. Address 'Charity,' Box Balt. P. O."

Canal Zone

Under date of June 6th, Mr. Carter writes that on July 1st next, will be placed on sale in the Zo new 3c and 14c U. S. stamps with Zone overprint. There will be 200,(the former and half as many o latter overprinted.

A circular letter without date i from the Philatelic Agency at E Heights but posted on June 6th cal tention to the fact that the 3c an are now available. The same lett cidently mentions the availability current series formerly listed, as ctors will find a complete line of Scott's ns and 1925 Catalogs on sale at our of- nd a very large stock of both 19th and Century stamps.

. DOSCHER & CO. 217 Montgomery St., SanFrancisco,Calif.

on sale, in addition to the 25c and booklets, the postal cards and the ped envelopes. Direct requisitions hese stamps should be addressed to Postmaster at Balboa Heights.

r. Carter further writes that the isional postage due stamps are get- very scarce and that it is now prac- y impossible to obtain any of them. ar, I have seen none unused with the ption of a 1c and 2c on a cover that ped cancellation.

rcular letter No. 28, sent out by the ctor of Posts to all postmasters r date of April 15th, especially calls tion to the fact that sale of Postage stamps is not permitted. This tlar no doubt is the result of a num- of the former set appearing upon market in an unused condition.

BELGIAN CONGO.—Once again an attempt is to be made to exploit stamp collectors. On the plea of collecting funds for the erection, at Kinshasa, of a memorial to those who perished in the war, four new adhesives are to be issued at an early date. They will be suitably inscribed in Flemish and French, and will comprise two different 25c stamps in the type of the obsolete 40c, and two in the type of the current Ruanda-Urundi series. They will have a postal validity of half their face value, the other half being set aside for the purpose mentioned. Despite the alleged object, the quantity is to be limited to thirty million copies in all—a clumsy compliment to philatelists, this!—Stamp Collecting.

BERMUDA.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the 1sh black on green, olive green back, multiple CA watermark.

LATVIA.—We have received from Mr. Karl Koslowski and the Economist Stamp Co. copies of the 6 santimi, green on yellow.

MALTA.—The stock of £1 stamps having become exhausted, a fresh printing has been made, differing principally from the old ones in the watermark, which is now placed upright instead of sideways as in the 1922 issue, there is also a slight difference in shade and paper. We are informed that the number printed is very small, we have therefore cabled for a supply and if they arrive in time they will be included in this month's distribution.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

POLAND.—We are indebted to the Economist Stamp Co. for copies of three values of stamps of new designs: 5gr grey green (building), 10gr purple (monument), and 15gr red (buildings).

SIAM.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 2 satangs brown on yellow, air mail type, which we are informed was issued on April 1st last. The stamp is engraved and printed by Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., London, and perf. 14.

SWITZERLAND.—Mr. Francis J. Field advises of an official airpost stamp, 20c green, in the same type as Scott's Nos. 277-78.

NEWS GLEANINGS

—A reader informs us that there is no philatelic agency in the Canal Zone, although we have been told that there is. Who really knows?

—From Mr. Frank Sellman, Portland, Oregon, we have word that the junior collectors' club organized by him is getting along well, thanks in part to the cooperation of the Beaver Stamp Society of that city. Other collectors have helped the good work along by donations of different kinds.

—Mr. R. C. Munroe, of the Springfield Stamp Club, Mass., was the headliner at the meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society of June 16th, when he exhibited his specialized collection of Hong Kong.

—The advance sheets of the 1926 edition of Scott's catalogue will soon make their appearance and the first instalment will be due about July 15th.

—Mr. Leonard Michael, once of Chicago, but for some years a factor in the American Can Company of New York, was a caller recently on the home folks. Mr. Michael was one of the coterie in Chicago that made things hum in days gone by.

—We wonder what some of the old writers of sea romances would say if they knew that we now have a parcel post to Fanning Island.

—John Gage sends us a pictorial clipping showing a German airplane in the act of collecting air-mail. The mail bags are attached to ropes between two poles and the mail pilot drops an anchor in flight and collects them.

—The eastern branch of the Rotnem Stamp Co. which has been located in Cambridge has been discontinued, and hereafter all of the firm's business will be handled from the Minneapolis office.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

FIRST DAY COVERS

By A. H. PIKE.

In the last paragraph on the editorial page of your June 8 issue it reads as follows: "It seems that Northfield, Minn., did not get the stamps (Norse-American) on the first day; at least, covers that were sent there to be mailed on the first day came with the ordinary 2c stamps."

I am very glad to say that I have five covers, machine cancelled, "May 18th, 9 A. M. 1925". All perfect impressions, stamps well centered and no fault to find with them in any way.

This absolutely proves that they did have the stamps early in the day at least. I was fortunate in securing covers at all post offices at which they were on sale on May 18th.

First day covers I consider one of the most interesting phases of every stamp issue, especially those issues where our post office department select certain cities where the stamps are on sale earlier than at other offices.

The stamps themselves may never have much real value of themselves but with the entire cover the value is greatly increased, due mainly to the postmark date. I might add that philatelists buy these at prices considerably over the actual value of the stamp. They are actually paying for the postmark although many of them will flatly deny that they are postmark collectors.

NEW ISSUE NOTES

Boys, get busy, if you want to get the newest U. S. Stamps. The Norse-American Centennial is now out. It was issued by our government on April 1st and will be for sale for the rest of the year.

Then there are some more very new stamps, issued on April 15th. They are a 1½ cents with Harding on it (brown) and ½ cent with Nathan Hale on it. You can get these at the post-office, but you better hurry up because they may recall this issue at any time.—Stickney Noise.

Washington Philatelic News

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

The Philatelic Agency

Washington informs me that the Agency is working nights in order to complete all orders by Tuesday next, June 30th, so that they may close down on July 1st to take inventory. The Department's fiscal year begins on that date and it is necessary to count all stocks.

There has been an unusual amount of criticism of the Agency here of late because of their slowness in filling orders, but when it is realized that the issuing of a new variety brings from three to five thousand orders, it will be understood why four clerks, working full time, cannot answer letters promptly upon their receipt. If those making application asked for the new stamps only, this could be done, but every list, as a rule, includes a good number of other varieties, and in the case of many orders, it is necessary to spend an hour or more in filling them.

Every clerk is bonded, so that when the unusual rush is on, it is not possible to transfer a clerk from some other section of the same division, as one would suppose could be done. It would not be practical to increase the force of the Agency, for under normal conditions, this number of clerks is able to take care of the usual run of orders, promptly.

Many of the criticisms have been unjust and if one would spend just a little time in investigating, they would see that the Agency is doing everything within their power to fill orders as soon after their receipt as possible. Every order arriving is numbered, so that there is no question of a later order coming in and being given precedence over an earlier one. The reason many of us have the stamps on the day of issue is not because our orders are filled earlier but because we are either in Washington on the day of issue or have a friend in Washington who applies personally at the Agency and buys our requirements.

Washington News

At the beginning of the fiscal year, the Department will be able to draw upon their new appropriation, and as this has been cut down considerably, they are arranging to proceed without delay to the issuing of all denominations through the 12c on the rotary press, for this method of printing and precanceling saves considerable money. We may, therefore, expect before the end of Summer to find the rotary print perf. 10 unwatermarked, 3c, 7c, 8c, 9c, 11c and 12c. It is not thought at this time that there will be a ½c for these ½c stamps are used in connection with the 1c envelopes and most of these will be overprinted 1½c to take care of the additional postage. This will result in the demand for this stamp materially decreasing, and by the time Congress meets again, there will possibly be new postal rates which will eliminate the stamp from the series entirely.

Up to this writing (June 23), no further dies for overprinting envelopes have been sent to post offices, other than the four previously mentioned in this column.

Dr. Hubert Lyman Clarke, as well as others, have written to call my attention to the fact that mention is made of the country of issue, namely "United States" on the Norse-American series. We are glad to find that our readers follow our notes so carefully, and can only explain the error by the fact that when the notes were written, the stamps were not before us and we were going by memory entirely.

Airmail Service

Mr. J. B. Whitney, Jr., sends us an airmail cover which he states was carried by the MacMillan Arctic Expedition on their first hop from Philadelphia to Boston on Wednesday afternoon, June 10th. The cover in question was posted with a 2c stamp and shows the postmark of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, dated June 9, at 8.30 A. M. It shows the further postmark of the Boston Navy Yard of June 11, 9.00 A. M. Mr. Whitney reports that only eighty-five covers were carried by these planes.

Mr. E. J. Newcomer sends further clippings regarding the airmail service between Pasco, Wash., and Elko, Nevada, and one of the clippings mentions that if this extra route is arranged, that there will be a station at Boise.

Envelopes with New Watermark

Mr. H. Clay Reed advises that he has located three further envelopes with the new watermark, adding to our recent lists.

"Specimen Departments"

In MEKEEL'S for May 18th, Mr. H. M. Konwiser takes exceptions to my remarks in this column on March 23rd, relative to his article on Department stamps appearing in the American Philatelist.

When I criticised points in his article I produced facts to show that he was in error. In his further remarks, his statements are general and he does not give proofs to further his assertions. He states that he does not make "low" auction prices but if he will refer to my original article, he will see that in every case where I criticised his prices, I gave information where they had been sold at more. How can he account for his price of $42.00 each on the Agriculture "Sepcimen" error, when the 30c was sold at a Kelleher sale for $181 only last year, and the 12c, 15c and 24c at $63, $52 and $73 respectively, at the Worthington sale eight years before? How does he ac-

All Prices Cancelled

Pursuant to the terms set forth on the front inside cover page of my 1925 price-list, all prices quoted in that list are cancelled as of July 1st. The reason for this will be apparent when one considers that I issue my list each fall and that nine months see price changes in any line of business.

However, a large percentage of the prices will continue good until my 1926 list is ready in October.

Just order from the list as formerly, but include a supplemental list of from 50 to 75 per cent of the total amount of your order. That will give me the opportunity of selecting stamps the prices of which have not been changed.

count for his price of $62.00 on the $5.00 State "Specimen", when it was sold by Morgenthau on November 11th last at auction for $260?

In his recent remarks, he states that I doubt the existence of the "Agriculture" on soft paper. If he will refer to my article, he will see that I do not doubt the existence of the 1c on soft paper, and I even take the trouble to mention as to how this was found by the Holton Stamp Company. This data is further confirmed by a recent note in MEKEEL'S, written by Mr. Frank Pollard Brown.

Mr. Konwiser criticises my remarks stating that the "1c Executive" and "1c Interior" are not known with "Sepcimen" overprint. He replies to this by stating that they have been recognized as existing for a number of years. I would like him to produce facts as to who recognizes their existence and where copies of such stamps can be seen. They may come to light in time but I know of no one who has seen a copy as yet.

No, I have not seen a copy of the 1c Navy on soft paper, with the exception of the stamp with "Sepcimen" overprint. If Mr. Konwiser feels that this is so common that he lists it as $25.00 and states that he has seen copies, I would be glad to pay $200—just eight times his price for a copy.

When I added to Mr. Konwiser's list, I in each case told where a copy of the variety could be seen. Where I criticised his prices, I showed in each case where they had brought more.

It is very easy to write that "I have been told this" and "I have been told that", but we must state that we cannot accept Mr. Konwiser's statements as facts until he can produce what he claims to have been told.

This week we have received two applications for membership in our Honor Club. Remittances of $5 each are acknowledged with thanks from A. Nehammer, of Tacoma, Wash., and Charles J. Guenther, 123 E. THE MANAGING EDITOR.

ILLUSTRATIONS OF STAMPS

R. H. Wilcox of San Francisco, Cal., has sent us a copy of a communication sent to the Collector of Customs, San Francisco, Cal., by the Treasury Department at Washington. It is of importance from a philatelic standpoint and we act upon the suggestion that it be published for the information of collectors in general.

Mr. Wilcox points out that the decision makes it obligatory for collectors of customs to seize stamp papers, stamp catalogs and stamp albums or any printed matter containing illustrations of foreign or domestic stamps either canceled or uncanceled not printed from defaced plates. The decision also denies the importer the privilege of exportation after seizure. The letter follows:—

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 21st ultimo, relating to importations of fac-simile representations of foreign and domestic postage stamps.

It has been held by the Post Office Department that the reproduction of postage stamps, either canceled or uncanceled, by photographing, printing, lithographing, or otherwise, is prohibited (see Sections 147, 150 and 177 of the Criminal Code). In a letter to the Department under date of the 6th ultimo, the Postmaster General stated that to support the opinion that these sections are intended to prohibit the reproduction of United States postage stamps for any purpose whatsoever, even where no fraud is intended, Act of Congress (42 Stat. 1437) was approved March 3, 1923, in favor of philatelic publishers defining existing laws and making it permissible to reproduce sections of borders of United States stamps in black and white only, to show minor differences as illustrations in stamp catalogues (the illustration to be at least four times as large as the original part of the stamp illustrated), as well as to the reproduction of complete foreign stamps for the same purpose, the latter to be printed from defaced plates and in black and white only.

It will be seen that the statute applies equally to stamps as illustrations in stamp catalogues and stamp papers as well as stamp albums. Such unlawful importations should be seized and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of Paragraph 17 c of Article 363 of the Customs Regulations of 1923. The Department is without authority to permit such importations to be withdrawn for export tation. Inasmuch as the statute permits the reproduction of foreign postag stamps from defaced plates specifically importations of such reproductions whic have not been printed from defaced plate could not be released for entry or expor tation where the importer, after impor tation, obliterates the illustrations b drawing a line through them.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

In 1895 one of the officers of this company started a stamp business in New York City. For it he bought foreign stamps of good quality by the hundreds and thousands. After a few years he dropped the business and took up other work, while the stamps went into storage. Recently they turned up. We cannot use them to advantage, because our business is confined almost entirely to specialized U. S. and a few classic issues of 19th century foreign stamps. Anyone interested in such a lot, and it includes thousands of British Colonials, other thousands of South Americans, thousands of Europeans, almost all of them 19th century, at a dime on the dollar, address

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

The Forum is now moved into summer quarters—Still River, Mass.,—"tfn," as the ads say at the bottom oftentimes. Will be here till September, so please send all communications to this address. Most of the unanswered Forum mail is with me here, and will be sent out as fast as time permits.

From Mr. O. T. Hartmann this interesting and scarce cancellation is received on a 3c green stamped envelope—"West: N:C. R.R. Aug 8 1876 D. A. Ramsay. Rt. Agt." This is the two ring type of pmk. with date inside the smaller ring, and all letters are caps of the same size.

Mrs. O. W. Mott sends in a very nice lot of original covers of the early days. A Patriotic cover partly torn away shows "Remember Ellsworth," with an Officer, and flags. This shows the postmark "Washington City, D. C., Free." Another Patriotic mailed with a 3c 1857, Type II, shows the flag having the Liberty Cap at top of the flagpole, and reads below, "If anyone attempts to haul down the Flag, shoot him on the spot." Used July 13, 1861. This sentence is famous through the misspelled word on a coin of the Civil War period.

Among the 3c 1851 covers, the best is a fine copy of the bottom row stamp of the major cracked plate, the stamp is the claret shade of 1857, and the pmk. "Five Corners, N. Y." There is also the other bottom row cracked plate which runs up into the bust of Washington, and as the pmks. and colors are the same, they were undoubtedly from the same sheet of 3c 1851 stamps. Another fine item is a 3c 1854 printing from a badly worn plate, pmkd. "Prov. & Wor. R. R. Jun 12." This is well pmkd. for a railroad, as they are seldom distinct in all parts of the ring. There is a very pretty 3c 1857 Type I cancelled "Cazenovia, N.Y. Apr 8 Paid." The postmaster of this town was a most careful official—maybe his wife cancelled the outgoing mail tho!—for on the many covers I have seen from that town, the type is always distinct, as tho the die were brushed up every morning. Wish more P.M.'s were like that, especially those who had the run on R.R. mail trains, for some look as tho the cinders were never removed from their obliterators at all in their whole career.

There are three very handsome covers with Blood's Penny Post stamps used in connection with the 3c 1851s, one an orange brown, while another cover bears the 1c blue Eagle Carrier cancelled with a red mark in lieu of the customary red star. All four covers are from Philadelphia of course, the Eagle being with black Phila. pmk., and the others with same in blue. There is a wide range of years of printing, giving orange browns of '51 to clarets of '57.

Mr. J. J. Small sends in an interesting lot of more recent things, many of which I know nothing about as "U. S. before '70" are what have received most of my attention, so I will quote direct from his sending, "1 block of 4 Harding, I call them the 'double chin' and 'dirty collar' stamps. On the lower right stamp is a shadow effect as though the plate were moved, and on the others left a streak running along the collar giving it the appearance of being soiled. The other three Hardings are more pronounced markings. These were taken from sheets plate numbered 15091 and 15120 of the last edition of Harding stamps.

One block of four 8c Grant present edition with creased paper on lower two. One pair of 3c top stamp with numeral in lower right not printed, having a white blot instead. One pair 30c Franklin left stamp with white band across head, giving it the appearance of bandaged head. I call it the 'Franklin headache stamp.'

I also have a block of 25 of the present issue of 2c stamps which had been torn apart diagonally across, then put together with a strip of paper. They are perforated vertically all through the block; but the right diagonal half is not perforated horizontally, whilst the left half is perforated both ways."

All of the above are exactly as quoted in the letter, and make a nice lot of errors for a collection of oddities. They show what skips the eye of the inspectors today. There is a 2c current stamped envelope with a ½ inch albino strip running diagonally across the printed stamp, giving a very odd look to our well known stamped envelope.

A word about the cancellations, they are being assorted into groupings of similar kinds, for example, there will be a series of Jack o' Lanterns of various periods shown in one group. This will give an idea of the sizes that the P.Ms. used in cancelling devices. As a rule the earliest "odd cancels" were cut from rather smaller bits of wood, or cork, as the P.Ms. were a bit timid about whether the authorities would frown on their work, or let it get by. Later on, in the '70s, we have some very large and crude devices, while of course we find some of the very best of our cancels on the stamps of this same period. They are not only interesting to look at today; but one wonders what idea prompted some of these weird affairs which grace (?) our early U. S. stamps.

EDITORIAL.

A new bulletin issued by the Philatelic Agency, Washington, under date of June 15, 1925, requires three pages for the accommodation of the issues on sale. We notice that the 75c parcel post is still available, as well as the 13c apple green, the $2 orange and black and the $2 and $5 of the 1902 issue. From several correspondents we have received word that delay has attended the filling of orders and in explanation, it is said that the Philatelic Agency is under the necessity of relying upon the services of its regular clerks, even when there is extraordinary demand made by collectors, as during the recent months. We understand that temporary help is not to be impressed into service and that there is no provision for the pay of more permanent clerks. It is possible that the next appropriation will remedy this condition as the Agency has shown first of all that it is heavily patronized by collectors and that it is a profitable branch of the post office department.

From Mr. D. C. Hammatt, Topeka, Kansas, we have received the information: "If your question regarding the railroad cancellation, in the issue of June 15th, is not wholly rhetorical, you might like to know that I have a cover with a postmark, something like this: Chicago to Burlington—Mar. 30, East. It is blue, struck three times on three of the 3c, 1861, and once more on the cover, which is addressed to a point in Illinois. Mr. J. V. Yegge, DeWitt, Iowa, sends two stamped envelopes, 1864, for inspection, one of which has the cancellation: Chicago to Cedar Rapids, East, July 13. The other shows: Chicago to Cedar Rapids, Feb. 7, 1866. Thus, we have both the "east" and the "west" varieties of this railroad postmark which was the first to be used on the post office mail cars.

Here is the best of worst stamp story that we have ever heard and we have had several hard falls. An old-timer with the eye of the Ancient Mariner stopped us to say that collecting nowadays is not as it was when he was young. "When I was young," he crooned, "collectors had the real collecting instinct. When I got a stamp that my pal didn't have, what did I do but tear it in half and give him his share and he was always glad to reciprocate. I remember that I found a St. Louis bear and recognizing its worth, I was not so sacrilegious as to tear it into two pieces; the occasion warranted the use of a pair of scissors so that the division could be fairly made."

A most enlightening article, from the viewpoint of the collector, appeared in the June number of the Jesuit Bulletin, an illustrated quarterly published at St. Louis, Mo., by the Jesuit Fathers of the Middle West. Nearly three pages are occupied by "Philately for the Missions," by Robert E. Manning, S. J., which describes the organization and workings of the mission stamp bureau, which turns stamps into dollars and thereby provides funds for the Jesuit foreign missions. The stamps are contributed by over two hundred faithful friends and we read that the proceeds from the sale of stamps last year were over $800. We quote from the Jesuit Bulletin: "Thus, our missions in Patna, India, and in British Honduras are being aided in a very practical way, and even the humble postage stamp has its place in the great work of winning souls for Christ." The article is begun in this interesting manner: An advanced collector from a small town visited St. Louis and, bent on calling on his favorite stamp dealer, sought a familiar address and upon finding it, "he looked in vain for the musty shop with its array of philatelic accessories." Instead, the impressive walls of a university building were before him and when he entered the edifice, he "was further surprised to be greeted by two black-robed scholastics." As the writer says, many people who deal with the Mission Stamp Bureau do not know that it is operated by Jesuit scholastics of the St. Louis University. Six theologians manage the bureau, each one having a branch, geographical or otherwise. The stamps that come from all parts of the world are attached to the paper as a rule and the writer well advises that this condition is preferable as he knows how much destruction is wrought by unpracticed hands in this connection. The stamps are washed, sorted and further arranged according to country; and probably otherwise in special instances. It is said that strictly speaking, the theologians are not stamp collectors, even though more or less versed in a philatelic sense; and consequently they market the stamps among student collectors in Jesuit colleges, but the great bulk is sold to dealers in quantity lots. The writer is very happy in his descriptions and speaks of philately as "a branch of the fine arts" and all through his article a pleasant note is sounded for our pursuit. All in all, it is one of the best descriptive accounts that has ever met our eyes and its soundly informative statements and observations and appreciate findings make it worthy of all compliment. Here is the concluding sentence of this effective article: "In the distant lands of St. Francis Xavier some zealous priest, toiling in the hot sun, breathes a fervent prayer for those who have helped to lighten his labors and increase his opportunities for spreading the Kingdom of God." The article is illustrated by a picture of an exhibit made at Crusade Convention, 1923, which is a beautiful design, made wholly of stamps, with this singularly striking heading: "Stamps. The road to salvation is paved with stamps" and the winding road is shown running to the sign-mark, "Save old stamps."

Many a well-meaning newspaper lad comes a cropper when he essays a bout with philately and Mr. E. J. Newcomer, Yakima, Washington, submits the following "howler" that deserves a sticky smile this hot weather. A postal card from Chile is the subject of the newspaper's comment and we quote literally: "The card was mailed on Mar. 7 and bears a 15 centavos stamp of lavender color. The stamp has the words 'Chille Corres' and the picture of a 'prieto' engraved on it." Here we have the veritable concatenation of errors, even though they are the errors that like straws, on the surface flow.

Remarks on the political situation as it has been developed in the American Philatelic Society in relation to the presidency in the issue of June 22nd have occasioned some comment. As members of the society know, the list of nominations sent out by the secretary of the A. P. S., names only Mr. Wilhelm for the presidency. As for Mr. Diamant who was mentioned in connection with the presidency, he feels that a report of his stewardship of the Publicity Committee should be presented to the convention before he can take on presidential honors and that is equivalent to saying that he does not consider himself a candidate. He wishes to close the publicity chapter by telling why his committee did not function and this will be done at the Los Angeles convention or after the election. Mr. Diamant who for years has been interested in publicity plans to become operative under the auspices of the American Philatelic Society wants to be off with the old love before he is on with the new.

The editor of the WEEKLY expects to attend the convention at Los Angeles as usual offers his services in bringing to the notice of the members, questions of policy or otherwise, as affecting the society. Each year presents problems for consideration, bearing on the organization and on philately in general. The report of the committee on by-laws perhaps will be the most important legislative work presented.

SIAM FIRST EXPERIMENTAL AIR FLIGHT —BANGKOK-CHANDHABURI

By CHAN CHIN JOO.

I have now received official confirmation from the General Post Office that the first experiment in aerial transport of mails took place on the 17th February, 1919, between Bangkok and Chandhaburi (in a South-Eastern Circle at a distance of 250 kilometers). The flight was made by a military aeroplane which took a little more than an hour to cover the full distance, whereas, by steamship the mail usually takes two days to arrive at its destination.

The result of the experiment proved a tremendous success and gave much satisfaction to the competent authorities that an arrangement was then concluded between the Post Department and the Aeronautical Service with a view to establish an aerial mail service between Bangkok and those places in the provinces which have no modern means of communication with the Capital.

Genuine flown cards and covers of this first experimental flight are undoubtedly very rare and unique. The authorised special airplane cancellation shows the "Garuda" a mythical bird, the emblem of the Siamese Royal Coat of Arms, enclosed within a square with the inscription in native characters only. Below is an illustration of the cancellation:—

"The Garuda"
Carried by Airplane
Bangkok
Date 17-2-1919
Time 8.30 a.m.

The date of cancellation shows 17-11-2462 in Siamese characters which is the Buddhist Era or A.D. 17-2-1919. Monsieur Theodore Champion, in his third edition air catalogue, gives the date of cancellation 23-3-2463 (A.D.23-3-1920) which is absolutely wrong. The Buddhist year 23-3-2463 should therefore read A.D. 23-6-1920. Besides, no hour or time is indicated on the cancellation illustrated in the catalogue. When I came across a few blocks with the "Garuda" First Aerial Mail portmark cancellation I had reason to believe at first they were of the made-to-order stuff but I am now informed that these blocks without any indication of time or hour (exactly as the illustration in Champion's catalogue) were sold to the public in very small limited quantities as souvenirs of the great historic flight. Specimens of these are now changing hands at 40 to 60 Shillings a block.

The Receiving Postmark, similar to the Bangkok cancellation, shows thus:—

"The Garuda"
Carried by Airplane
Chandhaburi
Date 18-2-1919.
Time 1.26 p.m.

THE NEW SYRIAN STAMPS

The following article appeared in the Chicago Daily News of June 16, 1925, with credit to the original source of information, the Pathfinder. This is the kind of stuff of which those who push philately for the public, dream.

"Many countries have views of ancient cities and ruined temples depicted on their postage stamps, but no previous issue, it is claimed, has exceeded in beauty of design and historical interest, the first distinctive set of stamps issued by Syria. At the same time a set with different design was issued for the territory of Grand Lebanon or Grand Liban, as it appears on the stamps. Mount Lebanon was celebrated for its cedars in Biblical times and the Lebanon cedar forms the chief design on one of the new stamps. Included in this set are views of ancient Tyre and Sidon, the ruined city of Baalbek, Beirut, Tripoli, Mouktara and Dier-el Kamar. Syria, Grand Liban and other adjacent territories were placed under French mandate at the close of the war, says the Pathfinder.

"Each set in this new issue for Syria consists of eighteen stamps, thirteen of which are for letter postage and the remaining five for postage dues. They were designed by J. de la Neziere, who has designed many of the recent stamps for French colonies in Africa, and were printed in Paris by the photogravure process. The views on the new Syrian stamps are said to take one back to classical and Old Testament days, when that part of Asia Minor was one of the most highly civilized provinces. They contain views of Tarsus, the birthplace of St. Paul, and of Antioch in its best days. The view of Damascus shows the great Omniade mosque. There are three different views of Hamath, the stronghold of the Hittites. There are two views of the great colonnade of the temple of Baal, two of Aleppo, one of Alexandretta and one of the bridge of Daphne, in the famous grove of Apollo. Other views are of Latakia, the walled heights of Merkab, Kalat and Banais, better known in Biblical lore as Caesarea Philippi."

ALGERIA—According to L'Echo de la Timbrologie, the gooseberry-colored 30c adhesive, which has not yet been issued for ordinary use, has appeared with overprint (or precanceled inscription) "AFFRANCHISSEMENT-POSTE."—Stamp Collecting.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 1½p postage due stamp, watermarked narrow Crown and A on thin hard parchment paper, perf. 14.

AUSTRIA.—We are indebted to the Metropolitan Stamp Co. for sending us a set of the promised new stamps in groschen and schilling values. The description follows: Numeral design, perf. 12, 1g slate, 2g lake, 3g red, 5g orange-brown, 6g blue, 7g chocolate, 8g green; bundles of grain and telegraph wires above: 10g orange, 15g magenta, 16g blue, 18g green; Eagle and mountain tops design: 20g violet, 24g carmine, 30g dark brown, 40g ultramarine, 45g brown, 50g grey, 80g turquoise; View design: 1 schilling green and 2 schilling brown-lake. BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—We have been shown the 10sh green and carmine on green, script watermark, by Mr. R. Roberts, who adds that they are printed in sheets of 120.

DOMINICA.—M. Champion sends us a recent decree, of which the following is a translation:—

"The President of the Dominican Republic . . . decrees:

1.—There will be issued a series of postage stamps which will have legal currency in the territory of the Republic from February 27, 1925, to July 12th of the same year, and will take the place of the existing stamps during that period.

2.—The issue authorized by the present decree will comprise 3,397,000 examples, viz.:—

800,000 at ½c.	80,000 at 10c.

3.—The Secretary of State for Public Works is empowered to choose the subject for each value.

4.—The proceeds from this emission will be devoted, after deducting the cost of printing, to the construction of a new General Post and Telegraph Office, to be erected in the capital of the Republic, after due authorization by the National Congress.

5. The use of the stamps in question will be obligatory on all correspondence posted in the Republic for delivery abroad during the period specified.

GUADELOUPE.—The Economist Stamp Co. call our attention to the 10c, which is now being issued in red on bluish paper.

INDIA.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us the 2 rupees diagonal surcharge printed in error on the 10 rupees King George Service instead of the King Edward O. H. M. S. in the same type. These are in sheets of 96, eight panes of twelve stamps each.

LATVIA.—Mr. Karl Koslowski advises of the appearance of a set of five stamps issued to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the founding of the city of Liepaja (Libau). In the upper left corner is the actual franking value of the stamp, while in the lower right corner is the actual sales value, the extra amount reverting to the coffers of the City of Libau. The values and colors are as follows:

6 + 6 = 12 santimi brown and blue. View of Harbour, Pilot Tower, and Lighthouse.

15 + 10 = 25 santimi indigo and brown. View of Town Hall.

25 + 10 = 35 santimi brown and green. Bathing Establishment.

30 + 10 = 40 santimi indigo and red-brown. Lettish Church.

50 + 10 = 60 santimi green and purple. Libau's Coat of Arms.

NEW CALEDONIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. send the 10c red on pink, type of 1905 issue, for chronicle.

NORWAY.—The "North Pole" stamps consisted of the following denominations, 2, 3, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 ore. Of the total number printed, about 20% were sold at post offices, they were doled out over the counters in quantities not exceeding five sets to each applicant. We sent a large order to the postmaster of Oslo some time in advance of the issue, but our remittance was returned with the information that the balance of the issue was held by the "Norsk Luftseiladsforening" to whom application should be made. Our order was therefore transferred to this Company, which is financing Roald Amundsen's flight to the Pole, but again we were foiled, as they informed us that the stamps were "lombarded," which means that they have been deposited in a bank as security for a loan which the bank advanced in order to pay the Norwegian Government for the stamps, and that they cannot withdraw the stamps from the bank without repaying the whole loan. What will be the outcome of this curious situation nobody can say.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

PARAGUAY.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the new 1 peso stamp bearing the portrait of General Diaz with the words "Correos Paraguay" at the top and "Peso" at the foot, with the num 1 in the lower corners. The color is and perf. 11½.

SWITZERLAND.—Messrs. Francis J. I Ltd. write as follows: "In conne with the Geneva Air Meeting of 31st last a semi-official issue of st has appeared as follows: Triang format, perforated, depicting three a planes in flight with decorated border legend 'Meeting Internationale, Su Europe centrale; Service Arienne.' cents, red center and value, blue fr on white paper; 30 cents, red center value, blue frame, on lemon paper cents, red center and value, blue fr on white paper. HAPPENINGS IN CAMEROUNS

By WM. M. MCFARLAN.

I noted several weeks ago portions of a letter from a correspondent that you published in your paper concerning the issue of the 25c provisionals in Cameroons and am in receipt of some additional information concerning these provisional 25c stamps of the French Colonies, this time of Tahiti, which I thought might be of interest to your readers.

In receiving some stamps from my correspondent in Papeete, Tahiti, Society Islands, he states that during April the 65c and 85c provisionals were sold at that office in quantities of 3000 for each denomination, which I suppose was to give color to the issue from the Paris office.

It might be mentioned that the color was changed for the One Franc denomination to use for these provisionals from carmine and black to blue and brown.

The Papeete office (which is the capitol of the French Islands in the South Sea) has on sale all the denominations of the current set of what the French call "Etablissements de L'Oceanie" from 1c to 5 Francs, though the gum on some of the little used denominations is far past having any adhesive qualities due to the heat of the tropics, even though they are separated by wax paper to keep them from sticking to each other.

The foreign postage rate has again been raised this time from 75c to 1 Franc, so we may expect before long to have the pleasure of having a 1 Franc stamp in blue.

The provisional 60c stamp on 75c has long been sold out at this office.

This group of islands is served by the Union Royal Mail Line sailing from San Francisco to New Zealand and Australia by the way of Papeete and Rarotonga once a month by the steamers "Tahiti" and "Maunganui" both R.M.S. steamships. Papeete is called the "Paris of the Pacific" which is but eleven days by this line from our own California and is one of the most beautiful spots in the South Seas for one to visit.

NEWS GLEANINGS

—Benj. Cadbury sends us a clipping from the Philadelphia Public Ledger relating to a big find of rare stamps in London. The cable despatch is copyrighted and we are therefore unable to reprint the same. An article by Fred J. Melville to appear in the WEEKLY will give detailed information of the important find made in an attic in Mayfair. It is a schoolboy collection, consisting of sheets of stamps of low values, obtained from Colonial postmasters.

—We have received from Wm. Butler a specimen of the advertising label gotten out in the interests of the Third Canadian Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Montreal, October 5-9. It is large in size and oblong rectangular in shape. The central figure is a beaver and maple leaves are shown in goodly number.

—We have two British price-lists for review. One is from Bridger & Kay, 170 Strand, London. It is so complete, so well printed, and consists of such a large number of pages (100 in number) that the price of one shilling is placed upon the book. It is devoted to British Colonial stamps only. We commend this book to our readers. The other price-list is from Frank Godden, 359 Strand, London. The book is not so pretentious as the one just described, but as it is sent to anyone upon request this fact will no doubt give it a wide circulation. This list also is given over to British Colonial stamps, many of which are rarities.

—We have received from M. Ohlman a clipping from the N. Y. Times of June 1, which reviews in a very intelligent manner the philatelic happenings of the day. It states that Mr. Ohlman will conduct an auction at the S. P. A. Convention to be held in Baltimore, Aug. 10, 11 and 12.

—Wm. A. Carr of Rochester, N. Y., is conducting a stamp department in the magazine edition of the Rochester Sunday Herald. The issue of May 31 shows a very attractive department with an illustrated heading "The World of Stamps." It is a fine feature and should be of great value to local philately.

—We are advised of the death of Godfrey W. Schroth who has been a subscriber to the WEEKLY for many years. He was in the piano business in Trenton, N. J., and followed music professionally for nearly forty years. His hobby was postage stamps and his collection was one of the best in New Jersey. He specialized in British Colonials, of which he had a large and valuable lot. His son, Godfrey W. Schroth, Jr., writes us:—"I personally know that no other publication was quite so close to his heart as yours."

—Dr. C. H. Curry has the kindness to give us the following particulars of philatelic life in the good town of Windom, Minn., which has about as many philatelists to the square mile as you can find in any other place: "Our fair city has a population of about 3,000 and we now have about fourteen adult collectors: Messrs. Malone, Billings, Lewis, Mones, Quevli, Baker, Nelson, Skellie, Mueller, Kodtke; Doctors Curry and Girvin and the Reverend E. Rasmussen. We are about to form an A. P. S. Branch. Of course, there is a group of boy collectors and we strive to start them on the right track. The Rev. Rasmussen has an exceptional collection of Norway, with No. 4 highly specialized. Mr. Quevli has a beautiful U. S. block collection with many rarities. Others have collections of U. S. in singles and blocks that make a good showing. We hope to have 25 good members, all members of a national society, and our own club-room. Any traveling stamp man may easily get in touch with our members as they are nearly all business men here; and he will be made welcome." Dr. Curry wants to know if the figures that are quoted as to the numbers of the $2 and $5, 1902, U. S. are correct. Two dollar, 28,578; five dollar, 36,443.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

If you wish to buy some used postage stamps an unusual opportunity to do so will soon be offered. A convention entertainment committee in Los Angeles is arranging for an auction sale of stamps, and collectors all over Southern California are being asked to send duplicates that they would be willing to contribute for the purpose. If you think this is any picayune affair, consider the fact that the committee expects to raise enough money to entertain several hundred delegates to the annual convention of the American Philatelic society. The chances are that it will be successful.

Every once in a while some hard-fisted writer with a business mind indulges in some sarcastic remarks about the foolishness of collecting stamps, a hobby which is designated by its devotees with the dignified word, philately. In some ways it may be foolish. It takes time which might otherwise be devoted to piling up more dollars, or going to card parties, or making home brew—or almost anything. In some cases—those of the advanced collector with a lot of money to spend—it means expense. But so does collecting paintings, rare books, or autographs ranging either way from William Jennings Bryan's.

Plenty of small collectors carry on without ruining slender pocketbooks, however; and there are thousands who testify to the fun of trading, scanning old letters for their treasures, arranging their stamps and displaying the most beautiful—some of them strikingly artistic—to the best advantage.

Philately's critics may be disregarded, perhaps, as dull persons who have never experienced the mental glow that comes from a daily or midnight canter aboard a good hobby.

The Philatelic Agency

By W. IRVING GLOVER, Third Assistant Postmaster General.

As a matter of information to the readers of your magazine who may be interested, if you care to publish it, I desire to call attention to changes of personnel in the Philatelic Agency of the Department, effective July 1. On that date Mr. H. A. Mount, who has served as Stamp Agent since January, 1922, will be promoted to another position in the department to be succeeded as Agent by Mr. A. D. Collins, a postal employee of many years' experience, who for the past several years has been Administrative Assistant in the Division of Stamps.

In view of his wide acquaintance among collectors and dealers who have patronized the Philatelic Agency during the time he has been in charge, it is only fair to state that Mr. Mount has not been relieved of the duties of Stamp Agent on account of any failure on his part to render satisfactory and efficient service and to be so recognized by the department.

I desire, publicly, to express my most sincere appreciation to the retiring Agent for his untiring efforts in building up a most efficient stamp sales organization for the convenience and benefit of collectors and dealers and the commendable manner in which he has met many trying situations in fulfilling the aims and purposes of the Agency to render the highest degree of service to its patrons. The measure of his successful management of affairs is shown by the remarkable growth in the amount of business transacted from year to year, now reaching in excess of $100,000 annually. He has organized and trained a large force of employees, numbering as many as eighteen during emergencies, to fill mail orders so that patrons who are unable to apply in person to the Agency for stamps may be furnished with selected stock of the highest quality available and be otherwise accorded the same consideration and treatment as are those making direct purchases.

The criticism which some patrons, without complete knowledge of the conditions affecting deliveries, have directed against the Agent in recent weeks on account of the delay in filling of stamp orders, which have been received in unprecedented numbers since the numerous new issues became available and beyond the facilities of the Agency to dispatch promptly, is most unfortunate for one who has done everything humanely possible to overcome conditions for which he was not responsible and which were beyond his control. No one regrets more than I do the inconvenience caused those who were required to wait an unusual length of time to receive their stamps but, being fully aware of the unusual circumstances which prevailed for which the management was not responsible and could not overcome immediately, and the heroic efforts made by the Agency force to fill orders promptly, I desire to solicit the co-operation of patrons of the Agency, in refraining from offering criticism on matters that may be temporarily beyond control which those who are aware of the facts, must recognize as being unreasonable and unfair.

In introducing the new Stamp Agent to patrons of the Agency, I wish to re-iterate that the policy of rendering efficient and impartial service to all purchasers will continue as heretofore. The Agency was established to meet a recognized need in the philatelic business world and I trust that the efforts which are being made to serve patrons satisfactorily will receive due consideration and appreciation.

The Oriel Blank Albums

FINANCIAL SUPPORT SOLICITED

By EDW. F. GOODCHILD.

The success of the Third Canadian Philatelic Exhibition depends on the loyal co-operation and support of all those who are interested in forwarding stamp collecting, amateurs, specialists and dealers alike.

The Committee, for its part, is making every possible effort toward the realization of its ideal — the best Exhibition Canada has ever seen, and one which will be of international note. This ideal can be attained only through the expenditure of a considerable sum, which must be raised by voluntary contribution. Every effort is being made to keep expenses at the minimum, without sacrificing any essential features of the Exhibition.

A number of unsolicited donations have already been received, but until now the rank and file have not been approached. We are confident that you will do your part, now that the appeal is made, and shall be happy to receive your cheque for any sum you may feel moved to give.

The cause, as you are aware, is a worthy one, and the Exhibition will without doubt do much for philately. Remember the old saying, "He gives twice who gives quickly."

Kindly forward contributions to R. H. Beckett, Esq., Hon. Treasurer, Third Canadian Philatelic Exhibition, 131 Abbott Ave., Westmount, P. Q., Canada.

LUDER-EDELMANN AUCTIONS

The well-known firm of Luder-Edelmann & Co. of Zurich, Switzerland, has inaugurated a series of stamp auctions, which will attract the attention of the entire philatelic world. The most recent of these sales was held on the five days extending from Monday, May 25, until the following Friday, May 30. A superbly illustrated catalog, issued in connection with the sale, attracted a great deal of Swiss and foreign competition. The highest market prices were obtained, over 3,000 lots were sold and the total amount realized was about $65,000.

The firm has sent us a number of the prices realized, but we refrain from using the same, as it is a policy of the WEEKLY to abstain, as a rule, from the use of auction quotations. This notice will serve to call to the attention of our readers the large success this firm is achieving, and auctions patrons will do well to have their names on the firm's mailing list.

CINCINNATI IN 1926

The annual election of the Cincinnati Collectors Club, local branch No. 2 of the Society of Philatelic Americans, was held Tuesday evening, June 16, and resulted in the following being elected: President, L. D. Peaslee; Vice-President, Claude D. Millar; Secretary and Treasurer, Ernest Rudolph; Board of Trustees, B. S. Daniels, Dr. G. C. Graves and Dr. A. E. Hussey. The installation of officers will take place in September. Arrangements are being made to bring the S. P. A. Convention to Cincinnati in 1926, which will be the first stamp convention ever held there and all those that attend will be guaranteed a good time.

THE FORUM.

The mounting of a stamp collection is always a subject of interest, and I hear many discussions and see many types of mounting of collections, both the regular collections and specialized ones. Of course the printed album is a fixture, and you put the stamp in the spot indicated, and that is the end of it.

The "best way" to mount stamps in a blank album will probably be discussed forever, it is strictly up to the ingenuity of the individual, and there are a multitude of good ways to mount a collection. If a collector is to get but one of a kind, he may follow the Scott Catalog very closely, arranging his stamps as per catalog, and by grouping his sets carefully, he has a fine appearing collection, even tho there be absolutely no lettering whatever upon the sheet, this means that one must know his catalog however, to follow the idea of this type of mounting. If the stamps are perfection, well-centered, and carefully arranged, what can be better? Incidentally the white paper part of the page has a lot to do with the finished appearance, tho when you are mounting the stamps you doubtless pay small attention to this, and allow it to come out as it will.

Just as a picture has a frame, so does a set or group of stamps look well within a frame. If it be a large set of stamps, the frame, or white space surrounding this set, would be preferably larger than in a small set of stamps, while if they are a rare set, a wider margin will give them more emphasis on a blank page. If you find that two stamps of a set are not yet in your collection, take two common stamps of the same shape and size and substitute them for the two missing ones to get your spaces for the set, then you will have the two blank spots clearly defined for them to be mounted in when you acquire the copies.

A faint quadrille does not detract from a page at all, tho a heavy printed quadrille shows up enough to detract from the stamps. A page where the collector has elaborated the annotation to the extent of submerging the stamp itself is what I call poor mounting, for the stamp itself is the thing. This is sometimes hard to do in a highly specialized collection where many notes apply to the one stamp. In this case it is well to make the printing of very small size, and keep it subdued as much as possible, maybe in a long thin rectangle off at one side rather than above or below the item, as you have perhaps done with the previous stamps. Some prefer notes under the specimen, while others letter their items just above the stamp. Perhaps the majority letter under the stamp; but in every case keep the annotations near the copy in question. Three short lines of lettering, well spaced, and near the stamp, look better than one long line under the stamp, with a quarter of another unfinished line below that, for this looks rather "straggly" on a page. If you can't do lettering good enough to be easily read, use a typewriter that has the small type with one of those special ribbons that does not smear. This small type has three letters in the space of two of the regular office typing machine, while the vertical spacing is closer together, giving a nice alignment for a collection which is not to be lettered by hand, a long and tedious proposition, the results are most pleasing as a rule.

One of the difficulties encountered in free hand lettering by novices is alignment—have all letters the same identical height. Then if the horizontal spacing is a bit off here and there, it will look like a good straight line as one glances at the page, and this irregularity of spacing you can overcome soon with practice; the Height is the thing.

Don't make a great big capital letter every few words, it throws your straight line all out of true. If it is necessary to emphasize a word, draw a line under the word with a ruling pen so that it too will be straight, for any marks above or below your line of letters are now very noticeable. On a quadrilled background the little squares are about the right height for letters, tho a trifle too high if much lettering is to be done to stamps mounted in an Oriel Album with the top and bottom lines of these little squares as "guide lines", you proceed to "fasten" the tops and bottoms of every letter you make to these guide lines, and do it exactly—neither above nor below. Try a few experimentally, and see if the result is not gratifying. If your sheet is not quadrilled, but a true blank page, draw these lines with a very hard pencil, and very lightly so that they may be easily erased. It will surprise you to see how well you can do after a few minutes of faithful practice. If you are doing this lettering in pencil rather than in ink, keep the point of your pencil quite sharp, and use a lead so soft that it just avoids smearing. An HB "Kohinoor" pencil is a wonder if kept very sharp for this work, and you can make a very small letter that is quite clear and distinct. If too soft for you, try the same Kohinoor in F degree.

In the June 29th WEEKLY, we read of the exhibit of Major Steinmetz at The Collectors Club in New York City. Near the end the article mentions that his collection showed about 25 of the sheets of various big collections which had been broken up, and which showed the various types of mounting on album pages. This is a very progressive way of collecting, and how fine it would be if we all could write to the library where our stamp literature is kept, and ask that pages of some well mounted albums could be loaned to us to study the methods of arrangement. The spaces where the stamps were could be penciled in as blank rectangles of course.

Have you ever seen any of those old European Albums, such as the "Lallier"? Where the early stamps of some countries — Gt. Britain for example — were shown with a dotted line indicating the printed outline of the stamp itself, while the margins were way outside those dotted lines? Many collectors saw these dotted lines and trimmed their stamps to fit these lines. Today such stuff is not done, not even to common stamped envelopes.

If you are remounting your collection this summer try the blank method and lay out your spaces, mount the stamps,

EDITORIAL.

On the eve of the first trip of the night aerial post between Chicago and New York, there is a large volume of mail in the Chicago office intended for transportation by plane. The statement is made that only two thousand pounds of mail will have place on the first trip and it is apparent that all the letters received can not be accommodated and the overplus will have to be despatched on a later trip. From inquiries that have been made by collectors, it is certain that philatelists recognize the interest that first-trip envelopes will have and their mail contributions swell the bulk of business mail, so that the total is out of bounds, according to report. Mayor Dever had a package of mail sent in to the office and the Chicago Historical Society appreciated the significance of the first trip by mailing letters to members and patrons. A postal officer has explained that no special marking will be used on the letters carried on the trip and that the receiving stamp will be the mark of evidence of the first day, or night, flight. The Chicago Daily News says: "Those customers who did their mailing early enough will land letters in the cockpit of the first mail plane over the route, and will have cancelled stamps worth having." It may be added that Col. Paul Henderson, assistant postmaster-general in charge of the air mail was not caught sleeping on his rights; and he is represented by letters in the first sack.

Our publishing friend, Mr. W. N. Emerson, managing editor of The General Merchant, Chicago, who, until recently was one of the good souls who was numbered in the population of Maine, has shown us a pair of the ten cent of 1847, unused and with gum. A piece of this kind usually may be made the theme of a little story and the rule holds good in the present instance. About ten years ago Mr. Emerson advertised in his local Maine paper that he was prepared to buy stamps of any kind; and among the answers that he received was one from a woman who lived forty miles away. Mr. Emerson lost no time in autoing to her home and found a typical old New England woman, one of whose relatives had been many years ago, a postmaster. About the only thing worth attention in her little lot of stamps was the unused pair of ten cent and while one of the stamps has been creased, the pair takes the eye. Mr. Emerson got the stamps to his and her satisfaction and we suppose that he will keep them until he needs a new shirt and even then, he probably would say that after all, a shirt is not one of the indispensables in the sweltering days of summer.

Dr. Paul S. Goble, Toms River, New Jersey, has sent a copy of the New Jersey Courier of June 19th, in which we find an interesting reference to the so-called provisional half cent green that are in the nature of a local product. The county superintendent of schools at Toms River had occasion to send out 3,000 pieces of mail, just after the new rates went into effect and as the local office had not received the half cent stamps from Washington, the postmaster not unnaturally allowed the use of the bisected one cent stamps, "thus saving the county a considerable sum of money and also complying with the new postal rate." We quote: "This home made half-cent stamp has set the stamp collecting world by the ears. There were about 3000 half cent stamps made and used. The collectors have put a premium of $1 on each half cent cancelled stamp, and none are to be found. The premium three days ago was 50c, the rate jumping yesterday and with the present shortage continuing, the rate will go up by leaps and bounds. The stamp is classified by the collectors, stamp magazines and papers, as 'The Toms River Provisional, exceedingly rare.'" We need a philatelic stock exchange where quotations may be had off the ticker and where bulls and bears may engage in financial combat. Then, we shall hear harrowing tales of how collectors have been impoverished by a sudden turn of the market or happily enriched by the rising price tide. It must be added that when the post office department heard of the Toms River provisional, it called the postmaster to account but as the deed was done and the mail delivered, the department philosophically "warned him not to look so carefully after the business of his customers in the future."

The find at Mayfair, London, which was reported in our issue of June 29th, through the courtesy of Mr. Fred. J. Melville and the Daily Telegraph, London, is one of the most astounding revelations on record. The story almost rivals the tales of Golconda; and in a stamp sense, its setting is flawless. Stamp Collecting furnishes some figures that show that the modest investment will yield about $50,000 and adds that "the finders had the good sense to call in expert advice, and the outcome is that they stand to gain something like 10,000 pounds out of stamps that cost the original buyer less than 20 pounds!"

Under date of June 27th, the United Press sent out a despatch from Washington to the effect that the United States might emulate the example of Italy in selling advertising space on its stamps. We read that the post office department does not favor the plan but it is represented that the business men may overcome the reluctance of the department and persuade congress to accord with it and authorize the innovation. The argument presented is that the sale of space would help defray the expenses of the post office department. While no particulars are offered, the mention of Italy suggests the use of space on the face of the stamp and not as in the case of New Zealand, the backs of the stamps. That there would be opposition to the idea in this country is admitted and it is not likely that the monetary appeal will outweigh sentimental objections, which, however, would not be so pronounced if the reverse side of the stamp was the advertising medium. To New Zealand must be awarded the distinction of allowing the use of the backs of postage stamps for advertising purposes for a consideration, as it was in 1893 that the government there awarded the contract for 800 pounds a year for permission to use the backs of the stamps for advertising. As a writer in Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal, remarks, philatelists took little or no notice of these stamps at the time of their issue. There were three settings of 240 advertisements used by the contractors who, however, terminated their agreement at the end of the first year. One setting showed ninety-three different advertisements, with more than this number for the three settings. The article that is referred to in the May issue of Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal, by Morris N. Watt, on the New Zealand advertising stamps is an authoritative summary of the subject and the four panes of sixty stamps each, making up the sheet of 240 objects, are illustrated to show the different advertisements. It is the third setting that is pictured.

RIGHT THIS WAY FOR THE BIG SHOW, GRAND STAND TICKETS TO SEE PAGEANT, THREE RINGS, CLOWNS, KINGS AND QUEENS, SIDE-SHOWS, ALL UNDER THE SPIFFIEST "BIG TOP" YOU EVER SAW,—RIGHT THIS WAY 1.02

Now, it really is a good PACKET,—you folks know the kind we put up. 300 varieties Postage Stamps, all DIFFERENT, no U. S. or Canada, no revenues or cut squares, almost entirely 20th century, some 1925,—some USED, some MINT,—B. C., EUROPEAN, SOUTH AMERICAN, with a little good ASIATIC for good measure. We have not made packets this last winter to any extent, so there was a WONDERFUL ACCUMULATION of left-over sets, odd values, a few stamps of one country, many of another,—these we have taken out of our stock-books and are using in the CIRCUSES,—CLEAN, SALEABLE STAMPS, no junk,—much of it catalogs high,—there are sure to be "FINDS". WE EXPECT TO MAKE THESE SO GOOD YOU'LL COME FOR MORE. They'll generally run OVERCOUNT. We want to sell a lot of them, and the only way to do that is to make them so SUPERLATIVELY GOOD that you'll all be happy and TELL YOUR FRIENDS. And with every "CIRCUS" goes its TENT, a GENUINE FLOWN SECOND TRIP BERMUDA COVER, you will be proud of it. We have had our fun gathering together the "CIRCUS",—training the animals, assembling the "CONGRESS OF NATIONS",—NOW, COME ON—it's your turn. You are already pulling out that "DOLLAR TWO". Checks, stamps, bills and P. O. orders, they've been coming fast, but there's room for YOU. THE MAMMOTH CIRCUS 1.02

NEW BUFFALO STAMP CLUB

By Warner Bates.

Buffalo collectors have achieved the goal of their ambition with the formation of the new Buffalo Stamp Club recently announced and the opening of their new permanent clubrooms, which took place Friday evening, June 19.

More than thirty members were present and for the first time in years Buffalo collectors of all kinds and types met in one room and for a common object—the advancement of philately. There were general collectors, collectors of nineteenth century, collectors of modern stamps, semi specialists and the dyed in the wool United States specialist was also in evidence. But it was evident that the new club is one that will not cater strongly to any one phase of stamp collecting. The legitimacy of any kind of collecting will be recognized and no one will criticize the other fellow's hobby or viewpoint. The one requirement will be a sincere interest in the advancement of stamp collecting in general.

The new club rooms are located in the retail business district of Buffalo, at the corner of Main and West Huron streets. The rooms are cozy and light, large windows affording much light during the day, and electric fixtures were given special attention for convenience of members at night. A library will be formed, where stamp publications of all kinds will be at the disposal of members. J. H. Lehman is librarian.

F. J. Sleght, chairman of the membership committee, has been conducting a membership drive that could not be excelled for its intensiveness. Sixty members are on the roster, and Mr. Sleght promises 100 by September 1. The club is gratified both in its membership and their payment of dues.

Keen interest was shown in the auction, at the first meeting in the new club rooms. There was a pair of five cent 47's on cover that brought a fair price, considering everything. John Schaefer of Hamburg carried home a very fine collection of Turkish stamps, neatly mounted in a costly album, which he secured at what was deemed a reasonable bid. Several lots of precancels were sold. United States, British Colonials and a few miscellaneous foreign made up the rest of the auction. Exchanging also was brisk and several club circuits were being handed about.

A delicious luncheon was served at the conclusion of the meeting, and good fellowship was generally in evidence. There is every indication of a successful future for the club.

Directors of the club, elected at the May meeting, are: president, Adolph Steeg; vice-presidents, James Storer and F. J. Sleght; treasurer, H. C. Flierl, and secretary, R. E. Townsend.

At the opening meeting in the new club rooms there were guests present from Buffalo, Hamburg, N. Y.; Eden, N. Y.; LaSalle, N. Y.; Forks, N. Y.; Olean, N. Y.; Lancaster, N. Y., and Williamsville, N. Y.

Provisional 1½c on 1c Envelopes

Because of the new postal rates which went into effect on April 15th raising the circular letter charge from 1c to 1½c, the Department found it advisable to overprint the 1c green envelopes 1½c, in order to be available for use in connection with the new rates.

So far, I have located seven different overprinted envelopes, all on white, five being die A and two die C.

Airmail Notes

By the time these notes reach our readers, the new airmail service between New York and Chicago will have been established. Under date of June 25th, Mr. Charles C. Gove, Acting Second Assistant Postmaster General, wrote that in connection with this flight he regretted to state that the Department had made no provision for a special cancellation, and that none would be made.

I immediately communicated with this gentleman, calling his attention to the propaganda in favor of the airmail service, which always resulted from the use of such a special cancellation. Not only the philatelic press but the daily press always notices anything of this kind, and of course, the added publicity naturally results in the increased use of the service.

In reply to my letter, Mr. Paul Henderson, Second Assistant Postmaster General, writes me under date of June 27th, that he is pleased to state that arrangements have now been made for a special hand stamp to be placed on the face of each letter carried on the initial overnight flights between New York and Chicago. At this writing I cannot describe the special cancellation, but will give these details next week, at which time I will have at hand a flown cover.

The Postal Bulletin for June 27th announces that the Department has accepted the offer of the Postal Administration of Great Britain to accept ordinary and registered letters and articles prepaid at the letter rate, for transmission from London to certain countries via airmail. The notice gives the schedule and in addition to the regular postal rates, certain extra charges per ounce or fraction thereof are made. These charges include 4c to France; 6c to unoccupied Germany, Switzerland and Italy; 8c to Denmark, Norway and Sweden; 5c to Morocco and western Algeria.

Mail matter intended for dispatch by the above airmail service should be prominently marked in the upper left hand corner, "Airmail—London to Continent" and have all postage fully prepaid. Articles for this service will be dispatched to New York for onward transmission from that exchange post office.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman submits copies of each value of the long promised commemorative series of stamps bearing double portraits of the King, and at the top "1849" at the left and "1924" at the right. In the lower left corner is the figure of value and in the lower right the currency mark. The stamp is oblong in shape and perforated 14. Values and colors are: 10c green, 15c violet, 20c brown, 25c grey olive, 30c vermilion, 35c blue, 40c olive brown, 50c yellow brown, 75c deep blue, 1fr deep lilac, 2fr bright blue, 5fr grey and 10fr lake.

BULGARIA.—Mr. W. T. Wilson has shown us a 50st of an entirely new design. At the top is the value "50 ct." and at the base the native characters naming the country. In the center is the lion's head. The color is brown on green paper.

ESTHONIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. report the appearance of a 12m scarlet and 15m red violet, in the type of A11, perf. 14.

FRANCE.—From Mr. R. Roberts we have received two more values of the French Exhibition series. They are the 10c deep green and yellow on white and 75c deep blue and pale blue on white. Both are of the same design and shape.

FRANCE.—A special printing has been made of the 5 franc stamp of the Peace and Commerce type of 1876, printed in red on white gummed sheets containing a perforated block of four in the center and inscribed at top "Exposition Internationale de Timbres-poste," and below "Emission speciale Paris 1925." The stamps were sold at face value at the Post Office in the Exhibition only, one sheet to each applicant on giving up a 5 franc admission ticket to the Exhibition, so that each sheet cost 25 francs.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Mr. R. Roberts kindly sends us for chronicle a block of four of the ½p green, postage due stamps on the new watermarked paper.

HEJAZ.—Mr. D. Bradford Damon in referring to the new provisional noted in the issue of June 8th last, advises that he has six others which he notes has similar surcharges to the one listed. The following is his list: ⅛pi on ½pi red (No. 31), ¼pi on ½pi red (No. 31), 1pi on ½pi red (No. 31), 1pi on 1½pi violet (No. 33), 1pi on 2pi orange (No. 34), 1pi on 3pi brown (No. 35), 10pi on 5pi olive green (No. 36).

NEW ZEALAND.—Messrs. Wilcox, Smith & Co., of Dunedin, advise that the 2d and 8d Official, K.G., are quite obsolete, and that new Officials of values 4d and 9d, K.G., have been issued.

NEWS GLEANINGS

—Volume I No. 1 of the Postage Stamp News has appeared. The subscription price is 50c per year, and it is published in Norwood, Mass. A sample copy can no doubt be obtained upon application. A considerable space is devoted to precancels.

—W. T. Wilson of Birmingham, England, has favored us with the June-July number of his house circular. His offers are very attractive, consisting of a wide range of new issues, special cancellations, air-mail covers and novelties of various kinds. It will be sent on request.

—The Jopling stamp firm of Newport, England, informs us that it has uncovered a block of six of Portugal Scott 282, in which one of the stamps has the word CORREIC instead of CORREIO.

—We have been shown by C. R. Steier of Seattle a specimen of a new Tokio, Japan, cancellation. It is of the standard type in use here in the U. S., whereas in the past a very heavy handstamped cancellation with broken vertical lines in the center has been used. The new cancellation is in black where the old was in purple. The new cancellation went into effect about June 1.

FIVE-YEAR HONOR ROLL

H. C. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
E. C. Fitzgerald, Phila., Pa.
D. C. Ward, Asbury Park, N. J.

We have received through Mr. Severn, of our Chicago office, an application for membership in our Honor Club in the person of Harold C. Brooks of Marshall, Mich. Mr. Severn writes as follows:—

"I am enclosing a five-year subscription from Harold C. Brooks of Marshall, Michigan. Mr. Brooks of the Brooks Appliance Company, Marshall, Mich., was persuaded recently by his friends to run for mayor and the town, which is normally republican, gave him a majority of 644. Mr. Brooks now finds that politics is making inroads in the time that he would give to philately otherwise; but he is sustained by the thought that he is adding many fine things to the really remarkable showing of covers that he is forming. At the Detroit convention last year Mr. Brooks exhibited some 'masterpieces'."

We are also indebted to Edwin C. Fitzgerald, D. D. S., of Philadelphia, Pa., for membership application in our Honor Club, accompanied by check for $5.00.

As we go to press we receive the application of D. C. Ward, 517 Lake Ave., Asbury, N. J., and we take pleasure in adding his name to our list of Honor Club members.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

RECENT PURCHASES

DURING THE PAST FEW MONTHS I HAVE MADE SEVERAL IMPORTANT PURCHASES IN 20TH CENTURY STAMPS.

IRISH FREE STATE

I have bought two very fine Collections of the Surcharged Issues of Ireland. The various printings and inks are all represented and nearly everything can be supplied in pairs and blocks as well as many items in sheets of sixty.

There is included a very fine and nearly complete Collection of CONTROLS in blocks of six, a number of proofs and essays, and many errors, all of which are extremely interesting.

Irish stamps continue in great demand and values are soaring. It will pay you to get in touch with me for anything you want in Ireland.

Latest Irish Price List gladly sent on request.

PAPUA

I am breaking up an unusually fine Specialized Collection of this Colony. There is a very wide variety in both used and unused, all classified according to Gibbons by watermark and paper.

Included in this Collection are many complete sheets, various minor varieties such as "Rift in the Clouds", "White Leaf", etc., as well as a great many unlisted varieties. There are a number of very fine Covers, postmarks, etc. What do YOU want in Papua?

NEW BRITAIN AND SAMOA

I have also bought a very fine collection of the G. R. I. surcharges of New Britain and Samoa—practically complete. The rare Shilling values are included as well as many inverted and double Surcharges. I can quote very interesting prices on these rare Stamps, and with the present upward trend in War Issues, they will undoubtedly prove an exceptional investment.

20th CENTURY BRITISH COLONIALS

I continue to hold, and am constantly increasing, the largest stock of these desirable stamps in America. Most Collectors of this line are in touch with me because they know that I can supply their wants or obtain them at unusually attractive prices. During the past year I have been instrumental in forming several of the finest King's Heads Collections in this country. Can I help you?

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

and don't letter any of them till you get them all mounted. Leave nice margins round the sets (this for lettering later if you think best), and then you may find that it is just as well to omit all lettering on your United States collection, take the 1847's for example—they are beautiful portraits—will it help any to note them as "5c Brown, Franklin canceled with red grid"? Anyone can see all of that at a glance, so what really is the use?

You have doubtless seen collections, or possibly approval selections from abroad, where each individual stamp is mounted on a shiny bit of black paper with 1 to 2 mm. margin extending around the stamp like a black frame, and these are then mounted on the pages. How do you like such mounting? It makes a stamp that is somewhat off center, look "way off", and an imperforated stamp shows a shy margin the first thing. If a stamp has a nick ("tiny tear") it shows as a bad defect. Perhaps this helps to account for the many "perfs added", "closed tears", and such odd jobs of repair work as we see nowadays quite frequently. There is now under discussion the question if all dealers shall mark a repaired stamp in an unmistakable way on the back. When you remount your collection, take a good look at the backs of all your higher priced stamps, and if you see one with a chalky appearing blotch on the back, place it in benzine. If some stray dark lines appear which you know are not watermarkings, you may find some repair work has been done to your stamp. These repairs used to come apart in water, but the arrival of collodion, etc., has been a great boon to the repair artists as it is non-soluble, and does not look chalky at all.

When mounting chalky paper Br. Colonials, many use the little "Pochettes" as sold nowadays to keep the surfaces from scraping, also the copy need nc hinged.

Whatever you do, take your tim first, study laying out your sheet that they look well. A very few sl as examples will suffice for most al the album, except for maybe a few sp sets. Start slowly, get the idea, pleasing groupings, then hustle.

There are two exhibitions cor along, so plan to enter some exh Montreal in October, and then the ternational in New York City. Be enter something for the fun of it.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF DR. THEBUSSEM AND FRANKING PRIVILEGE GRANTED BY SPAIN

By DR. WALDEMAR KLOSS, Hyattsville, Maryland.

The postal departments of all great nations were either originally started as full fledged monopolies based on the principle of a "regale", ready to crush or rather to prevent all competition, or they assumed this character very soon. The service of the government was for a long time the first consideration, the interests of the general public entirely secondary; from this attitude the franking privilege is derived. As a matter of course, it was first claimed by the head of the state, then also granted to his family and staff of great officials; it was gradually extended and such extension was often enough attended by gross and palpable abuses.

It is not the intention of the writer to discuss this interesting development in various countries, to do this thoroughly would require a volume. He only wishes to advert to some cases of a special franking privilege granted by the Spanish Government to men (so far no woman's name is found on this short list) of distinguished merit.

It goes without saying that works of philatelic merit and on postal affairs appeal strongly to "the heart" of a Post Department, whatever the nationality.

The first recipient of this proud distinction was Diego Castell Fernandez, by trade a lithographer. In 1866 he had published a pamphlet of 18 pages under the title "Cartilla postal de España." The subject of the tiny tract is, as its title indicates, the correct method of addressing letters, "a consummation devoutly to be wished." The author, a man of practical force, formulated a dozen precepts with such skill and in language so terse and impressive that the Postal Department immediately declared this pamphlet a veritable boon to the nation. In less than no time (here the old tradition of mañana was thrown overboard), 25,000 copies were distributed to the primary schools in Spain. The author of the useful booklet was honored as never mortal before, by the grant of a special franking privilege for the pamphlet valid for six months, to wit, from January 1 to June 30, 1869, with the proviso that the pamphlet was to be sent under wrapper. Can we blame him, for immediately devising a special stamp or label to be affixed on the wrapper? The design shows an envelope within an upright oval band, inscribed "Cartilla postal de España". The impression was on plain wove paper, the "stamps" being lithographed in sheets of 28 in 4 rows of 7, all different from one another in details. The color is light blue, no value expressed. This description is given in Westoby, Adhesive postage stamps of Europe, London, New York, 1903. In Galvez, Jiménez, Catalogo descriptivo these labels are listed and it seems Spanish philatelists and students of postal matters are very eager to incorporate them in their collections, entirely unconcerned whether these precious things are recognized as genuine stamps or classified as labels. They are also mentioned in R. Friederich Die Postwertzeichen Spaniens, 2. aufl., 1894.

In 1881 Antonio Fernandez Duro was given a similar privilege on account of a comprehensive work on the history of the Spanish postage stamps. He likewise adopted a special franchise label. The design was: an open book in the center, one leaf inscribed "Sellos de correo", the other "Reseña historica". This was in an upright oval within a rectangular frame, in the upper part of which, on a straight tablet, was "franquicia" and in the lower on a similar tablet "Postal" lithographed on plain buff wove paper, no value, imperforate. These labels, as it appears, made a hit, for they have been reprinted on paper of various colors, speculating stamp dealers even went so far as to swamp the market with "essays"; these were nothing but reprints of the title—vignette from Duro's book.

It is to the credit of the Spanish Government to have performed the most beautiful act in connection with the granting of the franking privilege recorded in history. Here I refer to Mariano Pardo de Figueroa (1828-1918), known to the world as Dr. Thebussem, who devoted his long life to the study of every subject or problem dear to the Spanish nation, from bullfights to garbanzos, from Andalusian veils and fans to Cervantes and his Don Quixote. In fact, nothing which has reference to Spanish literature, trade, social life and customs was too great or too small for his untiring pen, the merest trifle receiving from his humour an unforgettable charm. He belongs to that select coterie of writers who have made their pseudonym so famous that their original name, if not entirely forgotten, is only with difficulty remembered; think for instance, of Mark Twain. His nom de plume, Pardo de Figueroa deduced by the anagrammatic process from the Spanish word "embuste" which means something like fraud, mystification, a spiritual self-persiflage. Indeed there was some deviltry in this genial scholar who hoaxed the Spanish nation by the Epistolas Droapianas written to Dr. Thebussem on the merit of Cervantes. Droap is, as you see without my calling attention to this huge joke an anagram of his own name Pardo, it is almost as bold as Tullius writing to Cicero or Julius to Caesar. His works on Cervantes made for a renaissance of Cervantes studies and prepared the tercentenary in 1905 postally commemorated by the Don Quixote stamps. With malice aforethought he gave his pen name a Germanic form and sound. Beyond doubt, he wished to insinuate that he possessed the irrepressible energy of the German scholar of the best type, like Jacob Grimm or Theodor Mommsen.

Andrés Ruiz Cobos in his pamphlet "Doctor Thebussem" states that many of his compatriots were really duped into the belief that Thebussem was a German, who had become naturalized in Spain. The number of essays written by our hero is almost beyond belief, many hundreds of titles may be cited. History, archeology, philology, medicine, law, art, industry are well represented. Due to his unceasing efforts is the introduction of the postal card in Spain. His works on Spanish postage stamps and the history of the post office of the Peninsula had endeared him to this Department of the Government. Something of nation-wide importance had to be done to attest and commemorate the universal appreciation in which this most scholarly and amiable son of Spain was held. He was asked to accept an appointment as "jefe superior de administracion" or something similarly high-sounding. He invariably rejected all intended or threatened honors and humorously remarked that he had no higher ambition than to be called the last letter carrier of Spain. With this remark he had unwittingly sealed his fate.

On April 14, 1880, the government sent him a magnificently executed diploma formally appointing him "cartero mayor honorario del reino" i.e., Chief letter carrier of Spain and Spanish-America without salary, but with the privilege of wearing uniform. By the same act he was granted an absolute franking privilege. His friends and admirers were delighted while his detractors maliciously hinted that the sly old fox was satisfied with nothing but an absolutely unique honor and that his scholar's vanity peered through his maudlin modesty. I really believe the envious gang was in the right, for so far, at least, I never met a scholar entirely without vanity or a woman without curiosity. These two qualities in a moderate dose render poor mortals amiable. Dr. Thebussem immediately went in for a label which combines his dear nom de plume and his unique dignity; he was conceited enough about it to write a pamphlet explaining all.

By the way his attachment to his pen-name was so overweening that he appended this signature even to intimate private letters, giving it on all occasions as his most reliable address. The act of the central government and postal department inspired the postal departments of Habana, Almeria, Barcelona, Tarragona and Zamora to appoint our modest scholar as their "cartero mayor honorario" and Dr. Thebussem was so enthused by this wave of postal admiration that he allowed himself the luxury of additional labels, probably mindful of the German proverb "Wer lang hat, lässt lang hängen," i.e. "He who has long, lets hang long," we say "my means allow it". Despatching mail matter to Barcelona he would employ the label: Cartero mayor de Barcelona. We see even old scholars are in need of sport and toys.

Dr. Thebussem was born in Medina Sidonia, a town of 10,000 inhabitants in the province of Cadiz. The villa he occupied, at least since 1863, he called his Huerta de la cigarra. He was an incarnation of the idea of a "private scholar" an institution unknown in the United States. He devoted his life to his father who is mentioned among the living as late as 1890, to a coterie of friends and his studies. He collected a magnificent library rich in incunabula and rarities; he was, or at least imagined he was a cook of no mean attainments. It is a pity he was never matched in this branch of scientific endeavor with Alexandre Dumas' père who admits that he was a great adept of the culinary art, technically known as gastronomy. He took infinite pride in the fact that some specimens of cauliflower which he had raised were awarded a "grand prix" at some exhibition in Belgium. We regret to say that from the standpoint of civism he was absolutely n.g., positively the limit. In order to avoid the disagreeable duties as a juror, he joined the municipal guard of Medina Sidonia, since members of this association are exempt from jury service according to section 7 of article II of the Ordinances of Medina Sidonia. He compiled, however, a complete bibliography of Medina Sidonia, a comparatively easy task, for the Medinasidonians were never great luminaries in literature.

Some critic might say, "what shall become of the country if everybody should take as little interest in civic duties as this Dr. Thebussem or what you may call him?" What would become of the world if everybody were a multi-millionaire? Goethe would say: There also must be such fellows. It would be easy to append a long list of the titles of Dr. Thebussem's literary work, but you may look it up in the Enciclopedia universal ilustrada.

While Dr. Thebussem lived, only one other son of Spain was honored in the same classical fashion, this is Rafael Alvarez Sereix. Born in 1856, he became a mining engineer and cartographer. In 1899, he served as civil governor of the Balearic Islands and in 1903 he was arbiter for the boundary dispute of N ragua and Honduras. He is the au of a great number of books on the ing and forest resources of Spain, ar ology and botany. His works ent "Geografia botanica" and Fechas historicas y porvenir de las razas ga for him the reputation of one of greatest and most useful scholars Peninsula has produced. His supe gree (that is what it amounts to) cartero principal is of very recent d he followed the example of Pard Figueroa and assumed a label. He plays a small sized envelope within oval frame; the legend is R. Alv Sereix, cartero pral. honorario; a cr is seen above the envelope. The ab viation pral. stands, of course, principal which is almost equivalen Dr. Thebussem's "mayor."

Suppose the American author wh dearest to the heart of his fellow citi were to be placed in nomination for franking privilege, who do you th would it be?

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

"A 'Nixie' is a letter or parcel so improperly addressed that it can neither be delivered to the addressee nor returned to the sender without special treatment. This special treatment costs the Post Office Department, or the tax payer in the final analysis, approximately $1,740,000.00 every year."

The above paragraph, and the portion in quotation marks further on, are taken from an article from Washington, as printed in the Greensboro Watchman, Alabama, sent by a reader of the Forum.

Did your letter carrier ever say he was late by fooling with some "nixies"? I suppose this is as interesting as hunting for some small minor variety in a stamp, tho the carriers are always hurried in their work, while a collector can take his time as a rule. Stamp collectors are seldom guilty of making nixies.

Take one personal experience, when living on Freemason Street in Norfolk, Va., a letter was mailed to me without the town or state on the envelope owing to an interruption in writing in the address, then it was gathered in with the rest of the outgoing mail, overlooked. When it reached me the town and state had been added in red ink, and the letter was not delayed a single day in transit. I mentioned this to the carrier on my route and he said, "Oh, that one was easy, there is only one street of that name in the whole P. O. Guide".

Some of those handwriting experts are so clever they could read an address written by a person who had just broken his writing arm, so wrote with the other hand in the dark, and the pen ran dry on the last line, but to quote further,—"While it is generally accepted that this is not the age of miracles, nevertheless there are thousands of patrons of the United States mails who take it for granted that Uncle Sam has many wonder workers on his pay roll. The very fact that there are wizards in the employ of the Post Office Department—men and women who are uncanny, to say the least, in deciphering illegible handwriting—has caused no end of trouble and expense to the government as well as to the tax-payer, along with the inconvenience in the receipt and delivery of mail matter.

Yet with all this expert handling and careful study of handwriting on the part of the postal clerks, the annual revenue from dead mail matter received by the government amounts to approximately $300,000,000.00.

WEALTH IN DEAD LETTERS.

Last year the Dead Letter Office received $120,000.00 from the sale of orphaned packages which could neither be forwarded to the addresses, nor returned to the senders because of inadequate addresses. The same office turned into the United States treasury $55,523.96 in cash removed from misdirected letters or found loose in the mails.

Postage stamps were taken from letters or found loose in the mails having a value of $12,165.67, almost double the entire revenue of the postal service in 1789.

Three-cent fees collected for the return to senders of letters which could not be delivered totaled $92,007.54. But this is not half the story. Checks, drafts and money orders whose owners could not be located, and amounting to $3,546,542.43, finally found a resting place in the dead letter office.

For want of correct or complete addresses 21,000,000 letters were deposited in the dead letter office, not to speak of 800,000 parcels which had been improperly addressed or wrapped. Strange to say, this depositing of letters and packages in the mails with incomplete, inadequate or incorrect addresses and wrapping comes, in a large majority of cases, from those patrons who are the most liberal contributors to this branch of the United States Government.

BIG BUSINESS IS BIG LOSER.

It has been estimated by postal officials that 300,000,000 pieces of mail are given 'directory service' every year, which means that employees must take time from the regular handling and dispatching of mail in the endeavor to provide correct addresses for this huge volume of misdirected matter. In New York City alone the cost of this service approximates $500.00 every day in the year, and the total amount thro the country is stupendous.

While the revenue from the dead letter office is sufficient to keep that branch of the postal service functioning, it is not nearly enough to pay the annual toll for support of the 'nixies'."

The next time you send out a rush note on a blank bit of paper, enclosing a few stamps which you'd hate to have get lost, and address your communique "Dear Bud", then sign with some curlique meaning your name, or nickname maybe, you are protected only by the clearness and correctness with which you have written "Bud's" address. Should a few stray raindrops reach the writing on the address, it may quickly become indecipherable, in which case you and Bud will be wondering whatever became of that letter.

An interesting story might be written on what some of the auction buyers secured at one of these Dead Letter auctions. The chance of picking up a few early Mauritius is very slim in all likelihood.

NIGHT AIR MAIL SERVICE

On July 1st a night air mail service was inaugurated between Chicago and New York. We are indebted to George W. Angers and Erwin Strasser for interesting covers.

The Angers cover bears the marking in purple, in two lines "First Trip—Night Air Mail Service". Beneath is the inscription in red "Chicago to New York". The Strasser cover bears the four line inscription "Air Mail—First Trip—Overnight Air Service—Chicago to New York". Both covers have usual U. S. enclosed within two circles with outspread wings, the insignia of the Air Service.

—The various chambers of commerce are getting after the new postal rates and various objections are cited against them. The half-cent stamp is in bad grace because "the fraction of a cent is a considerable inconvenience in billing and accounting."

SUSPICION

By C. E. R.

Letters were infrequent events in the calm life of Jan Polwheal, herder of goats in Arizona. During the twenty months when I daily passed by his corral on my seven mile walk—or rather, climb, since a twelve thousand foot ridge had to be passed—to the mine where I worked I carried six letters to him. Five of these had to do with the price of goats and kindred things; I know, because I read them to him.

"Read 'em, m' son," he would say "Tha bloody glasses 're missin' agen."

I never saw those sanguinary spectacles, but as I was sure that the old man could not read, and was merely "saving his face," I would read the letter or circular to him slowly, with many interruptions, after which he would put it in a large box.

One day a registered letter came from England for Polwheal so I told him about it and helped him make out the receipt and brought it out next day to the goat camp.

Jan turned it over in his hands, examining it minutely and suspiciously; at last he noticed the stamps, a shilling George and two pennies.

"Wheer doos tha say 't cooms from?" he asked.

"England," I answered, "From Plymouth in Devonshire."

"Th'art lyin', m' son," he said, "Niver cooms English letter wi' they stamps."

"What do you mean?" I demanded.

"Oi'll show tha," was his reply, and going into his odoriferous den (did you ever smell a goat camp?) he came out with the big box of letters—all he ever had received, I think.

"Look now!" handing me a handful, "All tha stamps on these 'ere ha' Victorier's 'ead on 'em. An' 'oo's this 'ere?" putting his finger on the newcomers.

"That's George," I answered.

"Jarge 'oo?"

"George Windsor, King of England, Victoria's grandson. Queen Victoria has been dead about fifteen years."

"Yes, m' son, 'n' Jarge Washin'ton's been dead a hunnerd year, but 'is 'ead's still on tha 'Merican stamps. Doos tha mean t' tell me Jarge Washin'ton's better nor Victorier? Tha letter's a dom lie, m' son. Take 't back an' trouble me na more wi' 't."

Well, I tried to convince the ignorant old codger, but the more I said, the more suspicious he got. Any letter for him that came from England and not from his beloved Cornwall seemed wrong to him, and those strange stamps were entirely too much. So I took the letter back to the office and notified a prospector who was Jan's closest friend of the affair. It took him about two weeks to get the old "Cousin Jack" to accept his letter, which informed him of a bequest of some four hundred pounds; but he always seemed to think that somebody, including myself, had tried to put something over, and rarely spoke to me after that.

For MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

BRITISH HONDURAS, 1922-1925

By HARRY E. HUBER.

The Nyasaland type series of Postage and Revenue stamps for this British Central American colony was inaugurated with the 5c, 25c and $2 denominations, received at Belize, on 29th May, and issued August 1, 1922. The 25c on emerald green paper was Roman CA watermarked, and the others script CA.

The vignette or keyplate impression comprises the head of King George V, facing the left, on a horizontally lined ground, within a pearled oval. At the top of the border plate design is the Imperial Crown, with tablets in the two corners, on which the value is expressed in colorless figures and letters. Conforming to the oval is "British Honduras" in colorless caps, at the bottom, and "Postage" and "Revenue" at the sides, in small colored caps. The marginal line (which is part of the border plate impression) is single, and broken at the line of perforation.

The stamps were printed in sheets of 120 (cut into panes of 60), with keyplate number 1 twice in the lower margin only, and comb perforated 14.

The 10c advised by the Crown Agents in the April-June, 1922, Bulletin as being in printing, was received in the Colony on 28th September, and placed on sale December 1, 1922.

The July-September, 1922, Bulletin notified that "supplies of 2c stamps, Nyasaland type, are being printed; also stamp booklets each consisting of 100 2c stamps." These printed in brown, were received at Belize on December 21, 1922, and issued March 1, 1923.

These booklets contain 100 stamps each, inserted in ten strips of ten stamps each (five horizontal by two vertical), with wax interleaves, wire stitched between pink covers. The front cover bears three lines of black printing "British Honduras—100—Two Cent Stamps," and the inside covers, various postal information. To popularise their use the booklets are sold at face.

As only 50 stamps of the 60 stamp panes can be used, the 6th vertical row of the left pane, and the first vertical row of the right pane, are discarded, leaving five blocks of ten stamps from the left pane, with margin at the left, and five blocks from the right pane, with margin at the right. Booklets with stamps from the left pane are wire stitched at the left, and open at the right, while those with stamps from the right pane have the wire stitching at the right, and open at the left.

The booklets measure 2⅞" x 1⅞", which is the size of a block of six stamps (3 x 2), with margin attached; the other block of four of the strip is folded over.

The 50c on blue script paper was issued November 1, 1923; the 25c on green script and the $5 on Roman CA red on October 1, 1924, and the $1 on January 2, 1925.

Blue script paper was first used for the 2s of Barbados small Seal series issued November 1, 1921, and green script for the 10s of the St. Kitts-Nevis Tercentenary series of January 2, 1923. Red paper originally made for 1d Colonial stamps and transferred in the Crown Agents' scheme of 1908 to stamps of £1 or near equivalent has no great use, and the stock, which is quite large, will probably not require replenishing for years.

The 2c and 5c are on ordinary paper, and the high values on chalk surfaced.

The 25c script green exists with yellow green and blue green back, readily distinguishable when the two are compared, but the difference is hardly sufficient to justify separate catalogue listings.

The 1c and 3c alone remain in the D. L. R. 1912 type. The former on script CA, from plate 3, issued Nov. 26, 1921, comprised a large indent, and this denomination has not yet been requisitioned in the Nyasaland type.

It is not likely that the 3c will appear in the Nyasaland type, as since June 1, 1921, when the inland letter rate was lowered from 3c to 2c, and the British Empire and U. S. A. letter rate raised from 3c to 4c, the demand for this denomination has been very small. The rate on post cards leaving the Colony was raised from 2c to 3c on January 1, 1922 (by Order in Council of October 26, 1921), but no card of this value has yet been issued—the 2c U. P. U. card is used with a 1c stamp added.

On the other hand, the 4c printed by the line engraved process, in the modified Peace type, is costly to produce, and will eventually appear in the Nyasaland design, unless the pre-war letter rate of 2c to the British Empire and U. S. A. is restored, which is for the present, extremely unlikely.

During 1924, acting on general instructions from Downing Street, the remainder stock of the 1c War, 5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, $2 and $5 D. L. R. 1912 type stamps was destroyed; following issue of the $1 Nyasaland type the remainders of this value in the D. L. R. 1912 were burned.

The aggregate sale of Postage and Revenue stamps in 1922 was $41,807.4 which was participated in by three Departments—the Post Office for postal purposes and on radiograms; the Telegraph Department for local and foreign telegrams, and the Registrar General's Department for Fees of Court, etc. The Post Office in effect assists in the collection of revenue for these two latter Departments. The postal revenue was credited with $14,265 from the sale of stamps, of which $3,987.71 was sent to stamp dealers abroad from whom 142 applications were received.

Notwithstanding the issue of 5c, 25c and $2 (Aug. 1, 1922), and 10c (Dec. 1, 1922), Postage and Revenue stamps in the Nyasaland type, the stamp sales during 1922 decreased by reason of an embossing machine for impressing stamps on documents and checks, which was put into use by the Treasury towards the end of 1921. Stamps to the value of $2,561.26 were embossed during the year.

The postage on taxed letters which formerly amounted to only about $50 a year, realised $148 in 1920, $121 in 1921, and $236 in 1922, arising out of changes in U. P. U. rates of postage. To facilitate accounting, and the collection of these charges, Postage Due stamps of 2c and 4c values were introduced on January 2, 1923. The cost of the die and plates for producing these stamps was $220.89.

Throughout the 7,562 square miles of the Colony there are six Post Offices, 19 postal stations, and four depots for mail, a total of 19 points, including the G. P. O. at Belize. Since the fire of August 17-18, 1918, which destroyed the Government Buildings at Belize, the G. P. O. has been in temporary quarters in Albert Street. At Corozal the Post Office is in a separate building, but at Orange Walk, Cayo, Stann Creek and Punta Gorda, the postal business is carried on in public buildings which house the District Treasury, and other Government offices. Most of the postal stations are in the District Police Stations, and are operated by the N. C. officer in charge; the other postal stations are in private residences principally. The postal importance of the District Offices, based on statistics, is—Corozal and Orange Walk (in the Northern districts), Stann Creek and Punta Gorda (in the south), and Cayo (in the west near the Guatemalan boundary line).

In Belize there is a house to house delivery by two postmen; 51,896 letters and 9,651 other articles were distributed during 1922.

For MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE PHILATELIC INSTRUCTOR.

By FRANCIS M. BOTELHO, Ph.D., Wayne, Pa.

CHAPTER VIII.

Adding to One's Album.

Some of your relatives and friends probably have old envelopes or receive mail from abroad. If they themselves are not philatelists, they will doubtless pass the stamps on to you on learning of your interest in the hobby. However, you cannot depend entirely on your relatives and friends to feed your hungry album.

In an earlier chapter you were shown ten ways for increasing your collection. Ways Nos. 6, 7 and 8 may be put into practice without any other cost than that of time, and as your hobby is primarily intended to utilize leisure time for pleasant recreation, research and acquisition of specimens, you need not feel niggardly.

But ways Nos. 6, 7 and 8 have their limitations. Although they may lead you to lay your hands on desirable "finds", they cannot help you to obtain all the specimens for which you have set your heart.

As you acquire more specimens for your album, you will be also acquiring duplicates. These should never be discarded. Every bit helps. Good duplicates may be turned into profitable use by being utilized in exchanging with other collectors. And "exchanging with other collectors" is way No. 4, while "trading with philatelists in other countries" is way No. 10.

If, in your town, there is a stamp collectors club, you should join it. There you will meet other enthusiasts, from whom you may learn much about the hobby, and with whom you can secure additions to your album by giving some of your duplicates in exchange. The basis of exchange is usually the pricings of a standard catalog, but sometimes the arrangement is by mutual prior agreement for the occasion.

A convenient way to show your duplicates is to either mount them on loose sheets, in exactly the same manner as you mount your specimens in the album. Or, you may use specially-made cards or books for the purpose. These are so arranged that the duplicates are neither pasted nor mounted, but held down in their spaces by strips of transparent or opaque paper affixed lengthwise. The smaller sizes are known as "pocket-books" and the larger ones as "stock-books", ranging in capacity from about 300 stamps to 35,000.

Should there be no local philatelic club where you live, you are not debarred from membership in a club located in some neighboring town. Or, if you feel yourself equal to it, you may organize a local club. Many now active and successful local clubs have been brought into being by novices; every novice is a potential expert.

In addition to local clubs or societies, there are national philatelic organizations. Membership is usually open to respectable candidates residing anywhere; the fees are not burdenship, while the privileges are worthwhile. Names and addresses of prominent clubs or associations may be readily found among the advertisements of any publication devoted to chronicling philatelic news.

Trading stamps with philatelists in other countries is always interesting and instructive, although not always profitable. In every flock there are black sheep. Likewise, among philatelists here and elsewhere there are those who do not seem especially familiar with the golden rule. However, on the whole, philatelists abroad are, as a group, quite honest and willing to do the right thing at all times. Most of the difficulties may be traceable to the language obstacle and the time element. If you wish to practice your French, or Portuguese, or German, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Scandinavian, etc., corresponding with collectors in their own tongues is one of the best practical aids.

A LIFE SUBSCRIBER

We feel warranted in printing this letter from Wm. M. Swain, of Swain, Carpenter and Nay, Counsellors at Law, 73 Cornhill, Boston:—

"Having just celebrated my seventieth birthday, and being anxious to live at least fifteen years longer, I am enclosing a check for fifteen (15) dollars for renewal of my subscription to the STAMP NEWS for fifteen years.

I feel that if anything will keep me going, it will be the fun, pleasure and profit that I derive from reading weekly the STAMP NEWS. With best wishes for the continued prosperity of your paper, which I would not like to do without, I remain,

WM. N. SWAIN."

Here certainly was a challenge to the WEEKLY and we met it promptly. We wrote Mr. Swain that one who could write such a virile, optimistic letter must be good for the century mark and he had been made a life subscriber.

There is no publication on the face of the globe that can show the quality of friendship represented in our mailing list.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

STAMPING THEM OUT

The Mexican government has determined to stamp out the grasshopper, which, year after year, causes untold havoc to the crops. To such an extent has the pest got the upper hand during the last six months that in the south and southeastern parts of Mexico the crops for miles have been absolutely ruined, while along the Tehuantepec Isthmus railway train service has been held up, the rails becoming so greased with the bodies of the hoppers that locomotion was impossible. The method by which the Calles government intends to wipe out the pest is novel but practical. The President has issued a decree, effective at an early date, under which all domestic postal matter shall carry, in addition to the regular postage, a special 1-centavo stamp. The funds obtained from the sale of these stamps will be applied to the war on the hoppers. This special postal tax will probably last only a short time. The design on the stamp will be conventional. The stamp will be known among philatelists as the "Mexican grasshopper stamp," and probably will be in some demand among collectors. One plan under consideration is to poison the hoppers. Another is to adopt a method used with success in Argentina—that is, to hold up the march of the animals with low fences of sheet iron, thus starving them.—Chicago Daily News.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

EDITORIAL.

The good old government recognizes the trend of the times and advises that the post office department do a bit of window-trimming through the alert postmasters of this broad land. The first assistant postmaster general says: "In some post offices patrons are readily informed and the work of clerks at stamp windows is greatly facilitated by placing near the windows a large frame containing samples of the several denominations of stamps and stamped paper which are for sale. Upon examining these samples patrons learn just what they want and are saved the trouble of asking many questions. There may be exhibited in such a frame not only the several sizes of stamped envelopes, thus enabling the patron to determine readily the size he wishes to purchase, but also samples of several denominations of stamps and special delivery stamps and special handling stamps, thus advertising the services represented by these special stamps." Appropriate suggestions are made to describe the special offices performed by the different stamps and it is said that the department commends those postmasters who have made use of the frames, particularly in view of the fact that no appropriation is made for the purchase of the frames. There is no doubt but that a post office display of the kind has a beneficial effect on stamp collecting and philatelic philanthropists could well serve the interests of our pursuit by providing frames that would be filled by postmasters. Some of the older collectors well remember how they stood enthralled before the frames containing the stamped envelopes one cent to ninety cents inclusive, with or without "specimen," that some of the post offices had on view.

That wonderful discovery of stamp treasure in London has made a decided impression on philatelic readers as the story had all the elements of a fascinating tale. The young scion of nobility with means to point the enterprise that he had in the early '60's in sending pound notes to far-away colonial postmasters for unused stamps, deserves well of our thoughts. The satisfactory finale of the train of circumstances started over sixty years ago adds to the pleasure of the recital. That the stamps are in good hands is emphasized by the receipt of the following card from Mr. H. R. Harmer, the auctioneer: "Mr. H. R. Harmer desires the honour of your company at a Private View of the rare and valuable sheets of stamps comprised in the 'Mayfair Find' at the Old Bond Street Galleries, 6, 7 and 8, Old Bond Street, W. 1 (over Embassy Club), July 7 to 10th, 1925. 2 p. m. to 5 p. m."

The promoters of the Third Canadian Philatelic Exhibition to be held at Montreal, October 5-9, 1925, have reason to feel elated upon securing the recognition of the Canadian post office department as exemplified in the form of a special postmark or cancellation, rather, advertising the exhibition. This box cancellation reads: "Third Canadian Philatelic Exhibition, Montreal, 5-9 Oct." and a maple leaf separates this English inscription from that in French at the other end of the cancellation.

We learn that after August 1, 1925, the permanent address of Mr. C. S. Watson of C. S. Watson Co., Inc., Boston, Mass., will be at Los Angeles, California. Mr. Watson will be established, no doubt, on the west coast by the time of the convention at Los Angeles and his friends and others will read with interest of Mr. Watson's change of business base.

From Charles H. Garrett, president of the Stamp Trade Protective Association, Kalamazoo, Michigan, we have received a copy of a telegram that he sent to Post Office Inspector Miller, in charge at Chicago, reading as follows: "Edgewater Stamp Company at nine hundred Montrose Avenue, is Martin Johnson. Letter and evidence in mail today." Further particulars soon will be forthcoming.

Some months ago, Mr. A. H. Schumacher, Houston, Texas, sent us the following clipping that appeared in the Houston Chronicle in its "Twenty years Ago" column: "The post office department has been greatly annoyed by the stamp collecting craze which has invaded the postal service. It has been necessary to call attention to the laws providing a fine and imprisonment for those guilty of mutilating mail matter." To the credit of the post office department, it is to be said that it has reduced this annoyance to a minimum; and the several orders that the department has issued calling attention to the inviolacy of the letter and its stamps have had their effect. If counter-measures had not been adopted it is likely that depredations of the kind would have increased to an extent comparable to the spread of philately. As it is, reports of theft of stamps from mail matter reach us latterly more infrequently than ever before.

The Hungarian "sports" set is receiving attention in the newspapers and well they run the gamut of athletics in a graphic way. The range of sport is well covered in the series but the American will look in vain for a representation of our national game, baseball, in the set. A Babe Ruth at bat would be a triumph of stamp portraiture.

Thanks are given to Mr. J. J. Weightman, Reading, Pa., and Mr. Thomas F. Willock, Peekskill, N. Y., for clearing the records as to a Canal Zone stamp agency; and it is shown that the contradiction of a reader to the effect that there was no agency in the Canal Zone had no foundation in fact. Mr. Weightman says: "On October 1, 1924, I addressed a letter—Philatelic Agency, P. O., Balboa Heights, Panama Canal Zone, as follows: 'I understand that you are designated as the Philatelic Agency for the purpose of supplying the Canal Zone stamps to purchasers for collection purposes. I would be glad to have information from you as to what stamps, stamped envelopes, post cards, etc., can be purchased from you.' In reply I received the mimeographed circular: CB 3616. The Panama Canal, Bureau of Posts, Philatelic Agency, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone. Address communications to the Postmaster, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone." Mr. Willock says that a list of the postal matter on sale may be had from the postmaster of Balboa Heights, Canal Zone.

Writing of his list of the Post Offices of the U. S. Expeditionary Forces that appeared in the issue of June 22, 1925, Mr. Michael Miller says: "I failed to mention that credit should be given to another collector in New York, whose name I cannot recall, who gave me very valuable assistance and I gave him in exchange many of the envelopes that were sent to me by my brother and brother-in-law, who were in France until the end of the war as members of the 110th Field Artillery. He should certainly be entitled to half the credit; and I shall look up my old records."

The latest number of our English contemporary, Stamp Collecting, says that the Twelfth Philatelic Congress of Great Britain, which began its sessions at Cambridge on June 22nd, "is an undoubted success." Five papers were on the programme and the other exercises were of an imposing kind, while the social features were not neglected. The following names were added to the roll of Distinguished Philatelists: Mr. G. A. Higlett, Great Britain; Mr. E. D. E. van Weenen, Australia, and Mr. A. Hatfield, Jr., U. S. A. The Philatelic Index is now completed and the work covering the years 1863 to 1925, is available; 250 copies are offered.

GODDEN EXHIBIT AT WEMBLEY

Messrs. Frank Godden, Ltd., are again to the fore with a magnificent display of the stamps of Great Britain and Colonies in the 1925 Exhibition. An entirely fresh set of exhibits are shown under what we think to be far more advantageous conditions than those of last year as, with the exception of the following Colonies—Bermuda, British Guiana, Gold Coast, Newfoundland, Nigeria, Nyasaland, Palestine, Sierra Leone and South Africa, who particularly wished to have their exhibits shown in their Pavilion, the display is now arranged in one group in the Palace of Industry an ideal position 60 feet wide surrounding the entrance to the Post Office. Most of the Colonies are given a frame 3 feet by 2 feet in which a representative display from the earliest to the present day issues, including blocks and many fine pieces, are tastefully arranged. Great Britain and Ireland are shown in 3 large frames and a special frame containing a block of 60 of the 1d black plate 11 with wide margins and plate number in mint condition. This is one of the world's greatest rarities and certainly rarer than any other known piece of Great Britain. It is valued at £5,000. There is also shown among the 1d blacks, a complete reconstructed sheet of 240 which is probably unique as each stamp has been specially selected with the face and most of the head unobliterated, which has taken 25 years to complete. None of the Australian Colonies were shown last year, whereas each has a frame apiece and in the case of N. S. Wales some very nice Sydney Views appear. Other countries not shown last year but which are here now are New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The Canada, India and Ceylon and British Guiana, the four beautiful frames of Newfoundland and the triple frame of South Africa, in which triangular Capes, including Wood Blocks, are prominent, should certainly not be overlooked.

THE ZOO AND THE CIRCUS 300 Vars. $1.02

We went to the ZOO the other day—it's a wonderful place, cool, shady, winding walks with squirrels and rabbits, gay peacocks and even guinea-hens running wild. Great natural ponds for every kind of water-bird and beast,—deep, rocky dens for the bear family,—open, sunlit fields for the deer and elk and bison,—big, comfortable houses with open runways and flowing baths for the weird creatures from many lands,—all this and more, in a setting of Nature's building in the heart of the great city. The lions roared for us, the seals swam, the giraffes were eating their supper from lofty feed-boxes, monkeys and parrots chattered, the birds twittered and fed amidst the foliage in their cages. We came home feeling we had had an interesting afternoon far from money-grubbing or study or work.

And THAT IS SOMETHING of what WE OFFER YOU, for the dull day in camp, or the quiet evening, or any old time-off, if you want to go sight-seeing, TRY OUR VACATION PACKET. 300 VARS. NEWS GLEANINGS

—Cards are at hand announcing the marriage of Victor W. Rotnem to Miss Marion J. Bjorhus, July 15, at Trinity Chapel, Excelsior, Minn. The WEEKLY joins with Mr. Rotnem's many friends in wishing the newly-married couple all possible happiness.

—The officials in charge of the 3rd Canadian Philatelic Exhibition have just put over a very enterprising and commendable bit of publicity. They have secured from the P. O. Department a handsome cancellation which is bound to attract a large measure of attention to the Exhibition. Accompanying the title and place of exhibition is a representation of a beaver upon a large maple leaf. The cover at hand gives the date of July 3, the first day of the use of the new cancellation. Postage is paid by a 3c imperforate.

—W. C. McAllister, Davenport, Ia., favors us with a circular letter issued by the Philatelic Agency of Canal Zone. It came from Balboa Heights and answers the question recently appearing in the WEEKLY as to whether such an agency existed.

—The 12th Philatelic Congress of Great Britain was convened at Cambridge, June 22nd. Many important papers were read and discussed. Three new names were added to the 53 already on the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists. One of the three was A. J. Hatfield, Jr., of the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. We are indebted to F. Hugh Vallancey for postcard showing Congress postmark.

—We are indebted to V. H. Ford for an interesting air-mail cover. It bears the postmark "Des Moines, Ia., Jul. 1, 8 P. M." The air-mail marking, in a large oblong, rectangular frame, gives an excellent idea of the service rendered. "This Letter Given Service on First Official Stop by U. S. Trans-continental Mail Planes at Des Moines, Ia., July 1, 1925".

—Walter Fenton, 14 years old, and Sterling Clements, aged 16, both of Cincinnati, Ohio, are given a good write-up in the Cleveland Press of June 27th, in connection with their winning the two prizes in the first annual Garfield-Perry Stamp Club contest for junior collectors. The write-up is accompanied by half-tones of both boys.

—We are indebted to many of our subscribers for clippings from newspapers dealing with the establishment of various air-mail routes. We are grateful for the courtesies extended, but find it impossible to use them, owing to our limited space. Anything of a purely philatelic nature, and especially cancellations, we are glad to chronicle.

—N. E. Carter informs us that a fire recently severely damaged the post office at Elkhorn, Wis. Parties who have failed to hear from Mr. Carter in connection with mail arriving in that city July 2nd, will be interested.

—A collector residing in Manila, P. I., desires to know how he can join the A. P. S. There is a standing advertisement in our department of adlets which conveys the desired information. We answered this question through our news columns as it may serve a useful purpose in other directions.

—Plan your convention trip by the way of El Paso, Texas, "Where sunshine spends the winter." See the city with the best climate in the world, visit Old Mexico at the same time and get your current Mexican stamps direct from the post office. No trouble to get a stop-over on your ticket and the El Paso Stamp Club will show you a good time. Notify the Secretary as to what train you will arrive on and someone will meet you at the station. Don't fail to go by the way of El Paso.—A. P. MYERS, Secretary El Paso Stamp Club, % Hixson Jewelry Co.

—The wedding is announced of William K. Jewett to Miss Eleanor B. Cropley of Portland, Maine, on June 24th. Mr. Jewett is actively engaged upon the WEEKLY staff at the Portland office, and is the son of Mr. William W. Jewett, our business manager. He has recently purchased an interest in the WEEKLY and we take great pleasure in extending our congratulations.

—The following interesting letter has come from Mr. W. L. Kinkead, Ridgewood, New Jersey: "Please correct the two lines of Joyce Kilmer's poem, 'Trees,' that Mr. Chas. G. Wilson uses in his interesting article on 'Two Types of Collectors, by giving the entire poem:

'I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.'

Joyce Kilmer, poet, was born December 6, 1886, and was killed in action in France, August 1, 1918."

—From Dr. Samuel Konwiser, Newark, New Jersey, we have received an interesting first day example in the form of the postmark: "Union City, Jun. 1, 1925. 7.30 A. M." Evidently, the postmark celebrates the first day of the postal existence of Union City, which, following the fashion of the times, is the result of a merger of Union Hill and West Hoboken.

—Prof. W. H. Kerr, Emporia, Kansas, who is known to our readers by his intelligent efforts to extend the influence of philately has resigned the librarianship of the Emporia, Kansas, Teachers' College, where for fourteen years he has worked to advantage, having made the library one of the best reference libraries of the state. In September, Prof. Kerr will be installed as librarian of Pomona College, Claremont, California; and it is likely that he will be able to attend the Los Angeles convention. It may be added that Mr. Kerr is in "Who's Who in America."

—Here is a question received from Mr. D. Pick, New York City: "Should collectors subscribe to house organs of the dealers that are nothing but advertising sheets?" Let our oracles answer.

—We have received a postal card from Marshall Hancock, the New York wholesaler, dated at Paris, where he has purchased a fine stock from an old dealer. Mr. Hancock is quite at home in the stamp centers of Europe to which he has made many trips.

—The editor of Stamp Dealing says it is all right for a dealer to regard his business as a side-line but that his mistake is to keep on considering it a side-line.

—Collectors are now displaying their first-day covers, recording the establishment of the air post, New York to Chicago, on July 1st; and to those who remembered us with souvenirs of the occasion, we return thanks. Mrs. T. S. Farquharson and Mr. V. H. Ford of Des Moines, Iowa, sent covers bearing the marking: "This letter given service on first official stop by U. S. trans-continental mail planes at Des Moines, Iowa, July 1, 1925". Des Moines was signalized as an extension of the first-day flight from Chicago.

—Los Angeles is the city of destiny for the members of the American Philatelic Society and the convention there will show California hospitality at its best.

—Here is how old Doc Hennan makes the first page of the Comet, a south side newspaper of standing in Chicago:

"Dr. C. W. Hennan of 7602 Paxton Avenue this week refused a cash offer of $22,000 for his collection of the stamps of the Netherlands and her colonies. He refused the offer without hesitation, saying the price was nothing like large enough.

Next month Dr. Hennan is sending his collection to New York and also to Montreal, where it will be exhibited with specialized stamp collections from all over the world, entries having already been received for these exhibitions from Italy, Germany, Switzerland, England, China and India."

THE FAMOUS ERROR

1917, 5c CARMINE PERF. 10, NO. 467.

Early in 1917 the philatelic world was startled to learn that it was possible to obtain a copy of the current 5c stamp in a block of the 2c denomintion. Like the little boy at the circus viewing the giraffe for the first time, seasoned philatelists said, "There ain't no such animal." How could such a thing happen was the question asked when copies were changing hands at $200 each. Investigation showed that in re-entering three subjects on a 400 subject 2c plate, the 5c transfer roll was erroneously used.

The resulting variety no doubt ranks as the most interesting United States stamp ever issued. Collectors of all types wanted copies. Today the stamp is not over plentiful, for the available stocks have been pretty well distributed.

When all this was happening, the Department was changing their perforating machines from the perf. 10 to the perforation now in use, known as 11, and as a result the error came in both perforations. The perforated 10 has always been scarce, and only recently have I been able to purchase a little lot of thirty-two copies.

These are in blocks of twelve showing two errors in the center of the block. Some are superb in every way—some are fine and a few are off center, but fine in every other way.

This stamp is Scott's No. 467, cataloging $12 in the old catalog, and will possibly be advanced in the new publication. I can furnish this error in a block of six along with five (5) 2c stamps, or can furnish a pair of them in a block of twelve (12) 2c stamps at the following prices:

Blocks of six with one error
Superb	$15.00
Fine	10.00
Off Center	5.00

Block of twelve with 2 errors, Double above prices.

The off center copies will please the average collector, for it is the variety that is found in 80% of the collections today.

Washington Notes

Our readers will learn with surprise that Mr. H. A. Mount is no longer Philatelic Agent, but will be pleased to hear that his efficient and courteous activities have resulted in his promotion. As of July 1st, he becomes associated with the envelope section of the Division of Stamps, and while he will still be with us, his interests will lie in other directions. Mr. Mount organized the Agency—put it on its feet and saw the branch grow from an agent and one assistant operating from a small room, to several assistants doing a business, which would entitle a post office to first-class ranking.

During the last ten days of Mr. Mount's incumbency, the employees of the agency worked from two to three hours over time daily, and during these ten days filled 4,055 orders—quite a record. This will give some idea as to the amount of business the agency is doing. Mr. A. D. Collins, a postal employee, connected with the Division of Stamps, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Mount. While Mr. Collins has had no experience in the agency, I understand that he is an executive of ability and the good work started by Mr. Mount will be continued. As extra assistants will be given Mr. Collins, it is expected that the department will be in a position to fill orders more promptly, but our readers must remember that at best it is going to take them a week or ten days or longer to fill the average order and at times when the agency is rushed because of a new issue, the delay will naturally be greater.

Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster General, who has recently been appointed to succeed the Second Assistant Postmaster General on his retirement, will soon enter into his new activities. This is a well earned promotion and Mr. Glover is the type of executive whom we would like to see reach the Postmaster Generalship. He has always been a friend of the stamp enthusiasts and writes me that if he can be of any assistance to philately in the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, that he will be glad to be called upon.

There are no rumors around Washington as yet as to who will succeed Mr. Glover, but we would be much pleased to see Mr. M. L. Eidsness, Jr., at present Superintendent of the Division of Stamps, receive the promotion. He is thoroughly conversant with the activities of this branch of the department and would make an excellent successor to the present efficient incumbent.

Air Mail Activities

On July 1st, the overnight New York-Chicago air mail service was inaugurated with a 10c rate, and flown covers of the first trip are now at hand. I find that the covers before me postmarked New York, July 1st, 7.30 P. M., bear the backstamp of the Chicago office July 2nd, 9.00 A. M. Special Delivery letters carried by the same flight have the backstamp of the central station at 11.30 A. M. Both of these covers in addition to the regular cancellations noted above, have a special three line air mail marking in magenta reading "Air Mail, First Overnight Flight, New York to Chicago." Covers coming the other way left Chicago, July 1st, reached New York, July 2nd, 8.00 A. M., and finally arrived in Philadelphia on the same day at 3.30 P. M. Under normal circumstances, Philadelphia mail will arrive earlier, for on the first flight, the carrier inadvertently took Philadelphia mail to New York, instead of dropping it at New Brunswick. This Chicago mail carried a little insignia of the air mail service, which was stamped in magenta on the front of the cover.

Mr. Erwin Strasser kindly posted me a cover from Cleveland on the first flight, and I note that this left that point on July 1st at 12.00 P. M., reaching the east along with the other covers.

Mr. V. H. Ford sends a cover from Des Moines, Iowa, that comes as a surprise, for we had no previous notice of the fact that the transcontinental mail would stop at that point on July 1st for the first time. The postage upon this communication is paid at the 16c rate and is canceled "Des Moines, July 1 8.00 P. M." It is not backstamped but was delivered in Philadelphia on July 3rd. In addition, we find within a rectangular frame on the front in black the following official marking by means of a ber stamp: "This Letter Given Se on First Official Stop by U. S. T continental Mail Planes at Des Mo Iowa, July 1st 1925." Mr. Ford se registered letter at the same time, this was not delivered at the Ger town post office until July 6th, alth it reached the main post office on 3rd—the holiday intervening evid causing the delay.

Collectors of air mail covers wil interested to know that under dat July 3rd, the First Assistant Postma General instructed postmasters to b stamp all air mail at the points of l ing. This includes not only the air which is received for delivery at the p of landing, but also the air mail whi received at any point of landing, t dispatched by other post offices, by or other means of transportation. backstamp should give the date and of receipt.

Post offices not at points of landing which may receive air mail by disp from points of landing on the air route or routes by other means of tr portation will not backstamp such mail.

The First Assistant Postmaster Ge illustrates what he means to conve the following example: The Chi post office receiving air mail, whether distribution in Chicago or to be patched by train to Springfield, Ill., backstamp the same but it will no backstamped again when it rea Springfield.

Such an order should have been is earlier for many of our air mail co are without backstamps. This ap to the recent trip of the "Los Ange to Porto Rico, as well as several o first flights of importance.

Some fifty years ago, it was not unusual to cut a stamp in two when the smaller priced stamp was not to be had. At that time the Post Office Department looked with favor on the idea."

ALBANIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have sent us for chronicle a set of seven values of an Air Post issue picturing a monoplane flying over a mountain range. At the top are the words "Posta Aerore" and at the base "Shoyptare" with the values in each lower corner. Colors and values are 5q green, 10q red, 25q blue, 50q dark green, 1 fr dark lilac and grey, 2fr olive green and red lilac and 3fr orange and green.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 50h, 100h and 200h of the 1923 issue with the overprint "Congres Olym. Internat. Praha 1925" in a half circle. The first two values are surcharged in blue and the 200h. in red.

Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of a 30h mauve, in the type of Scott's A5.

DENMARK.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. copies of the 4 ore postage due stamp in blue. Mr. R. Roberts also sends the 5kr deep lilac of the same set. Copies of the air stamps, large format, perforated, depicting a monoplane passing over a ploughman driving two fiery steeds have been reported by Mr. Francis J. Field and Whitfield King & Co. The values are 10ö green and 25ö red.

ERITREA.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the following Italian Holy Year stamps surcharged for use in this country: 20c+10c, 30c+15c, 50c+25c, 60c+30c, 1L+50c, 5L+250c.

FIJI.—Mr. G. V. Stewart informs us that he has received word from the Colonial Postmaster at Suva that no special postage stamps will be issued in connection with the jubilee of the annexation of Fiji.

FRANCE.—Mr. John W. Prevost has shown us two stamp booklets with "ads" on covers and margins. They are the 10c green, Pasteur design and the 25c blue, Sower type. Each booklet has two leaves of ten stamps each and both carry advertising matter on the outside and inside covers. We also note on the margins of the 25c the words "Evian" and "Source Cachat" alternately. Mr. Prevost adds that he has nothing definite regarding their appearance, but the blue covered booklet has on the end "S 85" which he assumes means Series 85 and if so there must have been a large number issued previously.

GERMANY.—We have received a copy of a 5pfg green, postally issued by the German State in commemoration of the 1000 years jubilee of the Rhineland, which is celebrated this year. The Union of the Rhineland with the German State was in 925. Two other values, 10 and 20pfg, are expected daily. We are indebted to Arns & Schrott for copy and the information given above.

GRAND LIBAN.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 2pi, 3pi, 5pi and 10pi stamps of the current series have been overprinted "Avion" in French and Arabic for use as Air Post stamps. The surcharge is in green.

ITALIAN SOMALILAND.—Whitfield King & Co. report that the following values of Italian Holy Year stamps have been surcharged for use in this colony: 6b+3b, 13b+6b, 15b+8b, 18b+9b, 30b+15b, 1r+50b.

RUSSIA.—Our Special Correspondent, Mr. S. Kazakoff, reports issue of two new postage dues, viz.:—Perf. 12½: 3kop light blue and 7kop orange.—Stamp Collecting.

SYRIA.—Mr. R. Roberts calls our attention to the same values as of Grand Liban noted above which have been overprinted in like manner for use as Air Post stamps. Also the same values bearing the surcharge "Alaouites" have the added overprint "Avion" at the left side of the stamp in green.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—In sending a clipping from the New York Times, Mr. H. M. Konwiser, New York, says: "The enclosed is probably the work of a stamp collector, the seventy-line story referring to stamps in manner that must arouse the interest of non-collectors." Mr. Minick is a collector and a member of the American Philatelic Society and to him we are indebted for the following interesting recital which is well calculated to impress the general reader: the heading is "Stamps of Two Colors":

"To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I call attention to what I feel is a misstatement in the article, "First Norse Settlers"? Mention was made of the new two-cent stamps to be issued in honor of the Norse-American centenary, bearing the picture of the sloop Restaurationen and a five-cent stamp decorated with a Viking ship, saying that "with the single exception of the $5 stamp no other issue has ever used a die of two colors, making the centennial stamp distinctive."

If we interpret the meaning, that the $5 stamp is the only one having two colors, we wish to correct it by stating that as early as 1869 the United States issued stamps of two colors and that altogether we now have fifteen stamps made in two colors as follows: Issue of 1869, 15-cent stamp, brown and blue; 24-cent, green and violet; 30-cent, blue and carmine; 90-cent, carmine and black. Pan American issues of 1901 as follows: One-cent, green and black; 2-cent, carmine and black; 4-cent, chocolate and black; 5-cent, ultramarine and black; 8-cent, brown violet and black; 10-cent, yellow-brown and black. The airplane issues of 1918, 24-cent stamp in carmine-rose and blue. Regular issue of 1918, $2 stamp in orange-red and black; and the $5 stamp in deep green and black. The regular issue of 1920 has a $2 stamp of carmine and black, and the issue of 1922 has a $5 stamp of carmine and dark blue. The $5 stamps both have the picture of Benjamin Franklin, but the colors of the two issues are different.

It may be interesting to know that a mistake was made in printing 15-cent stamps of the 1869 issue depicting the landing of Columbus and some centres are inverted. These are rare and such stamps are worth $5,000 unused and $750 used.

The 30-cent stamps with the United States coat-of-arms has a few misprints, the flags being inverted. These stamps, unused, are worth $4,000 and used, $1,750.

In the Pan American issue of 1901 in the 1-cent stamp with the fast lake navigation an error was made, and where the centre was inverted the stamp was worth $80. The 2-cent with the picture of the fast express also had an error which was detected shortly after the stamp was put in circulation and all stamps were withdrawn. The few not returned are worth $750 today.

An error was made in the 4-cent stamp of 1901 and it was never regularly issued although a few were put into circulation; these are worth $125 unused. No doubt in years to come some of the new Norse American stamps will be as valuable as their predecessors, although it will not be because they are distinctive in having two colors.

DON C. MINICK.

At the Office

I have three Collections from which you may make selections. 1.—Dere collection of 19th Century, listing now about $10,000.00. This closing out, and I accord 50% discount to anyone. More to large purcha 2.—The "English" collection of unused U. S., British Colonies and European, each stamp marked NET, with special discounts on large amo Both these collections can be had on approval by interested parties of kr responsibility, and it is well worth their while. 3.—An extensive but complete collection of 20th Century "mint" specimens, at rational prices. This collection cannot leave the office. ALSO, many odd broken lots that I want to clean up—at extremely low prices. Will se grist of these on approval if desired—too small or too variegated to ac tise; lots of retired A.P.S. books, etc.

IN UNITED STATES I have as good a line as you can see in town reasonable prices. I like the common sense buyer who thinks it's a part duty to have as good a collection of this country's stamps as his means permit. So, WHEN IN BOSTON, COME IN AND BROWSE AROUN

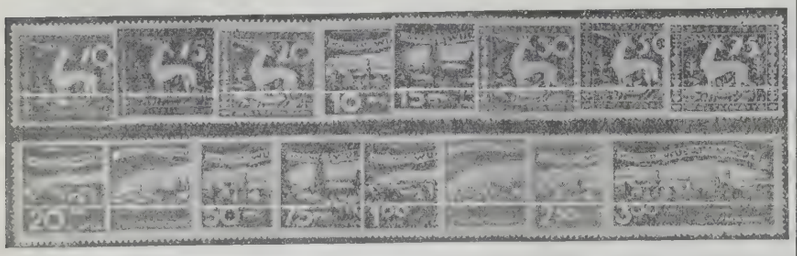
MODERN EXHIBITIONS

The recent correspondence in our journal on the question of present-day Exhibitions shows at least that there is a certain amount of dissatisfaction both with the organisation and the results. Complaints are made on several grounds, especially that too much prominence is given to collections showing advanced study and research while the needs of the average collector are neglected and no attempt is made to secure exhibits which are likely to attract new collectors to the hobby. No one, however, has made any practical proposals as to how the present practice is to be improved. The general feeling is that something should be done, but exactly what is required is a problem of considerable difficulty when due regard is had to all the multitudinous details which the organisation of an exhibition involves.

Exhibitions, as at present held, attempt to achieve at least three distinct objects. The advanced philatelist, for example, requires to see the results of the latest philatelic research, such as in "plating" or the discovery of re-entries, etc., in fact, the results of the intensive study of plates and methods of stamp production. For this purpose it is necessary to exhibit large quantities of stamps showing small varieties which are unintelligible to the average collector and cannot fail to weary the casual visitor. The average collector wants complete collections of countries, especially those he is particularly interested in, so as to see the stamps which he lacks but expects to get and for the purpose of comparing doubtful stamps in his own collection with specimens admittedly genuine in all respects. The collector of special side-lines, such as Air stamps or postmarks and what not, also requires to see something useful to his special line of study. All collectors, whether advanced or not, wish to see the great rarities of all countries, and in most cases an exhibition is the only chance they have of seeing them. The general public are probably more attracted by "picture" stamps or commemoratives which have some historical or literary bearing, and it is this class of stamp which may attract new recruits to our hobby.



Now it is fairly obvious that all these diverse ends cannot be fully attained in one exhibition. The number of stamps now existing is so vast that to show a complete collection of any one of the chief countries is impossible on account of the space it takes up and the cost to the exhibitor. In earlier days it was always an object with the organising committee to attempt to secure at least one collection of every country. This would be quite impossible today, both on account of the fact that there must be many countries of which no specialized collection adequate for exhibition purposes exists, and also because it would be very difficult to find a hall of sufficient size to contain the exhibits if available. Moreover, even if it were possible to get sufficient accommodation, the cost would be prohibitive. It has to be remembered that Exhibitions are financed by voluntary contributions, and all the organisation and work of arrangement is done by voluntary help, and there are limits of possibility in each of these directions.

The only practical solution of the difficulty may possibly be found in severe limitation of the scope of any proposed exhibition, either in the direction of holding separate exhibitions for "advanced philatelists" and for propaganda work, or, probably better, in restricting the area or date from which collections may be shown. Thus one exhibition might be confined to the stamps of Europe (or a lesser area) or to stamps issued before 1900 only or after 1900. All such proposals would, however, have to be very carefully considered.

As to other grievances, such as cutting down the space granted to the exhibitor after allotment, these are matters of organisation and should be capable of being put right by public opinion.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

NANKING PHILATELIC SOCIETY

By Warren A. Seager.

The last meeting of the Nanking (China) Philatelic Society before summer was held on Monday evening, June 1st, at the home of Rev. W. A. Seager. The meeting was in the nature of a farewell to Dr. F. A. Wilmot, one of the charter members of the Society, who is leaving China permanently to take up medical work in the U. S. After the usual stag dinner U. S. Consul J. K. Davis made a speech in appreciation of Dr. Wilmot's work in helping to make the local Philatelic Society a real success.

The President of the N. P. S., Rev. L. S. Ruland, exhibited his practically complete collection of China, which includes many choice pieces as well as a number of unlisted minor varieties. The collection proved strong in the early issues in superb condition, items not easy to obtain either in China, the U. S. or England according to Mr. Ruland who had spent many months in the search for copies that suited him. The remarks accompanying this exhibit were both interesting and of real philatelic value.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for early in October. The intense heat of the Yangtze Valley in summer is hard on stamps unless they are carefully wrapped and put away so that the mint copies won't stick tight. It is said that some collections are kept in the ice box for the summer. All our members are looking forward to our October meeting which will begin another year of active philatelic endeavor.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

Malta has again been in the limelight with an issue of local Postage Dues. These have been selling like hot cakes, but in view of the numbers issued being pretty substantial, we cannot recommend any speculative purchase of these at present.

Some of the other Postage Dues of certain of the Colonies are hard to find, especially mint. One cannot advise any purchase at high prices, as it is probable that the ban will be raised sooner or later. Postage Dues, such as those of Palestine, were prohibited at first, and afterwards sold off by the post office.

Another stamp of Malta that has caused something of a sensation recently is the £1 value current pictorial design. The second printing became exhausted recently, and it was noticed that this duty was not mentioned in the projected new set. Was it going to be discontinued? Meanwhile the price bounded up. Recently, however, it was put on sale again, a third printing having evidently been made. Although it differs in minor points from the previous print, the interest in the stamp has somewhat subsided.

Barbados has shown commendable restraint in the issue of its new Postage and Revenue series. A good case could have been made out for the inclusion of higher values in this set, but there is nothing above 3sh, as before. Barbados has been singularly free from unnecessary high values, which are not required for postal purposes, and wisely keeps to special revenue stamps for the higher duties that are required for fiscal purposes.

It is good to read that the remainders of the previous Barbados issues have been destroyed; some of these became exhausted before the new issue was ready, such as the 4d and 1sh duties old CA. These will doubtless soon rise in value, but probably all the set over 2½d will show an increase.

The 1sh Script in the small type has been, of course, the stamp in the limelight. One cannot really forecast any substantial increase beyond its present figure of 12sh to 15sh, as, although 6,000 were issued, the majority were bought up by stamp dealers or speculators, so will come on the market sooner or later. The 1sh Cayman Is., single CA, was issued to the same number, and can still be bought for about 7s6d. The Barbados stamps are strongly held, and the speculators in the island are stated to be holding out for $3 per stamp.

Practically all modern Barbados are increasing steadily in value. The 1912 set is higher than ever, whilst some of the values of the 1916 issues have been slowly rising and are short in America. It was anticipated that the Peace issue, being in such an attractive and novel design, would be imported in full quantity and would not rise much. Even here, however, certain values are getting absorbed, and further rises appear imminent, notably the 2d, 2½d and 3d values.

Many high value Sudanese have been on the market lately, some under face value. These appear to have been sold by the Egyptain Government, which has recently asked for tenders for a further lot of these, and also for Palestine, Egypt and other countries.

It will be interesting to see what effect these parcels—some of them very large—will have on the market. Perhaps some reader can give further details of this remarkable sale.—Philatelic Magazine.

Notes On The 3 Cent 1851

By R. McP. CABEEN and E. R. JACOBS.

The articles in the American Philatelist on the 3 cent 1851-57 stamps of the United States by Dr. Carroll Chase have stimulated interest in these stamps to a very great extent. This is due in a great measure to the almost endless variety of recutting and of shades which can be found on the imperforate issue.

In the belief that a condensed list of the principal recuts with frequency of their occurrence on the common plates may be of interest, the writers have compiled the following notes from Dr. Chase's articles.

These notes deal only with the stamps from Plate 1 late state, Plate 2 late state and Plate 3. These constitute the bulk of copies met with and all show both inner frame lines strongly recut, and include all shades except the original orange brown.

There are six hundred stamp positions on the plates mentioned and according to recutting they may be grouped as follows:

	No. positions
A.—Normal stamps, no exceptional recutting	309
B.—Recut in one or more triangles	240
C.—Inner frame lines (tangents) recut beyond normal length	24

Note:—One of these positions has been counted twice, being included in Group B.

Of the six hundred positions in these three plates, about fifty show shifted transfers or doubling due to re-entry of the plates.

The stamps of plate 5 late also have both inner lines recut, but they are generally faint or even missing. These with plates 4, 6, 7 and 8, which do not have inner lines, will be treated in a future article.

"APPROVAL WANT-LISTS"

The system of special selections from want-lists inaugurated by me years ago and under which 80% of my business is done. It gets us both immediately to the point of business—a valuable asset in these days when time is so precious.
There are just three steps in the system:—
(1) You send your want-list of United States stamps.
(2) You send the names and addresses of your bank and two stamp dealers, if unknown to me.
(3) I will send your wants on approval with the privilege of returning any or all copies.

THIRD CANADIAN PHILATELIC EXHIBITION, MONTREAL, OCTOBER 5-9

Design for Exhibition Medal

This medal is now being prepared, and will be struck in series of gold, silver and bronze. In their endeavor to secure a design of medal which would be at once distinctive and appropriate, the Committee enlisted the services of Prof. W. E. Carless of the Dept. of Architecture of McGill University. A glance at the illustration will show that Prof. Carless has been very successful in incorporating in his design the symbolism of Philately, while producing a most pleasing effect on the whole.

The obverse of the medal shows, as its chief feature, the cadeuceus of Mercury, the messenger of the Gods, which is imposed upon a background of sun and sea, typifying the widespread character of the hobby. The chain border reminds one of the influence efficient mail service has exerted in binding together the peoples and nations of the earth.

On the reverse of the medal appears the time honored post horn, with the civic seal of Montreal within its coil, and the civic motto "Concordia Salus" on ribbon at the bottom. The spray of maple leaves is, of course, recognized as a distinctly Canadian emblem. Space will be left, of course, for inscription of winners' name, etc. The work of sinking the die and striking the medals has been entrusted to Geo. F. Hemsley Co., Ltd., of Montreal.

To date the following trophies have been received:—Purvis Cup: A perpetual trophy, presented by H. W. Purvis, Postmaster at Yorkton, Sask., for Exhibit of B. N. A. General. Replica to winner. Winnipeg Perpetual Trophy, put into competition by the Winnipeg Philatelic Society, for exhibit of Canada, general. Replica to winner. St. Lawrence Stamp Collectors Cup (Montreal): For exhibit of France, general. Oughtred Cup, presented by Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, for Canadian Revenues, general collection. Collectors Club Medal, presented by the Collectors Club of New York City, for United States, general. Association for Stamp Exhibitions Medal, presented by the A. S. E. of New York City, for general collection under class "G". Canadian Philatelic Society Shield, presented by the C. P. S., Toronto, for exhibit under class "H". Stamp Herald (Canada) Medal, for exhibit under class "J".

RAPID RELAY

J. O. MOORE, INC. HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

In the last issue, the town of Five Corners, N. Y., was mentioned as appearing on several covers with stamps of the 1851 issue. I have received a letter commenting on the excess corner, as 'twere, for we know towns of four corners, as Waltham, and Chatham, each having the numeral 4 inside the pmks. These look very odd with this figure 4 looming large, as would a check from Mr. John Forakers, signed John 4 Akers.

We have seen pmks. from Six Mile Run, Seven Oaks, and we could probably run through a lot of towns with numbers appearing in their names up to Old Hundred, Forty Fort, etc.

Here is an odd one—"Charlie Hope, Va.," in blue on a 3c grilled 1867, stamp hit by two very small pen strokes. I have a friend of that same name in Virginia, who is in the Coast Guard Service, he fairly pulls a rowboat right out of the water when we go for those crazy running gray sea trout; but this is off the subject a bit.

What have you found out about that town of Blacks & Whites? The & sign in the first pmk. I saw made me think of a Railroad cancel, it was in mss. in pale blue ink, and quite legibly written, and not in the list published by the WEEKLY, as compiled by Dr. Chase. Then came another 3c 1851 issue on cover, this with the black pmk., and a 3c 1857 with that cancellation. In a sale last winter was a copy of the 10c engraved Confederate, with this town pmk. in red, and while I bid many times cat. value, saving a spot in my album for that cover, the space is still empty. Now a cover has arrived with a 1c 1882 with return address of "Epes, Tuggle & Co., Mfrs. of Bellefonte & Hard Cash Fertilizers, Blackstone, Va.", and pmkd. "Blacks & Whites Va Mar 11", so it would seem to be that town or a part of that township. Who can tell us how such a peculiar name attached itself to a town?

Quite a range of cancellations have arrived on stamps from 1870 to 1900. With many of them you are familiar. From Mr. H. M. Lyon comes the monogram cancel which you have doubtless seen. It is made of the letters U and S interlaced with a wide horizontal stroke across the middle of the S in the middle of this monogram. In this space is the small word Mail. The ends of the letters terminate in small ornaments, and the cancel is struck in those watery inks of varying pale colors, few being exactly alike, owing to the amount of ink on the obliterator. Purples and blues predominate. This monogram is enclosed in a circle of generous dimension, and falls on a 2c green with "Edinburg Dec 17 1888 Ohio." alongside. Being cleanly hit in pale blue, it makes a very pleasing color combination on a rather uninteresting stamp.

Then we have what one sender calls the "Pearl Button." This is the neat little rosette appearing at the same period also frequently met on the 3c greens in those same pale inks. These cancels may have been made by the same company, and could perhaps be traced back so that we could find what post-offices bought these various types; but that would in part relieve us of the fun chasing down where each variety came from, and that is half the fun of it.

Then there are the various Maltese Crosses and sometimes what look like four sticks of wood piled up in the form used in that tit-tat-to pastime so popular a few years ago. Then we have many stars, and that Japanese Fan, and the Liberty Heads, all coming in this pale ink, so we presume that the company also sold ink.

A couple of Pearl Buttons with their delicate spider web pattern, not unlike doilies (ask ma, she knows) pmkd. "Florida Apr 22 N Y" in pale blue—other "White Rock Feb 15 1893 Pa" in pale purple, on the 2c greens. The stars come in black more frequently than the other forms.

A number of the types of Maltese Crosses will be illustrated, as there are many to admire. Some have curved ends and sides while many are straight lines only. Some come with double lines and some have double circles, and single circles around the designs.

A very neat cancel in purple is of two horizontal lines on a 3c green re-engraved; at the top is the word "Walker's", below in smaller italics, "Columbiana County, O", while below all in black mss. is the date "4/21—'82", a very unusual and pretty cover.

On a 2c green falls a bright purple ellipse. Though a portion of the top of the cancel is off the cover, the visible letters, "J. ——ler", correspond with the name "J. Fidler" of the return address. The remainder is very distinct reading in a straight line through the middle of the ellipse with a star at each end "* May 2 West *", and below in small type following the line of this wide curve (as does the wording at the top of ellipse). "York & Peachbottom R.P. O." Two ornamental horizontal dashes help to make this a very pretty railroad cancellation.

A couple of R. F. D. pmks. which seem quite out of the ordinary, on a pair of 1c 1898, "R. F. D.—Sep 22 1900—Lebanon—Pa". This is in four horizontal lines (the dash between the wording marks each line). Another, same type on 2c 1902 "R. F. D.—Sep 7 1903—Myerstown—Pa." These pmks. are followed by the stamp obliterator composed of horizontal lines, or bars, with a numeral centrally located.

Here's a little lot of Railroads that look unusual. First on 3c 1851 and another on 3c 1857, Type II, "Canal Rail Road". This road ran from New Haven, Ct., to Greenfield, Mass., and is rarely found on this issue. Another rare one is "South Side R.R. Va." on 3c 1851.

Railroads on later stamps—3c Cont'l, "Slating. & Read. Dec 21 Agt." used in '75. On 2c greens, "Curwens & Tyrone Apr 16 1891 R.P.O."; "Harris. & Balto. Apr 19 Agt."; "Lancaster: Pa. Jul 23 1889 Trans. Sta."; "New York & Pitts. Apr 15 W Div Tr 10 R.P.O."; "Phil. & Harris. Dec 16 Agt."; and on 2c 1890s, "N.Y. & Chi. R.P.O. May 9 Tr 32 E. Div."; and "Sala. & Youngs. Tr 12 Mar 21 1890"; while the 2c Columbian has "Lang. & Fred. Apr 26 1893 R.P.O."

There is considerable interest in these later Railroad cancellations, especially on

EDITORIAL.

Writing from Washington, Mr. Renvers L. Estey says: "The enclosed order signed by the first assistant postmaster general is dated July 3rd and I should have sent it sooner but I was away for some days over the Fourth." The following notice provides for the backstamping of air mail, a subject in which many collectors are interested: "All post offices at the points of landing, only, receiving mail by air mail transportation, will speedily backstamp the same. This includes not only the air mail which is received for delivery at the post office at the point of landing but also the air mail which is received at any point of landing to be dispatched to other post offices by train or other means of transportation. Such backstamp should give the date and hour of receipt. Post offices not at points of landing on the air mail route or routes but which may receive air mail by dispatch from points of landing on the air mail routes by other means of transportation will not backstamp such air mail. To illustrate: The Chicago post office receiving air mail, whether for distribution in Chicago or to be dispatched by train to Springfield, Ill., will backstamp the same but it will not be backstamped again when it reaches Springfield."

A correspondent in England sends a copy of the new one penny Irish permanent postage due stamps with the following information: "Only the one, two and six pence have appeared and after a few days' sale, further sales at post offices were prohibited by order of the P. M. G. and so mint copies are scarce. A variety has been found in the six pence value. In the English word, 'Postage,' the 'o' has a sort of wing at the upper left; the variety appears only on one printing."

The New York Times exhibited a stroke of enterprise, through the medium of the first flight of the overnight air mail, New York to Chicago. Mr. G. C. Rheinfrank shows a large envelope emanating from the Times office, franked with $1.40 in stamps, with the addition of a special delivery, to a Chicago address; and the envelope bears the printed inscription: "This envelope contains a copy of the New York Times sent on first trip of Overnight Air Mail Service, leaving New York, July 1, 1925. The New York Times." The letter has the proper air mail markings and dates and is an interesting souvenir, it need not be said. Speaking of this first overnight flight, a collector shows a cover that includes one of the five cent red errors among the stamps paying postage on the envelope.

The Reverend Elias Rasmussen, Windom, Minn., says that a correspondent in Oslo, Norway, has notified him of the death of Herr Henrik Dethloff, a great Norwegian expert. While Herr Dethloff's literary work extended over a period of many years, he is best known as the author, in collaboration with Dr. Justus Andersen, of the standard work, "Stamps of Norway, 1855-1914," a second edition of which, enlarged and revised, appeared in 1924. This book has been translated into German. Herr Dethloff was a leader in commercial philately and for many years conducted his business from Oslo (Christiania). For fifteen years, he served as vice-president of the Christiania society; and it is thought that his strenuous exertions in promoting the success of the exhibition last September hastened his death, if they were not the cause of his illness. While not a young man, he having been born at Oslo in 1867, Herr Dethloff was stricken in the fullness of his philatelic power and his loss will be mourned not only in Norway but in all the countries of the philatelic world.

Mr. P. J. Drossos, Athens, Greece, writes: "I have just read Mr. Thompson's article on the Greek pictorial set of 1925, in No. 1793 and find it very interesting. However, the information as regards the Dodecanesus, is quite incorrect, I am sorry to say, speaking for Greece. During and after the Peace Treaty in Paris, 1918, there was some talk that the small islands be handed over to Greece, Rhodes excepted, that were to have a plebiscite in thirty years, but nothing came of all this. This spring Italy officially annexed the islands as an Italian province. This was to be foreseen from last September as the special stamps for each island, the current Italian stamps, surcharged with the name of each island, were no longer in use and the ordinary Italian stamps unsurcharged were used as in Italy. The islands of Tenedos, Imbros and Lemnos, situated in front of the Dardanelles, do not belong to the group (Dodecanesus) but are a separate one. This is a geographical point, without importance; what is to be regretted is that Imbros and Tenedo were handed over by Greece to Turkey, at the Treaty of Lausanne in 1922. The importance of these two islands is easily recognized as they block the entry to the Dardanelles. The issue in question has been expected for a very long time and I think it will appear before the end of the year. All values probably will not be available at once but will be placed on sale as the stocks of the values of the current issue are exhausted."

Mr. Henry Look, Detroit, has sent a copy of the Detroit Free Press, July 10, 1925, announcing the death of William B. Cady, a prominent collector of that city. Mr. Look says: "Mr. Cady has been a member of the American and Detroit Philatelic Societies for some time past, his specialty having been Mexican postage stamps of which he had quite an extensive collection. He was prominently known in business circles and an associate of Hon. Charles B. Warren, former U. S. Ambassador to Japan and Mexico." The newspaper account, which shows a large portrait of Mr. Cady, says that a heart attack caused sudden death at the age of sixty-four years. Mr. Cady for many years was a leader of the bar and at one time was prominent in politics; and also, he was secretary of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company and a director of the Cheboygan Paper Company at the time of his death. It is something to know that despite the many interests of Mr. Cady, he found time to give to his collection.

Our London contemporary, Stamp Collecting, pays a gracious tribute to American philately in its issue of July 4th, in the form of an Independence Day number, in which there is appropriate material, indeed. We quote the editor, as follows: "Last November, we pleaded for 'a worthy memorial to the imperishable unity of Anglo-American philately.' Let us put our shoulders to the wheel. America has yet to be explored by the vast majority of British philatelists. It can be done without the Atlantic voyage, for there is material and to spare in our albums."

A correspondent sends in a newspaper clipping, yellowed by age, from the Cincinnati Enquirer of January 5th, 1889, which tells of the organization of the Cincinnati Philatelic Society at that time. Mr. A. N. Spencer was elected president; Mr. J. A. Pierce, secretary and "corre-

MAMMOTH CIRCUS - - SIDE SHOWS

LOTS of people take their VACATION in the SAME place every year. The SUMMER home, SUMMER friends, and PLACES rich in association give ZEST to the ANNUAL OUTING. So it comes CIRCUS-TIME and we take the CHILDREN, SURE, we give them one GLORIOUS DAY, and, yes, WE HAD A WONDERFUL TIME, TOO. Are we always grown-up?

We build our RECREATION M. C. every year to give you a quiet bit of SPORT for a dull evening or a rainy day. It's been a big satisfaction to welcome our OLD FRIENDS, and send them their ANNUAL M. C., many never miss an "M. C." Many come back for SEVERAL. And they write us nice friendly words, so we know our "M. C.'s" are giving a lot of pleasure. Perhaps they all take their children to the CIRCUS, too. A GOOD PACKET TAKES US ALL BACK TO THE THRILLING DAYS WHEN WE STARTED STAMP-COLLECTING. The MAMMOTH CIRCUS deserves its NAME.

MAMMOTH CIRCUS 300 vars. all different foreign stamps, mostly 20th cent. pictorials, commemoratives, high values, in a 2nd trip flown Bermuda covers. 1.02

MONKEY CAGE Thanks to Mr. Bryan, you need fear no connection between the name of this packet and its contents 1.02

Many people want to go to the "CIRCUS" a second time, so we have made a second series—300 vars. different foreign stamps, and largely different from the "CIRCUS", but also enclosed in a flown Bermuda cover. The "MONKEY CAGE" is just another REGULAR "M. C."

LONDON AUCTION SALE OF U. S.

H. R. Harmer Disposes of the Dr. G. J. Burgt Collection of Postage Stamps.

Reported by C. J. PHILLIPS.

(It is the rule of the WEEKLY not to report prices paid at auction sales. We make an exception, however, in this instance, due to the fact that many of our subscribers will be interested in preserving these quotations.—W. O. W.)

London, England, seems to be becoming a favorite location for the sale of United States stamps. Probably one reason for this is the duty on used U. S. imported into this country.

Following the sale of the famous collection of Sir Nicholas Waterhouse we now find that another good general collection has been sold at auction and many high prices were realized.

The auctioneers were Messrs. H. H. Harmer of 8 Old Bond St., London, W., and as my London agents have sent me a full priced catalogue I think a few extracts will prove of interest to American collectors.

I have converted the prices at the rate of $5.00 to the pound, which would be about the cost with expenses and insurance, delivered in this country.

United States Local Stamps

For the past 18 months I have been building up a stock of these stamps and have purchased for some $7000.00 U. S. Locals from the "Ferrary" collection at the Paris auctions, and since then several choice lots.

I now have on sale 14 new approval books of these interesting and much undervalued stamps, including a large number on original covers (not added to old covers) well tied on.

Books of cheap, medium or scarce varieties can be sent on approval. (At present rates I consider these the best buy of all United States Stamps.)

Want to Buy United States Postal Adhesives

Much of the trade is clamoring about poor business — personally, I find it brisk and have more difficulty in buying fine things than I do selling them. Since the first of the year I believe that I have sold more United States stamps than any other dealer, and this is not said in a "blow-your-horn" spirit. The advanced collector as well as the moderate specialist in United States has found from experience that the place where he is most likely to locate the evasive specimen is from the dealer who devotes his entire philatelic activities to getting together the stamps of that country. Following the stamps of the United States only, I offer that personal service in "digging" out the almost unobtainable which cannot be given by one that must follow the numerous emissions of the world.

Knowing from many years' experience that United States stamps offer a wonderful investment, I have not hesitated to put my own money in substantial amount into them. As a result, I have today one of the finest stocks of these issues from 1847 to date. I do not stock postmaster provisionals, as a rule, for I find that these do not offer the opportunities for investment offered by the general issues. From 1890 to date my stock is especially strong in superb mint blocks, right through the $5.00 denomination.

In order to keep my stock up to a certain standard, it is necessary to continually buy. I am in the market for anything fine such as rare early covers and mint blocks, split provisionals of the 1847 issue, as well as anything else attractive in this issue, fine singles and blocks of the middle issues in addition to covers of the higher values. From 1890 on I desire mint blocks of the higher values, also pairs and blocks of the part-perf errors of 1895-1898-1904. Want fine Department blocks, "Specimen" copies and more especially "Sepcimen" errors. Also desire fine general or specialised collections. The finer the better. The best of banking, commercial and philatelic reference furnished. Drop me a line if you desire to sell.

1916, 2c Imperforated Broken Plate

Dr. Warren L. Babcock has sent for our inspection a block of the 1916, 2c carmine, imperforated, Scott's No. 482, showing a distinct vertical plate crack. This surface crack, which is about two inches in length, is found vertically between the sixth and seventh vertical rows on the level with the eighth and ninth horizontal rows. The variety has not been noted in a perforate condition.

Postage Stamps Used to Collect Postage Due

Dr. Stephen G. Rich has shown me several covers addressed to the Concord State Normal, Athens, W. Va., used between May 4th and May 22nd, 1922, wherein postage due has been collected by means of postage stamps. The letters have been usually mailed from small W. Va. towns with the 2c postage stamp, which is canceled in the town in question, and in addition the covers show 1 and 2c postage stamps canceled in Athens, at which place the postage due was collected. Such use of postage stamps has not been authorized, but as the Department loses no revenue, no doubt they will permit the small offices to follow this procedure.

New 1925 Envelopes

In my last chronicle, I gave a list of new envelopes with the 1925 watermark recently located by Rev. C. L. Young. Inadvertently I overlooked mentioning that all of these envelopes are of the window type.

Post Offices Displaying Stamps

In the Postal Bulletin for June 30th, the First Assistant Postmaster General instructs postmasters as follows:

"In some post offices patrons are readily informed and the work of clerks at stamp windows is greatly facilitated by placing near the windows a large frame containing samples of the several denominations of stamps and stamped paper which are for sale. Upon examining these samples, patrons learn just what they want and are saved the trouble of asking many questions. There may be exhibited in such a frame not only the several sizes of stamped envelopes, thus enabling the patron to determine readily the size he wishes to purchase, but also samples of several denominations of stamps and special delivery stamps and special-handling stamps, thus advertising the services represented by these special stamps. For instance, opposite a special delivery stamp may be printed the words, 'Use this stamp and secure immediate delivery between hours of 7 a. m. and 11 p. m'; opposite a special-handling stamp may be printed the words, 'Use this stamp and secure for parcels the same treatment as letter mail.'

Postmasters who have furnished these frames are commended. Doubtless other postmasters will wish to add to the convenience of their patrons and improve the service by displaying such frames in their offices.

The department has no funds for providing such frames unless they can be made by employees of the service out of material available, but it makes the suggestion for the benefit of those who find themselves able to procure such frames.

By direction of the Postmaster General.
JOHN H. BARTLETT,
First Assistant Postmaster General."

If many of the post offices follow this procedure, there is no doubt that many new stamp collectors will be created, for a frame displaying our current series along with the air mail stamps, the Special Deliveries and the like, will attract unusual attention. Such propaganda is certain to have its effect on philately.

1c Navy, Soft Paper

In my chronicle for July 6th a typographical error appeared. I state that I have only seen the 1c Navy on soft paper with the "Sepcimen" overprint. This should have read "Specimen" overprint. In other words, I have only seen or heard of the 1c Navy with the normal "Specimen" surcharge. I have not seen it with the error of overprint, although it appears on hard paper this way. Nor have I ever seen the soft paper variety without overprint and doubt its existence. For the benefit of many readers that have written me I would advise that the soft paper "Specimen" 1c Navy is not scarce. In fact, I have seen many more of the soft than of the hard, although both are fairly plentiful.

BELGIUM.—Mr. P. Massez states that the Government will shortly issue a stamp commemorative of the Colonial campaign in the Great War. The stamp will be of the face value of 25c, and will be sold at twice that figure. If we understand our informant aright, stamps will bear French and Flemish inscriptions alternately. Six hundred thousand stamps are to be printed, half this quantity being earmarked for overprinting "RUANDA URUNDI." The stamps will be current in the Congo and in Ruanda until December 31st, 1925. The proceeds of the premium on these stamps are for a fund which is being raised to erect a war monument at Leopoldville.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

AUSTRALIA.—Whitfield King & Co. advise of the appearance of the 1½p postage due stamp, same colors as the other values.

IRAQ.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the 2r olive bistre, type of the ½a in the 1923 series. The stamp has also been printed for use as an Official stamp by a surcharge in black.

ITALY (Offices in Tripoli).—Whitfield King & Co. inform us that the following values have been surcharged on Italy Holy Year series for use in this territory: 20c+10c, 30c+15c, 50c+25c, 60c+30c, 1L+50c, 5L+250c.

PAPUA.—Mr. R. Roberts reports 1½p bicolor in brown and pale u marine and the 10sh in pale ultram and green.

TONGA.—Mr. R. Roberts has sen for inspection copies of the 10p rose black, in aniline print.

THE NEW YORK EXHIBITION

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Little has appeared here of late in the philatelic press regarding the International Philatelic Exhibition to be held in New York during the Fall of 1926, but this does not mean that those having the great undertaking in hand have not been busy. The Exhibition Committee of the Association for Stamp Exhibitions has been meeting monthly for the last year, and during the intervals between meetings the individual members have been working upon the program and prospectus, securing and laying out the exhibition floor, attending to custom and immigration requirements and looking after the many other details necessary in connection with the successful handling of the International Exhibition. This collected data is then put into final form at a meeting of the committee.

At its last meeting on July 1st, Mr. A. F. Lichenstein, who has just returned from the Paris exhibition, presided, and brought to our attention many suggestions gleaned from the philatelic activities on the other side. It is the desire and intention of the committee to adopt those features of other exhibits that have been worthy, and add many new innovations, which it is expected will result in the greatest philatelic exhibition ever held.

At this meeting the prospectus was completed and the program which appeared in the philatelic press some months back was whipped into final shape, the committee having considered all suggestions received from all sources relative to same. Quite a few changes have been made and the prospectus, along with the revised program, has been ordered printed and will appear in booklet form in short order. Copies will be mailed to the secretaries of all philatelic societies, who are asked to bring the activity to the attention of its members. The committtee looks to every society for its full cooperation and endorsement, and in order to make the exhibition really successful, such co-operation is necessary. It is your exhibition, and your help is required. It is being staged by American philately and the American philatelists are supposed to give it a boost whenever possible. "All together all the time for everything philatelic," and this is the biggest thing philatelicly that has ever been suggested.

There will be a classification for every collector whether he collects on a small scale or on a large one, and the junior will find a goodly number of medals ready for his competition.

So far, ten leading foreign collectors from as many countries have accepted the invitation extended them to be judges at this exhibition and they will be on hand.

European collectors are talking about chartering a boat to bring them over. We want to show the world what we can do. Your help is needed. Start the day right by applying for membership in the Association for Stamp Exhibitions, and send your check for $4.00 to Theodore E. Steinway, Treasurer, 109 East 14th St., New York City. This will make you a member in good standing until January, 1927, and will entitle you to tickets of admission, as well as any other literature and data sent to the members by the association.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are advised of the forming of the Metropolitan Philatelic Society of Boston. It meets monthly, the second Thursday, at Room 18, Quincy House, and anyone desiring to join is invited to attend one of the meetings, or write the Secretary, Mrs. E. B. Hodgdon, 76 River St., Arlington, Mass. The club has 60 members, a dozen of whom are ladies. At the July meeting 25 were present and a collection of Japanese stamps was exhibited.

—L. E. Richardson, who has been advertising from Putnam, Conn., has opened a large centrally located office at 75 Westminister St., Providence, R. I., where he hopes to be able to get acquaintedwith many local collectors. Providence is one of the philatelic cities of the country and we wish Mr. Richardson success. He will operate under the name of the Globe Stamp Co.

—A. J. McKelvy of Tucson, Arizona, informs us of the death of J. J. Roberts of that place. Mr. Roberts was a member of the A. P. S. and formerly secretary of the Tucson Stamp Club. He died June 15.

—Greetings are at hand from J. L. Riedel of Nurnberg, Germany, and upon the card are two new Munich Exhibition stamps and one value of the Rhinelander Jubilee.

—George B. Sloane, the New York dealer, is one of the number who pay their advertising bills immediately on presentation. This month he was a bit slow, but he had a good reason. There is now a Mrs. Sloane and he was away from the office for about two weeks, attending to this important matter. He is perfectly excusable and we all congratulate George and wish the newly wedded couple a long life and great prosperity.

—We have received from Emil J. Rall, of Ancon, C. Z., specimens of the new 2c and 14c Canal Zone stamps, surcharged on U. S. They were placed on sale at the Canal Zone post offices July 1st. The surcharge is the regulation one and both are in black.

—On July 7th to 10th H. R. Harmer of London, England, gave a private exhibition of the rare and valuable sheets of stamps comprised in the recent "Mayfair" find, at the Old Bond Street Galleries.

THE CANADIAN EXHIBITION

The arrangements for the 3rd Canadian Philatelic Exhibition are progressing rapidly, and every indication that the affair is to be a success is evident. The publicity committee loses no opportunity to exploit the exhibition and is constantly favoring us with news matter. The committee-at-large is a very representative body of philatelists and it has succeeded in securing a large amount of financial co-operation.

We have received from E. E. Goodchild of Montreal an itemized statement of contributions thus far received. We do not think it wise to publish this list, but we note one prominent collector who has contributed $200 and there are no fewer than six who have contributed $100 each.

In addition to the splendid publicity and financial support given, there have been many donations of gold medals, cups, etc. The official catalog has already secured a large amount of patronage from dealers in the United States and Canada.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

A RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it has come to our knowledge that it is proposed to hold the 1926 Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society in the City of New York, during the month of October, at a time when the Association for Stamp Exhibitions will hold their International Exhibition, we, the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, A. P. S. Branch, No. 30, at a meeting held July 3, 1925, passed a resolution, objecting to the time for holding said convention, for the following reasons:

That the month is not a suitable one for holding said convention as many of the members of the Society plan to take their vacation during the month of August; that if it is held during the same week as the exhibition it will detract from the business sessions of the convention, and said business meetings are important and require the undivided attention of its members; that it would be a hardship on the New York members of the Society to give the proper attention to the convention as well as the exhibition; that should the convention be held a week before or after the exhibition, the attendance would suffer as a consequence. As a matter of fact we feel the convention would simply be considered as a "side-show" to the exhibition and would not receive the support it deserves.

Therefore, we desire that all members of the A. P. S. attending the convention at Los Angeles, vote to hold the 1926 Convention during the month of August as in the past, and those not attending to instruct their proxy holders to vote likewise.

P. A. FINLAYSON,
Secretary.

CATALOG PRICE CHANGES IN U. S.

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

The United States section of the advanced sheets of the 1926 Scott's catalog made their appearance on July 16th. As usual, numerous changes have been made in prices and in certain instances minor varieties have been designated as main varieties, and in other cases certain stamps have been omitted entirely. Taken as a whole, we feel that the new quotations certainly reflect the prevailing prices on the stamps of the United States, but of course it must be remembered that the prices quoted are for specimens in "good condition."

In the case of the Postmaster Provisionals, only one change is made—the 5c black New York moving to $100 in unused condition. Most of these stamps have been priced rather high for some years, for if we use the Ferrari, Waterhouse or any other large auction sale as a guide, we will find that many of the Postmasters are really over priced. Good stocks are still in dealers' hands, which is certainly not the case with the general issues, and when we consider that a substantial number of the St. Louis Postmasters are still held by a former Philadelphia junk dealer, we will see why these stamps are not likely to take any advances in the near future.

Starting in with the general issues—the 5c 1847 advances both unused and used, going to $30.00 and $7.00 respectively. The 10c takes a 50% increase in mint condition, but remains the same used, although the split Provisionals advance. The two re-issues of this set now list at $11.50.

In the 1851 series, certain of the 1c types in unused condition are priced for the first time, the Type I being quoted at $2,000, the Ia—$500, the III—$225, and the IIIa—$150. This year for the first time the 10c is listed in four types as main varieties, the first type being the variety found in the bottom row of the sheet showing the full shells; the Type II being the normal variety found in every other row with the line complete at top; the Type III is the similar stamp with the top line broken, and the Type IV is the recut variety, which can be found recut at top, at bottom and at both top and bottom. Practically every stamp in this series, both unused and used, took slight advances—the 5c going to $200 unused and $40 used.

In the 1857 issue the 1c Type I, Ia and II all increase in price, both used and unused; Type III and IIIa are priced for the first time in unused condition at $100 and $22.50 respectively. Most of the 5c items rightly advance and in the case of the 10c we find not only the four types of the 1851 series, but we also have the Type V, which is the stamp that was listed in the old catalog as Type II—a variety that is not known imperforated. The reprints, with the exception of the 1c and 5c, which are still fairly common, all advance.

In the August series every stamp advances with the exception of the 3c and the 24c used. The 12c, which is the rare variety of the series, of which possibly only a dozen exist, goes to $2,500. In the September issue, each stamp, with very few exceptions, takes slight raises—the 24c steel blue going to $200. The catalogers call attention to the numerous shades of the 24c in this and the following issue. The 3c printed on both sides is priced for the first time at $400.

The 1862-1866 series takes similar advances; the 2c black in unused condition moving up to $2.00, the 3c scarlet to $100, the 5c red brown to $45 and the 15c black to $17.50, a well merited increase, for this stamp in unused condition—with full gum—is exceptionally scarce, and in perfect condition is really a rarity.

Radical changes are made in the listing of the grilled series of 1867-1868, for they are grouped by grilled points as well as by sizes, and the well known "Z" grills, which were formerly listed as minor varieties, now become major varieties. They have followed the studies of Stevenson in classifying rather than the sizes which have been used in the catalog from the first. Every grilled stamp almost without exception advances in price, and we find the double grills listed in the main catalog for the first time.

As for the re-issues of the 1861 series, the 3c, 5c, 10c, 12c, 24c and 90c take slight advances. Why they overlooked the 15c, which to me seems to be the most evasive stamp of the series, I cannot say.

In the series of 1869 the 1c is now priced at $4.00 unused, with $2.00 used. All denominations from 6c up advance in unused condition with the 15c Type I going to $8.00 used and the 24c to $9.00 used. All varieties without grill have taken advances. The 15c, 24c and 30c inverts in used condition are now priced at $1,000, $600 and $2,000 respectively, reflecting the prices recently brought by the Lozier copies. Several of the re-issues take slight advances.

AMUNDSEN FLIGHT NORTH POLE CARDS
(With special stamp attached.)

A small portion of the cards we mailed to Christiania on May 19, 1924, to be carried on this flight, came back to us postmarked King's Bay and dated June 18, 1925.

Undoubtedly a great many of these cards were left behind on the abandoned plane N-24.

For those unlucky ones whose cards did not return, and also those who did not buy originally, and now regret it, we offer these few that we received with the special stamp on, while they last for

FIVE DOLLARS EACH.

This was the most interesting and thrilling flight ever undertaken, and this card is a worthy memento for any collector.

H. F. COLMAN

509 SEVENTH STREET, N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

In the grilled series of 1870 we find one of the largest leaps—the 90c in unused condition advancing from $75 to $125. The 6c goes to $25, the 7c to $35, the 10c to $50, the 15c to $30, and the 30c at $100. The 24c, which formerly was priced at $1,000, is no longer priced and I doubt whether the stamp in unused condition exists. A copy in one of the large collections recently broken up turned out to be a forgery, and offhand I recall no other copy. This stamp in used condition is now priced at $200. Without grill all of the higher denominations of the National print from 7c on have increased somewhat, both used and unused.

All of the Continentals, both used and unused, with very few exceptions, have increased in price, and we notice that the 2c double print is listed for the first time and is cataloged at $300. I believe but one copy of this stamp exists. The hard paper 1875 reprints, with the exception of the 2c, which still seems to be somewhat plentiful, have taken around 10% advances.

The American prints have taken similar jumps, and we find the 3c imperf. priced for the first time, namely at $500. I know of but one pair of this stamp, of which a part of one stamp is missing. The soft paper special prints of 1880 take jumps of about $50 each in most cases. These varieties are now much sought after and are becoming more difficult to obtain from day to day.

From 1882-1888 there are but few varieties that did not take a fair increase in unused condition, and in used condition most of the higher priced varieties have taken slight increases. We especially note that the 4c special printing, No. 211d, has now been priced at $60, after remaining at $40 for some time. I believe this stamp is possibly more underpriced than any U. S. variety that I have noted so far, and I would like to buy a copy or two at a good increase over this figure.

From 1890 on I note very few stamps that have not increased in value, and these increases are certainly warranted, for especially in the case of the early Bureau issues, available stocks are being fast depleted and many a stamp cataloging less than a dollar is difficult to pick up in fine condition. All of the 1890 series advances unused with the exception of the 8c. Several of the Columbians move forward, but I note that the higher values remain the same.

In the 1894 series practically every stamp advances and I notice that the part perf. varieties all increase somewhat substantially. I have been hunting for a copy of the 2c pair, imperf. between, No. 252b, for some time, as well as the 50c imperf. horizontally, No. 260a, and am beginning to doubt the existence of these varieties. If any of our good friends know of such copies, I would like to be informed. The 50c normal variety now lists at $3.00, the $1.00 Type I at $6.00, the Type II at $15.00, the $2.00—$15.00, and the $5.00—$30.00. The last two varieties in superb unused condition are exceptionally rare stamps, for 90% of them that I have seen or that have passed through my hands are generally off-centered or in poor condition.

Most of the 1895 series rightly advances and I cannot understand why they have allowed the $5.00 stamp unused, which is really desirable, to stand still.

In the regular 1898 series, the 10c types and 15c move forward, while there is a change here and there in the Omaha series, the 50c now being priced at $4.00 unused and $2.25 used.

Changes in the 20th Century series are numerous—the 2c Pan-American invert advancing to $850. All of the 1902 series move forward with the exception of the $5.00, really the most difficult variety of the series to locate. The 5c coil is now priced at $17.50—still too low—for the variety is rare. The 1c and 2c coil, perforated vertically, are priced at $12.50 each and those with the horizontal perforations, which are exceedingly scarce, are still unpriced.

Practically all of the coils of 1908 to 1916 have taken increases and in many cases as much as 100%. If there was ever a really great demand for coils present prices could not prevail for long, for there are no extensive stocks and there are but few dealers who can supply very many. The 1c, No. 348, rightly drops to 10c, reflecting the extensive find of this variety recently made in San Francisco. The 10c coil now lists at $15.00. The three rare blue papers, namely, the 4c, 5c and 8c, are priced at $150, $65 and $150 respectively. When you consider there were but one hundred of two of these denominations, it will be understood that these prices are still low. The evasive 15c 1910 goes to $2.50 and that other scarce variety—the 10c Panama-Pacific perf. 10—is priced at $2.00.

All of the earlier rotary coils have taken a step forward and many of them are still very reasonable at the prices quoted. This year Scott explains the difference between the rotary prints and the flat plates more clearly, so that the new collector will be able to distinguish between the two. The 2c imperf. rotary, No. 459, which has always been a rare variety of which but few exist, moves from $9.00 to $15.00.

In the 1917 perf. 10, unwatermarked series, I note that every single variety unused from 1c to $1.00 rightly takes on a good increase. The error is now listed at $15, whereas the 50c stamp, which is the scarcest of the series, is priced at $7.50. Number 519, the perf. 11 watermarked stamp in the design of 1908, is listed at $7.50.

In the 1922 series they list the 4c imperforated horizontally, of which one pair only was found in Topeka and has recently been acquired by the writer. The 10c imperf. recently located is also listed, but these last two items are not priced.

The balance of the United States will be reviewed in the next issue.

Because of the length of this review, other chronicle notes will be written up next week.

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON, Still River, Mass.

With the passing of a week we find the first batch of the Advance Sheets for the 1926 Edition of the Scott Catalog. Of course this comes in for a minute examination. You who specialize will turn at once to your pet stamp, or country, and draw your own conclusions.

Right now I want to say a word about criticising this Catalog. It is our own production we are looking at—the Scott Catalog. Were it the Smith Catalog, or the Jones Catalog the critics would be "on their toes" just the same. Only think, there are over 1250 pages in this catalog. This means so many thousands of stamps that you would even hate to count the number, all listed, priced, and mention of the numerous minor varieties of interest carefully considered with the results placed before you in black and white for a modest sum.

What a chance! Some 100,000 varieties to criticise, and how some folks leap to the fray. Think of "jumping on" one poor little stamp when there are 100,000 times as many for the compilers of the catalog to worry about. Really, isn't it ridiculous?

A bit about the layout of our 1926 catalog. Our first two stamps, the 5c and 10c '47s, so dear to the hearts of collectors, are made no "dearer" in this catalog. The 1851s have traveled little. The 10c is jazzed up a whole lot tho. It is now dissected into four parts, so that our 1926 catalog shows our No. 35 as "No. 35, Type I, shells at lower corners practically complete, etc. No. 35a, Type II, design complete at top, etc. No. 35b, Type III, outer lines at top and bottom are partly gone, etc. No. 35c, Type IV, outer line or lines recut." There is enough more reading matter along with this to make it all perfectly clear. Nuf sed.

The 1c '57 Type V has now caught up in cat. value with the 1c '61. This Civil War set, 1861, has been promoted a bit in all cases except the 1c and 3c values. The Black Jack is holding its breath, watching the 5c brown and the 15c black step up a bit. Take a glance back a few years, and see how this 5c brown has risen; it is a tough stamp to get in pretty condition, as is the 15c black.

The 1867 grills are given marked attention in this catalog. You will quickly become acquainted with the system, and like it well, I feel sure. The grills are complex, and the system is simple. Each size of grill is now given a letter: "A" means "grilled all over", the biggest and rarest grill; "F" is the smallest, our 9 x 13 mm; A, B and C are listed "points up", incidentally each point is square, and they look like biscuits, and are so called by some philatelists. The remainder are listed "points down", as "D" is "about 12 x 14 mm" and then follows the actual number of points, as in this case "15 by 17 to 18 points".

There is an added grill named "Z", it reads "grill about 11 x 14 mm. (13 to 14 by 17 to 18 points)" and you may add for your own reference, "ridges of each point run vertically", i.e. parallel with sides of stamp, each grill point has a little ridge on all 1867s except the big A, B, C grills with the square (biscuit) points which are punched up toward you.

You will like the method used, and you may even try to find some perfect specimens of some of the values. Good luck and best wishes to you. I consider these the hardest to get, and the least appreciated of all "U. S. before '70".

Along come the 1869s with few slight upward changes, mainly in the mint copies.

The later issues show general increases, mostly being in the higher catalog valued stamps. The cuts of the new members "Lexi-Con" and "Nor-Sam" commemoratives give a happy ending to this new catalog list of regular postage stamps.

I once tabulated the three values, 6c, 10c and 12c, of the 1869 issue from the first Scott Catalog available up to date. A few pennies then would have bought any copy. In one or two issues, each denomination had same cat. value, while at various times each value was ahead. Odd and interesting.

Without your catalog, which denomination do you say is priced highest, and the lowest? The 6c is priced highest, and the 10c the lowest. On cover it is quite different, for the 12c is priced 50% above the 6 and 10c. Most 12c went abroad. The 10c was used some for registry, also from Consular P. O.'s to U. S. A. and very rare on covers with these postal markings, while the 6c did double rate duty in the U. S. A. You often see pairs of 3c on cover; but many fine collections of covers show few 6c '69s on cover.

If we go further and compare the three values with their same denominations a year later, the Nationals ungrilled, we find the 6c is catalogued lowest of the three, with the 12c at three times the cat. value of the 6c adhesive. Now here is this 6c carmine stamp used in the same manner, for double rate inside the U. S., priced very low, and only a year later. Odd, isn't it? Can it be that the 6c '69 is overpriced, or the 6c National underpriced, or both? And in the grilled Nationals the 6c is again low, with the 12c at 25 times the 6c adhesive.

I am now in the midst of a bit of philatelic excitement. A friend has turned over intact an accumulation of old covers and stamps, practically all U. S. except for a few thousand old foreign. These were torn from old letters dating back over 40 years, and show strips of 1c '57s, Black Jacks, 3c '51s and '57s, and thousands of the 3c '61s. Many have interesting cancellations.

One cover is worth mentioning, it bears a 3c '57 Type II. At the top left is depicted an early type of side wheel steamer, with a very tall smoke stack, and huge walking beam. Across the paddle wheel box is the word PERRY, the name being repeated on the flag at the stern. This is in blue, the pmk. is in red, these together with the black PAID in a circle falling on the stamp, make a very pretty combination. The red pmk. reads Providence Jan. 26, 1859 R. I.

To date I have had no time to more than skim the surface of things; but later on will mention some of the very odd cancels that are in the lot, butterflies, shields of odd forms, stars, the black cat, etc., etc. The Bank Note issues should have much in the way of cancels.

EDITORIAL.

The first instalment of the Advance Sheets of the eighty-second edition of the Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue, published by the Scott Stamp and Coin Company, has arrived, according to schedule. One hundred and twenty-four pages are required for the presentation of issues well through Argentine Republic, with over eighty pages allotted to the stamps of the United States. The five cent of 1847, used, is advanced to $7; and to $30, unused. The full type 1, 1851, 1c swings upward from $225, used, to $350; and in two of the commoner varieties of this stamp, there are slight increases. Three types of the 10c of '51 are now illustrated; and the 5c brown, imperforate, is given a $5 raise to $40. In the perforated, 1857-60, 1c blue, type 1a mounts from $50 to $125, used; and unused it is $300 instead of $200. The 90c of this issue is priced at $40, unused; it was $35. Most of the August, 1861, take an upward bound, and there are some modest price accessions in the September stamps. The grilled varieties of this issue are given fuller treatment, a development that is reflected in some price boosts. The popular issue of '69 is given a few modest changes for the better, and the 24c, grilled, 1870-71, floats from $150 to $200, used. Some moderate increases in price indicate that the attention to the issues 1870 to 1890 is making itself felt in the market. The Columbians remain about the same, somewhat to the surprise of those who have encountered stiffening prices in these stamps, and the $2 and the $5 unwatermarked, 1894, used, are now $10 and $20, vice $9 and $15, respectively; and unused, $5 is tacked on each of the old prices of $10 and $25. About all of the perforated 10, watermarked, 1916-17, seek higher levels. Fewer changes in the Departments are found than was anticipated, and, glancing at the Carrier stamps, the prices seem about the same as before. Newspaper and envelope prices are about stationary and a few of the higher values of the later revenue issues show the infrequent decline. Now that the Advance Sheets are coming, their influence will be enlivening and they will be met, as always, with some variance of opinion as to the prices, but they give us something to think about during the more or less silent interval of philately.

From Bolivia, we have received a circular telling of the issue next August of a set of stamps to celebrate the first centennial of the Republic of Bolivia, which shows an interesting side-light on the conditions of issue; and in a later number something will appear on the subject.

Judging from the number of inquiries that have been received from persons unaffiliated with philately but interested in stamps, some good friend has been proclaiming the work of the WEEKLY through the medium of the radio or the press. We are always glad to answer questions that those who are collectors at heart but uninformed about philately may ask, and otherwise do what we can to fix attention on systematized collecting. If our surmise is correct that we have been the beneficiary of some free advertising through the kindness of some well-wisher, we extend our thanks to the unknown missionary.

A clipping that was sent in several months ago, taken from a New York newspaper, says that the Royal Stamp Club of Peoria, Illinois, at its meeting of May 9th, 1925, passed a resolution to the effect that the portrait of President Woodrow Wilson be placed on one of our stamps, "preferably one much used." At least, this club is making its presence felt and is not hesitant in registering its opinion at headquarters.

From Mr. W. F. Goerner, Edgewood, Rhode Island, we have received a pamphlet describing and listing all the issues of the Continental paper currency, written by Samuel Breck, that bears the imprimatur of the old Philadelphia stamp dealer, A. C. Kline. On the back of the book we find the advertisement of Mr. Kline, "dealer in postage and despatch stamps of various nations for collectors." The work was published in 1863, just about the time that Mr. Kline moved from the Walnut street address to 212 South Eighth street. Mr. Kline was one of the first real dealers in this country, and gained a celebrity through his publication of manuals on the subject of stamps.

Newspapers are telling of a letter that was mailed in Norway in 1888, which, after trailing the addressee through five different countries for thirty-seven years, finally caught up with him at Tacoma, Washington. The reaction of the philatelist on reading a paragraph of this kind is to wonder about the kind of stamps on the envelope and their value.

In the Forum for July is an article by Samuel Scoville, Jr., telling of the days when boys lived glorious hours in the pages of the books of Castlemon, Alger and Optic, and quotes a reviewer of bygone days as saying, in covering one of the Optic books: "There is a period in the life of every youth, just about the time when he is collecting postage stamps and before his legs are long enough for a bicycle, when he has the Oliver Optic fever." The bicycle that the writer means is the old "ordinary" that required a stretch of leg to operate, it should be added. Looking baek upon the days past, it impresses us as rather strange that practically no references were made to stamp collecting in the pages of the entrancing writers to whom boy nature was an open book. Among the "juvenile" writers of to-day, stamp collecting is recognized as playing a part in the growth of boyhood, and the fact that so little was said of philately by the old authors is an indication that latterly collecting has developed in a decided manner. However, many a boy collector has raised his voice in the exchange column of Harper's Young People, for instance, and in some of the juvenile publications the advertisements of stamp dealers could always be found.

A reader who shows several examples of "boat" cancellations says that he thinks that there is a neglected field in the steamer cancellations applied on mail matter that was delivered direct to the boats of the Goodrich Transportation Company, for instance, that was specially postmarked and canceled. The examples shown are of vessels that plied the Great Lakes and are all dated in the year of 1884; and a characteristic marking is: "Goodrich Transportation Co., Apr. 29, 1884, Steamer Corona," in postmark form, with "Corona" as the cancellation.

Attention is called by Mr. L. L. Huber, Hanover, Indiana, to the article by Third Assistant Postmaster General Glover, on the subject of the Stamp Agency, in the paper of July 13th, in which Mr. Glover is made to say that it is "most unfortunate for one who has done everything humanely possible to overcome conditions," etc. We acknowledge the corn but want to say that if the compositor is not inspired, he is not so dumb. When the "e" is knocked out of "humanely," we getting the winning combination, "humanly."

Here is a heartingly little example of international courtesy reported by Mr. Winebrenner of Oakland, Cal., that shows that we have some friends among the European nations. The clipping reads: "American mail, if first-class, occupies an exclusive position of honor in Bulgaria. Under a court order issued, every letter coming from the United States is treated as registered mail, is taken to its address by a registered mail carrier, and has to be receipted for on delivery. Letters from France, Great Britain and Germany are treated as ordinary mail unless registered."

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL
A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.
Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."
C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."
The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

Many fine items and properties are frequently sent in with a request to put them in the "NEXT SALE", but this can seldom be done for the reason that the next sale as a rule is all filled and possibly written up. Frequently the space in several sales ahead is reserved. Send in your offerings and reserve space in plenty of time to avoid delay. Space in next sale for September is taken and can only accept for it about 50 lots of rarities in fine condition. Explicit catalogs of all sales free to auction buyers on request.

THE DENTIST'S OR THE CIRCUS

A tooth-ache, several of them, a condemnation by a grave D. D. S., a glistening, white torture-chamber, devilish, gleaming, steel implements, a sweet, sickly smell,—but Hark! Where is the crowd going,—pushing, rushing,—we hear the band, several of them,—and catch glimpses of banners brave panoply, stately camels,—all going, going,—so we go, till we see a gleaming, white top with flags above,—"H. P. S.", and the crowd all around us, and,—"Now it's all fine, just rest a little", so says a white-coated Authority. Yes, we went to our own "Mammoth Circus", it was great, the thrill, the excitement, but we didn't like the "Route",—it's not recommended in Blue Book. The plain, broad highway, without dangerous curves, with a congenial, orderly crowd, all moving along in good comradeship,—it's the "DOLLAR-TWO" Highway, and it leads to the best "M. C." we've ever built. 300 CHANCES OF ADVENTURE INTO MANY FOREIGN LANDS UNDER A WHITE TENT FLOWN FOR YOU TO SUNNY BERMUDA.

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION

The Exhibition Committee at its last meeting, Wednesday, July 1st, sat for five hours and finally approved the first draft program, which will be printed and issued as soon as possible. Copies of this program will be sent to the Secretaries of all the known Philatelic Societies and Organizations, and the Committee asks their hearty co-operation and any suggestions to improve the program they may care to make. The names of the supporting Societies will be printed in the final program.

Various Sub-Committees have been at work on such matters as Rules and Regulations, Installation, Questions of Customs Entry, Passport Visas, Insurance and Judges. Reports from all these Committees have been received, and the results of their labors have been embodied in this program.

Judges from some twenty countries have been asked to act, and acceptances have been received from Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Czecho-Slovakia, Sweden and Mexico, but owing to the distances, many answers have not been received. This list will be published as soon as complete.

Some important and drastic alterations have been made in the program arising from observation and information gathered by members of the Committee on recent visits to European stamp exhibitions, and relate to the Championship Class and Rarities noted below.

No Championship Class — For many years past it has been the custom at European stamp exhibitions to have a Championship Class, and collectors had to enter in this Class every collection that had won a Gold Medal at an International Stamp Exhibition.

Since the War there have been so many International Exhibitions and so many Gold Medal collections that the number of collectors forced to enter in this Class would be enormous, thereby tending to impair the real competition in most of the other classes.

For this reason the Exhibition Committee recommended that the former Championship Class be abolished, but that twelve Palms of Honor, or Grand Gold Medals, be placed at the disposal of the Jury to award to exhibits of outstanding merit regardless of the fact that they have won medals or not at previous exhibitions.

Also any section where an award of a Gold Medal is specified, the Jury may, at its discretion, award two Gold Medals, but only one of these medals may be awarded to an exhibitor who has previously won a Gold Medal at an International Stamp Exhibition for the exhibit in question.

Rarities Class Changed—The Committee has examined the programs of the exhibitions of the past five years and, guided by the advice of men of international reputation who have acted as Judges at recent exhibitions, they have decided to have a new class in place of that for Rarities.

One reason for this innovation is the very small number of entries in this Class at recent exhibitions, and a second point of importance is that the stamps entered in this Class often prevented the exhibitor showing in other classes of more philatelic interest, as his rarities were tied up here and he was thus unable to show many interesting groups that he might otherwise exhibit.

Of late years a new class of collecting has come to the fore, that is the collecting of superb copies of early issues in exceptionally fine or specially interesting condition. Classes of these in recent European exhibitions have proved very popular, and it has been decided to form a new class in which Rarities can be shown in competition with stamps of the above description. This Class will be termed "Classic Issues before 1870," and is intended to be for stamps in unusually fine and interesting condition in singles, pairs, blocks or on cover. It has been divided into Seven Sections, and it is believed that it will prove a very popular Class.

Booths or Stalls—Space has been provided in the Exhibition for approximately forty-seven Booths or Stalls, which will be about 10 feet by 10 feet, and one or more may be rented by parties interested. The Committee believes that these booths will form convenient rest rooms and gathering centers for Stamp Clubs and Associations, as well as stamp dealers and publishers, and it is hoped that this feature may prove popular. Particulars as to rent, plans, cost, etc., may be had from the Secretary, Charles M. Ams, 101 Park Avenue, New York City.

Foreign Visitors — No difficulty in obtaining passport visas will be experienced by visitors to the exhibition living outside of the United States. Under the law they are classified as "non-immigrants."

Somewhat prior to the time of their departure, they should call at the nearest American consulate and make application for non-quota or passport visas, presenting to the consul evidence that their coming to the United States is of a temporary nature.

All exhibits valued at more than $100. must be entered through the U. S. Customs Bureau and be covered by a consular invoice certified by an American consul. By special arrangement, exhibits will be taken direct to the exhibition hall and there examined by the customs official in the presence of the committee in charge.

Want To Buy U. S. Stamps

EARLY ISSUES

Am in the market to purchase at substantial prices for cash, anything fine in the way of early covers, singles, strips and blocks — especially in mint condition. In the 1847 issue I want anything fine or unusual, either on or off cover, used or unused. I am looking for the "a" and "b" varieties, that is, the splits, the printed on the backs, the part perfs. in pairs or better and all other odd or unused pieces. Can use mint copies of the 1869 inverts.

LATE ISSUES

Would like some of the high values of the 1894 to 1898 in mint blocks, also the part perf. varieties—unused preferred. Want the 1901 inverted centers in both singles and blocks. Looking for the rarer coils of the 1902-03 series and the 10c of 1908. Would like a few singles and blocks of the 1908 blue papers, more especially the 4c and 8c. Have the money waiting for a block of the 24c invert airmail, and in the later issues want all odd part perfs., imperfs., inverts and the like.

DEPARTMENTS, DUES

My stock of these issues is unfortunately not as fine as I would like, and I would be glad to make some really important purchases including blocks and covers. Want all of the "Specimen" varieties, as well as the "Specimen" errors. My stock of due stamps has also been neglected, and I want the scarcer items in singles and blocks in mint condition.

What have you to offer? The cash is ready. No lot too small or none too large—if fine. Will buy single items, collections, duplicates or accumulations. Best of commercial, banking and philatelic references furnished.

COOK ISLANDS.—A new denomination, 4d, is about to be added to the current pictorial set, to cover the combined postage and revenue rate.—Stamp Collecting.

EGYPT.—Mr. S. B. Pengelley kindly sends us information regarding the Geographical Congress stamps, which stamps, by the way, are sold out so far as the Egyptian P. O. is concerned, many English dealers having failed to get supplies of any size. The stamps were engraved and printed at the Survey Department, the design being taken from the Commemorative Medal presented to members of the Congress. Originally a larger number of the 5m were printed than of the other values. To equalise matters a second printing was made of the 10 and 15m, which can be distinguished by the colours. The 10m of the second printing is in a slightly deeper shade, while the 15m is very much deeper. The second printing of the 10m is not so good as the first, the impression being defective, so that the date "1925" often appears very much like "1926."

The stamps were on sale against written application only, and the plates were destroyed after the second printing. They were available for franking letters during April, and stocks on hand after April 30th were to have been destroyed.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

HONG-KONG.—The $5 with Script wmk. is expected to be issued during the present month, but in view of the ample supplies of the $10 on hand, this value with Script wmk. is not expected to appear for another eighteen months or two years. Mr. Wm. Sayers is our kind informant. —Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

MALTA.—Mr. A. O. Tittman writing to us from London under date of June 27th last gives the following interesting information:

"The 1 pound Malta issued in 1922 became obsolete some time this spring. A new supply of this denomination was then ordered from London, which was placed on sale on May 14th. It varies from the first printing in shade and in the position of the watermark, which is upright instead of sideways as in the original printing. I am just in receipt of a letter from the American Consul at Malta, advising that this second printing is also exhausted. As the first issue consisted of 6,000 and lasted three years, the second issue must have been much smaller, considering that it lasted only a month. The type-set postage dues are still obtainable and enough of them seem to have been printed to go around."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

(Under this heading, opinions and observations submitted by readers may be printed, but the WEEKLY assumes no responsibility for the utterances of the correspondents whose letters are given space.)

—Mr. Frank H. Oliver, long and favorably known in connection with the London stamp trade, has acquired all rights in the firm of Bright & Son. Mr. Oliver has been connected with the firm for 32 years and the WEEKLY heartily congratulates him upon his evident business prosperity.

—Our former advertiser, F. W. Reid, now in Honolulu, Hawaii, enters our columns again this week. He writes "We all have to come back to the WEEKLY when we want action, so here am I again." The advertisement in question is recommended to the favorable consideration of our readers. Mr. Reid asks us to announce that U. S. domestic postage, parcel post and money order rates prevail in serving Hawaii from the United States.

—Will someone please send us the name of the state and city in which Durand Rotzell, 4236 Lyndale Ave., resides. We have a letter which does not indicate the desired facts.

—A novelty is at hand from Robin Lampson of Fresno, Calif. It is a first day cover from a new post-office "Figarden, Calif." Upon the envelope is an inscription by Mr. Lampson "First day cover, new post-office. No cancelling stamp available." An ordinary 2c stamped envelope was used and cancelled in ink. "July 16, 1925."

—We have already chronicled in the WEEKLY the air mail service connecting Des Moines, Iowa, with the U. S. Transcontinental Mail Service. The first official flight was July 1, both east and west, and for this historic event a special marking was used, in an oblong rectangular frame. Major Joseph A. Steinmetz has shown us a marking of the East-bound flight which was used in connection with the first Sacramento mail. This is shown by the Sacramento July 1, date and the Des Moines receiving date of July 2.

—L. A. Cooper, of Auburn, Maine, and Henry A. Kidder, former editor of our Chronicle department, of Arlington, Mass., were recent callers at our Portland office.

—The Board of Governors of the United Stamp Societies has appointed Mr. J. Weer Chew, of Merchantville, N. J., General Sales Manager for the year ending May 30, 1926. Mr. Chew has occupied this position for the past two years and his experience qualifies him to fill the place efficiently. Local Sales Managers who wish to receive or sell from Circuit Books should get in touch with Mr. Chew and learn of the United Stamp Societies' advantages. The following appointments to the Recruiting Committee have also been made, and any of its members will be pleased to answer inquiries: Mr. Frank L. Coes, Chairman, Worcester, Mass.; Mr. H. C. Christenson, Hackensack, N. J.; Mr. Charles W. A. Braun, Brooklyn, N. Y.

—Several of our subscribers have called our attention to an article which appeared in Liberty Magazine for July 11th, in which reference is made to the fact that Charles Darwin "was a collector of birds' eggs, stamps and coins, shells and minerals". One is tempted to ask the question as to what stamps were current in Mr. Darwin's boyhood days about 1809.

CENTURY STAMP CO.
258 Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal, Canada
Established 1900 [

$2 SHANGHAI ON $1 U. S.

James Willey, Jr., of 156 Palm Ave., San Francisco (15 years), and member of San Francisco troop of Sea Scouts bought a $2 Shanghai on $1 U. S., with others, from a Chinese merchant in "Chinatown," San Francisco, at the rate of a cent each. He placed the stamp in his collection last December, but a few days ago he noticed the double cancellation and began inquiring and investigating. He then took the stamp to the Oro Stamp Co., and sold it for $100. A very good 1c investment. The following is taken from Bulletin No. 10 of the San Francisco Stamp Society:—

"Look in Scott's Catalogue at United States No. 3297a, and you will find that this item is the Shanghai surcharge on $1 U. S. with double surcharge. It is priced at $125 unused, and no price is mentioned for used copies. This may be that the catalogue publishers do not think this stamp to exist used, or that they are unable to place a definite value on it. However, there is no one will doubt that this is a scarce stamp and a rarity. Our good member, Mr. DeSelms, of the Oro Stamp Co., has recently come into possession of a beautiful cancelled copy of this stamp, as you will note from his advertisement this issue. We congratulate Mr. DeSelms on his acquisition, and wonder who will be the next among us to run across another rarity in San Francisco."

1c CANAL ZONE INVERT

Emil J. Rahl, of Ancon, C. Z., recently advised our readers of the appearance of the 1c Canal Zone on U. S. with surcharge inverted. He now sends us the following clipping, taken from the Star and Herald—

CHRISTOBAL, July 7.—A short time ago the Star and Herald carried a story telling about an issue of one cent stamps that was received at the local post office with the printed surcharge inverted. Only 53 of the stamps were sold before the error was discovered. Of the 47 left Joseph Coffin, chief clerk of the port Captain's office, secured 43.

The Star and Herald story traveled far and wide and since then Mr. Coffin has received letters from all parts of the world inquiring about the stamps.

Only last Sunday he received three letters concerning the rare stamps. One came from Havana, the second from San Diego and the third from Honolulu. The letter from Havana was signed by Morrill B. Spaulding and the writer inclosed a check for $100 for two of the stamps, which is the price placed on them by Mr. Coffin.

"The story that appeared in the Star and Herald," Mr. Coffin said, "has been quoted all over the world and I have been kept busy replying to stamp collectors who want to add the Canal Zone stamps to their collections."

THE NORTH POLE AIR MAIL

J. E. Talcott of Cleveland, Ohio, informs us that he has received one of the Amundsen "Kings Bay" post cards. We quote from his letter:—

"As the original announcement and advertisement stated that these cards would be carried across the Pole, I believe the purchasers of them are entitled to know if they were carried as far as the expedition went, and were then brought back to Kings Bay, or if they were merely carried from Oslo to Kings Bay and then mailed."

The question raised by Mr. Talcott is an interesting one. Whether this mail traveled with Amundsen to within 160 miles of the North Pole and was then mailed upon the return to Kings Bay, can only be decided by Capt. Amundsen or one of his flying companions.

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB.

Merrill de Maris, New York City.
R. D. Libbey, Bingham, Maine.
Maj. C. H. Bonesteel, Plattsburg, N. Y.

Our first application for membership this week, is from Mr. Merrill de Maris, 110 W. 40th St., New York City. We thank him for his remittance of $5.00 for a five years renewal of subscription and enter him as a member of the Honor Club.

Mr. R. D. Libbey, of Bingham, Maine, using one of our regular renewal slips, makes his remittance of $5.00 for membership in our Honor Club. He does this in a very informal manner, as if it were a common thing for him to make 5-year renewal subscriptions. Are we vain in feeling that the WEEKLY is particularly honored in this direction?

We are pleased to add the name of Maj. C. H. Bonesteel, 39 Broad St., Plattsburg, N. Y., to our Honor Club. Maj. Bonesteel was at Fort Benning, but has recently been transferred to Plattsburg. He writes that he desires "to avoid any such calamity" as the non-receipt of the WEEKLY.

Stamps on these sheets are in fair to very fair condition—as neat and clean on back as on face—neatly mounted, and make an enticing appearance. I am positive that thousands of collectors would buy from these sheets once they had perused them for we are still all mortals and willing to close an eye to some slight defect—we do it in all things, why, then, should an otherwise good and innocent stamp be made the sole victim of a discriminative and nefarious ruling? Get these sheets and enjoy "sane" collecting. References.

NEW PORTUGAL PROVISIONALS

G. H. Jopling of the Jopling firm, Newport, England, sends us a sample copy of some provisionals recently issued by Portugal, by surcharging certain Portuguese colonial stamps. We quote from Mr. Jopling's letter as follows:—

"The remainders of the 1902 provisionals of some of the Portuguese colonies have all been surcharged, as shown on the enclosed stamp, with "Republica" and the new value 40c, the old value, 400 reis, in each case being obliterated by 4 horizontal lines. The numbers surcharged in some cases are very small, as shown below.

There are eleven values.

THE AMUNDSEN POSTAL CARDS

Due reference has been made in past issues of the WEEKLY to the North Pole mailing cards issued to help finance the Amundsen Polar Flight Expedition. The cards are now being returned, and we are indebted to Alexander Richards of Springfield, Mass., for a letter from which we quote liberally.

From Major Joseph A. Steinmetz of Phila., Pa., we have received a specimen card showing the markings and by it we are able to confirm the date which is questioned by Mr. Richards. The postmark reading very plainly "Kings Bay 18 VI '25". It is estimated that 16,000 post cards were taken by Amundsen on his trip North, and it will be interesting to know how many of them are returned to the senders.

The Steinmetz card was mailed from Cheyenne, Wyo., by air mail in January, 1924, and travelled across the continent as indicated by the regulation air mail cancellation that the card bears.

We quote from Mr. Richards' letter as follows:—

"No doubt letters have commenced to arrive at your office from those of your readers who were fortunate in mailing, and now in receiving, the Amundsen North Pole Mailing Cards advising you that the precious cards had returned again to their starting points.

Since I deposited mine in the Post Office here March 22, 1924, it has acquired two additional stamps—a 5 ore purple Norwegian of the regular issue and one of the much talked about special stamps—25 ore vermilion, showing a white polar bear on an ice floe surmounting some conventional waves, gazing up at an aeroplane. The two stamps are tied to the card by a circular black cancellation dated 'King's Bay,' either '18.V.1925' or '18.VI.1925.'

The two new additional stamps have been affixed to the card so that they almost entirely cover up the cut in green of the map of the polar regions. I could have wished they had attached the new stamps in some other spot on the card.

The card started on its long, historical trip bearing a two cent black Harding — this adds still more to the 'uniqueness' of the card."

Washington Philatelic News

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

3c Rotary Print Perf. 10

By the time these notes appear in print, it is expected that the 3c purple, rotary print, perf. 10, will be available, for it is understood that this variety is now ready and will be issued shortly after August 1st. The stamp as usual is printed from four hundred subject plates, which are in turn divided into post office sheets of one hundred with margins all around. The stamp is on unwatermarked paper. So far, the following denominations have appeared perforated 10 all around, printed on the rotary press: 1c, 1½c, 2c, 4c, 5c, 6c and 10c. The Bureau is making headway on the other denominations through the 12c and these may be expected before the Fall.

North Pole Mail

The Economist Stamp Company, Scott Stamp & Coin Co., Mr. P. J. Kranz and others have recently shown me copies of the small postal card back from the "North Pole."

It will be recalled that some months back extensive notices appeared in the daily as well as philatelic press of the proposed flight of Amundsen across the pole, at which time he helped to finance his flight by means of small postals which in turn were mailed to Norway—thence carried by him to the pole. While the trip was not successful, the cards are supposed to have been carried as far as he went and they are now reaching this country, showing special Norwegian stamps canceled, "King's Bay, June 18 1924." These will prove interesting souvenirs and will add a page of interest to any collection.

Norse-American Inverts

My attention has been called to the fact that the Newark News of May 19th made mention of the fact that the 5c Norse-American series had been located with a ship upside down. We imagine they must have referred to a stamp stuck on the cover in an inverted condition, for while there have been several rumors, we have as yet to learn of the finding of a single invert in either the 2c or 5c of this series.

The Post Office was unusually careful in the issuing of these varieties, and not only the Bureau checked them up, very carefully, but the Post Office had their own representative on the ground to see that no inverts got out. With all of these precautions taken, it would indeed be surprising if any of the stamps are located with the center inverted.

Mention of such an invert is made in the publication of one who also advertised the Harding part perf., but if his inverts are no better than his home made part perfs., we have little to worry about.

Air Mail News

Under date of July 15th, the Third Assistant Postmaster General sent out to various postmasters copies of advertisements and blank forms for the purpose of inviting bids for the operation of eight contract air mail service routes as follows:

Boston, Mass., by Hartford, Conn., to New York, N. Y., and return.

Chicago, Ill., by Indianapolis, Ind., Louisville, Ky., and Nashville, Tenn., to Birmingham, Ala., and return.

Chicago, Ill., by LaCrosse, Wis., to St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., and return.

Chicago, Ill., by Moline, Ill., St. Joseph and Kansas City, Mo., Wichita, Kans., and Oklahoma City, Okla., to Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex., and return.

Chicago, Ill., by Springfield, Ill., to St. Louis, Mo., and return.

Elko, Nev., by Boise, Idaho, to Pasco, Wash., and return.

Salt Lake City, Utah, by Las Vegas, Nev., to Los Angeles, Calif., and return.

Seattle, Wash., by Portland and Medford, Oreg., Sacramento, San Francisco, Fresno, and Bakersfield, Calif., to Los Angeles, Calif., and return.

Additional routes will be advertised as fast as petitions are received and the feasibility of such additional routes decided upon.

Mr. E. J. Newcomer sends a clipping regarding the Pasco route, and it seems that newspapers in Washington State are giving quite a little attention to this subject.

Under date of July 18th, the Postmaster General sent out a notice effective July 20th, wherein the over night air mail service schedule between New York and Chicago was changed to leave Chicago one hour earlier or at 7.30 P. M. The Information Service of the Department is sending out copies of quite a few congratulatory letters received from users of not only this over night air mail service but also the transcontinental service as well.

I have recently seen copies of the first day flight covers of the New York-Chicago over night trip actually mailed on the field, and these show cancellations reading "Air Mail Field" together with the names of the towns—New York, Bellefonte, Cleveland, Bryan and Chicago.

Provisional Envelopes

Since our last note appeared regarding Provisional envelopes, quite a few new varieties have been noted through the kindness of Messrs. H. W. Porter, R. H. Mason, H. Clay Reed and others. Up to July 25th, the Department has sent out thirty-two dies for overprinting the 1c envelopes with the new value of 1½c, these dies having been delivered successively to thirty-six offices, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis, each

Treasury Experts Seek Way

To Make $1 Bill Last Longer

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP).—Money experts from all parts of the United States were called into conference to-day at the Treasury to the question how to make the dollar bill last longer. Assistant Secretary Dewey explained that the dollar bill now averaged a life of seven months, and that more than a million such bills were printed last year, at a cost of 1 7-10 cents each.

having received two dies.

As recently explained, there are two types of overprint, namely the solid figures as produced by the dies used on the "International Flyer" cancelling machine and the double line figures as used on the "Universal Model D" machines.

Single Line Figures

Die D on white, size 13, Wmk. 24, L.B.Window

Double Line Figures

Die A on white, size 13, Wmk. 19, H. B.

In the above list we find three varieties that are not known unsurcharged, namely the Die C on white, size 5, with the new 27 watermark on extra quality paper, the Die D, size 5, Wmk. 25, L. B. on blue and the Die D on white, size 5, window, with the old 19 watermark. This envelope by the way is the first Die D variety that we have located with this watermark.

In my recent Chronicle, the Die A on white, size 5, Wmk. 24, L. B., should have been described as Die D, as we have not as yet seen the variety in Die A.

An unusual amount of interest is being shown in these new Provisional envelopes and it is hoped that our readers as they locate unchronicled varieties will keep us informed—better still, send us a copy of the envelope, so that it may be inspected before being chronicled.

Canal Zone

Mr. R. S. Carter shows us early copies of the 3c and 14c U. S. stamps overprinted "Canal Zone," which were placed on sale July 1st. Those that we have seen of the 3c denomination have been from plate 16474, while the 14c have been from pates 14514-15.

A letter from Mr. Joseph E. Helfrich comes as a great surprise, for he states that he has just located blocks of both denominations, wherein the surcharge reads "Zone Zone." He bought these as the normal stamp and there is no doubt that the error if it occurs, occurs on all sheets. We have not as yet been able to check up an entire sheet and cannot tell definitely its location.

New Third Assistant Postmaster General

Under date of July 20th the President appointed Mr. Robert S. Regar, at present chief clerk of the Post Office Department, as Third Assistant Postmaster General, effective August 1st. Mr. Regar succeeds Mr. W. Irving Glover, who will become the Second Assistant Postmaster General on this same day.

Mr. Regar's selection by the President is in recognition of his faithful and meritorious service, having first been appointed in the Philadelphia post office as a stenographer and typewriter on April 20, 1909, after a competitive examination at a salary of $900 per annum. He passed through every clerical grade in the Department until on June 1, 1918, he was appointed Chief Clerk of the Post Office at a salary of $2,000 a year. On May 1, 1923, he was made Chief Clerk of the Department.

Mr. Regar was born at Swartzville, Lancaster County, Pa., on January 15, 1882.

JOHNSON JAILED

Information reaches us that Martin Johnson, 809 Montrose Avenue, Chicago, has finally run afoul of the authorities, who report his arrest. Johnson, who originally was Axel Johansen, it is said, has used a long string of aliases, under cover of which he has worked havoc among the stamp dealers. Through the activities of Inspectors Alberti and Miller, we believe that we are right in saying, the wings of this bird have been clipped. The different agencies that were instrumental in securing action by the postal authorities are unlikely to allow the case against Johnson to go by default, it need not be said.

PHILATELISTS IN PARLIAMENT

Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Conservative M. P. for the Hendon Division of Middlesex, is one of the few prominent members of the Lower House who count philately among their recreations. He was better known as Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame, but changed his name under the terms of a will in which he inherited, in 1924, a considerable fortune through his wife's mother. He has held office as President of the Board of Trade.

W. G. Ormsby-Gore, Esq., M. P. (Conservative) for Stafford, is another active collector, who has rendered service to Philately in his official capacity as Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, in helping to check the output of unnecessary issues. He spoke of his philatelic experiences at the official banquet of the London International Stamp Exhibition in 1923.

Victor A. Cazalet, Esq., M. P., for the Chippenham Division of Wiltshire, whose entry into Parliament dates from the last general election, was the winner of the Junior Championship at the London International Stamp Exhibition of 1912.

In the Upper House the list of philatelists includes the Duke of Argyll, and the Earl of Birkenhead.—Stamp Collectors Fortnightly.

A WESTERN TRIP

The managing editor is planning a western trip, and as is his custom, will be pleased to lend a helping hand to local, philately, wherever desired. He deeply regrets that he could not arrange his itinerary so as to attend the A. P. S. convention at Los Angeles, but Mr. Severn will have the honor and pleasure of there representing the WEEKLY. Mr. Wylie will be glad to meet with local stamp folk on dates and places approximately as follows:—

UNITED STATES "EDUCATORS"

For those who are not certain of their classifications of 19th Century U. S. stamps (and that means nine collectors out of every ten) we have made up this series of packets and approval booklets, in which every stamp has its correct catalog number.

Packet A.—30 varieties of U. S. postage only, all classified, including every issue from 1851 to 1890 inclusive, only $2.00

Packet B.—20 varieties of the hard-to-place Bank Note issues each one numbered according to Scott's catalog, 1871 to 1890 .....$1.00

"Educator" Approvals contain almost all regularly issued stamps of the United States from 1847 to 1900. No stamp priced more than $5, most of them at big discounts from catalog prices. Sent only against references or deposit. [H

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERTON, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

Hello, Forum Folks, perhaps you want to hear some more about that "Find" mentioned last week. I always like to read about "finds" in old stamps, old coins, pearls, nuggets, old chests of gold and diamonds, etc., don't you?

This collection (?) was mounted in some twenty books of large calibre, there would be a row of 3c 1857s, then a row of 10c 1890s, then a row of 2c 1883s, etc., etc., the "system" apparently being to grab every stamp in sight, a system still in vogue, and not a bad one.

The only real odd cancel that I had never seen before was the "butterfly" on a 3c 1861. It looked much like a curious blob of lacy ink at first glance, then the picture assumed a bit more detail, the lacy wings and the head and body of the "fly" standing out clearly. It, with the eagle, were the best of all.

Now a word about condition. There were probably some 50,000 stamps in this lot. For the benefit of the readers I will give a few facts on this subject. Take the 4c greens of 1883, Scott No. 211, there were exactly 207 copies. From this lot there were 14 copies suitable to "pass" the eye of a fair minded condition crank, meaning that they were very decent in all ways, lightly cancelled, perfs all there, well centered, and pretty looking. This, you see, is about 7% of the find as regards 4c greens. On 3c 1869s the percentage is far smaller. On 3c 1861s it would run about 10% or possibly higher. On 2c black Jacksons there were not many, and about two of forty were passably fine, or 5%. Condition is a tough old bird to beat. Often a pretty copy would appear, only to find a straight edge under the adjoining stamp, or a few perfs absent, or a tiny tear, etc., etc.

Here is something that has made quite an impression on me, about every 10,000 stamps of our more recent issues show one stamp with excessively wide margins on all four edges. These are very rare, and I know of but one man who saves them, tho an occasional copy is sent the Forum. On three sides they are common enough; but to get that fourth side, that is very unusual, and I recommend that you save them, for example, the common 2c red of 1890 seldom shows more than two wide margins, and I have yet to see a copy with four wide margins. It is very interesting to pick these out, and takes no time at all, as do cracked plates, and minor varieties.

That 1c of 1887 is a stamp that everyone lets go by as a common affair. I do not know of a collector who enthuses over it, they all class it along with the 2c green of the same period, as just a stamp, and of small interest. Yet to get a magnificent copy is a task in itself. The Specialized Catalog names a bright ultramarine as a shade, with the same Cat. value and the next lot you find, I'd advise that you pick yourself out one of the bright copies, as they turned up about 1 in 20 in this lot. It is also interesting to know that when you see advertised "Complete set of cardboard proofs of U.S. postage stamps" (there are some 211 in the set) this stamp is missing as a rule.

The cancellations in this find ran heavy in the letters and numerals in the ellipses as they generally do in later U.S. stamps. On 3c greens, of which there are a great many, I noted very few torn postmarks, the big cities contributed practically all of these, and small towns on later issues, from 1870 on, are not very common. When I find covers too, the stamp is seldom hit by the town, usually the obliterator hits the stamp. When the stamps are in pairs or strips, the copy, or copies toward the left sometimes get the pmk., a custom now made use of by collectors of recent stamps, as the Hardings. You will often see mail from collectors come in with the stamp set far back from the right edge of the envelope, hoping that the pmk. will fall on it as it passes thro the mailing machine, and some very good guesses are made by folks who are after the pmk. on the stamp. They look a lot better than the common wavy or straight lines of our flag type of obliterators on a stamp off the cover.

One sad thing about this find was the lack of supplementary mail pmks., not a one found. No railroad markings at all, either. Better save them when you find them. This lot was quite disappointing from the cancellation standpoint, and you have the results of perfect copies.

Quoting from the letter of Mr. C. E. Roe re "Nixies",—"Some years ago I ran a small Postoffice in Arizona, named Huron. I used to get a large number of letters addressed to Mexicans which I could not deliver, as there were only four in camp, and had to send them to the Dead Letter Division. After a little Sherlocking I found out that they were intended for Jerome, pronounced Yerone by most of the Mexicans, and spelled Yuron, Lluron, Huron, and many other ways. Capital Y and the Spanish double L are easily mistaken for an H, so it was no wonder that Huron got them all. I used to have a lovely time with the postmaster at Jerome convincing him that Huron wasn't Huron, but Jerome; and some of those travelled back and forth several times.

The prize address was Lluron Llontso, which was intended for Jerome Junction. If you give the words their Spanish-American pronunciation you will see that this is so.

Once while living in Duluth, Minnesota, which rejoices in the somewhat bombastic nickname of "The Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas", a friend of mine received a letter addressed to "Zenita, Wis." He was working at the Zenith Furnace Co., and the letter came right along with no delay.

Mr. C. W. Derby has sent in a very finely struck Masonic cancellation made from a cork of rather small size, the square and compass being cleanly cut out, and a small dot in the center indicates the initial presumably. This is on a 3c green Continental, and at a guess, I should say it is the same type as was used in Nashua, N. H., along in 1868 and later. Another 3c Cont'l has what seems a four leaf clover. Both above are struck in black.

EDITORIAL.

It is evident that unused narcotic stamps of any issue are under the ban as a government officer who saw such stamps listed in the auction catalogue of a stamp dealer ordered him to withdraw such stamps from sale. It was not definitely declared just what the policy of the authorities was on the question or whether seizure would be resorted to by the government. In all probability the publishers of catalogues and pricelists will take steps to withdraw prices on these stamps in unused condition.

In a budget of news from Mr. William L. Wilcox, Dunedin, New Zealand, we find the following particulars: "The 8d George official, brown, and 2d George, official, New Zealand, have been recalled and will not be re-issued as there is no use for these values. Instead, the George 4d purple and 9d olive green have been surcharged, Official. The 9d is to pay for the minimum rate on telegrams, mainly. The current one penny has been tried out in several papers of late: 1. A thick white paper. 2. A thin oily paper. 3. Stamps all printed with watermark sideways and so leaving some varieties with no watermark. This No. 3 paper is scarce." Speaking of impending issues, Mr. Wilcox says: "The current penny stamp may be changed at any time now and the new two shillings, upwards, are in active preparation. The authorities are to issue a small set of stamps, probably ½d, 1d and 4d of special design in honour of the great exhibition to be opened in November and I shall advise you later of the exact designs." The exhibition spoken of is a huge undertaking for a relatively small dominion, such as New Zealand, but for two years, building for it has been progressing; and it covers sixty acres of ground. Mr. Wilcox says: "I see that Canada has voted $30,000 towards their court and it seems a pity that the great U. S. A. has not done likewise as we are big customers of your republic."

While comparatively few members have announced that they will be present at the annual convention of the American Philatelic Society at Los Angeles, yet it is likely that the attendance of delegates from a distance will be a representative one. It is evident that some weighty question will be discussed on the floor and the momentous report, that of the committee on the new by-laws, will be forthcoming, we learn to our satisfaction. From indications, it is apparent that more time than ever before will be given to the deliberations of the society but that is not saying that the social diversions will not have attention.

It is interesting to find that an unconsidered trifle will strike a responsive chord, especially when it brings to mind the younger days of some of our adult readers. Mr. R. G. Erskine, Detroit, has something to say in consequence of a little observation that was made here: "Your reference to the books of Castlemon, Alger and Optic was like a refreshing breeze on a hot day and it took me back to the golden days, when boys were boys. I think that you must be mistaken in saying that there were no allusions to stamp collecting in the works of these prolific and pre-eminent writers! My recollection is that the books were not as barren in this regard as you say. Indeed, it would be odd if philately was wholly ignored in the books under notice." It is a toss-up whether Mr. Erskine or we are right as all the surmises are based on memory, sometimes a faithless jade. We read probably every book up to a certain year that was among the fruits of authorship of the dauntless trio, not mentioning Trowbridge, Ellis and others of hallowed memory, but we believe that stamp collecting did not enter upon the writers' scheme of things. The fact remains that the attention that stamp collecting received in a general way up to 1890 or so was very scant and in this respect we are much better off than before.

Mr. E. J. Weschcke of St. Paul, Minn., has written to call attention to the wave of speculation that is engulfing young or inexperienced collectors throughout the U. S. and Canada, arising from the ease with which stamps may be had at face from the agencies at Washington and Ottawa. This is an idea that has not entered into calculations and may be worth some attention, inasmuch as Mr. Weschcke says that his opinion is based on first-hand observations gained through a recent trip in this country and Canada. He thinks that these young speculators for a rise are riding rather hard and may come a cropper. He says that for some time the Columbians suffered in price because of over-speculation and that not a few collectors who bought heavily of them, in the hope of selling at higher prices, finally unloaded, in some cases below face. Still, to-day, Columbians are in good demand and prices have been creeping up but it is over thirty years ago that they were issued.

Mention was made of the exhibition at the Collectors Club on May 20, 1925, by Mr. Robert Levis who exhibited his wonderful collection of war issues of New Guinea and New Britain, but a correspondent later informed us that Mr. Levis pointed out to Mr. John N. Luff more than one hundred varieties in his collection that were not listed in the catalogue. It is worth the ambition of the specialist to have a complete record of the issue of a country when a sudden change makes history at a rapid rate; and no doubt Mr. Levis' services will be rewarded by the recognition that his discoveries will receive in the catalogue, many valuable notes having been taken by those who were particularly interested in the collection.

Information comes that an exhibit of stamps contributed by a number of collectors of New Brunswick, New Jersey, has been stolen from the public library in that city by one of "the meanest thieves." While the value of the stamps that were taken is considerable, no doubt, yet the theft of this kind is a singularly contemptible one. If the culprit is not a collector, he will have to dispose of his booty for practically nothing and if he is a collector, he sullies his pursuit in the blackest manner. It is hoped that the thief in this instance will be apprehended but in the warning at hand, there is no description of the stamps that were stolen.

A reader in Minneapolis sends a clipping from a local newspaper showing an envelope bearing the current two cent stamp about as big as life but the flaunting of the law is done so innocently in this case that probably the only punishment that will follow it is a reprimand to stick to the straight and narrow path, hereafter. It is true that in the aggregate there are a good many violations of this kind committed in the course of a year and it is a satisfaction to know that the authorities use good judgment in handling cases of the kind. While printers and engravers know as a rule that our "postal certificates" may not be shown in their entirety, many of the publishers do not and so have no qualms about reproducing a stamp. Some of them may never be called to time and where ignorance is bliss, it is not necessary to be wise.

Mr. Hugh M. Clark, manager of the Scott Stamp and Coin Co., New York, passed through Chicago on his way, by leisurely stages, to the convention at Los Angeles. Mr. Clark descants glowingly on the great exhibition next year and properly thinks that its influence will be such as to permanently place philately before the public as a rational and reasonable pursuit. Much progress has been made in the planning for the exhibition and it is particularly desired to have those who feel inclined to exhibit their stamps to act on the impulse. It is doubtful if an appreciation of the magnitude of the exhibition prevails among collectors generally, but it is safe to say that as the date of the occasion comes within striking distance, there will not be a philatelic outpost in this country that does not know of the philatelic undertaking of the century.

but couldn't, as the public was sceptical. We cannot make you this offer, but we are offering PORTUGUESE AND COLONIAL STAMPS (our speciality) AT PRICES MUCH BELOW THEIR REAL VALUE.

From our correspondence, we find that several collectors are sceptical because of our low prices, but after a trial they want to see further selections. We call the attention of collectors to the fact that our stock is very comprehensive and the stamps are in excellent condition, but we are able to sell at such large discounts owing to our being over stocked in certain lines, hence the present prices may not remain long in effect. For several items which we were offering some time ago at ONE-FIFTH CATALOGUE we are now charging one-third, so now is the time to buy.

S. P. A. CONVENTION AT BALTIMORE

Plans for the annual convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans which will be held in Baltimore, Md., August 10, 11 and 12, promise a lively and successful meeting. Headquarters will be at the Southern Hotel. The convention plans include a business session each day, with a bourse one night, an auction another and a banquet August 12, the closing night of the meeting.

For the auction there are promised a number of interesting items, including a Baltimore Buchanan, most appropriate to the city in which the delegates will gather. For the social side of the meeting there will be a trip to a bay-side resort one day, and a bus ride through the city and suburbs another, with possibly other diversions.

The arrangements, etc., have been taken in charge by The Philatelic Section of the Maryland Academy of Sciences and members of the Section are on all the committees. Washington (D.C.) stamp collectors are also co-operating in making the convention a success. The committee in charge would like all collectors to take an interest in the convention even if not members of the Society of Philatelic Americans, and collectors who would like to attend may get particulars from H. H. Schnick, General Chairman, 340 N. Charles street, Baltimore, Md. —C. Lat. Wilhelm.

A REAL AIR COVER

Maj. Joseph A. Steinmetz of Phila., Pa., has sent us a very interesting air-mail cover. We preface our chronicle of it with a quotation from his letter.

"For your inspection I enclose a real air-mail cover. The U. S. Post-office Department announced officially in May that a combination mail service would be inaugurated June 1, with Venezuela. U. S. mail was received for the first trip to leave New York June 1, by steamer to La Guaira, and if prepaid by Venezuela stamps, would be quickly delivered to an airplane to traverse the regular air route directly to Bogota. Thus a saving in time of ten days to two weeks would be made over ordinary ship and rail mail."

The cover shown by Maj. Steinmetz shows the stamps used. Besides the U. S. postage, which in this case is a 6c orange air-mail stamp, there are also three values of Colombian air-mail stamps, 5, 10 and 15 centavos. These last three stamps are given a regular air-mail cancellation. Covers coming the reverse of this route from Venezuela by air-mail, are also at hand.

MORE CAMEROUNS PROVISIONALS

By Wm. M. McFarlan.

A couple of months ago I sent some of the 25c provisional stamps to the Camerouns to be used on cover to me in combination with others of the current set of that country and today I have received the covers in fine condition, but only the first set of 25c provisionals and my correspondent stated at the time of writing that he was not sure whether the provisionals 25c on 2 Fr and 25c on 5 Fr will go thru. The French P. O. is not responsible for losses out here, and these stamps are quite scarce in the colony, even though you may see them quite often in the states uncancelled (direct from Paris).

The 65 on 45 and 85 on 75, also the 25 on 15, have been promised for the colony but a postal official tells my correspondent that they have not arrived as yet, so he states it is a rather awkward situation to use stamps thru the mails of a country that does not have them on sale yet to the public.

DEATH OF HENRIK DEHLOFF

We deeply regret to have to record the demise of a well known Norwegian philatelist, Mr. Henrik Dethloff, who passed away in Oslo on June 17th, at the age of fifty-eight. He had been ill for many months, and, although he had managed pluckily to carry through his many duties in connextion with the Christiania Philatelic Exhibition last September, he had to take to his bed immediately afterwards. Heart failure was the cause of his death. The Editor of the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly, who knew him intimately, says that Henrik Dethloff was the most experienced philatelist in Norway. Although stamp dealing was a side-business, and he was the best known dealer in Oslo, he was much more of the student and stamp lover than dealer. He did much to encourage promising young philatelists to specialize in Norwegian stamps, and he was co-author with Dr. Justus Anderssen of the important standard work on Norwegian stamps. He was persona grata with the postal authorities, as a student of and authority on Norwegian stamps, and was admitted to the examination of the archives, and secured the official assistance in and recognition of the great work "Norges Frimœrker."

It is a cruel irony of fate that this gentle soul should be borne away just as the announcement is made that, as stated elsewhere, he has been awarded the Crawford Medal for the present year.—Stamp Collecting.

NEW U. S. PROVISIONAL ENVELOPES

1½c ON 1c GREEN

Collectors are having a merry time in getting together the new Provisional 1½c on 1c green envelopes, which are being overprinted, so that they might be used for circular letters in accordance with the Postal Act which went into effect on April 15th last. Some of the varieties are bound to be scarce as was the case with previous Provisional envelopes, and the time to obtain them is when they are new, and when no one knows which are going to be rare and which common.

For the cut square collector, I can furnish the solid letter type on white in Die A. C and D and on blue in Die A. C and D; also, the double line type in Die A on white, making seven varieties in all. Each of these are a different die on different paper, and the seven will be mailed entire, flat, in unused condition, at 75c.

For the collector of entire envelopes, I will furnish fifteen varieties including the above, as well as the window type, the H. B. and the L. B. in different sizes..$1.50
25 varieties—all different $2.50

If you want these when and as issued at 10c each, please advise me and I will place you upon my list to receive the new ones as fast as they are issued.

If there are any errors or odd varieties, I am likely to run across them, for I am in correspondence with numerous postal clerks at the many offices overprinting these envelopes. Errors will be furnished at reasonable prices.

ITALY.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 20c stamp with the head to the left, in orange shade and the special delivery stamp in a 70c value, of rose color and type of SD 1. Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 25c blue of the 1906-8 issue has been overprinted "Cent.20" in one line in black. Also the 15c gray of the type of A48 has been surcharged "Dieci" in black. The 10c brown and 30c blue pneumatic post issues have been overprinted "Cent 20" and "Cent 40" respectively in black also.

SARAWAK.—Our Special Correspondent at Singapore, Dr. Tan Bin Chiang, favours us with the following notes on the second printing of the Sarawak 1923 provisionals (his former notes dealt with the first printing only):—

1. The second printing must be regarded as an official reprint specially made to execute orders from dealers in England. These stamps have never been sold by any post office in Sarawak, and postally used copies with the February, 1923, postmark are practically unknown.

2. This printing is from an entirely different setting, and can be distinguished from the first printing by the following:

1. Single Copies.—The bars cancelling the original value are closer together.

2. In sheets.—(a) 1c on 10c. The "CNET" error is corrected in the second printing, but in the majority of sheets the word "CENT" is erased, and an official forgery of the "CNET" error substituted. (b) 2s on 12c. The thick narrow "w" in "TWO," which is found in the last two horizontal rows of the first printing, is seen in the last two vertical rows of the second printing, so that there are twenty stamps in this variety in the second printing instead of twelve in the original printing.—Stamp Collecting.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS.

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

STAMP SPECIALIST HONORED

The first time in the United States that philately—the science of collecting, investigating, appraising and describing postage stamps—has been recognized by a high educational institution was marked by the conferring, in June, 1925, of the Degree of Doctor of Business Administration at Syracuse University on Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood, New Jersey. "Philatelist" is cited in the specifications of the Degree as delivered by University Chancellor Charles W. Flint.

Mr. Pack is a well known philatelist, author and public educator in forestry and economics. He has established in several universities, where forestry is taught, permanent endowments providing for prizes to be given students who prepare the best essay on forestry from the public viewpoint, the object being public support of a National Forestry Policy in the United States. He recently gave to the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University the Charles Lathrop Pack Demonstration Forest of 1000 acres at Cranberry Lake in the Adirondacks.

Mr. Pack is president of the American Tree Association, as well as president of the American Nature Association of Washington, D. C., editors of Nature Magazine. He is one of the board that, under the Chairmanship of Owen D. Young, is founding the Water Hines Page Memorial Graduate School of International Relations at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. He was president of the National War Garden Commission, the power behind that increased our home food supplies so greatly during the War, and head of the American Forestry Association, the National Conservation Congress and the World Court League. He has for several years sent millions of western American tree seeds to Europe. The seeds of Douglas Fir and Sitka Spruce have been used for reforestation in England, France and Italy, and their success has elicited favorable comment from forestry authorities and government officials abroad. France and Italy have decorated Mr. Pack for this service to mankind.

NEW CANADA 10c BROWN

A. M. Lazier sends us the following letter received from the P. O. Dept., Ottawa:—

"On or about the 1st of August, 1925, the Philatelic Agency of this Department will offer for sale a new ten cent (10c) stamp, light brown in color and exactly the same design as the present ten which will then become obsolete.

This change becomes necessary on account of the new foreign postage rate (8c instead of 10c) which comes into effect on the 1st of October, 1925. The 'blue' color, which is the official color for the foreign rate denomination, will be used on the new eight cent (8c) stamp which will be put on sale on the 1st of September, 1925."

On August 11th I am leaving on a business trip through Europe, from which I expect to return about October 10th. Orders received at my New York office during that time will be shipped after my return. My European address is

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Mr. A. J. Kohler, 815 Huestis Av., Ft. Wayne, Ind., would like to have the address of H. E. O'Brien, formerly of Grenoble, Pa. A reply giving this information will be greatly appreciated.

—We have received a card from J. M. Bartels, under date of July 14, from Konigsberg, East Prussia. He writes that he has had a very successful trip and has visited Paris, Brussels, Berlin and other cities.

—As evidence that the officers of the A. P. S. are hard workers for recruiting new members the following figures will indicate. During year closing June 1, 1925, Secretary Davis secured 69 new applications, President Wolsieffer 21, J. E. Guest, Sales Supt., 111, L. R. Saunders 16, Eugene Klein 16 and A. D. Fennell 19. Final reports made at the convention in Los Angeles will show a larger total than this.

—Maj. Joseph A. Steinmetz, president of the Aero Philatelic Society of America, has written Hon. John H. Bartlett, 1st Asst. Post Master General, a letter in appreciation of the new order just issued by the Post Office Department requiring the back-stamping of aerial mail with the date of receipt. Letters are now at hand showing that the new order is already effective.

—Our New York dealer, Victor Weiskopf, is leaving for a two months' trip to Europe. He will visit many of the large cities in Great Britain and on the continent, and especially Austria and Germany. His Eupropean address will be found in his advertisement elsewhere.

NIGHT AIR MAIL POSTAGE

There is some liability that patrons will assume that the rate is 8 cents because the first zone on the transcontinental route between New York and Chicago is 8 cents. But that service between New York and Chicago is a daylight service, and the rate remains 8 cents as formerly. As before stated, however, the night service postage between New York and Chicago is 10 cents.

In view of the likelihood of misunderstandings, postmasters will please be on the alert for deficient postage on this night air mail trip, but will rate up any such mail, marking the amount of "postage due" and not delaying the same.

HARRY S. NEW,
Postmaster General.

RARE ISSUES

SCARCE MODERN COLONIALS ARE MY SPECIALTY, AND ALL COLLECTORS OF 20TH CENTURY ENGLISH COLONIALS SHOULD BE IN TOUCH WITH ME.

HERE ARE A FEW RECENT ISSUES OF THE SCARCER SORT.

*GREAT BRITAIN—A single sheet of the current 2d on unwatermarked paper has been discovered, and I have obtained a few copies. If you ever tried to buy Great Britain No. 182 or 184, you will realize that this is an Opportunity. Per copy $6.00

*CYPRUS—In the rush to obtain Cyprus Nos. 87 and 88, a mighty fine pair which I urged readers of my weekly lists to buy at $8.00 just a year ago many collectors have overlooked Nos. 91 and 92. No. 92 is especially good almost as scarce as No. 87.

I offer the 18pi, No. 91, @ $4.00
45pi, No. 92, @ $12.50

*BARBADOS—This is, next to Newfoundland, the most popular of the British Colonies with American collectors, and its stamps are always at a premium when compared with similar numbers issued of other countries—just a question of demand! Of the 1sh old type with script wmk., just 6000 were issued. This is not enough to go around. Scott starts it off at $5.00. I have a few copies to sell at $3.50 each. Better Buy Now!

*S. W. AFRICA—The unexpected issue of eight vars. in the so-called Type 6 promises to be a sweet little set. This surcharge is in large type, no hyphen in the Dutch surcharge, and spaced only 9½mm between words. I recommend this set for investment. 1d, 2d, 4d, 6d, 1sh and 1sh 3d, complete set of six in horizontal pairs @ $2.75
2sh 6d & 10sh, 2 vars., in pairs, @ $10.00

*IRELAND—The surcharged stamps of Ireland continue to hold the center of the stage so far as 20th Century stamps are concerned. The interest of collectors both in this country and abroad is growing daily, and prices are leaping upwards. A great many fine specialized collections are being formed, and, as a result, stocks that were considered large have been practically wiped out, especially in the higher values and the errors.

I hold a tremendous stock of Irish stamps—all issues, in singles, pairs, blocks, sheets, errors, type vars., controls, essays, etc., etc. My list of unused Irish will be gladly sent you on request, and I can also supply nearly all the surcharged issues except the three high values in used condition. Whether you just want to complete your regular Irish vars., or whether you are specializing in Ireland, you should get in touch with me.

To-day I offer Irish essays—color trials by Dollard—at 75c each. I have in stock 47 vars. You can order one, five, ten, or the whole 47 at 75c each.

COLONIALS—My stock of 20th Century Colonials is the result of six years constant effort to build up the finest possible stock. I have the stamps, and I am always at your service.

FORUM

Some of our rarest and prettiest cancellations are doubtless quietly reposing in the collections of foreign philatelists. Interest is taken in U. S. cancellations in England, for the June number of the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain shows that very curious old head on a 24c 1861-62 stamp, the man with an upstanding hat, and a pipe in his mouth, said to be from Waterbury, and when clearly struck, the initials "B F" are to be seen on the hat.

How fortunate they are in being able to reproduce cancellations right on the stamp; well, some day we may be able to positively convince the authorities here that by portraying cancellations on old stamps, we are trying to amuse ourselves, and not do any damage to the finances of our Postal Department by picturing these oddities in the form of obliterations.

Washington Philatelic News

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

1922-23, 5c Blue Roosevelt Imperforated

When one is familiar with the unusual precautions taken by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing to prevent anything other than the normal varieties of our postage stamps reaching the public, it will be understood why a new error causes surprise.

Mr. James J. Bryan has shown me the southwest pane from flat plate No. 15568 of the 5c blue Roosevelt stamp imperforated. The variety escaped the notice of the inspectors for it is not even blue penciled and this most interesting oddity was located by Mr. George H. Quintard at Stamford, Connecticut. It was found among a quantity of the normal 5c stamps purchased by one of the commercial houses of that city. The sheet has full gum and is normal in every way with the exception of the vertical and horizontal perforations which are lacking.

2c Harding, Perf. 10, Double Paper

Mr. J. E. Guest has shown me a complete pane of one hundred of the 2c black, Harding, perforated 10, from the rotary press, plate 14939, wherein nearly four horizontal rows are double paper varieties. This occurred where the two rolls of paper were joined and is a variety that has been noticed in the past in the case of the 1c denomination, which was found precanceled "Philadelphia". It is unusual for a variety of one of the older stamps to turn up at this late date, but it seems that it was found by a collector in one of the smaller post offices and has been held by him during the last couple of years.

1925, 3c Purple, Rotary Print, Perf. 10

On August 1st there was placed on sale at Washington for the first time the new 3c stamp printed from the rotary press, perf. 10, on unwatermarked paper. The variety was made from the same die as the 3c flat plate stamp and as usual is printed from plates of four hundred, the stamps being distributed in post office panes of one hundred each, with margins on all four sides. So far the 1c, 1½c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c and 10c have appeared and we may look for the 7c, 8c, 9c, 11c and 12c in the near future. The Department is saving thousands of dollars by producing stamps on the rotary press, and the saving is unusually great where it is necessary to precancel the varieties.

When recently chronicling the 10c variety, I inadvertently stated it was on watermarked paper instead of unwatermarked. All of the postage stamps of the current series of all types and kinds are on unwatermarked paper.

2c Broken Plate Variety

In a recent Chronicle mention was made of the 2c 1917 imperf., which had been located printed from a broken plate. I overlooked mentioning that the plate was No. 7580.

Mr. Harry F. Kohr writes me under date of July 29th that he has the same variety in a pair perforated 10, unwatermarked, which he located several years back.

Arkansas State Revenue Stamps

In this column several weeks back, we mentioned the fact that the State of Arkansas had authorized the collection of certain taxes on tobacco and feed, and that new stamps were being prepared accordingly.

Mr. William H. Moore writes under date of July 5th that practically all values have now been printed, and he kindly sends for inspection a number of stamps from color trial sheets, including "Specimen" copies as well as proofs. The stamps are printed in sheets of 400 in groups of fifty.

In the case of the cigar and cigarette tax stamps, they are about the size of our current Special Delivery — are lithographed on watermarked paper and rouletted. I do not have at hand a list of the colors of the issued stamps, but those submitted by Mr. Moore include the ½c yellow, both with and without "Specimen" overprint, 1c in blue with horizontal colored roulette and colorless vertical roulette; 2c maroon; 2 2/5c lake; 3c brown; 4c green; 4 4/5c purple; 12½c yellow, both without overprint and with "Canceled" overprint; 18 3/4c bright green with and without "Specimen," 25c brown; 37½c red with colored horizontal roulette; and 50c blue imperf. proof. There are also 25 and 50 lbs. in blue of the feed inspection tax stamp.

The lower values of the tobacco stamps have the figure of value within a circle in the center, "Arkansas" across the top, "Cigar and Cigarette Tax Stamp" at the bottom, with tobacco leaves and flowers on either side of the central figure. The values from 2c to 4 4/5c are similar but the lettering differs somewhat, for under the name of the state we find mention of the number of cigarettes that the tax covers, and at the bottom only the three words, "Cigarette Tax Stamp." Supposedly these are not usable for paying cigar tax. The higher values read, "Cigar Tax Stamp" and on either side of the central figure instead of the tobacco plant we find bears, somewhat similar to the straggly looking animals on the famous St. Louis Postmaster Provisionals.

New Plates

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, I am enabled to bring our list of plates up to and including July 30, 1925. In the list we find our

BUYING COVERS

I suppose I am one of the heaviest buyers of United States stamps on original covers in the country. I get thousands of covers some months, as I do not hesitate to take any quantity whatever of varieties issued prior to 1890.

I am, of course, particularly interested in rare items, and I am told that I pay wonderful prices for fine Carriers, Locals and Confederates.

WHAT HAVE YOU TO OFFER?

Dig up your accumulations, your duplicates and the rare item or two that you have been saving, and turn them into cash. My offer of 20% over my cash price, if stamps are taken in exchange, attracts many.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are indebted to C. E. Nickles, Harold H. Shepard and others for completing a desired address. Who, of our readers, can give us the address of Dache M. Reeves, 1st Lieut. Air Service, Air Service Advance Flying School? State and city are missing.

—W. G. Windhurst of Marion, Ohio, favors us with a second memorial Harding cover. It bears the postmark "Marion, Ohio, August 2, 1925" and a 2c Harding rotary press is used for postage. At the left is a suitable inscription calling attention to the purpose of the envelope.

—Harry A. Truby very kindly sends us a copy of the Aero Digest for August, which contains a story of the early air posts of the world and is fully illustrated.

—Our thanks are extended Albert E. Gorham for a first-day cover. It bears a block of four of the 3c rotary press and carries the marking "Washington, D. C. Aug. 1, 10 A. M."

—The Syracuse, N. Y. Post Standard of Sunday, July 26, contains an aftermath of the Stamp Hunter story which appeared in a recent issue of this paper. The find then described consisted of certain bisected stamps, discovered by W. W. MacLaren, of Cleveland, O. The article in the Syracuse paper gives credit to A. A. Leve of that city, as being the first philatelist to whom these stamps were shown. Mr. Leve disposed of two and the others were sent to Mr. MacLaren.

—We are advised of the death of Mrs. Theodore Champion at Paris, which occurred July 21. Mr. Champion will have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in his bereavement.

—The Rotnem Stamp Co. has removed to a fine down-town office in the Northwestern Building at Minneapolis. It is very evident that the firm is getting ready for an active fall business.

—Post card greetings are at hand from Arthur Barger from London, England, dated July 22.

—M. Ohlman has mailed from Ohlman, Ill., a post card reminder of his auction sale to be held Aug. 11 at Baltimore in connection with the convention of the S. P. A. This is a unique bit of publicity.

—Bill Schneider, Jr. of Metuchen, N. J., sends us a batch of no fewer than twelve clippings that indicate the wide range of information appearing in the public press and bordering on the philatelic. None of the clippings are of distinctly philatelic merit and we are not reprinting the same. Gimbel Bros. of New York advertise in the News the receipt of the Amundsen Trans-Polar post cards. Some of the titles of the other clippings will indicate their nature:—"U. S.-Mexico Air Line Backed by Oil Firms," "Postal Income Under New Rates Falls", "Drive for 1c Letters Throughout Nation", "Postmasters are Told to Clean Up Their Offices", "Catalogs of Less Than 24 Pages Not Entitled to 1c Rate", etc. Thanks for your favor, Bill.

—Mr. C. S. Watson, the dealer who recently pulled stakes at Boston and treked to Los Angeles, is a hardy soul as he made the entire distance in his car, "after ten strenuous days," as he admits. The delay in getting down to business at the new place will be excused under the circumstances, especially as now Mr. Watson says, the C. S. Watson Co., Inc., has everything ship-shape at the new stand.

—The Year Book of the Chicago Philatelic Society for 1925 is a handsome little brochure of thirty-two pages and cover, that, as an example of high-class typography is something to talk about; and we may say with all modesty, that the page advertisement of the WEEKLY in it is a thing of beauty and well worth eyeing by partizans of the art preservative. While the book is mostly devoted to the by-laws of the society and a roster of the members, there is a short account of the society by Mr. Severn, telling that it held its first meeting in 1886 and that in the succeeding years there are not a few constructive accomplishments to its credit. The membership list indicates a healthy condition, the number of active members being proportionately large. P. M. Wolsieffer, president of the A. P. S. is number one in the C. P. S. and the editor of the WEEKLY number two. The price of the attractive booklet is twenty-five cents. F. J. DeWitt, secretary, 564 W. Adams Street, Chicago, Ill.

A USE FOR DEAD LETTER MONEY

A resident of Tomahawk, Wisconsin, has found use for some of the money annually gathered by the Post Office Department in letters sent to the Dead Letter Office. Unfortunately, however, when this money cannot be delivered to its rightful owner it is turned into the United States Treasury. Postmaster General New today received the following letter from a resident of Tomahawk:

"Wish to write a few lines to you. I'm somewhat crippled with rheumatism. I would like to bring very good news to the people but need help. I read a clip in the newspaper that thousands of dollars are found in the dead letters. I'm just thinking as the owners of a large number are unknown I trust that it is God's will that I could have a small part of this—only 60 or 70 thousand dollars. I surely thank you unspeakable for the kind favor by sending me a bank draft within 10 days."

UNITED STATES "EDUCATORS"

For those who are not certain of their classifications of 19th Century U. S. stamps (and that means nine collectors out of every ten) we have made up this series of packets and approval booklets, in which every stamp has its correct catalog number.

Packet A. — 30 varieties of U. S. postage only, all classified, including every issue from 1851 to 1890 inclusive, only $2.00

Packet B. — 20 varieties of the hard-to-place Bank Note issues each one numbered according to Scott's catalog, 1871 to 1890 ..... $1.00

"Educator" Approvals contain almost all regularly issued stamps of the United States from 1847 to 1900. No stamp priced more than $5. most of them at big discounts from catalog prices. Sent only against references or deposit. [H

THE FORUM.

By H. P. Atherton, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

Corrections.—In the Aug. 3rd Forum, bottom paragraph of first column, "Z Grills" in line reading "ridges of each point run vertically", change to read horizontally instead of vertically, and of course the ridges are parallel to tops and bottoms of the stamps. Re '47's, the catalog value of the 5c is up a $ for the used copy, and a mere $50.00 for the mint 10c, this paltry sum is of course worth mention, especially if you have some mint blocks of the 10c.

Suppose I had better name my alibi for these lapses of memory, and the silly errors above corrected. Our house is the nearest spot to the targets used by the artillery at Camp Devens, and when those 6 inch shells explode about a mile and a half over in the hills, my word, all our tinware does a tango, yet the town name is still Still River!

Now to finish up that Blacks and Whites matter.

Postmarks.—On the 3c 1851 covers we find this is in pale blue ink in manuscript, and before the 3c imperfs had been replaced by the perfs of '57, we find covers with the pmk. in a circle in black, this also being used on the 3c perfs of '57. I have not seen a copy of the 3c 1861 issue with the town cancellation at all. Then we find it along in the eighties.

Will quote from Mr. E. S. Knapp's letter re B & W pmk on Confederates:—

"It may interest you to know that I have this (pmk.) on late issue 10c Confeds in—Black, Red and Brilliant Orange, have only seen one example of the latter on any Confederate stamp. Have seen several reds—black is rarer than red, I think."

The Place.—From copy of a letter sent me by Mr. E. A. Young:—

"Blacks and Whites, Va., Dec. 7, 1884
Mr. Story,

I wish to let you know that we arrived all safe at this place, I cannot say that I like very well, there are eight black people to one white. They live so funny here, there is not a sink or closet in the place or a shelf, I do not know how to get along. The black people are very polite cheerful folks, nearly every house the chimneys are built outside, all our folks like very much except Will, Robbie and myself. The climate is lovely like October weather, can sit without a fire. They do not take any post office or money orders here only the bank checks, so when you get that check please send it to me—they take Boston checks.

Please write me and let me know what is going on in Hopkinton and how you are, etc., etc. (Addressed to Isaac Story, Hopkinton, N. H.).

The Name.—This from Dr. William Evans who got these facts from a friend whose mother was raised in the town of Blacks and Whites, and who told them to her son:

"In the old days before the time of railroads, at this point the road separated two houses, one belonging to a Mr. Black, the other to a Mr. White. They couldn't have been directly opposite each other because when the railroad—Norfolk & Western it is now, whatever it was then—was built, Mr. Black lived on one side of it and Mr. White on the other. The neighborhood very naturally was known as Black's and White's, and when a Post Office was established there the name stuck.

Along in the eighties it was changed to Blackstone. Whether there was any controversy over whose name should be used in the new name doesn't appear; but it might easily have happened, and as there was already a Whitestone in Virginia the honor here fell to the Blacks, and Blackstone it is."

So we have dug up the history of the place, the postmarks, and the name. Reverting to the letter sent by Mr. Young, didn't you feel quite sure that it was so named from the eight-to-one percentage of Blacks and Whites? So did I. Circumstantial evidence does not go very well in philately. This letter of Mr. Young's is in a cover carried by a 2c red brown, No. 210, with the regular type of circular pmk. in black common to the '80's. He says that by referring to his P.O. lists which are handy, that from 1841 to 1883 this town is listed, these being his oldest and latest guides available.

Digging up the above town references was a personal whim. However, this proves that by combined effort we can go ahead and dig up philatelic history henceforth, and some day we will probably have the opportunity to hunt up something that is really meritorious in a way that will benefit us all to a large extent, possibly a new local, or a steamship line on the Mississippi that had a short life, or a railroad that had a pmk. for only a few weeks, or something that we would all take more than ordinary interest in. Have you anything to say?

Several odd items are in. Mr. Henry Merlo has sent in a nice 3c 1857, Type II, cover with the pmk. of "Poplar Ridge N Y", the town name being in a semi-circle of very small letters with the month and day far below, this being a very unusual type of pmk.

Mr. A. M. Davis has written to me on an old envelope used by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. On reverse flap is their return address in blue, in a circular device, while the address side shows a map of their extent of roads at that time, with a boxed in list of distances from Phila. and elsewhere, and it has a 2c red, 1925, stamp on it, incongruous enough.

And here is the opposite—an old stamp on a modern envelope, from Mr. A. H. Benners. This present day envelope is postpaid by a copy of the old 3c 1857 Type II, pmkd. "Birmingham, Ala. Jun14. 3PM 1925". The stamp looks totally unfamiliar canceled with the flowing lines of the flag of one of our machine cancellations of the city of today. The expression of Mr. Washington appears as tho he were quite disturbed, as would anyone so placed behind the bars.

Mr. K. Kenwood suggests that some exhibition committee would do the philatelists a favor if they would devote a small section of their contests to mounting of stamps. Right. Much time is spent in mounting a collection as you all know, why not give this work more recognition?

EDITORIAL.

The following letter has come from the Hon. W. Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster general, Washington, who, on Aug. 1, 1925, became second assistant postmaster general: "On August 1st, I shall pass over the duties of the Third Assistant Postmaster General to my distinguished successor, Mr. Robert S. Regar, and on that same date assume my new duties as Second Assistant Postmaster General, which have been assigned to me by the President and the Postmaster General. I cannot let this day come and go without thanking you for the kindly way in which I have been handled in the columns of the WEEKLY. You have also been most generous and kind. I am leaving the duties of the Third Assistant Postmaster General with some feelings of regret, naturally, but with the feeling of satisfaction that something has been accomplished and among these accomplishments, might be said, was the establishment of the Philatelic Agency. Although my desire for this establishment was laughed and joked about in the beginning, those who were my most serious opponents in the creation of this Agency are now loudest in singing its praises. From an Agency with two clerks and a business of $5,000, in two years it has grown to a Bureau of sixteen clerks and a business (representing the total sales for last year) of over $135,000. Of course, you can appreciate how much this has really meant to the Government in a clear profit. I really know of no other Governmental agency which in its small way does so much to carry out President Coolidge's idea of a reduction in Governmental expenditures. Am sure that my successor will want to continue the Bureau and greatly add to its usefulness in the Philatelic world and increase its many friends which have been made since its establishment. Again thanking you for your kindness at all times, I am," etc. It is perhaps needless to say that Mr. Glover carries with him the best wishes of a host of collectors and while they regret that to some extent they will lose his sponsorship, they rejoice in his promotion. It is known that the creation of the Philatelic Agency was no easy task but that it required intelligent perseverance; and to Mr. Glover the gratitude of collectors is due. First of all, Mr. Glover was compelled to instill in minds that were none too receptive, the advisability of making a preliminary expenditure, in effect, on an experiment whose success was problematical, and thus secure what may be called an official recognition of philately. Having prevailed in this particular, there were many obstacles to overcome but Mr. Glover buckled to his task with the happy results now visible.

Every now and then, one of the snoopers into the contents of old covers is rewarded for his curiosity and a case in point is presented by Mr. R. L. Wickes, Chicago, who shows a letter that was enclosed in an envelope, bearing a pair of the 3c of 1869, sent from Tucson, Arizona, according to the postmark, on Nov. 25, 1869, to Des Moines, Iowa. The letter, however, is from Camp Crittenden, Arizona Territory, and is richly descriptive of Indian days, the writer having been in the Medical division of the U. S. Army. We quote: "The southern overland coach with a driver, one citizen and four soldiers left Camp Bowie for Tucson. Soon after, passing by a herd of cattle, they were attacked by many Apaches and all killed by the first fire, stripped and mutilated, and the mail captured. The Apaches then attacked the herd, killed one man and took 150 cattle. This was reported to the cavalry company at Camp Bowie some hours after, when Lt. Winters (a Buck-eye and gallant soldier) took twenty-five men and was soon on their trail south. Three days after, he killed three of five Indians that he overtook, and pushing on, came up with the cattle with many Indians in an open country. This was a chance our officers prayed for and Winters did the opportunity justice. He killed twelve before they reached the mountains, and retook all the cattle but a few and restored them to their owner." Worse is yet to follow and the letter of eight pages is an historical document in some respect that vividly portrays the days when life in the far west was replete with action, sanguinary and otherwise.

There is a demand for what may be called auxiliary officers of the Washington postal agency in a number of the large cities, to amplify the service that is now extended by the Washington agency. The position of the proponents of the idea is that the opportunities that these offices would afford would facilitate sales to collectors by bringing the goods close to hand. We suppose that it would be necessary to secure an apropriation from Congress to provide for an extension of the work now done by the Washington agency and that it would require some argument to convince the members that the plan is feasible and worthy of attention, seriously. The understanding is, that the proposal will be brought to the notice of the delegates at the Los Angeles convention for discussion and any action that may be deemed advisable. It is just as well that questions of this kind that are offered at the convention be mentioned beforehand, in order that some thought may be given them, in a preliminary way.

The convention of the American Philatelic Society is the summer event on the philatelic calendar and in a few weeks, our readers will know what was accomplished at the annual convocation. The attendance will be smaller than anticipated, so far as visitors from a distance from Los Angeles are concerned but assurances are not lacking that there will be a representative gathering. The new by-laws, as evolved by the committee having their revision in charge, will be offered and no doubt they will prove acceptable, as the members of the committee are experienced and are able to understand the needs of the society. The question of publicity will be considered and probably be disposed of for the time being, as the committee on publicity will report that it was inoperative because of the withholding of the one thousand dollars voted for its use at the last convention. After the records are balanced by the discharge of the committee on publicity, some new suggestions may be discussed, in order to pave the way for future achievement, by some new committee. It is here that an announcement should be made, albeit with much reluctance; and that is that the president, P. M. Wolsieffer, will not be able to be at the convention, even though he had already made every preparation to attend and had been looking forward to the pleasure of meeting his friends in California. The disappointment of Mr. Wolsieffer is keen and likewise, countless friends will have the same feeling. It is ironical that he will not have the privilege of presiding at the annual convention as we know that he would have no little pride in doing so; and it will be found difficult to fill his place. Personal considerations are responsible for the change of program and they are such that they could not be overcome. Too, Mr. H. A. Diamant, chairman of the publicity committee writes that he will not be on hand in person, contrary to his expectation some time ago, we believe.

The aid of the WEEKLY in common with many other publications is being solicited in the movement that has for object, the restoration of the old r of postage in effect. Organized effor being aimed at certain phases of the postal order and the sponsors of the d are sanguine that success will att their work. The collector may with equanimity a drive of this k knowing that any stamp changes wil of interest to him.

LEEWARD ISLANDS, PLATE 11

By HARRY E. HUBER.

After two years and a half of hard use, D. L. R. (1888 type) Postage and Revenue keyplate numbered 10 (die 2), introduced about June, 1921, was replaced by plate 11 (die 2), 120 set. First mention of the new plate was made by the Crown Agents in their July-September, 1923, Bulletin, in connection with supplies of the 5c, 50c and 5r of Mauritius having been printed from it. In the October-December, 1923, Bulletin, stamps of other Colonies were advised as having been printed from this plate, among them being the Leeward Islands, Federal series, 1d violet, 2d, 3d blue, 4d on script yellow, 5d, 2s, 2s6d, 3s, 4s, and 5s dispatched to Dominica. These values had all previously been printed from plate 10, and with the exception of the 4d, on script CA paper.

These stamps, issued at Roseau, Dominica, about February 1, 1924, were printed in sheets of 120 stamps, 2 panes of 60, with plate number 11 in the usual positions, twice in the upper and lower margins, over and under the 2nd and 5th stamps of the left and right panes, respectively.

In July, 1924, the ¼d, ½d, 1d, 2d, 3d blue, and 2s6d, plate 11, were issued at St. Kitts, and later in the year, the 2s plate 11, was sent to Montserrat.

Excepting the 4d, 5d, 2s, 3s and 4s (new values added to the series in 1922), sheets of these stamps have but a single marginal line, i.e., belonging to the keyplate. However, for these five values, the duty plates were fitted with a broken marginal line, so that complete sheets have a double marginal line—that on the inside belonging to the keyplate, and that on the outside to the duty plate, and printed in the colors of their respective impressions.

On the 6d Roman CA and script CA (the latter plate 10), the marginal line was single; on the 6d plate 10, script CA. overprinted for Barbuda, however, it was double.

The 3d blue, plate 11, has a double marginal line, although on the 3d on yellow, Roman CA, and the 3d blue, script CA, plate 10, it was single.

1924. King George V, Postage and Revenue (D. L. R. 1888 P. & R. type). Watermarked multiple Crown and script CA. Perf. comb 14. 4d and above chalk surfaced. Plate 11.

¼d brown. (June).
½d green. (June).
1d deep violet. (February).
2d gray. (February).
3d blue. (February).
4d black and red on yellow. (Feb.).
5d dull violet and olive green. (Feb.).
2s purple and blue on blue. (Feb.).
2s6d black and red on blue. (Feb.).
3s green and violet. (February).
4s black and carmine. (February).
5s green and red on yellow. (Feb.).

The 2½d, 6d and 1s have not yet been printed from plate 11.

Plate 12, 1924.

Early in 1924, plate 12, 120 set, was made up for use in conjunction with plate 7, 120 set, to produce 240 stamp sheets. In June, 1924, the Crown Agents notified that the 15c Ceylon, had been printed from these two plates.

Plate 12 presumably takes the place of plate 9, 120 set, previously used with plate 7, just as plate 9 superseded plate 4, at one time used with plate 7, to produce 240 stamp sheets. Plates 4, 7 and 9 were never used for British West Indian stamp supplies.

THE MARTIN JOHNSON CASE

Nearly five years ago, one Axel Johanson, Portland, Maine, was expelled from the American Stamp Dealers Association for cause that was based on a civil action against him in the newspapers. Since that time, Johansen, making his appearance in different cities, is alleged to have defrauded stamp dealers out of large amounts of money, in the aggregate. He used different aliases and proved himself to be a clever and resourceful fellow who managed to keep ahead of the law by a few jumps, but in Chicago he has come to grief. In that city, operating under his real name, as it is claimed, as well as that of Mrs. Johnson and the Edgewater Stamp Company, 900 Montrose Avenue, Chicago, he became the object of serious complaints from stamp dealers, far and near. While it seemed that there was some delay on the part of the postal authorities in bringing him to book, it has developed that they were not idle in pressing the case and now Johnson is jugged, awaiting trial by jury, under bonds of $20,000, in the federal court. The case has been handled effectively, it now appears; and Inspector Alberti has been active in collecting evidence in New York and elsewhere. In this connection, it is required that credit be given to R. F. Robinson of Chicago, editor of the Comet, a weekly newspaper in Windsor Park, Chicago, for bringing the issue to a head, as when he was informed by a correspondent that Johnson was about to depart for Canada, Mr. Robinson spurred the officers to action. It happens that he has a flair for detective work and Mr. Robinson, working in behalf of himself and a number of complainants called at the office of the Edgewater Stamp Company and got some first hand information from Mrs. Johnson. There are many incidentals that could be incorporated into the story of the misapplied enterprise of Johnson and some day the tale may be told. It is enough to say that Johnson who is about thirty-five years of age says that he came to this country in 1913, with $13,000 in cash and later joined the army. His career has been varied and at the time of his arrest, he was working as a taxi driver for one of the big passenger companies in Chicago. As showing the extent of Johnson's activities in his chosen work at the expense of stamp folks, it is claimed that there are thirty-nine complaints against him. It will be interesting to follow the case until it is disposed of, as Johnson has been a thorn in the philatelic flesh, indeed.

NEW U. S. PROVISIONAL ENVELOPES

1½c ON 1c GREEN

Collectors are having a merry time in getting together the new Provisional 1½c on 1c green envelopes, which are being overprinted, so that they might be used for circular letters in accordance with the Postal Act which went into effect on April 15th last. Some of the varieties are bound to be scarce as was the case with previous Provisional envelopes, and the time to obtain them is when they are new, and when no one knows which are going to be rare and which common.

For the cut square collector, I can furnish the solid letter type on white in Die A, C and D and on blue in Die A, C and D; also, the double line type in Die A on white, making seven varieties in all. Each of these are a different die on different paper, and the seven will be mailed entire, flat, in unused condition, at 75c.

For the collector of entire envelopes, I will furnish fifteen varieties including the above, as well as the window type, the H. B. and the L. B. in different sizes..$1.50
25 varieties—all different $2.50

If you want these when and as issued at 10c each, please advise me and I will place you upon my list to receive the new ones as fast as they are issued.

If there are any errors or odd varieties, I am likely to run across them, for I am in correspondence with numerous postal clerks at the many offices overprinting these envelopes. Errors will be furnished at reasonable prices.

MR. SMITH ON A VACATION.

Mr. Percy C. Smith, the editor of our foreign new issues department, is away on a vacation. His chronicle will be resumed immediately upon his return.

FIVE-YEAR HONOR ROLL

E. A. Darling, Winter Hill, Mass.
Mrs. Mary G. Cook, Lansdowne, Pa.

Our first application for membership in the Honor Club this week comes from E. A. Darling, 391 Broadway, Winter Hill, Mass. We acknowledge with thanks his remittance of $5 for five years renewal of subscription.

It is the general impression that ladies are not very much interested in stamp collecting. We have a letter from Mrs. Mary Garretson Cook, president of the Lansdowne (Pa.) Stamp Club, which would seem to indicate that so far as Lansdowne is concerned the situation is misrepresented. Mrs. Cook, in applying for membership in the Honor Club, informs us that there is a flourishing stamp club in her city, and half the membership is made up of women. Major Joseph Steinmetz recently favored the club with a visit and exhibited some of his treasures.

Mr. A. O. Litt has sent in a num of covers of rather recent dates, a many of them are interesting. I notice with a 2c red brown stamp struck with open 5 point star and the pmk. COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC RELATIONS

By FRANK L. COES, Worcester, Mass.

There has come to me whispers of an endeavor of some of the wise minds of philatelic endeavor to interest the rank and file in a Committee on Public Relations (the name will be probably something like that), which they want established for the purpose of crystallizing public interest.

We have been discussing the idea here, and it seems to us not only feasibile, but the finest thought that has emerged from the big end of philatelic public in a long time.

If such a committee can be formed, composed of one member from each national organization, which shall also include press, publishers, accessory makers, and protective organizations, it would become a mighty instrument for good.

Eventually it would save much lost motion and duplication of effort, especially impress publicity and National Postal laws. Its spokesman would be the representative of a dozen times more collectors than any club appointee now is. He would be a man looked up to by inquiring parties on every possible occasion. His voice would be much more authoritative in Washington when questions of interest were discussed. Sub committees would have (without duplicating the present functions of protective or distributing agencies) weight, backing and broad touch with every field of Philatelic endeavor.

In its inception there might be a little cross purpose work in first appointment, but after a few months the value of a board of this description would offset any club bickerings or backbiting from self interested people, and the final establishment of the independent "National Committee" would be the upstanding answer to any and all guerilla criticism.

To say "I'm for it" means little to every one, but if you can get every other collector, dealer, student and interested party to say the same thing, your accomplishment of a needed reform will be as nearly immediate as anything can be.

Perhaps it would finally mean a Philatelic Chamber of Commerce, or Board of Trade. Perhaps it might work out to a final "one big society" with the reduction in overhead to the collector, and the improvement in conditions due to the taking up of duplicated motion.

Anyhow, I hope you will trace the whispers to their source, tree the whisperers and put them to work at the job which I think is the biggest thing Philately ever conceived.

Get your Five-Year Club heroes to say with us small fry "I'm for it" and all hands get out and boost.

THE AMUNDSEN POLAR FLIGHT

Four self-addressed post cards, which were carried within 175 miles of the North Pole by Roald Amundsen's polar expedition, have been received by Brady Buchanan, ticket agent for the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Company, at the Broadway terminal, E. Liverpool.

Fifteen months ago Buchanan, whose hobby is stamp collecting, purchased from the Economist Stamp Co., of New York, four postcards at $1 each. To finance his expedition, which was planned for the summer of 1924, Amundsen planned to sell these postcards, carrying them to the North pole and to Alaska on the other side of the pole, where they were to be placed in the United States mails for delivery. However, but $17,000 was raised by the sale of the cards.

Two of the postcards were mailed on April 10, 1924, another on April 22, 1924, and the fourth on May 27, 1924, from East Liverpool. They were first sent to the Trans-Polar Flight Expedition at Christiania, Norway, where two Norwegian stamps, one a regular stamp, selling for one cent in American money, and the other a special air mail stamp, selling for five cents in American money, were placed on them.

Because of the lack of funds the polar expedition for 1924 was abandoned, but the postcards, most of them sent from the United States, were held in Norway. Amundsen came to the United States during the fall and winter and finally succeeded in interesting American capital in financing his 1925 expedition.

With two Italian seaplanes, especially constructed for cold weather flying, Amundsen, carrying the 17,000 postcards, left his base, Spitzbergen, Norway, this spring, and reached a point within 175 miles of the North Pole, when one of his planes was wrecked.

His supplies and gasoline supplies running low, the explorer realized that it would be folly to make further attempts to reach the pole. He loaded his freight and assistants in the remaining plane and started back for Norway. Due to the wrecking of the plane, it was at first believed that the postcards had been discarded somewhere in the frozen north and that they would never be returned. Amundsen and his six assistants were rescued by a Norwegian fishing vessel several miles from their starting point when their fuel supply became exhausted.

The cards were immediately placed in the mails and returned to those to whom they were addressed. They were cancelled at King's Bay, June 18, 1925, more than a month being required to make delivery.—East Liverpool Review Tribune.

EDMOND STAMP COMPANY REMOVAL

The Edmond Stamp Co., of McLoud, Okla., has removed its headquarters to San Francisco, Cal., and the firm wishes us to announce that replies to correspondents will be delayed until about Aug. 20. The firm proposes to engage actively in business, this fall, and should prove a distinct asset to San Francisco philately.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

NEW ISSUES

A consideration of revised Catalogue Quotations, recent Auction Prices and the Small Stocks held by even the largest dealers should awaken every collector to the advisability of buying new issues when they are new and of buying all of them.

Among the various British Colonial issues of the last three or four years, consider Ascension, Barbados small type, Barbuda, Gambia Scripts, Irish Provisionals Malta Self-Government, S. W. Africa Surcharges, and, of course, those Classics, the St. Kitts Tercentenary Set and the Cyprus Scripts and Ten Shilling and One Pound Old Type. All these stamps, of course, were distributed through my British Colonial New Issue Service at prices ranging from 26½c to 29c per Shilling, depending on current rate of exchange.

Recently, a New Issue Subscriber who had been taking new issues from me for only one year and a half, broke up his collection and sold me the new issues I had sent him at a price considerably in advance of his cost.

My current rate to New Issue Subscribers is 29c per Shilling. A circular fully explaining the Service will be gladly sent you on request.

In addition, of course, I carry a tremendous stock of current and obsolete 20th Century Colonials—the Largest Stock of these stamps In America. Whether you want the rare ones or the common ones, get in touch with me.

WHAT IS "MEKEEL'S" WORTH TO ME AND HOW MUCH CAN IT BE MADE WORTH?

I will not try to tell in terms of money just what MEKEEL'S is worth to me, but I am willing to bet my best stamp (as is) that it is worth a great deal more than could be reckoned in two figures.

For instance: My father subscribed for me to the WEEKLY. I was just beginning to collect and it was often of the greatest use to me. A visitor in a strange town is nearly always supplied with a guide book so that he will not get lost and such it has been to me. Things which all collectors must know and which most papers take for granted that we do know are often explained. That alone is a great advantage to the beginner. No matter how many collectors there may be in our circle of friends there are always certain things which one understands better and remembers better after one has seen them in print. So many times the collector has forgotten or he has never known certain details of stamps and like news of importance to him. To see is to remember, and the information gleaned in the pages of MEKEEL'S will often serve to remind those who have forgotten and to inform those who never knew.

Last month I purchased a small collection of the stamps of Central and South America with the idea of enlarging on it. Already I have received some help as the articles in MEKEEL'S are of great help to all beginners. "Some Notes on 19th Century Guatemala" have given me great assistance and some knowledge which except for our faithful paper I would have had to go without; probably at a great expense.

Not only the beginners but also the veterans are aided by the WEEKLY. We are constantly receiving the attentions and services of experts who tell us not only what is new in philately but also the many advantages obtainable through sales, auctions, etc.

To turn to improvements. Why not more illustrations? I am sure that many subscribers would like to see some nice pictures illustrating new issues, varieties and cancellations. They are a wonderful inducement and I think that most of us are childish enough to prefer an illustrated paper to one that is not. What do my readers think of this?

Don't you think that it would be well to have a department to help the collector lay out pages in a blank album? Many do not like a printed album and yet have not enough of an artistic eye to lay out the pages in a blank attractively. A small illustration each week and a little write-up would be all that would be necessary.

Although the most drastic work on the part of Fate could hardly ever place me in the same class as such collectors as Mr. Alfred Lichtenstein, Dr. Carroll Chase and the late Henry Duveen, yet I am always anxious to hear about them. So to me and the majority of medium collectors it is of great interest to know all about their collections. Indeed, it sends centipedes up my spine to read of all the marvels which their gilt edged albums hold. But I also like to hear about the little boy and girl just beginning to whom all the "clutter" and "stuff" in the world has as much of a thrill as the former classes' rarest "find."

So why not have a Junior Department? Remember that many of the collectors have handed down the hobby to their children and that when your paper enters their home it will have double appeal if the "Kid" has a chance of seeing his name in the Junior Column. Not having reached legal age yet I think that I can classify as a Junior and let me say that I read MEKEEL'S from cover to cover, inclusive.

I hope that I won't have taken up too much space in 'spressing my opinion and my ideas as to MEKEEL'S for if that be the case I am afraid the Editor will c into use the editorial scissors. We ha though, been asked to express our opin and I have done so frankly; may my tentions not be misunderstood.

1925 S. P. A. CONVENTION

Reported by ALBERT E. GORHAM.

The Society of Philatelic Americans was called together in annual convention at 10.30 a.m., Aug. 10th, in the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, Md., by H. H. Schnick, General Chairman of the Baltimore Convention Committee, who introduced Michael Miller, who welcomed the members and visitors on behalf of the Baltimoreans, claiming Baltimore was in the forefront in many first issue events in history, philately, progress and development.

The Chairman then invited Major Guy W. A. Camp to respond, which he did in his usually eloquent manner. He also spoke for the Board of Governors and outlined arrangements made for this meeting. Prof. C. Lat. Wilhelm, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, then extended a welcome on behalf of the Maryland Academy of Sciences, particularly the Philatelic Section, which is sponsoring the convention. The next speaker was President-elect William L. Doepke.

Albert E. Gorham, a former Secretary of the S. P. A., welcomed those present on behalf of the Washington Philatelic Society and other Washington members. He stated an opportunity would be presented to those who so desired to visit and make an extended tour through the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the home and place of manufacture of the postage stamp. He also stated that every endeavor was being made by the postal authorities to advance the interests of the stamp dealer and collector, and that the Philatelic Agency was exerting itself in behalf of philatelists.

The regular convention was opened by prayer by President-elect Doepke. Mr. Gorham moved, and it was seconded and carried, that President-elect Doepke be elected as Chairman of the Convention and enter upon his duties as President; whereupon Mr. Gorham escorted him to his station.

The President delivered a short address, after which he announced the following Convention committees: On Finance: R. C. Bach, J. G. Marston, J. H. Davis Reynolds. On Officer's Reports: Albert E. Gorham, J. F. Emerson, A. C. LeDuc. Publication of Year Book: C. Lat. Wilhelm, R. C. Bach, H. H. Schnick. Place of Next Meeting: James H. Hoffman, Dr. G. C. Graves, Michael Miller. Branch Societies: Spencer Anderson, M. G. Hanna, Michael Miller. Sales Department: Eugene A. Gavin, Helen Hussey, Filip Rogner. Necrology: M. G. Hanna, James Kennedy, W. W. Betts. Constitution: Helen Hussey, W. W. Betts, M. G. Skinner, M. D.

Among the first to register and receive convention badges and privileges were William Lycett, Albert E. Gorham, W. S. Ober (Baltimore Sun), J. H. Davis Reynolds, A. C. LeDuc, Spencer Anderson, Eugene A. Gavin, Major Guy W. A. Camp and son M. F. Camp, Joseph and James H. Hoffman, A. E. Hussey and daughter, Helen Hussey, and wife, Mrs. A. E. Hussey, Claude Millar, M. G. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bach, Mr. and Mrs. M. Ohlman, W. W. Betts, Dr. M. G. Skinner, Howard C. Beck, T. V. Morgan.

T. V. Morgan, Esq., Chairman of the Credential Committee, submitted his report, which was accepted, and about 40 members were seated as delegates. The following resolution was adopted: That all applicants whose petitions for membership were pending, who were present, be elected to membership and admitted as delegates, subject to approval of the Governing Board and unanimous consent which was granted, to suspend the Constitution for such purpose. Telegrams were read from Director-at-Large A. H. Wilhelm and Harry B. Mason on behalf of the Washington Philatelic Society, extending best wishes.

Major Camp read the reports of the Governing Board, which were referred to Committee on Officers' Reports; to which committee was also referred the reports of the Secretary; the Treasurer of the Governing Board; Sales and Exchange Managers (who were complimented by vote of the Society for good showings made); Director at Large Wilhelm; Auction Manager (submitted verbally); Treasurer, Attorney, and Counterfeit Detector. Mr. Bach, editor of the Stamp Collector's Magazine, the Official Organ of the Society, was complimented for his fidelity to the society, and his untiring efforts in its behalf. The Society then recessed at 12.15. T. V. Morgan, Esq., Chairman of the Credential Committee, submitted a supplemental report covering 13 additional members, who were seated as delegates, when the meeting was called to order at 2.00 p. m.

Committee on Constitution submitted through Mr. Morgan, several amendments to the Constitution, which were unanimously adopted. One of these related to the election of Board of Directors, in consequence of which the following Board was unanimously elected: For 5 years: Guy W. A. Camp; For 4 years: Baldwin Schlesinger; For 3 years: R. C. Bach; For 2 years: Joseph Hoffman; For 1 year: Dr. Leon G. Tedesche.

Another, in reference to Sales, Exchange and Auction Managers. Another provided for Historian, and Mr. N. R. Hoover was nominated and unanimously elected Historian. Another provided that, if necessary, the Attorney might appoint assistant attorneys in various states to assist him in the duties of his office. Auction Manager Ohlman called attention to the insufficiency of the fee for selling stamps at auction. Dr. A. E. Hussey, Sales Manager, invited the con-

Wholesale Lots

My large stock of United States stamps has been completely re-assorted since the first of the year. Many items were found in surplus quantities and many copies in what is commonly called "average" condition were removed.

This surplus stock and these "average" copies have been made up mostly in approval cards containing five copies each of nine varieties—at discounts this paper will not permit us to announce.

For Small Dealers and Exchangers

this is an unusual opportunity. Lots will be sent on approval to those who furnish the names and addresses of their bank and two dealers as reference. Minors must be guaranteed by their parents. United States stamps only.

vention to meet in Cincinnati, Ohio, next year.

The President declared a recess at 4.00 p.m. until 10.00 a.m. Tuesday.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS

The Secretary of the Board of Governors, Major Guy W. A. Camp, was called to the chair and elected to preside during the remainder of the Convention. T. V. Morgan, Esq., Chairman of the Credential Committee, submitted a supplemental report and presented 14 additional proxies in favor of C. W. Kissinger.

The Secretary read a report from the Committee on Next Place of Meeting, to the effect that but one place had been suggested, namely, Cincinnati. Upon motion of Mr. Kissinger, Cincinnati, Ohio, was selected as the place of holding the 1926 convention, which action was unanimous.

Mr. Bach, Chairman of the Finance Committee, submitted a report that the Secretary's reports and books had been examined and found to be correct, but that the Treasurer's books could not be audited owing to their absence. The report was approved and the Board of Governors authorized to examine the accounts and books of the Treasurer and submit a report thereon at the next convention. Mr. Bach submitted a proposition to publish the Year Book by Oct. 1st, which was accepted. The Governing Board submitted a recommendation that the fee for insurance for books in sales circuits be reduced to 1% with a minimum fee of 10c on each book. Recommendation was unanimously adopted. The Governing Board recommended that the preferred members in Class A who were not now members or participants in the Sales Department, be transferred to Class C. Upon motion of Mr. Hoffman such preferential creditors in Classes A and B were transferred to Class C, and members contributing to Sales Department who were in Class B were transferred to Class A. The Governing Board reported that recommendation would be later made as to reimbursement to Mr. Bach of the amount due him, $21.50, in reference to last issue of the Year Book.

T. V. Morgan for the Constitution Committee recommended the following changes in the Constitution, which were adopted: Members reinstated to pay a membership fee of $1 and a reinstatement fee of 50c in each case of reinstatement. The guarantors for minors to furnish references as to their ability to adjust satisfactorily claims that might be presented against the minors they guaranteed. Honorary and "shut-in" members to report annually their addresses to the Secretary in order to be continued on the roll of membership. Branch Societies to provide laws for self-government and report same to the Secretary of the Society. Officers of Branch Societies to be members of the Society, and the names of the members to be submitted to the Secretary for the benefit of the Recruiting Committee; and that the Governing Board in granting charters to Branch Societies require that at least five of the charter or other members be members in good standing of the Society. Article XVII, Section 2, was amended by striking out all words after the word "constitution" in the second line, and by striking out all words in Section 3 after the word "officers." accord with the foregoing. Distributi of payments for dues was changed provide ¼ to Governing Board and to General Fund. Time was extend to 14 days to file objections to appli tions for membership, and the names a addresses of references submitted by a plicants to be forwarded by the Secreta upon receipt, to the Sales Manager. Up motion the Constitution Committee w authorized to make the necessary chang in the Constitution to carry out the fo going amendments, and reconcile t provisions of the constitution in co flict therewith.

Motion made to discontinue publishi addresses of applicants for membersh aroused considerable discussion, Mess Mann, Hussey and Hoffman in favor a Mr. Gorham against; the motion was a more than ⅔ majority rejected. Up motion it was decided to omit the nar and number of member proposing a plicants for membership, in the offici organ. At 12.20 a recess was declar until 10.00 a.m., Wednesday, Aug. 12th.

J. O. MOORE, INC. HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

THE FORUM.

By H. P. Atherton, Still River, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

It has arrived at last—Precancels! In the Sept. 22nd issue of Mekeel's Weekly in 1924 the Forum timidly made its initial bow, and to this time has thwarted, unskilfully perhaps, the few precancel matters which have arrived. If this column were to sing the praises, or on the other hand utter "little pleasantries" re precancels, why the column would be deluged with pros and cons on this subject to the detriment of what is printed at the top of the first issue of the Forum, viz., "The Forum is devoted to 19th Century United States postage stamps; cancellations, minor varieties, rates, and all interesting material and data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings."

The query sent is this, "What constitutes a precancel?" It is an innocent enough question at a glance; expressed in another form to bring in the many types of precancels now in collections throughout the country, it might read, "When is a precancel not a precancel?"

To reach the answer would bulge this column so that it would look like a bale of hay with the middle hoops "busted". We can answer most everything here though, so let us suppose that we finally arrive at the correct solution (this being a hardy supposition, yet allow it for the sake of argument.) The argument is now over, and we know exactly what a precancel is.

Is everyone happy? Loud chorus—
"Man convinced against his will,
Is of the same opinion still."
—Finis.

Did you ever sit down, quiet like, and give thought to the collecting of stamps in the abstract, in a detached way?—no thought of any stamp, or any collector, or dealer, just collecting, what you like, why you collect, and all that?

Do you recall how you used to collect bird's eggs (which you shouldn't have done), or butterflies, or wasp's nests, or was it something else, as a boy? Do you ever recall how you happened to begin the collecting of stamps, and then think along the whole route to where you are now?

When you sum it all up, the result shows stamps in your albums, though mostly in the enjoyment derived from the fact that you utterly forgot mundane affairs while your attention was rivetted on some particular philatelic problem.

Listen to the soliloquy of Mr. A. H. Benners, his thoughts on the subject are so richly interesting that they should not be allowed to blush unseen, so here they are:—

"The Psychology of Stamp Collecting

"I am a beginner, and am yet in doubt whether philately is a science or a craft. It may be somewhat of both; but in any event, the mental processes of those who form the habit are as variant as they are interesting.

Some crave the largest obtainable quantity, old, new, rare and common. Others, a more numerous class, value quality only, must have the very best, excellence outweighing age or rarity. Many prize most the arrangement of their stamps, and find their greatest pleasure in showing them to others. Others like to give their finds to those who crave them. Another class crave only possession, and prefer to hide their treasures, content to put their Columbian 2c 'broken hat' variety, cat. at 3c cheek by jowl with U. S. 1c '51 'full scrolls', cat. $225.00.

Specialists in one country are a distinct class, with a sub-class that care only for varieties of a single stamp, valuing such more than condition or shade. Dealers and collectors are necessary for each other, and are as loving and trustful to each other as labor and capital. As a bachelor cynic said of woman, 'A mystery—we can't get along with them, or without them'.

A class to be pitied, unfortunately a numerous one, see only the money value of stamps, and gather and put them away, as wheat is stored to be sold to starving people when there is famine.

To sum it all up, stamp collecting affects the minds of different men, just as does every other phase of the pursuit of happiness. Whether one should want and seek the stamps of every age and country, or content himself with seeking with a big glass the 'recut button' or 'gash on the shoulder' of U. S. No. 33, rests with himself.

'Never kiss the Maid, when you can kiss the Mistress, unless you like the Maid best'."

Let's start something new, what say to starting in on U. S. before '70 with postal markings from foreign countries? Have any of you saved the letters in covers from China and Japan with stamps of 1861 or '69 on them? Do the letters give any information as to how they were mailed, in consular pouches, or with the regular mail from those countries? What other countries do you have early U. S. stamps used from? Peru sent covers with their own stamp, one from England as it passed thro there, and then a U. S. stamp. Have you any other combinations of countries used with the U. S. stamp? Hawaii and Br. Columbia used them, too. I have seen them from Hiogo and Yokahama, Japan, and from Shanghai. Where do your choice covers come from? Let's see if we can't gather information that is to date rather hazy.

EDITORIAL.

The editor is about to leave for the convention at Los Angeles and for some weeks readers will have a rest. As a good part of a week is required to make the trip one way, three weeks will elapse before we get down to business again. The convention will be reported, as usual, and in due course of time, all the news of the annual meeting will be reflected in our columns.

After serving as secretary of the American Stamp Dealers' Association for many years, Mr. W. F. Slusser retires as an officer and he is taking sixty days off army duty. Mr. Slusser has been unremitting in his work for the betterment of philately and he has been the nemesis of crooks, large and small. With a sort of flair for detective work, he has succeeded in check-mating not a few clever rogues, whose forays, otherwise, would have been attended with most serious consequences. His respite from his duties as secretary is deserved and the regret that is felt must be tempered with the thought that some day, some time, he will again be tracking the culprit to his lair. Mr. Slusser's successor to the office is our friend, Mr. Crawford, the publisher of Stamp Dealing and when he becomes acquainted with the duties of his berth, we are sure that a good account will be made of his activities.

A correspondent sends for inspection a Lincoln envelope bearing the three cent of 1861, with the imprint in frame in the upper left corner: "For President, Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois. For Vice President, Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee. Key Note—'Union & Liberty.'" The reverse of the envelope is covered with the text of the "Union Party Platform" and we quote: "Admiration of President Lincoln—his practical wisdom—his unselfish patriotism—his unswerving fidelity—his singular fitness for responsibilities of the Presidential office—his determination to carry out the Constitutional Measures." Another interesting envelope bearing a 3c of 1851, shows on its face a map of the territory traversed by the Pennsylvania Railroad from New York to Chicago, with a table of distances between the important points of those days. The face of a third cover, with 3c of 1851, and sent in 1855, is embellished with the pictorial legend, "New York Associated Press, Telegraphic Agency, Office, No. 3 Hanover Street, New York." A cover is all the better for its historical suggestions.

We have received the new postage due set of Malta from Mr. R. Forbes-Bently of Birchircara, Malta, with the following particulars: "The new postage due stamps were issued on the 21st of July 1925, and they were printed in sheets of 120 stamps with four control numbers to each sheet. They were printed by Messrs. Bradbury Wilkinson, Ltd. The provisional issue was withdrawn on the day that the new type was issued." The stamps, ten in number, range from ½d. to 1 shilling, 6 pence and are of tasteful design with the cross as the central figure.

Mr. Wm. Jerrems, Jr., Kansas City, Mo., clerk of the Board of Vice-Presidents of the American Philatelic Society, was a recent visitor to Chicago; and from an interview with him, it becomes evident that the Board had a busy year. In explanation why the one thousand dollars that the convention voted for the use of the publicity committee was not forthcoming, Mr. Jerrems said that in view of the fact that the convention did not specify from what funds the amount was to be drawn, favorable was deferred. The life membership fund is supposed to be kept intact in order to maintain the annual expense to the society of each life member and the insurance fund, from its nature, may not be levied on, in a case of this kind. The general fund is not in a condition that would stand the strain, it seems. In some respects, the publicity question, in its application to the society has never been handled as definitely as it might have been and its ghost should be shooed away or materialized into solid flesh.

How many of our readers are giving talks with some regularity, or only occasionally for that matter, over the radio? We should like to have a list of such workers in the cause. We notice that Mr. A. F. Merell of San Francisco is on K F R C, at different times, and we know that there must be others who address invisible audiences in the same manner, and their good work should be publicly recognized.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—W. A. Staeb, sales manager of the Rutherford Stamp Club, Rutherford, N. J., writes us that he has recently made an interesting trip to New England, making stops at Stamford, Springfield, Worcester, Boston, New Bedford, Providence, New Haven and Bridgeport. He received a fine reception all along the line and pays tribute to New England hospitality. His visit to New Bedford was of special interest from a philatelic standpoint. He was also pleased with the exhibit of E. A. Young of New Haven.

—We are advised by C. H. Goodrich of Jacksonville, Fla., that he will gladly donate four or five volumes of the WEEKLY to some stamp club that will be willing to pay the transportation charges.

—J. W. Stowell of the J. W. Stowell Printing Co., Federalsburg, Md., was a recent caller at the WEEKLY office in Portland.

—Mr. Harry L. Taite, Delaware, Ohio, has had to suspend his dealing operations for the time being because of an attack of neuritis. It will not be long, however, before the business clock at the old stand will be clicking again with accustomed regularity.

—Recently, in the Chicago Daily News, the photograph collection of Mr. Michael Altman of that city was the subject of a feature article, in which it was said that stamps also had a place in the collecting affections of Mr. Altman.

—A short time ago, the Chicago Philatelic Society came to the fore in newspaper articles in the News and the Journal, the information that they contained having been contributed by the secretary, Mr. F. C. DeWitt.

—The New York Times gives good preliminary notices to the convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans at Baltimore and that of the American Philatelic Society at Los Angeles. Baltimore will draw many eastern collectors and Los Angeles will be the rallying point for western philatelists. Mr. J. N. Luff, New York, cannot attend the Los Angeles meeting as he is about to sail for Europe.

—The Illinois Central Magazine for August, 1925, contains a capital stamp article, illustrated by half-tone groups of stamps and a cut of Charles F. Mann, treasurer of the Chicago Philatelic Society and local cashier of the Illinois Central. The article is headed, "The Lure of Stamp Collecting," and will meet the eye of the 50,000 people who get this monthly magazine of highest class. The magazine is published by the Illinois Central System and its managing editor, Mr. E. F. Harte, is a keen stamp man.

IT'S CIRCUS TIME BOYS!!
VACATION DAYS are going fast,—soon we'll be back in the harness, losing our tan and sunburn, busy with fall work. BUT IT'S CIRCUS-TIME NOW. So come while you may. It's a GREAT OLD MAMMOTH CIRCUS we are running this year, CRUSHING ATTENDANCE, too. Why do they come? They like the LOVELY LADIES, they pet the MENAGERIE, cute little ZEBRAS, PERFORMING ELEPHANTS, GROWLY TIGERS; they gaze with awe on the PAGEANT, they admire the STRONG MEN, and the TOSSING BANNERS, they try the AIRPLANES, they greet OLD FRIENDS, and they surely do feel satisfied with THE BIG TOP, that nice FLOWN BERMUDA COVER And then they want to COME AGAIN and so they try a MONKEY CAGE, and because they are not naughty evolutionists, they don't find any MONKEY BUSINESS to it but 300 more GOOD CLEAN STAMPS, MOSTLY DIFFERENT from the MAMMOTH CIRCUS, and flying to them again in a genuine BERMUDA 2nd TRIP. COME, GOOD FRIENDS, ONE AND ALL, HERE'S VACATION FUN,—AND THE

EARLY BIRDS IN STAMP COLLECTING

By Clinton L. Chalfant.

In this article it is not the purpose to tell of any "rare finds," or gilt edged investments, but to give a few observations which may be of interest to the thousands of collectors like the writer who is not able to spend even a moderate sum on his collection, but who gets a great deal of pleasure out of an "average collection."

Time and time again there have appeared in the philatelic press of the United States stories of the time when 5 cent 1847's could be purchased for from 10 to 50 cents each, but that is not within the memory of the majority of collectors of the present day. Those of us who have been interested in the United States, and British North American postage stamps find that if we make any additions to our collections we must turn our attention to other fields. Now those of us who bought the United States issue 1916-17 unwatermarked perforated 10 have no regrets. The three-cent stamp, No. 464, which cost face at the Springfield, Missouri, post office, where the writer resides, is now listed by dealers at $1.50 net. Those who secured the Panama Canal Zone issue on United States 1904 issue for 40 cents, as advertised then in Mekeel's, now are more than satisfied as this set retails for $8.15. About that time there was also advertised in the same publication stamps of Guam, in part as follows:

1c	.12	.25	.75
2c	.12	.25	.45
3c	1.75	1.50	3.00

In more recent years those who purchased the 10 franc green Luxembourg No. 138, 1923 issue, for 95 cents, wish now that they had purchased a 100 or more as this stamp now catalogues at $50 each. Now some of us who are hunting new "fields" for collecting are turning our attention to the more common varieties of the World War issues, all of which are attractive, especially the British Colonial "war stamps"; Austrian fieldpost occupation stamps; German occupation stamps of Belgium, France, Poland, Roumania, and the Allied occupation stamps of Austria, and the colonies of the Central Powers. Some of us now wonder if after seven years we are "early birds" when it comes to collecting these stamps as leading dealers of the east declare that the wholesale prices on some of the German occupation stamps, such as Allenstein and Danzig for "complete sets" are "way out of sight;" however, the writer has found that a collector, unless he is a millionaire, even with a country whose stamps are considered "cheap," is unable to "complete" his favorite country; however, one can have a fine representative collection of many countries which are popular at small cost.

The thing to do for "early birds" is to pick their country when the stamps are reasonably cheap, and not wait for a rise in prices. Now one who is interested in perforations and watermarks, and the recent historical financial collapse of Germany, can collect stamps of that country since 1918 and derive much pleasure and knowledge. A recent purchase made by the writer of 300 different Germany for only 75 cents was well worth the investment, with much pleasure in addition. Watch the Panama Canal Zone. In trying to secure a nearly complete collection, omitting errors, which it was thot could be done at small cost while the stamps are reasonable, several representative dealers, when asked for selections, did not have any in stock "at this time." In passing, a safe buy would be the current U. S. issue, 1923, for the Canal Zone; also all present issues of the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Philippines, and recent issues of Bosonia, Austrian fieldpost and German occupation stamps, most of which are now in reach of the average collector. To some, these countries will not appeal as strongly as some other countries, but the "early birds" in stamp collecting try to secure the current issues of the stamps of the countries they collect while they are cheap, and do not wait saying, "oh they are common now." Unfortunately, some of us said that when the 10 franc green Luxemburg stamps were offered for 95 cents, and the three-cent U. S. No. 464 was on sale at the local post offices. Watch the one and one-half cent Hardings. There are now two shades of this stamp. One will be scarce. These shades are noticed in the flat plates and rotary press perforated 10. None have been seen imperforate in the dark shades. The "early birds" are the collectors who try to get stamps of their favorite countries when issued.

Nevis
I now have ready two new books of this very interesting country.
In these books there are several uncut sheets of the 12 types of the 6d grey, engraved, 4d engraved and lithographed, and 1sh pale and deep green.
Also a page of scarce essays and proofs, fine lot of singles unused and used, and a grand lot of "REVENUE" overprinted on the first types. These should be studied for "Retouches" of which there are several varieties.

PROVISIONAL 1½c on 1c Envelopes

Collectors will do well to obtain the Provisional envelopes now, for of certain types there seems to be but a small supply, with little likelihood of more, and when it is realized that certain types are rare, they will be advancing from a few cents to a few dollars, as was the case with the previous Provisional issues.

In obtaining supplies from the numerous offices, I have been fortunate in locating certain varieties on certain papers that I believe to be scarce. This especially refers to those overprinted on the former issues, as well as to the kraft paper variety.

I can furnish the following varieties, which are different even after being cut square:

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

2c Block Harding Part Perforated.

Some time back there was found in Newark, New Jersey, a block of forty (10x4) of the 2c black Harding, perforated 12 horizontally and imperforated vertically; the block being the last four horizontal rows from the northwest pane, hence, had straight edge at the bottom and at the right. This block was broken up and distributed.

Mr. Joseph Hoffman has recently shown me what is without doubt the first six horizontal rows from the same sheet, plate 15056. Unfortunately, however, the first five rows of this latter block have diagonal perforations and the last row, which is the only row that would fall in the category of the catalogued stamp, is damaged in several places.

It seems that this sheet was fed through the perforating machines in an incorrect manner, it having evidently been attached to the sheet immediately above hence, received these odd perforations. It should have been found and destroyed at the time before leaving the Bureau.

These are the only part perf. Harding varieties ever located, although several attempts have been made to fake the variety but without success.

Norse-American Varieties

Letters are still reaching me asking for information regarding stamps of the Norse-American series with inverted centers, leading me to believe that rumors are evidently persisting that such stamps exist. As previously explained, I have heard of no such varieties and doubt very much whether the 2c or 5c were ever issued with the inverted center. If such stamps finally turn up, I certainly would like to have early information for the benefit of our readers.

Mr. Arthur W. Line and Benjamin Cadbury send me data regarding further combination of plate numbers of these stamps they have located.

Mr. Albert W. Draves calls attention to the fact that the 5c value from frame plate No. 16925 shows a line through the word "NORSE" on the sixteenth stamp. He states the line is clear and pronounced and that it is identical on several sheets examined. The plate that he has located of this variety is in combination with center plate No. 16929.

Mr. R. B. Locke calls attention to an interesting variety to be found in the case of the 2c red, frame plate No. 16958. On the sixtieth stamp immediately above "AM" of "AMERICAN," there is a red dot. This without doubt is a position dot and has been located on several sheets from this plate.

Provisional 1½c On 1c Envelopes

Mention was made in a recent Chronicle of the fact that upward of forty cities had received the overprinting dies, and as a result many varieties are beginning to appear. It seems that post offices are getting rid of their stock of 1c envelopes, and in the case of one city I note that they are surcharging the older oval type. Philadelphia has also overprinted the kraft envelope on glazed brown paper but the supply was not large. To date, I have seen or had reported the following varieties, which will be of interest to those who will collect in accordance with Scott's listing.

1½c on 1c Green

On 1c on blue (No. 2675).
On 1c on manila (No. 2681).
On 1c on brown, glazed (No. 2682).
Double Line Surcharge
On Issue of 1916-1921 (round die).
On 1c on white (No. 2633).
On 1c on manila (No. 2681).

So far, we have found forty-nine varieties for those who collect entire envelopes and a detailed list of these which is being checked up will be given in our issue of next week.

We wish to thank Rev. J. Dreyer and Mr. Percival Stone for notes of interest.

Canal Zone

Mr. F. R. Brooks calls attention the fact that in the case of the new and 14c Canal Zone, that the overprint on the 3c is somewhat larger than on the 14c which is the type of the former stamps. It remains to be seen as whether the other denominations of the series will come in the second type surcharge.

We recently reported on the say so of one of our correspondents that both the 3c and 14c existed with the "Zone-Zone" error. I have since seen the 3c but am beginning to doubt the existence of the

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

Mr. Brooks writes that he has also n the Postage Due stamps with both es of surcharge.

Relative to the 1c 1925 with inverted rcharge, Mr. Edward Sterns informs that of the forty-three copies of this or that were found, thirty-one are un- d, six having straight edges, and elve are used. In the case of the un- d copies they were mostly broken into gles, but three blocks of four exist. ere has been a search on the Zone to ate some of the fifty-seven that are l missing but without success. The iety, therefore, turns out to be much rcer than we had at first thought.

ANTIGUA.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown the 3p purple on yellow, script water- rk, on new yellow paper.

CHINA.—The Thornhill Stamp Exchange advises that the 7c of the re-engraved issue has been issued. It is a deep purple shade somewhat darker than the previous issue.

CONGO.—Mr. Henry Hooreman sends us for chronicle a pair of the 25c red and black, one stamp being in one language and the other in another, but both with the surcharge "+25c" in blue. Also the same two stamps are issued with the added surcharged at the top of each "Ruanda-Urundi" also in blue.

ESTHONIA.—Francis J. Field, Ltd., informs us that the 1924 set of triangular Air stamps appeared perforated about July 14th last. The issue consisted of between 30,000 and 50,000 sets.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—Mr. G. V. Stewart informs us that he has received the $1, large pictorial, watermarked old Mult. C A, in a new distinctively pale shade.

GERMANY.—Whitfield King & Co. send the 5pfg and 10pfg of the Munich Exhibition set. At the top of the stamp is "Verkehrsausstellung" and at the base "Deutsches Reich", while at the left is "Deutsche" and at the right "Muenchen". The color of the 5pfg is green and the 10pfg red.

HONG KONG.—We have received from Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts the $5 on emerald script watermarked paper.

LATVIA.—Mr. Karl Koslowski and the Economist Stamp Co. have sent copies of the 30s, in rose red shade, which is the last of the present series.

MAURITIUS.—Mr. R. Roberts sends the 8c orange, arms type, on script paper.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. R. Roberts sends copies of the 2c orange 2½c green, 4c blue and 5c gray green with syncopated perforation being 12½ at the top and 11½ syncopated at the sides. This style perforations is an invention that has been adopted for separating roll stamps in this country. It consists of four holes 2mm from the edge and then blank space, another four holes, and then a 2mm space at the other edge. Mr. Roberts also reports the 1c carmine perf. 12½.

W. T. Arndt, N. Y. City.

On Thursday, August 6th, two applications for membership in our Honor Club were received. One was from J. C. Sanderson, 2566 Lee Rd., Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and the other from W. T. Livingston, with R. H. Fyfe & Co., Detroit, Mich. We welcome both to membership in our ever growing Honor Club.

We welcome to membership in the Five Year Honor Club, B. Hertzberg, 750 Trestle Glen Rd., Oakland, Calif. Mr. Hertzberg has been a subscriber for some five years and writes that he never fails to get enjoyment from our paper.

We also acknowledge the receipt of $5 for a five years membership in our Honor Club from Walter Talmadge Arndt, secretary of the Citizens' Union of the City of New York. This organization styles itself "A union of citizens without regard to party for the purpose of securing the honest and efficient government of the City of New York." Mr. Arndt writes that his relations with the WEEKLY are of long standing. He was a subscriber to the first issue when published in St. Louis and has been a contributor to our columns. The WEEKLY has many men and women of prominence upon its subscription list, and Mr. Arndt is a type of many who in the midst of public activities finds satisfaction in the pleasures of philately.

SOUTH AFRICAN AIR MAIL

By WILLIAM M. McFARLAN

The South African air mail service between Durban, Natal and Cape Town in the Cape Province which was inaugurated in the early months of the spring, was short lived indeed, lasting but a little over three months from the time it was started.

My correspondent in Durban, in sending me three covers by this service, states that the venture of trying out an air mail service in South Africa has proven a failure and was discontinued with the trip from Durban to Cape Town and return on June 11, 1925.

In a country where the distance is so great between large centers of population, such as is the case in the Union of South Africa, an air mail service should prove effective from the start, especially, with all special advertising cancellation in red ink on all the ordinary mail sent out in Durban to attract the attention at the time of the inaugurating of the service. Furthermore, the Union Government issued four denominations of special air mail stamps of a large size, showing an airplane in flight, consisting of one penny in red, three pence in blue, six pence in purple and nine pence in green.

On the last day of the service when my covers were mailed, the nine pence was no longer available to frank letters to go by this service to foreign letters so consequently combinations of the three lower values were used.

The first information I noted about the air mail service was in Mekeel's some months ago and the writer of that article stated that the service was daily, but I am informed by my correspondent that this service made one round trip weekly on Thursdays only, and due to the small use of the air mail, this service had to be abandoned.

The covers I have before me contain 8d in Air Mail stamps and an ordinary 3d Union of South Africa stamp and are cancelled with a machine cancellation in black, such as ordinary letters would be coming from Durban, June 10, 1925, and also the advertising cancellation "Buy Union Loan Certificates" both in Dutch and English. Yellow labels are stuck on the envelopes with the following inscription "BY AIR MAIL PER LUGPOS" and in a boxed frame. They also have an air mail cancellation by a hand stamp with the same inscription between two concentric circles and also the date "11 Jun 25" thru the center.

More U. S. covers and cancellations than ever before. And that's not may-be. L. E. RICHARDSON, 75 Westminster St., Providence, R. I. (Visitors welcome.) [tf*

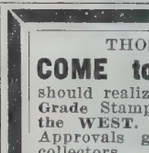
A NEW ERROR FROM ARGENTINE



The error 5 cent green instead of red of the issue of 1892 from Argentine, with the picture of the Argentine statesman Rivadavia, is well known. In the new handbook by Kohl, No. 1, page 94, we read as follows: "The error existed on one sheet only; it was sent unnoticed together with sheets of 2 cent to the Post Office of Buonas Aires and from there to a local firm; the error was noticed when some of the pieces on letters from the firm went through the post. The remainder of the sheet (63 in number and according to others 75 pieces) were re-claimed by the firm; some unused are said to have been remitted to some friends. According to this, only 27 or 37 pieces have been used. The collection of Marco del Pontes contains a block of four used (Exhibition 1910 in Buonas Aires). Kohl's quotation for this error is Goldmarks 1,000, Yvert-Tellier 15 frs. 1750, Scott's No. 150, Stanley Gibbon gives no quotation."

The special works on this subject by Dr. Marco del Pont and others make no mention of the error of 5 cent orange instead of red in the issue of 1892. Eleven pieces have been discovered. They are identical to the other normal stamp of this issue. The error in green has this perforation. The block of five copies still shows the marginal note Compania Sud Americana De Billetes de Banco, Buonas Aires. The gum is the same as that of the ordinary stamp—a smooth, yellowish gum.

This error in color, orange instead of red, is evidently quite unknown. It cannot be an essay, for the reason that all essays known to us are without a watermark and on these eleven stamps the watermark is identical to the watermark of the normal stamp. It is probable that one or perhaps more sheets of the 5 cent were printed by mistake in the color of the 3 cent and like the 5 cent green were issued by the postal authorities for commercial purposes. The 5 cent chanced to be noticed shortly afterwards while the sheet or sheets of 5 cent orange remained unnoticed and unknown.

It is not known as yet whether any letters bearing this error are now in existence. It is, however, not improbable that someone or other will look through his old stock and may be able to produce one of the rarest pieces. Even if unused it is naturally already very scarce. Only eleven of these pieces are known; the used copies will be even rarer. In any case, there can be no further doubt as to the existence of an error in orange instead of red. —Reprinted by Echo de Timbrologie from a Swiss paper.

REPORT OF PRESIDENT WOLSIEFFER

TO THE 40TH ANNUAL CONVENTION A. P. S. ASSEMBLED AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA:

Gentlemen and Ladies:—

It is with unspeakable regret that circumstance, based on personal considerations, have made it impossible to go to Los Angeles and San Francisco as I had planned. The pleasure of seeing you in person and meeting you in the annual convention as usual is denied me and preparations for the trip have been set at naught.

The year just passed since the 39th Annual Convention in Detroit has been crowded with interest for members of the American Philatelic Society as well as philatelists everywhere. In our own United States the new issues of commemorative stamps have caused many old-time collectors to renew their interest and activity. Every report of Secretary Davis indicated this fact by the numerous applications of former members for re-instatement.

Then again the various stamp exhibitions held abroad, the activities of the various committees of the coming Canadian Exhibition to be held in the city of Montreal next October and our own great Exhibition to be held in the city of New York in 1926, and which is expected to surpass anything of the kind ever attempted, has done much to create unusual publicity for philately.

We have been greatly favored by the press in many ways, presenting to the public the interesting and beneficial pursuit of stamp collecting. Pages, columns, news items and notes have been written and printed in leading journals of the big cities—"real publicity" that no amount of money could buy.

By-Laws Committee—At the last convention a committee was appointed to draft a new set of by-laws and the entire membership was invited to send to the committee suggestions. The chairman, Wm. C. Stone, announces many new ideas sent in for consideration and he promises to place the complete report before you at this convention for your consideration. Some of the members sent suggestions to me fearing the committee might receive too many and theirs not thought feasible for consideration, but all did receive a hearing.

Publicity Committee—A Publicity Committee was also appointed and an appropriation of one thousand dollars made at the Detroit convention. Mr. H. A. Diamant, the chairman, worked indefatigably in behalf of this committee, but as the convention failed to provide for the one thousand dollars appropriated, the Board of Vice-Presidents could find no authority or fund from which this amount could be diverted and Mr. Diamant was obliged to discontinue his efforts after he had spent considerable of his own funds in behalf of the committee's work. It is my opinion Mr. Diamant should be reimbursed for his expenditures which were made in good faith on his part. I call your attention to the report of the Board of Vice-Presidents on this and other important subjects on pages 674 to 676 of the July American Philatelist. It is but fair to say that I received many protests against the society spending any part of any fund for publicity purposes, claiming in all cases that it was not the duty of the American Philatelic Society to boost philately in the manner proposed.

The society owes a most hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Herman W. Boers of Detroit for his earnest work in giving publicity to the regular and philatelic press. Also to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS and Philatelic Gossip for the generous amount of space they have given to the American Philatelic Society during the past year.

Sales Department—While a very large percentage of the membership participate in this popular department, there is always room for more and I am sure Mr. Guest will be pleased to serve you all. The Department is growing by leaps and bounds and like the society itself requires some revision, the most important of which is the length of time the Sales Superintendent should serve. It is now an appointive office for a one-year term only, but in my opinion it should be made at least a three- or five-year term and I favor a five-year term. By making this change the Superintendent would be assured that so long as he attended to his duties he would not be disturbed at the end of each year by some possible combination of circumstances or change of Directors. I am very sure this would make for still better results, and the Superintendent could then give his entire attention to the Department and not have to worry about a re-appointment each year.

Board of Vice-Presidents—Our present able Board of Vice-Presidents has called your attention to the fact that the increasing membership means increased work and increased expenses, and that a much larger sum must be set aside for their work if they are to function properly. I never fully realized the amount of correspondence that the Board was obliged to handle until this past year and they deserve great credit for what has been accomplished.

The American Philatelist—I do not have to tell you what a success this has been. You know it by every number you receive. Our thanks are due to Editor Fennel for his faithful work. Encourage him by sending him news items, reports of your local society, an article if possible or any interesting bit of information you may obtain. His willingness to receive suggestions and act on them has

My large stock of United States stamps has been completely re-assorted since the first of the year. Many items were found in surplus quantities and many copies in what is commonly called "average" condition were removed.

This surplus stock and these "average" copies have been made up mostly in approval cards containing five copies each of nine varieties—at discounts this paper will not permit us to announce.

For Small Dealers and Exchangers

this is an unusual opportunity. Lots will be sent on approval to those who furnish the names and addresses of their bank and two dealers as reference. Minors must be guaranteed by their parents. United States stamps only.

H. F. COLMAN 509 SEVENTH STREET, N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

helped to make the American Philatelist one of the foremost philatelic magazines in the world.

Our Income—It seems to be the consensus of opinion that our present income is not sufficient to carry us along at a $3 per year dues and $1 for one share of stock. This sounded big when our membership was less than 1500 but now that we are approaching the four thousand mark it is entirely too small. It is a question if it would be wise to again increase our dues, but there have been numerous suggestions that we increase the initiation fee to three or five dollars. This would then permit us to place the entire amount of dues in the General Fund together with the income from a Permanent Fund which would be greatly increased by the larger initiation fee. It is also strongly advocated that the Life Membership fee be increased to at least fifty dollars.

Permanent Fund—It is my firm belief that our finances should be a fixed policy and a Permanent Fund established, consisting of our present Stock Fund and Life Membership Fund, and kept inviolate for all time. Such Permanent Fund to be increased by an initiation and stock fee of at least $3 or whatever the convention decides. Bequests and subscriptions from those members who feel inclined to contribute are to be added to this proposed Permanent Fund and every effort made to increase it. All income from this properly invested Permanent Fund to be turned over to the General Fund for the expenses of officers, American Philatelist, etc., whenever the General Fund requires it. If we build up our finances and properly safeguard them we need have no fear for the future. The income of one hundred thousand dollars in such a fund would not only help to keep down the dues but would greatly assist in the publishing of a greater American Philatelist and many works of real merit. It is our duty to build for the future.

Harmony—In closing it is but just to all the Directors and officers to say that the work of the year has been done without friction of any kind and I want to thank each one of them for their faithful efforts in behalf of the society. Secretary Davis, Treasurer Elliott and Editor Fennel have borne the burden of the work and I trust our finances will be in such good condition that the small remuneration they now receive for services may be substatially increased.

Thanking you one and all for the hearty support you have accorded me during my term of office and trusting for a continuance of the same to my successor, Mr. H. A. Wilhelm of San Francisco, I remain for the best interests of the American Philatelic Society at all times, yours

Sincerely,
P. M. WOLSIEFFER, President.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are indebted to J. M. Bartels for a remembrance from the Philatelic Exhibition and Convention at Hamburg. He writes that the exhibition was held in a spacious industrial school building under excellent conditions. The finest single exhibit was a large collection of Hamburg by Ernst Vicenz of the exhibition city. It filled 265 pages. German States, German Colonials and recent German air-mail stamps and covers were prominent. The ninety-six numbers in the official catalog were made up of other splendid specialized collections.

—Everett Earle of San Jose, Calif., sends us a clipping dealing with the proposed San Francisco-Hawaii air mail flight of August 28th. There will be a preliminary flight along the Pacific coast a few days prior.

Stanley W. Hayes, Richmond, Ind.

We have the pleasure this week of adding to our membership list in the Honor Club an old advertiser in the WEEKLY in the person of Walter E. Egbert, M. D., 13th and Chestnut Streets, Chester, Pa. Dr. Egbert expresses his keen interest in the WEEKLY and writes:—"It is just like Judge and Collier's in that it must be read through upon receipt."

Stanley Wolcott Hayes, Richmond, Ind., writes:—"I note with alarm that my subscription has expired" and forthwith remits $5 for a five years renewal of subscription. He adds:—"I wish to express my sincere appreciation of your paper." We are told that acts speak louder than words and our correspondent makes good in both directions.

HAVE YOU REALIZED
How Difficult It Is To Find

Superb USED copies of Edwardian and Georgian Colonials? The Reason is that there is very little demand for values above 2½d for postage purposes in the smaller colonies. The higher values are really much rarer used than mint and are very difficult to obtain.

I have had the good fortune to purchase an immense accumulation of Georgians, both MINT and superb USED, and shall be pleased to receive Wantlists (Scott or Yvert) from collectors interested in these stamps.

Packet A.—30 varieties of U. S. postage only, all classified, including every issue from 1851 to 1890 inclusive, only $2.00

Packet B.—20 varieties of the hard-to-place Bank Note issues each one numbered according to Scott's catalog, 1871 to 1890 ..... $1.00

"Educator" Approvals contain almost all regularly issued stamps of the United States from 1847 to 1900. No stamp priced more than $5, most of them at big discounts from catalog prices. Sent only against references or deposit. [H

J. O. MOORE, INC. HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERSON, 318 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

Folks, I'm rather up against it, see if you all can't help me out a little. It is this way, some few readers seem to have the idea that this Forum column is too "high-brow", given to ultra specialism, yet if you have followed it along you will perhaps agree that such is not the case. Their idea is perhaps gathered from my constant reference to "U. S. before '70", for to many that alone means specialism of a most specialistic sort. This need not be so at all, and in fact you may have noted that when we ran into anything that needed delicate handling, it has been explained in "words of one syllable" so to speak, that is, it has been my earnest endeavor to give you a mental image, a picture, that you would have in your mind's eye, when this variety came before you, and in a language not too technical. The reason that I allude constantly to U. S. before '70 is that my philatelic attentions have always been given mostly to these stamps, and my knowledge of later stamps in many cases would be slight.

Suppose you sell every stamp you own, and begin to collect nothing except Mexican Revenues, for they are interesting and intricate. You would realize that you had some pretty stamps, and that is all that you would know—you would be as I am when some of these more recent items in U. S. come to me, and what to do and say about them I do not know.

How would you like to see another column devoted to U. S. stamps? Maybe two more columns, one from 1870 to 1900, and the other just 20th Century U. S.? Could it be done? Would it help you and also help MEKEEL'S WEEKLY? There is a big demand for literature on our more recent U. S., perhaps more of a demand for such reading than there is for this "Before '70" material. Many a collector of today is collecting 20th Century stamps only, and having a wonderful time doing it, too, for the designers', engravers' and printers' arts are beautifully executed in the majority of cases, bar a few of the "up-to-date" creations which are horrible to gaze upon, so much so that they just tickle our risibilities, hence serving a purpose at that.

Many items bearing stamps right up to present reading come to the Forum. I dislike returning them without mention, so I mention them as they are noted. If questions are asked about them, my reply to the sender is sometimes my own idea, and frequently gathered from the many nearby collectors who are interested in such items.

I hope that no reader will get the idea that any of the items described in this column are "over his head", for in writing of the items sent in, that is furthest from my intentions. When the item mentioned comes in, I want you to actually recognize it.

A new New Haven Postmaster stamp on original has been shown me by Mr. H. C. Brooks. These are listed as envelopes appearing in 1845. The "common" red printing, Scott's No. 15, is on the white envelope, and the rare 5c blue, No. 16, is listed on the buff envelope alone. This 5c blue shown me is on a white envelope, the only one recorded to date, and is pmkd. NEW HAVEN APR 17 Ct. The address is "Dr. J. F. Sowell, Athens, Limestone Co., Alabama." Mr. Brooks does a great deal of hunting for old stamps, and when this cover arrived it merely went in with a host of other fine items in his collection.

On a Nesbit No. 2314 we see in the regular big type of round pmk. this in green, HOUSATONIC R R, and green Rail Roads were very uncommon in those days. Another Nesbit, 10c No. 2308, pmkd. in red in tall thin letters STRAWBERRY VALLEY CAL with May 18 in Mss. bears this rare Express pmk. in a ring EVARTS, WILSON & CO.'S EXPRESS—PINE GROVE with a PAID at right. He showed me a 24c August in the most beautiful deep violet that I ever saw. It carried the letter from LOWELL Aug 20 1861 MS. via BOSTON Aug 21 19. BR. PKT. in red to England. Note the extremely early month date, Aug 20!

Here is a marvellous cover, a pencancelled vertical strip of three 1c 1851's. At a glance it looks like just "another one of those strips", not so however.

On the first plate of 1c 1851's there are three stamps which get a bad start, so the man who worked on the plate, turned it around and began at the diametrically opposite corner, and started all over again. In his eagerness to "get going", he failed to remove all the little lines of his poor start, and completed his work without removing those lines.

These remaining marks are of course reversed, and they give us what the Specialized Catalog calls "Inverted Transfer" detailed as Nos. 71, 81 and 91 L 1 E. This means the first stamp of the 8th, 9th and 10th (bottom) horizontal rows of the left pane of Plate No. 1, the "E" meaning Early state of that plate before any recutting was done. (After the recutting, these stamps are designated by "L", Late.)—This cover bears the vertical strip of 1c 1851's that show all three Inverted Transfers, and of course is remarkable indeed.

A 30c War Dept. is canceled by the clearest skull and bones cancel that I have ever seen. This postmaster was "some proud" of his handicraft you may well imagine by the neatness and care used in applying it to this stamp.

Then he adds to our 1861 cancels by the following covers: "F V" in a saw tooth affair used from Franklins Ville, N. C.; "N I" in a cut cork circle from Niland, Ill.; and a handsome "H—P" with "U S" below in a circle of dots from High Point, N. C., this latter town having furnished several snappy cancellations. These covers have black cancels.

On a cover without a stamp, tho used in 1851 from Bridgeport, Ct., is a big black numeral 3, with the letters PAID running in an open space down thro this big 3. This cancel should come on the 3c 1851's and I have seen 3c '51's off cover with what was probably a portion of this obliteration. Is anyone fortunate enough to own a copy with it all on the stamp?

Did you forget about those U. S. with foreign cancellations in last Forum?

The information is received from Mr. Harry Rech, Chicago, that an air mail flight is scheduled from the western coast to a point near Honolulu, Hawaii. On August 28th, three planes will leave, one each from Seattle, San Francisco and San Diego, but only one of the three will carry mail. Which machine will take the mail has not been decided upon, we are told, but assurance is given that provision for mail will be made on one of the three. The trip is to be made in two days, according to the present plan.

According to the circular sent by a stamp commissioner from LaPaz, Bolivia, a set of ten values is to be issued this month by Bolivia, in commemoration of the centennial of Bolivia as a republic. We quote: "The designs are very artistic and unique, being all different in the ten denominations comprising the total issue. The size of the stamps is 25x42 mm., being engraved in three colors by one of the most important firms in London. The whole lot, comprising a very small quantity of the items of one and two cents, will be issued to the public and circulated in all the world." The cloven foot is revealed by the vendor when he says that he is in a position to supply the total issue of 100,000 copies of the one and the two centavos of which 50,000 each are to be issued, with the exception of the copies for registration purposes at Berne and a small number for circulation, at the rate of 25c, gold, for the whole number. A smaller number of the sets of the one and the two centavos is offered on an ascending scale of prices. Here is an opportunity to corner two stamps at the expense of Bolivia's reputation, to put it mildly. However, it is one thing to offer and another to sell.

The following advance notice of a philatelic reference in a forthcoming book, "Illustrated Africa," by Mr. W. D. Boyce, Chicago, to be published by Rand McNally & Company, Chicago, has been sent us by Mr. F. G. Browne of the company: "There is in Liberia nothing of exceptional interest to travelers and most of them who have journeyed down the West Coast of Africa remember Liberia only through its nondescript capital, Monrovia, where the Postmaster General comes out to the boats to sell stamps. His business has dropped because so many new issues were printed by Liberia for this purpose that stamp collectors lost interest. There is a 'United States Consul General and Minister Resident' at Monrovia, an old negro with a white goatee who is glad when an American ship occasionally calls there, affording him an opportunity to requisition provisions."

In a recent issue of the Chicago Bar Association Record, published monthly by the Chicago Bar Association, a halftone appeared with a biographical sketch of Henry W. Wolseley, whose death, it will be remembered, took place a year ago. The following appreciation of philately is found in the text of the biography: "Like most Englishmen, Mr. Wolseley had a hobby. His was the collection of stamps. From his boyhood he was a great collector of stamps. Most men's hobbies are expensive. Mr. Wolseley made his lucrative. He was an authority on stamps and their value. He was popular among philatelists."

Mr. Theodore Siddall, Shanghai, China, writes to say that life in his city is not an unbroken song. First comes the schoolboys' strike and the wet season has its inning when the only way one can keep original gum from sticking is to stow the stamps away in an air-tight box with a hunk of lime, which has to be renewed each week as it soon slacks and turns to paste. Shanghai's strikes will be over some day when it will not be necessary for most of the local philatelists there to be on duty with the volunteers as guards or patrols.

Judging from comments that have been made and letters that have been received, the organization described by Mr. Frank L. Coes, Worcester, Mass., in the issue of August 17th, as a "Committee on Public Relations," is in the position of filling an aching void in philately. It is understood that when the convention of the American Philatelic Society is off the books, an effort will be made to give wide publicity to the objects that are indicated by the name, Committee on Public Relations, in the hope of forming an embracive body of philatelists that will represent all the components parts of philately.

NEWS GLEANINGS

—The Baltimore Sun, of August 12th, contained a lively story of the auction sale held under the auspices of the S. P. A. Some two hundred attended the three-hour sale conducted by M. Ohlman, the well-known New York auctioneer, who kindly sends us a clipping giving the particulars of the sale. The Buchanan Baltimore postmaster's stamp sold for $565.

—Samuel Bennett, formerly of Millville, N. J., is now located at 1135 Franklin St., Reading, Pa., where he is more conveniently situated to care for his growing commercial philatelic interests.

—A recent caller at the WEEKLY office at Beverly was Wm. D. Pierson from that hot-bed of philatelic activity in Connecticut known as Waterbury. Mr. Pierson is deeply interested in United States and British Colonials. He does not warm up very much over precancels. Mr. Pierson is summering at Gloucester, Mass.

—The firm of Hansen & Taite, Delaware, O., wishes us to state that there has been a little delay in the filling of orders, but that all matters will be attended to at an early date.

—Greetings are at hand from our old friend Fred J. Melville, president of the J. P. S. He sends his best regards from Hamburg, where he is attending the Hamburg Exhibition and the thirty-first German Philatelisten Tag. The card bears an Exhibition postmark in keeping with the event. It is both ornate and comprehensive with the information that it conveys.

—S. L. Bierbauer of Altadena, Calif., is sending out a circular announcing the theft of his stamp collection sometime between August 10th and 14th. The collection consists of about 9,000 stamps strong in U. S. and France and British Colonials.

—We have received greetings from the German exhibition at Hamburg from Hans Ueberall of Chemnitz. A card also is at hand from Paris written by Max F. Bier, the well-known Brooklyn dealer.

—A. O. Miller, Lima, Peru, sends us a specimen of a recent local provisional. It is the 20c blue showing monument of Jose Olaya overprinted in three lines:—"Dos Centavo 1925". The overprint is in red.

—We are informed that the dealer, Worth, of New York, has been found guilty and sentenced to a term of from one and a half to four years, in consequence of his irregularities.

—W. S.—We answer your query as of possible interest to other beginners. A first day cover is an envelope mailed upon the day of issue of the stamp used to pay postage on the envelope.

S. P. A —THIRD DAY'S SESSION

Considerable business was disposed of upon the third day of the S. P. A. convention at Baltimore. Mr. Gorham read the report of the Necrology Committee which was accepted in due form. It was voted that the Governing Board be authorized to prepare a code of ethics for the society subject to the approval of the members by a referendum.

It was voted to adopt a proposition submitted by Mr. Gorham for a National Stamp Week about the time of the International Stamp Exhibition to be held in New York City. Maj. Camp for the Board of Governors stated that the Board was considering an annual "Philatelic Day."

Mr. Gorham moved that there be a revision of the list of honorary members but as amended and carried the honorary members will be retained on the roster but no official organ or notices will be sent them.

Thanks were extended Dr. Hussey for his conduct of the Sales Department. The treasurer-elect, Dr. Dallas P. Bray, was presented and thanked the convention for the honor done him. The Resolutions Committee reported the usual thanks to those who had made the convention a success. The rehabilitation work undertaken by Joseph Hoffman was reported upon and the splendid services rendered were greatly appreciated.

The Board of Governors reported that it had organized with Major Camp as chairman. The Stamp Collectors Magazine was voted $21.50 for services rendered. A vote of thanks and re-imbursement for necessary expenses was given Albert E. Gorham for reporting the proceedings of this convention. Secretary Lycett, celebrating his 50th anniversary as a stamp collector, was called upon for remarks, to which he responded, when a vote of congratulations and thanks was extended him.

Major Guy W. A. Camp was given a vote of thanks for the efficient manner in which he had presided over the convention and a suitable response was made.

The following are the officers of the Society for the coming year:—William L. Doepke, President; E. W. Heusinger, Vice- President; William Lycett, Secretary; Dr. Dallas G. Bray, Treasurer; F. L. Coes and A. H. Wilhelm, Directors at Large; G. C. Cuenod, International Secretary; Dr. A. E. Hussey, Sales Manager; Carl O. Selander, Exchange Manager; M. Ohlman, Auction Manager; James H. Hoffman, Counterfeit Detector; T. V. Morgan, Attorney; F. F. Greeley, Publicity Manager; W. R. Ricketts, Librarian; H. V. Backman, Asst. Librarian; W. C. Kater, Dr. E. A. Holberg, Dr. J. J. Waygood, Trustees.

CHICAGO DEALER ROBBED

Several correspondents have sent us clippings regarding the theft of stamps from B. F. Enelow of the Colonial Stamp Co. and we publish the following reprint from the Chicago Daily News of August 21st as being of interest to our dealers.

An amateur robber, shaking nervously as he held a revolver, but obviously a connoisseur in matters philatelic, today bound and gagged Ben F. Enelow, proprietor of the Colonial Stamp Company, in the Westminster building, 110 South Dearborn Street, and stole from the company's safe $10,000 worth of rare postage stamps, ranging from the many denominations of the old German issue to the artistic series of the French colonial possessions.

Enelow, who has been in the stamp business in the same building fourteen years without any losses, found a rather shabby looking man wearing black smoked glasses and carrying a cheap fibre suitcase waiting for him when he came down to his office this morning. He was suspicious, he told Sergt. Leo Carr of the detective bureau, but was thrown off his guard when he let the man into his office and saw that he knew many of the catalogue numbers and other things close to the hearts of stamp collectors.

After about three-quarters of an hour, according to Enelow's story, during which the robber made a number of selections, many of them worth $100 each, the stamp company proprietor turned to his safe to get more books. Before he could turn around he felt a gun against his back and was commanded to hold up his hands.

The robber forced Enelow to sit in a chair, bound him in it, tied the chair to a radiator and gagged him. He then emptied the contents of the safe into the case he was carrying and left as he told Enelow:

"You can have your stamps back if you send me $350." Gladly would he do so, Mr. Enelow told the police, if he knew where to locate the "customer."

According to the description given to the officers the robber is about 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighs 160 pounds. He was wearing a dark suit and a dark soft fedora hat and was carrying a heavy brown ulster besides the light tan case. He wore a flat silver pin near the bottom of his tie, Enelow said.

PROVISIONAL 1½c on 1c Envelopes

Collectors will do well to obtain the Provisional envelopes now, for of certain types there seems to be but a small supply, with little likelihood of more, and when it is realized that certain types are rare, they will be advancing from a few cents to a few dollars, as was the case with the previous Provisional issues.

In obtaining supplies from the numerous offices, I have been fortunate in locating certain varieties on certain papers that I believe to be scarce. This especially refers to those overprinted on the former issues, as well as to the kraft paper variety.

I can furnish the following varieties, which are different even after being cut square:

New Honours Carrier

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown me a variety of the Honours Carrier, No. 1824, 2c black on bluish which has not been noted heretofore. The copy shows two errors in spelling, viz., "Honours" spelled "Conours" and "Cents" spelled "Bents". The copy is on the entire cover, postmarked in red "Charleston, S. C. May 26 '51," and addressed to Augusta, Ga.

The Woodrow Wilson Stamp

A few weeks back the New York World carried an editorial relative to a Wilson stamp and incidentally mentioned that they thought it was very petty on the part of the present administration in omitting Woodrow Wilson from the new series of postage stamps recently issued. They also call attention to the fact that Harding has appeared on two varieties and that even Nathan Hale recently graced our new emissions.

Many collectors, irrespective of politics, have felt the same way about the matter and I wrote the Department at the time. Mr. Glover under date of July 27th writes as follows:

"I have read the article referred to and note the statement therein that since that time a set of three 'Walloons', a 1½c and 2-cent Harding, a ½-cent Nathan Hale, a set of three 'Lexington' and two Norse commemoratives have been issued, and still no thought of Wilson. So far as commemorative stamps therein referred to are concerned, I beg to state that it is the policy of the Department as far as practicable to permit the organizations interested to select the subjects of these stamps. With respect to the ½ cent stamp bearing the portrait of Nathan Hale, the Department is not sure but what it would have been criticised by placing the portrait of former President Wilson on a stamp bearing the ½ cent denomination. This eliminates the stamps mentioned with the exception of the 1½ cent stamp bearing the portrait of former President Harding, which is probably the principal cause of the criticism. As you are aware a mourning stamp was issued at the time of the death of former President Harding. This procedure was not unusual. Thereafter by reason of the short time which elapsed between the passage of the Act raising the postal rates and the date the law became effective, the Department in order to supply the public with 1½ cent stamps expeditiously used the plates of the mourning stamp for the 1½ cent stamp, just changing the denomination figures. This was done as above stated in order to place the stamps on sale in time for the new postage rates and was the only reason for using the portrait of President Harding on the 1½ cent stamps.

There is ample time for issuing a stamp bearing the portrait of President Wilson. As you know series of postages are changed from time to time. So far as your suggestion is concerned to issue a 17c stamp, I beg to inform you that during the present year at least it is not probably that any new stamp will be issued. The Department will not have sufficient money in its appropriation to do so and at the same time furnish stamped paper for the public needs. The reason for this is the great increase in the 1c postal cards. The Department will expend from its present appropriation for stamped paper about $450,000 more than last year for postal cards alone by reason of the great increase in the use of those cards due to the postage on private cards being two cents while the Government cards remain at one cent."

ALBANIA.—Whitfield King & Co. inform us they have received the following 1922 issue overprinted "Republika Shqiptare"; 1 on 2; 2, 5, 10, 25 and 50q and 1 and 2 francs.

ALGERIA.—Whitfield King & Co. and the Economist Stamp Co. report the following new items: 5 centimes, green (Blanc), 15 centimes, green (Pasteur) and 40 centimes, olive (Sower).

BERMUDA.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle the ½p in a deep yellowish green and the 2½p in a deep olive.

BULGARIA.—Mr. W. T. Wilson, Economist Stamp Co. and Whitfield King & Co. send copies of the 10stot red and grey on pink, 15stot marone and brown on gray blue, 30stot dark grey and orange in a modification of the Lion type of the first issue of Bulgaria (1879), the main difference being that the numerals in the upper spandrels having been replaced by conventional ornamentation, while those in the lower corners are now on a solid rectangular ground.

Also a 2 Leva value in grey-green and bistre, picturing a view of the Sofia Cathedral in the centre. This stamp is transverse oblong in format, the view being in an oval frame, with "2 AB" in the upper corners and the name of the country in native characters below.

ERITREA.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that the 2 lire stamp of Italy has been overprinted "Colonia Eritrea" for use in this colony.

MALTA.—Mr. G. V. Stewart in commenting on the new one-pound stamp writes the following information:

"Because of the fact that stocks (at the Valetta P. O.) of the 1 pound stamp were running very low, a fresh printing (of limited quantities) of this value was received. (The stamp that I reported was of this fresh printing.) Shortly afterwards, this new printing was completely cleared, and applications from London dealers were returned unfilled. Then a second printing (which had watermark upright instead of sideways as in the first printing) made its appearance in London. The first printing is already scarce and should be good.

On August 11th I am leaving on a business trip through Europe, from which I expect to return about October 10th. Orders received at my New York office during that time will be shipped after my return. My European address is

The above stamps were issued by Russian Navigation & Commerce Co. and have been used in Constantinople and other Russian Ports on the Black Sea. See Champion's Bulletin No. 258 of October 25th, 1924.

In another previous bulletin Champion publishes a letter from one of his correspondents, saying: These stamps have been issued in Odessa, and we have seen some letters addressed from Odessa and Samsoun; they are very scarce, as the arrival of the Bolshevists to Odessa stopped the regular distribution of these stamps, and the Officials ran away out of Russia, taking with them the small quantity that was left; we have seen Russian refugees with some unused lots that they brought with them. But the balance of the stamps has been scattered throughout Russia.

We believe these stamps in the future will be one of the scarcest sets of the 20th Century stamps.

The complete set is composed of 60 stamps:

Type A—3 varieties of 10 paras		Type B—1 variety of 20 piastres
" 3 " " 20 "		" 1 " " 30 "
" 3 " " 1 piastre		Type C—3 varieties of 10 piastres
Type B—5 " " 1½ piastres		" 3 " " 20 "

" 4 " " 5 "		" 3 " " 70 "
" 4 " " 7 "		" 3 " " 100 "
" 1 " " 10 "

We can supply the Complete Set of these 60 varieties o. g. fine for $90.00.
We have one set in blocks of four for $360.00.
We have also few short sets of 35 varieties for $17.50. [09

second printing will undoubtedly show a similar rapid appreciation, as the forthcoming new series (which is to have the royal portrait for the d. values and pictorial designs for the s. values) is due for issue any day."

MOZAMBIQUE.—Whitfield King & Co. send for record the 80c rose and black surcharged "Vasco da Gama 1924" in two lines in green. Also the 30c olive and black and the 60c blue and black overprinted "Porteado 20 C" and "Porteado 50 C", respectively. The former is in black but the latter bear an overprint in red.

NEW ZEALAND.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the 4p violet and the 9p olive, King George engraved design, overprinted "Official" vertically in black. These two values replace the 3p and 8p overprinted stamps, which are now withdrawn.

NORTH WEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—On the issue of the new stamps for the Territory of New Guinea all Australian stamps overprinted "N.W. Pacific Islands" were withdrawn from sale.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

SOUTH AFRICA.—We have received the following from Mr. Stephen G. Rich:

"I have received from Mr. A. P. K. de Wet, Newcastle, Natal, South Africa, a letter dated June 1 and sent by airmail, in which he says:

The airmail has been running merely as an experiment and as the revenue has been £3000 while the expenses amounted to £8000 approximately, the experiment is to be discontinued as from 8th inst. Mr. Thos. Boydell, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, states that the revenue would have covered expenditure had the planes been of the passenger carrying kind, as the demand for air trips, Cape to Durban, was a very large one. The planes were unfortunately only De Haviland 9's. I am trying to send this letter by airmail if letters from here are still accepted by it.

The cover in which this letter came has regular 3d blue stamp and 6d air mail stamp, with also the tan By Air Mail, Per Lugpos label which I showed you with the other Union South Africa airmail material, in my letter some six or seven weeks ago."

CONSISTENCY

The Poet has said it's a Jewel.

I'll add that it's a coupla bags full of diamonds!

CONSISTENCY in Stamp Collecting consists of deciding what stamps you would like to collect that you can afford to collect, and then sticking everlastingly to that one line.

Spreading your money and your work and your time over everything in sight means a spotty and unsightly collection and a big loss of money when you try to sell. The same amount of money, work and time devoted to a group of countries or issues means a beautiful collection, complete and attractive, and a good price when you sell.

Therefore, BE CONSISTENT!

And if you decide that 20th Century British Colonials are the stamps you want to collect, you will want to get in touch with me, for I have the stamps, my prices are right, and I am always at your service.

Cyprus Nos. 91 & 92

I must admit that the readers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY are "on the job."

At least, they are not overlooking bargains.

On August 10th I advertised Cyprus No. 91 at $4.00 and No. 92 at $12.50. I knew that they were good stamps and I highly recommended them, as I have been doing to all my customers for some months.

In the meantime, Scott's advance sheets raised the price of No. 91 to $10.00 and No. 92 to $45.00.

Strangely enough, I was swamped with dozens of orders, some of them reaching me before my own copy of MEKEEL'S.

Unfortunately, I did not have nearly enough of the stamps to go around and I was sold out in three days time.

Those who were in time, and those who bought previously, I congratulate, and I regret the misfortune of those who were too late.

But the moral is this: I have been recommending these stamps, and many, many others like them in my weekly lists. In many cases prices appeared high, but my regular customers have learned that it pays to take my tips, and in 99% of the instances, they now own stamps at a mere fraction of their present catalogue value.

If you do not get my weekly lists, and if you do not follow my tips, we are both losers.

If you collect 20th Century British Colonials, whether your collection is small or nearly complete, you need my stock and my service.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

MR. R. S. REGAR, THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL.

Washington Philatelic News

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

On August 1st, Mr. Robert S. Regar of Pennsylvania became Third Assistant Postmaster General, succeeding Mr. Warren Irving Glover, who had been promoted to Second Assistant. While on a short visit to Washington quite recently I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Regar in company with Mr. M. L. Eidsness, Jr., Superintendent of the Division of Stamps, and chatted informally about philately in general and the attitude of Mr. Regar in particular.

Up until the appointment of Mr. Glover, the stamp enthusiast was given scant attention by the Department, but during his administration of the office of Third Assistant Postmaster General, the Philatelic Agency was established and the Department entered upon an era of good feeling towards the philatelist, that Mr. Regar assures me will be continued. The new incumbent is one of those alert young business executives that are gradually assuming positions of responsibility not only in the departments but in the outside commercial world as well and replacing that type of the old school that did everything by precedent. If it was good enough forty years ago it is good enough today.

Mr. Regar hopes to see the agency increase its usefulness and every effort will be made to bring it to a point where criticism will not be possible. As I have endeavored to explain in our columns before, at a time when new issues appear, the demand is so great that the agency cannot fill orders promptly even when working long hours overtime. When you realize that numerous orders call for from twenty to sixty single stamps of different denominations, and that some want one thing and some another, it will be understood why thousands of orders arriving in the course of a few days cannot be filled at once.

I have a fine lot of first day covers, if interested, write me.

H. F. COLMAN 509 SEVENTH STREET, N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

At the present time the Department is not contemplating anything new outside of the additional denominations from the rotary press. When discussing the expected Sesqui-Centennial issues, Mr. Regar states that nothing definite has been done but that, of course, a series will appear in due time. Those responsible for the exhibition in Philadelphia have not as yet definitely taken the matter up with Washington.

I brought to Mr. Regar's attention the fact that Belgium honored the International Philatelic Exhibition held at Brussels by the issuing of the 5 franc stamp in a different color, and that in the recent Paris Exhibition held in May, that the French Government did the same thing. While no definite promises or assurances were given, Mr. Regar is open minded and if the promotors of the coming International Exhibition to be held in New York in 1926 desire something along the same lines a communication from them to the Department is likely to receive very favorable consideration.

An interesting detail brought to my attention in our conversation was the fact that last year the Department turned out enough stamps to circle the globe ten times. When it is remembered how small the postage stamp is, some idea of the number distributed will be realized. The United States Post Office is the largest business organization in the world and is growing at such a rate that there is little likelihood that any other enterprise will overtake it in our time at least.

In addition to meeting Mr. Regar on this trip, I had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of Mr. A. W. Hall, the new Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It will be recalled when Mr. Hall was first appointed, we had some little difficulty in getting plate number data, but just as soon as facts were presented to Mr. Hall as to what use was being made of this information, he kindly consented to continue to furnish us the notes that appear in our Chronicle from time to time. Mr. Hall states that until he became Director of the Bureau, he had no idea that philately occupied such an important position and looked upon it more as a boy's hobby than as a hobby participated in by the serious adult. He was greatly surprised to find that certain stamps commanded such premiums and learned with interest as to what made stamps desirable.

The Bureau at present is experimenting with the idea in mind of cutting down the cost of production and it is believed their methods are becoming more efficient daily. The large number of rotary presses now in operation are saving the Department thousands of dollars yearly. The recent change in plate spacing has resulted in less waste which in turn cuts down costs. These new plates showing this spacing, by the way, are indicated by means of a large open star near the plate number.

LOOKING ROUND

By "MARQUETTE."

Further to my remarks re the £1 Malta, a correspondent reminds me that there are two shades with the sideways watermark, both of which should be good. It is reported that the stamp with upright watermark is now exhausted, and rumour puts the quantity issued at 4,000. If this is right, my prediction, that this printing would be worth buying at face-value rates, should prove sound.

A Copenhagen dealer tells me that stocks of the 10 and 20 öre Postal Jubilee are completely exhausted at the post offices, and that, to the best of his knowledge, there are practically no supplies in the hands of the trade, or of speculators. My informant is in a position to know what he is talking about, so that those readers of the M.J. who bought sets when the stamps were current should find the result satisfactory. Our publishers tell me that their stocks of the Postal Jubilee set are exhausted, but they are making an effort to secure further supplies.

Keen attention is being paid to the various issues of foreign countries for use in the Turkish Empire. The closing down of foreign post offices in Turkey took place at a time when there were many other claims on the attention of collectors, so that for a time these issues did not jump into special prominence. Now, however, collectors have awakened to the fact that sets must be quickly completed, and there is quite a run on many of the "Levants." The British group is of course, prime favourite over here, and buyers seem to be paying particular attention to used, though they are by no means neglecting the unused. All issues are selling, including some of the earlier sets which have been more or less neglected of late years. French Levants are also attracting buyers, whose purchases include Cavalle, Dedeagh, and Vathy; but the main speculative interest of French collectors is centred on the "TANGER" overprints of Morocco, and a few of the recently obsolete Colonials.

I wonder when the catalogues are going to do justice to used British Colonials. It is quite the exception for a catalogue to price a modern stamp in used condition higher than the corresponding unused stamp, and yet, in these days of new issue services, and large importations from small colonies, there must be dozens, or hundreds, of unused specimens of many stamps on the market, to every used copy. Try to pick up fine used copies of current and recent stamps of any small colony, from the 2½d value upwards, and you will see that, in quantity at least, they are "not present" in the stock books of most dealers, while the unused are plentiful.

It is perhaps true that the demand for unused is greater than the demand for used; but even when the actual demand for each is compared, I am convinced that many, if not most, of our modern Colonial stamps should be priced higher used than unused. The number of unused copies in existence, when a stamp remains current for more than a short period, is more than equal to the demand for it, as further printings will be made from time to time as orders come along. The number of used stamps is limited by the postal use made of each value. Then comes the horrid thought that if pri for used stamps are raised above th for unused, we shall have an extens of the practice, so familiar to collect of Air covers, of sending letters (empty envelopes) through the p merely to get them postmarked, whi in my opinion, is very little better th taking them to the post office and gett an obliging clerk to "do the needful."

In connection with the values British Colonials, one has to beware thinking out problems on a pre-war ba Since the war the American and C tinental demand for stamps of all cou tries has increased enormously, and th has been a corresponding expansion the home demand. This has had marked effect on the available suppl of many stamps of which big wholes stocks were held before the war, a we are probably on the eve of a sha rise in many stamps which have alwa been regarded as among the comm ones.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journ

By H. P. ATHERSON, 318 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

From Mr. R. B. Martin we have a Patriotic printed wholly in red. "The Strong Arm of the North" is printed in a curved label above the picture of said strong arms, which holds aloft a huge hammer, this cover being posted from "Ellicottsville, N. Y." in that greenish black ink which is called Olive Green by some, and Logwood Black by the Dye Stuff experts, tho there is a true Olive Green sometimes used, and this true color is very little used.

A cover with 3c green American Print pmkd. in octagon "FT. ABRAHAM LINCOLN OCT 18 1880" is here, and this pmk. may be a "new one" to add to the list of Fort pmks. by the collectors who have taken up collecting "Forts". This should be a real sporty proposition—collecting Fort pmks. Most of them come on stamps of the War Department, and of course are among the so-called "Hard-to-gets", especially when on the covers.

From Mr. Forbes E. McCann we have a most unusual pmk. on a handsome pair of 1c Re-engraved, pmkd. in a neat double lined ellipse in purple "THIRD CLASS DEC 19 1881 POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y." Mr. McCann remarks that this looks extremely early for a stamp of a series headed 1882 in our catalog. Has anyone an earlier Re-engraved stamp of this series of four stamps?

One of those little Photos of Civil War times is received from Mr. E. F. Robinson. You will know what I mean when I say that they are usually with Revenue paid by a 2c blue or orange stamp cataloguing a couple of cents, when you are hoping to see a 2c Playing Card, or Certificate, or the 2c Orange Proprietary stamp on them. This one is paid by a 2c Black Jackson. It is a pleasure to collect a stamp which saw so much of the world, for the stamp comes on Bank Checks, Notes, Deeds, Marriage Licenses, and in many unexpected forms, aside from its intended postage.

Here is a cover with no stamp from Mr. L. V. Lindsey, the pmk. being NEW YORK PAID QUARTERLY JUN 22 in a ring of generous size. This cover goes from N. Y. City to Rockdale, N. Y., carrying a commission merchant's price list dated Jun 22 1872. Who has seen one of these markings and what is the significance of that PAID QUARTERLY? Some printer kindly come to our rescue.

In finds of old covers have you noticed that some of the better items, such as a fine rare cancellation, or an odd combination of stamps, are very often found in duplicate? Two lots of "Split" Black Jackson covers have been called to my attention, the first having some 25 covers in the lot, and the last one shows about half as many. Each lot was quite genuine, the sender probably trying to use up his surplus supply of these 2c stamps by splitting them up so that they would make the regular rate of postage. This he apparently accomplished in a satisfactory manner, for they were accepted as postage at face value by the several postmasters where mailed, and the Government "said nothing", so we may apply that old adage in this case, "Silence gives consent".

"Split" stamps are quite much appreciated when they date way back into the old days before philatelists began trying the patience of postmasters by seeing how far they could go with their freaks of "Splits", Revenues used for Postage, and "Centers Inverted", "Bi-colors," etc., etc.

The quaint little "Quarters" of those old Mexican stamps are amusing and perfectly genuine, as are the British North American early issues cut in twain. Our Confederate 20c green is not an easy fellow to find perched on a pretty cover, and we generally have to content ourselves in the reading of finds of split 10c '47's, and 12c 1851's on covers. They are all noted in the catalogs of the various countries, and of course the stamp must be on cover, or on such a large portion of the cover that there may be no doubt in the mind of the collector as to its being genuinely used thro regular postal channels.

Collectors have made inquiry about covers bearing two (or a pair of) 2c Black Jackson stamps, could they have been used for "Carriers"? Yes, they could be, if they bore the Carrier cancellation. New York City and Philadelphia made much use of the 1c carrier rate at this time. I have yet to see a cover franked with four cents' worth of Black Jackson's bearing the Carrier mark, and I cannot imagine why they do not come to light frequently. I have about 125 covers with two BJs on them, and nary one is a carrier tho many come or go to N. Y. or Phila. Has anyone seen this 4c carrier rate paid by 1c stamps alone, or by Black Jackson's? We very often find covers with the 3c, and 1c being used as a "Carrier".

The 10c and 1c are sometimes found going to Canada. One of the prettiest covers I ever saw had a 1c '61 used as "Carrier" with a 10c August and a 5c Buff going to Germany, each copy beautifully struck with a brilliant red Gridiron—imagine the colors of that cover! Handsome.

Uncle Sam made quite a bit of excess profit on Black Jacks. The 125 covers I have show a dollar and a quarter gained for no service whatsoever, and there were probably many thousands so used where the sender spent the cent without regret.

You'd best give that "Z" Grill a bit of attention, for the used 3c is catalogued at $25.00, and you know how we figure that in finds, certain stamps repeat themselves from the same sheet of stamps, so you may find a number of these 3c with Z grill, and again, you may find not one. The way to tell 'em is by the ridges of each grill point being parallel to the top and bottom of the stamp, this being a correction to the original article which had them reversed, and was corrected in the following Forum.

Concentrate on those grilled 1867's, I think they are the most difficult of all issues of our U. S. postage stamps to secure in bright fresh color, neat cancels, and well centered. While little thought is now given these stamps, the same applied to land in Florida a year ago.

"A word to the wise is sufficient."

BUSINESS AS USUAL
While the recent holdup caused us a very serious loss, we wish to impress on our valued patrons that the stamps lost constitute only a very small fraction of our stock, not that the robber was too considerate to take everything, but he simply could not carry any more. Our stock of early U. S. was not touched at all, while our stock of foreign is still extensive enough to keep us going for the rest of our natural life. All recent advertisements are still good, and we welcome our old friends and new to call on us for any of their hearts' desires.

JAMAICA PICTORIALS OF 1920-21.

The Ten Shilling stamp was issued on May 6, 1920, printed from an engraved plate of 30 subjects, i.e., 6x5, in one sheet on white paper watermarked old type CA multiple upright, perforated 14 comb.

The design is treated in transverse rectangular style and measures 32x25mm. It is printed in single colored deep slate green, and shows nothing peculiar to the island in the sense of the others of the series. It shows the head of His Majesty to the left on a lined ground in a crowned oval, above which is a white tablet bearing his title "King George V" in colored characters, the ends of the tablet being ornamented with laurel leaves. On both sides of the oval, and conforming to it, are colored bands on which are the words "Postage" at left reading up, and "Revenue" at right reading down, both in small white letters. At left and right are Cherubs, each holding aloft with one hand, scrolled supports to the title tablet. Their free hands hold, trailed across their bodies, ribbons which are bound to upright branches of laurel. At the lower corners are white squares with lined borders, on each of which the value "10's" appears in color. Between are the words "of Jamaica Supreme Lord", in three lines in type of varying sizes, the boldest of which is used for the word "Jamaica".

The whole produces a very pleasing effect, but the only item on the stamp significant of the island is the last named title, i.e., "Supreme Lord". It is the first time that it has been used on a stamp of the colony, and is peculiar to Jamaica. It was first used by Charles II, who assumed the title of "Jamaicae Domini", viz., "of Jamaica Lord", in the sense of "Lord of the Manor". Successive sovereigns continued the use in this form until the reign of Victoria, when it was thought that "of Jamaica Lady" was not distinguished enough, and it was changed to "of Jamaica Lady Supreme", hence the use in these terms on the 1sh stamp. Edward VII continued the use of the title in the new form, but of course in the masculine, "of Jamaica Lord Supreme", and in these terms it was also assumed by His reigning Majesty, King George V.

The stamp was designed by His Excellency, the Governor, Sir Leslie Probyn, who drew on himself and the island incidentally, adverse criticism in the Philatelic press, by lauding the stamp, and advising purchase as an investment. This was very ill advised, as philatelists, having paid for experience, at once came to the conclusion that this was but another attempt to fleece them, and coming as it did, not very long after an attempt had been made by certain interested parties to discredit one of the War Issues, there appeared to be some reason for the unfavorable statements which were printed, as the criticisms were very outspoken and not always kind. Time has proved, however, that His Excellency's effort to popularise the stamp, mistaken though it was, was not that of a profiteer, personally or in the interests of the island, as the stamp, and on the old paper too, is still on sale in the island (March, 1922).

It was claimed by some innocents that this high value was an entirely unnecessary issue, as for many decades it had been done without, and as on the face of it that appears to be sound, it is well to show here the necessity of the stamp. Its issue was principally due to the fact that Jamaica issued its own small currency notes of 2s6d, 5sh and 10sh denominations, and that these notes to a great extent replaced the use of silver. The banks, of which there are four with their headquarters at Kingston, maintain branches at all the important seaport and country towns where buying, selling, and shiping of bananas and other agricultural produce is done, and to keep these branches in funds, regular remittances need to be made from Kingston. It will at once be apparent that these small notes lend themselves to easy handling through the post, but they need to be insured at the rate of 6d for every £12.0.0., and there is the necessity for the 10sh stamp. A parcel of £1000.0.0 would require 22sh for insurance alone, and instead of using 4 or 5 stamps for this purpose, three are made to do.

While on the subject of bananas, a writer in Gibbons Monthly Circular recently criticised the 2d stamp for showing the bananas growing up the stem, inferring that it should be shown as growing down. Intelligent criticism is always helpful, but ignorant is not, and this writer is guilty of the last, to which Gibbons have contributed by publishing it. If any of these folk will take the trouble to examine a bunch of the fruit at any fruiterer's, they should see for themselves that the banana does grow pointed up and not down the stem, and writing from experience of banana growing, it can be affirmed that that is the natural condition.

The official record of the 10sh stamp is as follows from the Gazette of May 6, 1920:

"Stamp Office, Kingston,
1st May, 1920.

The following is a description of the 10sh adhesive stamp which will be put into circulation on the 6th of May, 1918.

The design of the stamp is denoted by a profile of King George the Fifth in an oval frame surmounted by a crown. Above the crown is printed "George V" and at the bottom of the profile are the words "Of Jamaica Supreme Lord" and 10s in the right and left corners. To the left and right of the oval frame are the words "Postage" & "Revenue" respectively, and supporting the medallion of King George V are two winged figures. The colour of the stamp is greyish green.

C. C. MANTON,
Deputy Stamp Commissioner."

Gazette of May 13, 1920:

"Stamp Office, Kingston,
7th May, 1920.

CORRIGENDUM.

Page 338, Jamaica Gazette of the 6th May, 1920. The date of the circulation of the new design 10sh postage and revenue stamp should be 6th May, 1920."

Just a few closing notes:—It is generally known that the change from the old type CA watermark to the script, was due to the fact that the old dandy roller had become worn. This news, no doubt caused enthusiastic collectors to be on the lookout for abnormalities of watermark on recent issues. They may be found on these Jamaica pictorials. All the stamps of large format on the old paper, from the 2½d upwards, provide specimens which may be found with (1) crown missing, (2) C missing, (3) A missing, (4) CA missing.

A variety of much greater importan has recently been discovered, the 1sh old paper has been found with invert centre. As only 60 of these stamps ma a sheet, it will at once be obvious th the supply of this error is strictly limit It was discovered at a country post-offi the P.M. of which had not noticed it, a had been selling from the sheet to t public, so it is possible that some us copies will show up, but so far as is n known, only 30 unused copies a available.

Jamaica has borne a clean philatel name, until recently when there was attempt by certain interested parties mud throwing over some of her war i sues, but despite this fact her gener issues appear to have suffered in pop larity, due no doubt to their almo deadly monotony, yet there are many ph latelists who claim that the ideal philatel country puts out one issue and stays that indefinitely, but for every one these, there seems to be hundreds, pe haps thousands, who desire change an something of the country's history po trayed on their album leaves. If th issues of Jamaica up to 1913 appealed the first, it seems certain that the Pictor

By APPLEGATE.

The Large Wine Stamps.—The size of these stamps as given in the catalogue—51x81mm.—is hardly accurate as stamps of this size are not complete, the outer line of the design being continuous on the right around a blank coupon of equal area to the stamp proper.

These stamps are not rouletted, but perforated 12 on the left side only where they are extracted from the book in which they are bound. The purpose of the coupon is peculiar. Additional stamps needed to complete the tax were to be pasted to the coupon.

A complete set of $20, $40, $50 and $100 stamps can now be bought for about face or with some values only slightly pin-holed for considerably less.

Complete copies of the $20 have brought at auction from $9.70 to $20; used copies without coupons can be bought much cheaper.

A superb complete $50 sold at Ohlman's November sale for $33.75.

They are referred to in the reports of the Bureau as Book Wine Stamps and their intended use was rather indirect paying the tax on wine in bulk something after the manner of use of the Newspaper stamps.

It is well known, however, that the $20, at least, was used tacked direct to the container. I have not learned of the higher values being so employed.

Lacking the portrait these stamps have not the individuality perhaps of the 1871 proprietaries but are a very attractive set nevertheless.

The wine stamps of 1914 and 1916 are, of course, not the first stamps issued by our government for payment of a tax on wine, but are the first wine stamps to carry a monetary face value, and being so closely related in every way to the proprietary stamps issued under the same act of Congress our cataloguers evidently found it hard to make fish of one and fowl of the other. Everybody collects them.

Beer Stamps.—With all this in mind it is not clear why we should not recognize the beer stamps as being of equal merit and worthy of a place in our collections as these wine stamps.

They are analogous in every way to the wine stamps, each class putting a similar tax on a separate beverage. Beer stamps of several succeeding series were in use continuously from 1866 until prohibition, and among them are to be found some of the most beautiful revenue stamps we have ever had.

Oregon Tobacco Stamps.—The Tobacco tax law was rushed through on the last day of the legislature at the instigation of our Governor (Feb. 28) and was to become effective within 90 days. Great opposition to the law has developed in the meantime and there is grave danger that the referendum be invoked and the law annulled before it ever goes into effect. We were to have 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 cent stamps to pay a 10% tax on cigarettes, cigarette papers, tubes, smoking tobacco and snuff.

INTERESTING CLIPPINGS

We are indebted to D. R. Allen of Rye, N. Y., for several clippings. Three of them are of sufficient interest for us to make use of them.

According to an Associated Press despatch to the New York Times, Turkey is about to issue a set of new stamps to be designed by Turkish artists and engraved and printed in England. The designs will show a portrait of the present president of the republic and in addition various views of Turkish points of interest.

A Bronx, N. Y., resident has just received a post card mailed sixteen years ago. At about the same time a Brooklyn party received one that had been on its way thirteen years.

From the Popular Mechanics comes a clipping of more than ordinary interest. It deals with the famous Hawaiian "stamps" that were recently the subject of litigation in the San Francisco courts. It will be remembered that the stamps were declared counterfeits and this excerpt gives us a side-light on the case:—

The above stamps were issued by Russian Navigation & Commerce Co. and have been used in Constantinople and other Russian Ports on the Black Sea. See Champion's Bulletin No. 258 of October 25th, 1924.

In another previous bulletin Champion publishes a letter from one of his correspondents, saying: These stamps have been issued in Odessa, and we have seen some letters addressed from Odessa and Samsoun; they are very scarce, as the arrival of the Bolshevists to Odessa stopped the regular distribution of these stamps, and the Officials ran away out of Russia, taking with them the small quantity that was left; we have seen Russian refugees with some unused lots that they brought with them. But the balance of the stamps has been scattered throughout Russia.

We believe these stamps in the future will be one of the scarcest sets of the 20th Century stamps.

The complete set is composed of 60 stamps:

Type A—3 varieties of 10 paras		Type B—1 variety of 20 piastres
" 3 " " 20 "		" 1 " " 30 "
" 3 " " 1 piastre		Type C—3 varieties of 10 piastres

"Careful scientific work led Carlson to demonstrate that forty-three supposedly genuine Hawaiian postage stamps, valued at $200,000 because of their extreme rareness, were rank forgeries. An overartistic letter 'a' in the words 'Hawaiian Postage' was the first blunder which Carlson discovered under the microscope, and it resulted in testimony that forced the seller of some of the stamps to return $65,000 paid to him by a collector.

A second blunder of the forger, as exposed in court, was the cancellation mark on one set of the forgeries. A pair of two-cent Hawaiian missionary stamps were stuck to a clipped portion of a letter (envelopes were not used in those days, the stamps being placed to seal the latter). The paper of the alleged letter was of correct quality for the supposed year of writing, but Carlson showed that the ink of the supposed cancellation mark had smudged the clipped edge of the letter paper, a clear impossibility as the clipped portion was cut through the writing of the letter. And finally he demonstrated that the stamps had been printed from engraved plates, whereas the genuine ones of that day were produced from hand-set type."

EDITORIAL.

A letter has been received from an adherent of the idea of greater publicity for philately in which he suggests that more attention be given to the significance of the stamp design, in the discussions in the outside press and says that in his opinion, the subject has been "strangely ignored." We can readily understand how the writer, who is a newspaper man, is appealed to by story told by the picture, especially when to get its deeper meaning, one must delve under the surface. It must be said however that years ago there was a cult with some followers who believed in the exploitation of the symbolism of stamps rather than their mechanical aspects; and they made something of a stir. Too many articles in the non-philatelic press wove the stamp designs into interesting descriptions and it is not to be said that the neglect of which our correspondent complains is as apparent as he seems to think it is. We have ever been ready to give prominence to the stories that the stamp pictures tell, as an examination of back numbers will attest. No one will not admit that it is much more sounding and impressive to not dismiss the design of the 1893 Fiji, for instance, as that of a canoe or pirogue, but instead describe it, "in effect, as Fiji, as a canoe, pushing onwards towards the rising sun, under the crown," as the originator of the design, the postmaster at Suva, translated it. However, it must not be thought that the point of our correspondent is not well taken, merely because it has been pointed out attention to the subject has not been wholly lacking.

A reader sends us a little packet of labels that he soaked off the pages of an old collection that he acquired, which he says are without value but may otherwise be of interest. It has been a long time since so many of the old labels that were often impressed into stamp albums have been seen as there are in this envelope. There are labels from spools of thread; paper-collar and shoe-machine license labels; bogus Confederate locals; several sanitary fair stamps and a Utah Mormon label; and there are other reminders of times long past. An exhibit such as this indicates how a paucity of regulation postage stamps existed, once upon a time, when anything that had the semblance of a stamp was eagerly welcomed to the little album. Overly shrewd scamps often sought to make the sterile field flower by supplying stamps of fictitious character and many Confederate "locals" and various express stamps appeared to bedazzle the innocent collector. Occasionally a stamp, such as the Mormon label, was accepted seriously for a time and we have seen a cut of the Brigham Young issue in a foreign album. How much better off is the collector today who may obtain a thousand different stamps almost for the asking when his position is contrasted with that of the father or grandfather who has something to crow over when he attained the thousand mark. Then, one of the important occupations of the collector was counting his stamps and usualy he knew to a stamp just how many were in his book.

The creation of distinctive and striking stamp designs for new issues, especially commemoratives, is engaging the wit and resources of artists in many countries. Recent productions show that appeal through picture and color is recognized. The air issues open up a new artistic vista that is handled variously but in many cases with marked effect. The large Belgians commemorative of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the first stamp issue of Belgium in 1849 will catch the eye and the two silver bordered stamps in the imperial silver wedding anniversary issue of Japan are out of the ordinary. The collector of today certainly is catered to by the designers of stamps who are aware of the advantage of attracting attention.

A question that is asked occasionally is whether it is necessary to have a license to conduct a stamp business. There is no obligation to pay a tax to the national government for the privilege of dealing in stamps and in no other way is a license necessary for engaging in the buying and selling of stamps. No attempt is made by the municipality, state or nation to levy a charge for running a stamp business as such. These remarks do not apply to taxes that may be levied on the basis of a general brokerage business but in the sense that the question is asked: there is no tax on or license required in order to become a dealer in stamps.

From Mr. S. Newbury, Chicago, now traveling in Africa, we have received a copy of the Rand Daily Mail of Johannesburg, South Africa, in which we find in a prominent place a department, under the head, "Stamps and Stamp Collecting," by "Perforation," who, we are told, is Mr. P. M. Valentine of that city. The writer of this weekly stamp corner is an able philatelic editor and if we may judge by the readable and interesting manner in which Mr. Valentine handles his subject, philately enters into the every-day considerations of the South African people. The influence of this newspaper espousal of collecting must be great. In the issue at hand, we find the following tribute to philately in this country that was inspired by Mr. Newbury's visit to Mr. Valentine; it is evident that Mr. Newbury takes his stamps with him. "Stamp collecting in the United States is carried to a degree not surpassed in any other part of the world. It is well known that some of the finest collections are owned by Americans and many of the gems in philately, when they come into the open market, are secured by purchasers from that country." A description is given of Mr. Newbury's specialized Colombian Republic, 1859 to 1865, and first issue of Brazil.

The Marion (Ohio) Daily Star informs us that Mr. W. H. Schaffner of that city has ended his services as active head of the Marion County Bank after a period of nearly fifty years. Mr. Schaffner is known as a collector of many years' standing and as a member of the American Philatelic Society, he has attended a number of conventions. Mr. Schaffner is sixty-eight years of age and will have more time now than formerly, we predict, to attend to his superb collections, as while he is a general collector, he still has his favorite countries.

Our first application this week for membership in the Honor Club comes from Arthur Maudens, 27 So. C St., San Mateo, Calif. We are very pleased to enter his name as a member of our club.

Our old subscriber, George W. Neale of 52 Maple St., Needham, Mass., responding to our invitation to remit $ for a two years renewal, writes us that two years comes around too soon and therefore encloses check for $5 for membership in the Honor Club. Thanks, Mr. Neale.

The name of Joseph S. Davis of Huntington Beach, Calif., will be familiar to many of our readers. He has been upon our subscription list since the first year of publication, first while at College Fort Collins, Colo., about 1890, then Denver for many years, where he was editor of the Rocky Mountain Stamp and since 1912 at Los Angeles. AERO-PHILOSEMY

By Francis J. Field (England)

During the siege of Paris in 1870, balloons were used for the outward despatch of correspondence and newspapers. Since then, with the giant strides made in aircraft construction, rigid dirigibles and aeroplanes were brought to the service of mail transmission; at first experimentally, afterwards as regular postal services. From the year 1918 aerial mail routes have been opened to such an extent that the present day finds Europe alone literally criss-crossed with a web of airways.

This rapid development has brought with it a new hobby—or rather "science"—that of Aero-philosemy. Originally termed Aero-philately, it was this year re-christened at the suggestion of a well-known Irish barrister, for Aero-philosemy (philos: a friend; semeion, impress of a seal) infers the scientific study of seals, postmarks, vignettes, etc., relating to aerial postage rather than the philatelic study of air stamps. As a matter of fact, this cult came as an offspring of stamp collecting, but has grown, within a few years, into a vigorous youth whose characteristics are already individual and well-defined, and whose future is assured.

An airpost collection is generally divided into two sections; one consisting of official and semi-official stamps expressly issued for air postage; the other of "entires," i.e., letters, cards, etc., that have actually been carried over an air route and bearing stamps, postmarks or labels distinctively witnessing their flight. But there is unlimited scope for individual expression. Many of the most prominent votaries also collect all available documents and photographs relating to airpost history, while others specialise by research into the activities of one country alone.

Air stamps may be summarised into official varieties, issued and sold by accredited governments; semi-officials, mostly issued by private companies who hold concessions for aerial transport; and vignettes, often semi-official, but sometimes nothing more nor less than advertising poster-stamps and attached without franking value to the entires.

From the air students' point of view, flown entires are the most valuable acquisitions, for they are undoubted proofs and tangible witnesses to airpost history. Of these, "First Flight" entires take the premier place. With the multiplicity of airways now in operation an entire cover flown on a regular route can be very common; but one carried on the day of inauguration, bearing a distinctive postmark—the date alone is sufficient proof—or a special "cachet" (an impression, usually rubber-stamped, other than a postmark), indicating its journey on the first day, is much more desirable: from the historical point of view, since it bears the impressed proofs of the inception of the flight, and for its pecuniary value, as it is obviously scarcer than the total of those transported on subsequent dates.

The ideal general collection therefore contains unused stamps tracing the growth and extension of aerial postage, and first flight entires witnessing its essential dates and exact routes.

One consequence of the demand for stamps and entires, is that it has brought in its train the inevitable forger. His activities have not yet, as far as I am aware, extended to the creation of "facsimile" stamps, but where ordinary postage adhesives are overprinted for an air-mail service he can turn out very fair imitations on genuine stamps. His most fruitful productions are, however, "flown" entires—envelopes and postcards, complete with special cachets or postmarks, most of which have never seen the interior of a post box, much less an aerial mail-bag. Of course no dealer with a reputation will handle such specimens as those.

Two or three years ago the votaries of aero-philosemy could almost be counted on the fingers; today, they are numbered by the hundred and are to be found in every civilised country. Clubs formed for the advancement of the hobby, with important and rapidly growing membership rolls, have been instituted in Great Britain, in America, and on the continent. Their adherents include business and professional men, several ladies, and numerous army and air force officers.

This growing interest has naturally tended to increase the value of the earlier specialities. Some entires, flown as late as 1920, are so eagerly desired that were they forthcoming there would be surprisingly high bidding for them. Experienced collectors are of the opinion many dozens of varieties will touch the £100 mark within a few years. However, it is a consolation to the ordinary man to know that at present the majority of both stamps and entires may be acquired for very reasonable prices, from a few pence per set for stamps, while an interesting and quite comprehensive collection may be accumulated today at a modest expenditure that should show an exceptionally good return ere long—for aero-philosemy has come to stay!

SUSPECT HELD IN STAMP ROBBERY

(Clipping from M. C. Dillingham.)

Fanciful stories of how he came into possession of a book of valuable stamps, when he attempted to sell them to a collector at 12 Geary Street yesterday resulted in the arrest of Leonard Hewettson, 30, of 1100 Versailles Avenue, Alameda, and the recovery of six other stamp books of a valuable collection recently stolen in Pasadena.

Hewettson's contradictory statements aroused the suspicions of the store proprietor, who summoned Detectives Ernest Gable and Jerry Dinan. After arresting Hewettson, they searched his rooms and found the other six missing books of stamps.

The stamps, police records show, were stolen from the home of S. L. Bierbauer, 1275 Boston Street, Pasadena, several months ago. Bierbauer is an official of the Pasadena National Bank.

Hewettson is unknown to San Francisco police. He is being held in the City Prison without bond, booked en route to Pasadena.—S. F. Chronicle, August 20th.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Pending the publication in the WEEKLY of our list of library subscriptions we wish to acknowledge the receipt of a subscription for the Panama Canal Library, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, just at hand from R. S. Carter. Mr. Carter is vice-president of Internacia Ligo and has been prominently identified with philately for many years.

—We regret to announce the death of H. F. Metz of 2029 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa., who passed away August 20th after four weeks illness. He had been a dealer and collector for many years, and specialized in old U. S. stamps.

STRANGE IDEA OF FUN

The Dead Letter Office has been the recipient of about every kind of animal, vegetable and mineral known to creation. But until today the oldest employees in the postal service do not recall ever having had a human finger added to the collection of curios.

This rather gruesome object was sent from Jacksonville, Fla., as an "April Fool" joke to a patron along a rural route out of Appling, Ga. The person for whom it was intended could not be located, however, nor could the name of the sender be ascertained.

On August 11th I am leaving on a business trip through Europe, from which I expect to return about October 10th. Orders received at my New York office during that time will be shipped after my return. My European address is

2c 1916 Imperforated, Cracked Plate

We chronicled some few weeks back a cracked plate variety located by Dr. Babcock of the 1916—2c unwatermarked imperforated Scott's No. 482. This was found on plate No. 7580.

Dr. Babcock now shows me a similar crack found in the southeast pane of plate No. 7582. The crack is in the white vertical space between the stamps immediately to the right of the plate number and extends from the margin of the plate up through the first three rows. Like the crack on the other plate, it does not touch any of the stamps but passes through the gutter. All of these varieties were located in Detroit.

Air Mail Notes

The Associated Press under date of August 21st carries the information that a petition has been received by the Postmaster General asking for an extension of the air mail service between New York City, and Miami, Florida, with stops at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Norfolk, Wilmington, Jacksonville, Daytona and West Palm Beach.

The petition was signed by postmasters of the several cities concerned, and they estimated the amount of air mail that would be available daily.

We are told that air mail service officials are busy working on the proposition and endeavoring to figure out a schedule. In their opinion it might not be feasible to operate over the entire route proposed inasmuch as the length would require night flying over an airway that must be lighted. They believe a route from Washington to Jacksonville with only day flying might be feasible. Such a service could handle mail posted in New York the previous evening and place it in Miami early the second morning, thereby saving twenty-four hours in transit time.

Daily papers have also been carrying notes regarding the proposed flight of three American airplanes from San Francisco to the Hawaiian Islands. The trip was originally to have been made August 28th but we are now advised that this has been postponed to August 31st. It is understood that these planes will carry mail.

New 1½c Provisional Envelopes

I now learn that sixteen new cities have received either new dies for revaluing the 1c envelopes or else have had transferred to them dies previously used in other cities. I am also informed that Flyer die No. 6, which was originally sent to New York, was not used in that city at all, as all stock had been revalued with the original die, # 0, which had been transferred to that city from Baltimore.

While slight differences are noted between the dies of the several cities, it has been thought advisable to list only the sizes and dies, showing the two distinct overprints, namely, the single line overprint and the double line.

To date I have seen or been advised of the existence of the following varieties. It will be noted from the list that there are twenty-four varieties of interest to the cut square collector and sixty-eight varieties of interest to those who collect the entires in accordance with the main type only. For the specialist who collects each city separately, there are possibly one hundred varieties known so far.

Review of Scott's U. S. Advance She (Cont'd.)

In a previous edition, Scott's new vance sheets were reviewed through postmasters and regular issues up to including 1925. To continue; this y all of the Parcel Post stamps increase value, both used and unused, and th advances are merited because the st plies, especially of the higher denomi tions, are becoming scarcer day by day

Few changes are made in the Depa ments. The 1c Agriculture is n priced the same used and unused. T or three of the low value hard paper terior take on advances of a few cer The 3c and 6c State unused are n priced at $2.00, while the $20 goes $100. The 3c War on hard paper mer an increase to $7.50, but we fail to why the 12c stood still as this is an ceedingly rare stamp on hard paper any condition. Most of the Interior a Treasury on soft paper are priced at creased figures.

It is surprising that there are so f changes in the Carrier stamps, for h of late these have become quite popul The Franklin Carrier is now priced $250 used. The red Baltimore Horsem goes to $20. This year several carri have been omitted and Mr. Costa writes and informs me that their om sion is due to the fact that they ha found that these varieties are not genu and should never have been included the catalog. The omitted varieties a numbered in the 1925 catalog as follow Nos. 1822, 1823, 1831, 1832, 1835 a 1840.

Practically every Special Delivery increased, and I note that the 10c iss of 1894 is now priced at $1.00. This h always been a scarce stamp and mu more desirable than the earlier ones th priced at higher figures. The unwatermarked perf. 10, another scarce stamp, goes to $1.00.

The Registered stamp is reduced to one of the few lowerings in the United States section. This is due to quantity found and distributed through the Agency some few months back.

Few changes are noted in the Newspaper stamps with the exception of the Special Prints. The 2c to 8c in addition to the 10c, 12c and 72c have been increased in price. They have omitted the former price of $65 on the $1.92 and this for the stamp is not quoted. It is worth much more than the former listed price, for I doubt whether half a dozen copies of the variety are in existence. Several of the Bureau prints of 1894 take substantial jumps, the 6c going to $50 and the $3.00 to $75.

I see that they still persist in separating the 1875 issue of Postage Due stamps in yellow brown and brown and I defy anyone to show me two sets in these colors. They never should have been listed as two distinct sets for the government made no change and the difference in color is not near so important as some of the differences in the later issues, which they describe as sub-varieties. I would like to see them combine these first two sets in a future edition, for it would save dealers a lot of letter writing explaining that the sets in the two colors do not exist.

Many of the later Dues are increased, especially in the case of the perf. 10 varieties.

The envelopes change here and there but I particularly note increases in the unused copies of the 3c 1853 in the different dies. The other changes in the paper issues seem to be minor.

In the 1887 series, the 2c green in Die II is now listed as a main variety on all papers, for the first time. Those who collected these varieties as of minor importance heretofore will have to pay high for their omission for these Die C's now listed at from $4.00 to $10 each according to papers. In the more popular surcharged issues of 1920, the errors surcharged on 1c and 2c take increases. They still list No. 2699 with both double and triple surcharges, and if they want to list these minor varieties, they can list one on practically every stamp, for these varieties exist in almost every case but very few exceptions. The Daytona reprint, No. 2710 and No. 2711 are now priced at $12 and $20 respectively. These are well worth these figures, for few with the genuine overprint are in existence.

A Revenue stamp here and there increases but the changes in most cases are of minor importance. The changes in the inverted centers, however, are very substantial for we now find the 20c second issue in blue and black cataloged at $500. The 70c goes to $150, and the $5.00 to $200. The $1.00 punched which formerly listed at $100 is now priced at $80. The third issue inverts also are materially increased. In the latter issues few changes are made. The $50 No. 4106 goes to $60. The $5.00 goes to $45 and the $1,000 to $40. I still note that they price the $2 Wine Stamp of 1914 with double line watermark less than the single line watermark variety, although from my experience the latter seems to be about ten times as common.

The Future Delivery varieties take drops in the case of the higher values, the $50 dropping to $20, the $60 to $30, the $500 to $60 and the $1,000 to $40.00.

All of the Narcotic strip stamps are priced for the first time.

ANGOLA.—Mr. R. Roberts has sent for chronicle the following new items: 2c grey, 24c ultramarine, 25c chocolate, 50c violet and 1E, dark blue.

AUSTRIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a new series of Air Post stamps recently issued. The set comprises ten values and are of two designs. The 5g, brown; 5g, vermilion; 6g, blue; 8g, green, all show a view of an air pilot with the usual headgear while the 10g, orange, 15g red lilac, 30g brown violet, 50g grey, 1s blue and 2s green picture an airplane above with a flying bird beneath. The "Osterreich" is at the top of each stamp.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the imperforate Postage Due set with the following overprints: 10h on 5h; 20h on 5h; 30h on 15h; 40h on 50h bistre: 50h on 250h; 60h on 250h orange; also the 100h on the same value. The surcharge is with figures only and is printed in purple ink.

DUTCH INDIES.—Mr. P. Gordon writes from Rotterdam that the denomination chronicled last month is actually one of 12½ cent, the reference to a 12 cent stamp being obviously an error, for the Dutch values are worked on the decimal system (2½, 5, 7½, 10, 12½, &c.). Mr. Escott C. Bland confirms this by sending news of the receipt of used copies of the 12½ cent, S.G. Type 17, in red, portrait of Queen Wilhelmina.

Mr. Gordon adds:—"The numbers of the Dutch Indies Jubilee issue, 1923, have now been published and are as follows:—5c, 2,321,432; 12½c, 7,916,212; 20c, 1,904,844; 50c, 444,477; 1 gulden, 414,341; 2½ gulden, 40,511; 5 gulden, 15,707—so that the higher values, if not so good as Curacao and Surinam, are in my view better [sic], as nearly everyone collects Dutch Indies on the Continent, but not everyone collects the other two Colonies, the issues of the Dutch Indies being on the whole much cheaper."—Stamp Collecting.

ESTHONIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have sent to us copies of the 1924 Air Post stamps in perforated condition.

FRANCE.—Whitfield King & Co. have sent us the 30c blue of the Sower type, a new color for this value.

HEJAZ.—We have received from Mr. G. N. Taylor and Whitfield King & Co. a new series of overprinted stamps which were issued on July 18th last. In size and appearance they resemble the stamps of 1916-18 but the design and execution are less pleasing. Mr. Taylor writes "As a control mark of sorts they are surcharged with the date of King Ali's ascension "5 Rabi-al-awal 1343", printed in two rectangles, one at either side of the stamp. There is quite a variation in the spacing of these rectangles, which on those submitted varies from 12 to 18mm. Moreover six of the thirteen varieties submitted have the surcharge reversed. "Mr. Taylor itemizes the new issues as follows: ⅛pia brown, black surcharge and red surcharge; ¼pia ultramarine, red surcharge; ½pia carmine rose, black surcharge and blue surcharge; 1pia green, black surcharge and red surcharge; 1½ pia orange, black surcharge, red surcharge and blue surcharge: 2pia blue red surcharge; 3pia dark blue, red surcharge; 5pia red brown, blue surcharge.

Whitfield King & Co. chronicle the following, overprinted in black in three lines, ½, 1½, 2, 3 and 5 piastres overprinted in black in four lines, 1 on ½; 1 on 1½ and 1 on 2 piastres; overprinted in red in four lines, 1 on ½ piastres. These are not within a rectangle as noted above.

GERMANY.—Whitfield King & Co. call our attention to the 5pf, 10pf and 20pf of the current design which have been overprinted in black in the usual manner for official use.

JUBALAND.—Whitfield King & Co. write that they have received the following stamps overprinted "Oltre Giuba" on the current Italian stamps, values and colors as follows:—

Postage—1c brown, 2c red-brown, 5c green, 10c carmine, 15c grey, 20c orange, 25c blue, 30c red-brown, 40c brown, 50c lilac, 60c rose, 1l green and brown, 2l orange and green, 5l pink and blue, 10l red and olive-green.

Postage Due—5c, 10c, 20c, 30c and 40c, all buff and carmine. 50c, 60c buff and carmine; 1l, 2l, 5l all blue and carmine.

Parcel Post—5c brown, 10c blue, 20c black, 25c red, 50c orange, 1l mauve, 2l green, 3l yellow, 4l grey, 10l lilac, 12l red-brown, 15l olive, 20l lilac.

MALTA.—Messrs. Alf. Cachia & Co. send this cutting (undated) from a local paper:—"A Government Notice issued recently says:—

'With reference to the second paragraph of Government Notice No. 97 of April 17, 1925, regarding the introduction and use of "Postage Due" stamps, it is hereby notified that the provisional stamps, printed in the Government Printing Office, to which reference is made in the said Notice, will, as from the 20th instant, be withdrawn from use on a postal article not regularly prepaid according to law and from sale to the public under the conditions laid down in the paragraph above quoted, and will be substituted by others printed in the United Kingdom.

'The denominations of these new Postage Due stamps and the relative colours printed on white paper are the following:—½d green, 1d blue-purple, 1½d brown, 2d grey, 2½d orange, 3d blue, 4d olive-green, 6d purple, 1s black, 1s 6d claret.

'As from the 20th of the current month, the provisions of Government Notice No. 97 of April 14, 1925, will be applicable to the new "Postage Due" stamps'."—Stamp Collecting.

MONTSERRAT.—Mr. G. V. Stewart writes: "Although it is not generally known, a stamp of 20sh value was authorised for use in this Colony by an Order-in-Council of March 24, 1922. After a period of over three years, during which time the stamp failed to materialize, I wrote to the Col. Pm., at Plymouth, re. the matter, and subsequently received the following reply:

'Sir,

In reply to your letter of the 23rd June, I beg to state that the Government have decided not to requisition for the 20sh stamps as the probable sales would not justify getting 100 sheets, which is the smallest amount the Crown Agents will supply.

I have the honor to be, etc.,

O. K. HELSICK'."

NIGERIA.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us the 2s6p black and red on blue, script watermark, and advises that it is from Die 2.

NORWAY.—The 3 öre of the Amundsen issue is known in two shades, orange and orange-yellow, the latter being the rarer of the two. Mr. Reidar Johansen shows us specimens of each.

Mr. A. N. Jorstad kindly informs us of the pending issue of special stamps to commemorate the taking over by Norway of Spitzbergen. The sovereignty of Norway over this territory was recognised by a treaty signed by the Powers at Paris in 1920. Formerly the country was wanted by nobody, but the discovery of vast coal-bearing areas has changed the situation considerably. The new stamp will be similar to the current Lion type of Norway, but with the addition of the words "Svalbard 1925," Svalbard being the Norwegian for Spitzbergen. The values issued will be 10 öre. green, 15 öre, blue, 20 öre, brown, and 45 öre, blue. They will be available for use throughout Norway and Spitzbergen during the present year and will be issued in large quantities. The occasion appears to be a legitimate one for special celebration of this nature.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

PALESTINE.—The Postmaster-General informs us that the Postage Due stamps have now been withdrawn from sale to the public.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

PERSIA.—Whitfield King & Co. report the provisional 2 on 2 krans, violet, with the date "1925" at the right.

POLAND.—Whitefield King & Co. have sent a copy of the 3 groszy blue with a view of a tall monument in the center. They advise that this is a new value.

SIERRA LEONE.—Mr. E. F. Payne writes us the 1s emerald, old CA, has recently been shown here with watermark inverted. This is very scarce in normal state, and must be very rare with watermark inverted.—Stamp Collecting.

SUDAN.—Mr. G. V. Stewart informs us that the 2m brown and orange, 1921-22 issue, has been issued with the letters "A S" perforated through the stamp for use on Official correspondence only.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the 10c purple on yellow and advises that this is a reversion to the old color of the 10c, but on script watermarked paper, of a lemon yellowish tinge which is quite different from the usual one of script yellows.

TERRITORY OF NEW GUINEA.—Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. G. V. Stewart call our attention to an error in our listing of these stamps under the heading of Papua and advise that this is an entirely separate country. Mr. Stewart adds that the stamps are for use in the former German Colonies of (1) New Guinea (2), the Bismarck Archipelago and (3) the German Solomon Islands, all three of which were awarded at the end of the war as a mandate to Australia, and they are entirely distinct from the colony of Papua. The headquarters of the Territory of New Guinea is Rabaul, a well laid-out town with a fine public garden on the island of New Britain (Bismarck Archipelago). Throughout the Territory, on various scattered islands, are numerous missionary settlements and government stations.

TURKEY.—Mr. R. Roberts informs us that he has received the 2pi and the 10pi in the type of A64. The former value is dark green and perf. 12, while the 10pi is dark blue and gauges 13½x12. Mr. Roberts also adds the following that have been received during the last few weeks, in the same design: perf. 11, 10pa grey, 20pa olive yellow, 1pi magenta, 2pi blue green, 3pi brown, 4½pi carmine, 10pi slate, 15pi brown; perf. 12½x13½, 3¾pi cinnamon and 500pi myrtle green.

URAGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that they have received the 50c grey green, Bird type, no watermark.

DARWIN ON STAMP COLLECTING

Franklin S. Smith of Jersey City, N. J., who specializes in the cancellations of the 1898 issue of U. S. Proprietaries sends us the following extracts from "The Life and Letters of Charles Darwin, Edited by his son Francis Darwin."

"(Owing to the illness from scarlet fever of one of his boys, he took a house at Bournemouth in the autumn. He wrote to Dr. Gray from Southampton, Aug. 21, 1862. Dr. Gray used to send postage stamps to the scarlet-fever patient.)

'I must recur to stamps; my little man has calculated that he will now have 6 stamps which no other boy in the school has. Here is a triumph. Your last letter was plastered with many colored stamps, and he long surveyed the envelope in bed with much quiet satisfaction'."

Letter to J. D. Hooker, Down, England, Jan. 3, 1863. "(Regarding a matter of literary dishonesty in another, but not affecting himself.)

'My dear Hooker—I am burning with indignation and must exhale. I could not get to sleep last night for indignation. Now for pleasanter subjects; we were all amused at your defense of stamp collecting and collecting generally. But, by jove I can hardly stomach a grown man collecting stamps. Who would ever have thought of your collecting Wedgewood-ware! but that is different, like engravings or pictures. We are degenerate descendants of old Josiah W. for we have not a bit of pretty ware in the house'."

We wonder how he would have treated the subjects of "Stamp collecting, a Survival of the Stickist", "Natural Selection of O. G. and Off-centers", or "Variation of Perforations and Watermarks"?

AZORES.

By C. A. HOWES.

The Azores or "Hawks" Islands (for that is the meaning of their name) were discovered by the Portuguese in 1431, though they were known in earlier times, as is proved by the finding of Phoenician coins there and their appearance on the maps of the medieval Arabian geographers. They lie about 800 miles directly west of Portugal and were found by traders who were blown out of their way by heavy storms. They are not treated as a colony by Portugal, but are administered as an integral part of the mother country under the style of the "Province of the Açores," the Madeira Islands being treated the same way as the "Province of Funchal." These two form the "island provinces," while the six provinces of Portugal proper are known as "Continental Portugal" or Portugal Continente as it reads upon the stamp issues of 1880, 1892-94 and 1895-1899. The Azores are subdivided into three districts, Angra do Heroismo (usually shortened to Angra), Horta and Ponta Delgada. The word "Azores" is the Spanish spelling of the name and just why this is common usage rather than the proper Portuguese spelling is unexplained.

The islands were the first of the Portugese possessions to be given a distinctive stamp issue, though why they and the Madeiras should be thus favored when they were politically but provinces of the mother country is a mystery. M. Moens, at the time of their issue, gave as a reason the depreciation in Portuguese money. But this also seems incomprehensible. The series was supposed to be issued on January 1, 1868, and was made by overprinting the then current stamps of Portugal with the word "ACORES" in block letters in black. These stamps were of the so-called "curved label" type and were imperforate with the exception of the 25 and 120 reis values, which had already appeared in perforated form in the Portuguese issues. The 5 and 10 reis imperforate must have been issued in restricted numbers, as they are extremely rare and were very soon supplanted by perforated stamps, as were in fact all the other unperforated values. The 5 reis perforated had the color of the overprint changed to carmine instead of black as upon the imperforate stamp. A higher value of 240 reis was added in 1870, but this was never issued other than perforated, even in Portugal. The 25 reis is known used on a cover dated December 11, 1867, which is somewhat earlier than the given date of issue.

The overprint as originally applied to the sheets of 28 stamps measured 14 mm long by 3 mm high, and was used on the imperforate and perforated series, the latter being of 12½ gauge. The 10 and 25 reis imperforate are listed with inverted overprint. In 1869 the 25 reis appeared with a smaller overprint, both normal and inverted, which measured only 10 mm long by 2½ mm high; but there even now seems to be some uncertainty as to whether these stamps were ever actually issued for postal use. Another variety of overprint, measuring 12½ mm by 3½ mm, appeared in 1869, and has been found on a few values only, in a dull rose or brownish-red on the 5 reis and in black on the 10, 25, 80 and 240 reis, all perforated of course. This seems to be a scarce variety.

With the issue of the "straight label" series, which began in 1871 and continued until 1875 for the various values as stocks of the "curved label" stamps ran out, we find the first type of overprint used and later another variety which gradually superseded it. The latter is perhaps a trifle smaller in size, but the main distinguishing features are: in the one first used the "O" is oval and somewhat narrower and the "S" has the curved ends closer to it, while the second variety has a wider "O" which is more rectangular at the top and bottom and the "S" is more open; the "R" is also wider. With the first variety of overprint the stamps are all perforated 12½ and the 5, 10, 25 and 120 reis are known with inverted overprint. The 5 reis is of course overprinted in carmine, as before, and also in a dull red. The second variety evidently began to be used in 1875, as the new values of 15 reis, issued in August of that year, and of 150 and 300 reis issued in January, 1876, are supplied with it alone, as are likewise the color changes of 1879-80. But a new perforating machine gauging 13½ was purchased to expedite this operation and so almost all the values with the second variety of overprint are found perforated by both machines. Another one gauging 14 was used for a short time and three values, the 5, 25 and 100 reis have been found with this perforation, but they are very scarce. The 5, 15 and 25 reis stamps are reported with inverted overprint.

In 1880 Portugal abandoned the embossed type of stamps on the score of expense and turned to typography. The new issue started with two types of the 25 reis in 1880, one issued in January with profile head on solid background and superseded by the other with profile bust on lined background in May. In March, 1881, 5 and 50 reis stamps of similar design were issued and in February, 1882, a third type of the 25 reis stamp appeared with a portrait of the King. All these typographed stamps bore the second variety of the overprint as described in the preceding paragraph, the 5 reis being in carmine and the others in black. All values received both 12½ and 13½ perforations.

With the above we come to an end of the large sized overprint which was superseded in June, 1882, by a small sans-serif letter overprint measuring 10 mm by 1½ mm and first issued on the 25 reis of the portrait type together with a new 50 reis in a similar design. The 5 reis in the profile bust type followed in September, 1882, the overprint being in carmine. These three were the only typographed stamps then in use and were perforated both 12½ and 13½ while the 25 reis received also an 11½ perforation from a new machine brought into use in 1886. The remaining values in use, 10, 15, 20, 80, 100, 150 (two colors), 300 and 1000 reis, were of the embossed type and they therefore received the new small overprint, in black on all except the 1000 reis which was carmine. All except the 150 reis blue come with the two usual perforations and the 15 and 20 reis are found inverted. In 1883 and subsequently, until superseded by typographed stamps or withdrawn, these embossed stamps were printed on chalk-surfaced paper, including a change in color of the 20 reis but excluding the 1000 reis stamp. Perforation and inverted overprints as before.

Gradually the typographed stamps in the portrait type replaced the embossed stamps in the lower values, a new 5 reis appearing in March, 1883, with black overprint this time; a 10 reis in September, 1884; a 500 reis in July, 1885; and a 20 and new 25 reis in 1887, the latter required because of a forgery of the previous 25 reis stamp through an employé of the Mint where they were printed. The 500 reis stamp was also involved in this, which was the cause of its change of color at the same time. The 5 reis had the overprint changed to red in 1887 also. These stamps were all printed on the chalk-surfaced paper, and the 25 and 50 reis which preceded them were now printed thus. Even the 5 reis of the profile bust type was included, preceding the issue of the 5 reis portrait type. The latter received the usual two different perforations, but all the others had the three different perforations except the 500 reis (both colors), which did not receive the 11½.

From 1892 to 1906 three sets of stamps were furnished the islands, one for each district, these following the designs in use in Portugal, the name of the district being engraved at the bottom in the 1892 design, and printed on a label at the bottom at the same time as the value on another label in the upper left corner in the 1897 design. The 1892 issues were perforated both 12½ and 13½ with the 5 and 25 reis, also having 11½ (except the 5 reis Horta). The 1897 issues are perforated only 11½ except the 500 reis of Angra and Ponta Delgada which are 12½.

Wilcox, Smith & Co. DUNEDIN Liverpool Street, NEW ZEALAND

Established 38 years.

The absurdity of the three separate issues must finally have struck home, for in 1906 a unified series was prepared having the names "ACORES" at the bottom and the initials "A." "H" and "P D" for the three districts appearing in three of the corners. Finally, in May, 1910, we get back to one set with the simple mention "ACORES" on it, due to the appearance of the young King Manuel's portrait on the stamps of Portugal; but in December of the same year the whole series is overprinted with the fateful word "REPUBLICA," due to the revolution which deposed the monarch. In 1911 the shortage of stamps caused the remainders of the Vasco da Gama set and the postage-due stamps to be surcharged in various ways to make a series until the new republican stamps were available. These were issued in 1912, surcharged on the stamps of the mother country as of old, and with some changes of color are still in use.

In 1894 the "Prince Henry the Navigator" commemorative issue of Portugal was surcharged with the word "ACORES" in small type, and in 1895 the St. Anthony of Padua series was treated likewise for use in the islands. The Vasco da Gama issue, however, had the name of the islands engraved in the design, but was otherwise the same as the Portuguese set,

We opened this article with the remark that the name of the islands signified "hawks." We therefore close it with the mention that the hawk appears flying beneath the portrait on the issue of 1910.—New England Stamp Monthly.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

British Empire.

Antigua.—The current 3d on Script paper is in preparation.

Australian Commonwealth.—We are indebted to Mr. A. A. Rosenblum for sight of the 1½d red, perforated "O.S.", from a sheet printed on the gummed side. Only one sheet was discovered thus.

British Guiana.—In spite of the spoiling of large previous stocks of stamp booklets, a new supply consisting of twelve 1c and eighteen 2c stamps has been sent out to the Colony.

Falkland Islands.—The 6d has been printed on Script paper and sent out to the islands.

Fiji.—Mr. John E. Toy shows us a new shade of the 2d—pale grey—which was put on sale in Suva about May last.

Gibraltar.—New values, 2s6d, 5s, 10s and £5, are to be added to the current series.

Hejaz.—Mr. A. Sempad states that the overprinting of the new series is in the nature of a control, the Hejaz Government having come to the conclusion that stocks of the unoverprinted stamps had leaked out before issue, owing to the circulation of a photograph of them to the philatelic Press. According to our correspondent, the Government put the stamps on sale without overprint, and then withdrew them, stating that they were not valid for use. However this may be, we have the official statement that the unoverprinted stamps are not recognized, so that they can hardly be catalogued. We suppose the result will be yet more overprints, and then another "permanent" issue. (Later. Mr. A. J. Marsh tells us that the overprint was applied because the King's name was too prominent on the stamps.)

India—Cochin.—The International Stamp and Commercial Agency show us the 8 pies provisional with the word "Pies" omitted.

Malta.—Dies and plates are in preparation for the new King's Head and Pictorial issue. The new permanent Postage Dues have been sent out, so it might be as well to make sure of the type-set issue at once. Staff-Sergeant R. S. Pateman tells us that an issue of stamp booklets is proposed. (Later. Mr. Darmanin informs us that the stamps were withdrawn on July 20th.)

New Guinea.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. state that all stamps overprinted "N.W. Pacific Islands" were withdrawn from sale when the new series was issued. Some of the overprinted stamps are going to be good property before long.

New Zealand.—Several readers have kindly sent us the new 1d in the Dominion type, with watermark N Z and Star sideways. Mr. R. J. G. Collins tells us that the 1d. Map has appeared in a new shade, and that the sheets now consist of 120 stamps in twelve rows of 10, instead of 240, as formerly. The 1d, Insurance stamp, is now current in a rather pinker shade of carmine, after its change to orange-vermilion.

Mr. F. M. Corkill sends us a cutting which speaks very bitingly of the Map stamp and suggests that stocks should be burned.

Nyasaland.—Mr. Fred Stephens shows us the latest 4d, which is on a yellow paper of about the same colour as the deepest of the "old yellow" makings.

Palestine.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. state that the current Postage Due stamps are no longer on sale to the public.

St. Kitts-Nevis.—The 1½d in the current type is on order, printed in red on Script paper.

Sierra Leone.—The 10d Script has now been sent out to the Colony.

Straits Settlements.—The 50c on emerald Script paper has been printed from Plate 11 and sent out to Singapore.

Federated Malay States.—The $2, Script, is being printed.

Trengganu.—New values are in preparation, consisting of 1c, black, 3c, green, 12c, blue, and 35c, red on yellow.

Tanganyika.—Several correspondents kindly point out that most of the large high-value stamps in the Giraffe type are now coming with watermark upright instead of sideways. Slight differences in shade are also noted in some of the new printings.

Tonga.—Current printings of some values are in rather different shades. The 1d, Tree type, has varied considerably in shade in its long life. The current shade is more of a scarlet than earlier shades, which might be described as vermilion. We have the 2d in a bright violet (colour showing through) and in a duller violet with more red in it, the paper of the latter being quite white at the back. The 10d now comes in an aniline shade of carmine, which shows very clearly at the back. The 1s also shows slight variations.

Trans-Jordania.—Printings are being made of the current Palestine series, without the trilingual overprint, and will be overprinted "Trans-Jordan" in Arabic. The current Postage Due stamps will receive a similar overprint.

Trinidad.—The current 1s is being printed on Script paper.

Union of South Africa.—Mr. V. Diamond states that the Air Mail experiment has now been abandoned. Another reader states that stocks of stamps on hand will be destroyed.

Other Countries.

Belgium.—The new stamps commemorating the issue of the first stamps of Belgium, the famous "epaulettes," have at last made their appearance. They are handsome in design and colouring, and the engraving of the background is so cleverly graded as to give the effect two shades of colour on each stamp a single printing.

Mr. P. Massez states that from Aug 1st the use of approved automatic fra ing machines will be permitted to fi obtaining the necessary authority. least 500 francs' worth of franking month must be done by such firms.

Germany.—The German Charity star of August, 1924, are now withdra from circulation. They are selling something like 3s 6d per set in Germa we understand.

The design of the new Rhineland C memorative stamp is a provocative which would have been better unissued at the present junctu of international affairs. There was necessity to make the German eagle so prominent, even if it has to keep watch on the Rhine. A design fully pressive of the beauties of the Rh would have better fitted the occasi The issued design is by Otto Firle Bonn.

Holland.—Mr. P. Gordon Wimber kindly shows us shades of the 5c, 7 15c, and 30c, in the current Queen's H type. The most marked is a lemon t of the 7½c.

Japan.—The new Silver Wedd stamps are not so well produced as m recent Japanese stamps, but the desi are interesting. The lower values sh cranes, pine trees, and 25 stars, one each year of the wedded life, while large stamps, which are provided with appropriate silver border, depict the ph nix, with clouds of good omen. T stamps were printed by the Governm Printing Office, Tokio. A special canc lation stamp was in use on the day issue.

Lettland.—The numbers printed of new commemoratives are as follows, cording to Mr. P. Kalnozol: 6s, 60,0 15s, 60,600; 25s, 40,000; 30s, 20,200; 20,000.

The premium on this issue is allot to the city of Libau for civic purpos We hope Libau citizens will find th next demand for rates is considera reduced in consequence.

Norway.—Mr. A. N. Jorstad sta that new Service stamps are now preparation. The design consists of Arms of Norway with the word "TJ ESTEMERKE" above and value below. Th will be nine values in the new set.

AMERICAN PHILATELIC SOCIETY CONVENTION AT LOS ANGELES

The convention was adjourned sine die at 1.30 P. M., August 27th, achieving a record for celerity, inasmuch as only two sessions were held, one on Tuesday morning and the second on Thursday morning.

This despatch was possible because of the harmonious efforts to facilitate the work and the absence of new business that required deliberation and discussion. The spirit of the convention was stimulating and the delegates were animated by the wish to contribute to the society's well-being and they forbore to quibble over immaterial points of difference.

The first session of the convention was called to order in the spacious music room of the Biltmore Hotel, August 25th, at 10.15 A. M. by Secretary Davis, who called C. E. Severn to the chair temporarily. Mr. Severn expressed the regret felt by all at the enforced absence of President Wolsieffer and he then asked Mr. Arp to preside as a director of the society. A motion to make Mr. A. H. Wilhelm permanent chairman was carried.

Mr. Wilhelm assumed his duties amid applause and called for the report of the president after the decks were cleared for action. Mr. Severn read Mr. Wolsieffer's able address and the recommendations made in it were noted.

The regular committees were appointed by President Wilhelm and reports were read. The chairman of the credentials committee, Mr. L. J. Flerlage, gave the results of the election showing that the regular nominees were elected almost unanimously. Mr. Chittenden was elected a director and Mr. Silvester won over Mr. Moses as director by a vote of 710 to 485. Proxies were held to the number of nearly 1,200 but they were not called into action.

The report of the Vice Presidents was a review of the activities of the year that proved that the volume of business was wearing.

The annual summary of Secretary Davis was of the usual interest and Mr. Elliott's report as treasurer was exhaustive. There are $4,800 in the life member fund and $4,596 in the insurance fund.

Sales manager, J. E. Guest, reached the coveted goal of over $50,000 sales and had books valued at nearly $200,000 in the department during the year.

The report of the counterfeit detector was the usual instructive and informative report and the expert committee told of its year.

Other reports were presented and all the recommendations made in them were referred to the proper committees.

The second and final session was held on Thursday morning. Greetings were read from various members and organizations, including the International Philatelic Union of Great Britain.

The by-laws committee made various suggestions, but the question of their adoption was complicated by the non-receipt of the report of the standing committee on by-laws. It could not be told under the circumstances just what changes Mr. Stone's committee would advise. The temporary committee favored the increase in dues and fee for life membership. The salary of the secretary was raised to $1,200 a year.

An account of the serious loss sustained by Mr. B. F. Enelow of the Colonial Stamp Company was read and it was announced that a reward of $1,000 was offered for the recovery of the stolen stamps. The convention voiced its regrets at the serious loss sustained by Mr. Enelow.

It was ordered that a verbatim report of the convention be printed as a consequence of a resolution to that effect from the Garfield Perry Stamp Club.

Favorable action was taken on the proposal that the society rent a booth at the International Exhibition in New York next year.

The resolution to hold the convention elsewhere than in New York was lost and the report of the committee on seat of the next convention favoring the selection of New York was adopted, the meeting to be held just before or after the exhibition in October, 1926.

A discussion was held on the possibility of increasing the usefulness of the Philatelic Agency at Washington to collectors, with no definite findings.

Resolutions were passed thanking the local philatelists, who were untiring in their efforts to contribute to the pleasure of visitors. The newspaper press of Los Angeles was thanked for its generous and intelligent treatment of the convention in its columns and President Wilhelm was voted the thanks of the members for his efforts as chairman. A. Delano Bartlett of Texas, who once was a resident of Springfield, Mass., assumed the prerogative of W. C. Stone to move that the convention adjourn sine die and at 1.15 P. M. the Los Angeles convention passed into philatelic history.

H. F. COLMAN 509 SEVENTH STREET, N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

hands this week during the convention of the American Philatelic society, registration for which opened today at the Biltmore Hotel.

Some of the most valuable collections in the country were scheduled for exhibition, with single stamps, to be viewed valued up to $5,000. It was said that the British Guiana stamp owned by Charles Hind, a prominent collector for which he paid $32,500 recently, could not be brought to the convention because it was too valuable to risk transportation and exhibition here.

According to W. C. Henry, well known Los Angeles philatelist, who was instrumental in bringing the convention to Los Angeles, tales of stamp discoveries will be revealed this week which will outdo some of the most romantic stories of uncovered riches and hidden treasure ever told.

A man died in London recently, leaving what was considered a worthless estate, consisting of old letters, outlawed notes and a miscellany of papers. When examined, some of the letters were found to have affixed to them stamps of almost unlimited value. To date the heirs of the estate have received more than $100,000 from the sale of the stamps.

More than 300 delegates from all over the United States are expected to be at the sessions, according to C. J. Weisbrod, convention chairman. Among the noted philatelists who arrived today was S. F. Jones, who discovered that the "kicking mule" cancellation was used in California in 1882 by "provisional postmasters" to cancel stamps issued by them. It was thought, previous to Jones' discovery, that this particular cancellation was used only in Washington.

Following is the convention program: Tuesday—10 a. m., business session; 2 p. m., trip to Universal City; 7.30 p. m., stamp auction. Theater party, Grauman's Egyptian theater.

Wednesday—8.30 a. m., leave for Catalina trip; 8.30 p. m., bourse and exhibition. Theater parties.

Thursday—10 a. m., closing business session; 2 p. m., chamber of commerce sightseeing trip.

Friday—Post convention trip to Mount Lowe, leaving Pacific Electric station at 9.30 a. m., leaving Mount Lowe for return at 9 p. m.—Los Angeles Post.

300 AT STAMP COLLECTORS' CONCLAVE

$100,000 Display Features American Philatelic Society Convention Here.

With stamp collectors of all ages and degrees of enthusiasm attracted here by a common interest, the fortieth annual convention of the American Philatelic Society officially opened today at the Biltmore. More than 300 delegates from all parts of the country were registered.

The local branch of the organization, headed by Clarence Weisbrod, and known as the Collectors' Club of Southern California, is host to the visiting national members. It has an enrollment of 150.

National officers and an international secretary were elected at today's session as follows:

President, A. H. Wilhelm, San Francisco; secretary, Dr. H. A. Davis, Denver; treasurer, Howard Elliott, Winchester, Mass.; international secretary, G. C. Cuenod, Galveston.

Board of vice presidents: F. A. Kraft, S. G. Keller and W. O. Staab, all of Milwaukee.

Directors-at-large: J. B. Chittendeon, New York, and C. C. Sylvester, Wyncot, Pa.

$100,000 EXHIBIT.

An auction and sale of stamps was to be held tonight, at which many thousands of dollars' worth of the little gummed squares were expected to change hands. Single stamps, valued up to $7000 each, will be on exhibition or available to collectors.

According to Convention Chairman Weisbrod, the total value of collections and individual pieces to be shown Wednesday evening at the bourse in the music room of the Biltmore will run into several hundred thousand dollars. The value of one book of rarities alone which will be on exhibition is more than $100,000, he said.—Herald.

STAMPS BREAK BUSINESS MEET

Philatelists Show Interest in Rare Specimens—New Officers Installed by National Group

Regular convention business—hearing of long, and not very thrilling reports, changes in the by-laws, elections and such—engages the attention of the real, blown-in-the-glass stamp collector only casually. But the opportunity the convention offers of coming in contact with kindred souls fills him with joy and he makes the most of it.

This was abundantly revealed yesterday when the fortieth annual convention of the American Philatelic Society was called to order at the Biltmore. When President A. H. Wilhelm of San Francisco announced that the meeting was open for business, there was a full house. But in less than ten minutes the enthusiasts began drifting out.

In twenty minutes a long line of devotees of the stamp collecting hobby could be observed in the foyer of the convention hall, intently poring over thick volumes filled with stamps, eagerly displaying to each other their latest acquisitions, and conversing in low, earnest tones. By noon the convention had dwindled down to the officers, who had to be present, and a handful of members impelled to remain to keep the officers company.

OFFICERS NAMED.

The announcement of officers for next year was the first thing on the program; the election having taken place by ballots mailed to the convention from members all over the country. P. M. Wolsieffer, of Philadelphia, former president, being unable to be present, A. H. Wilhelm, the new head, took the chair as soon as his election had been announced.

The other officers were: Dr. H. A. Davis, Denver, secretary; Howard Elliott, Winchendon, Mass., treasurer; F. A. Kraft, S. G. Kellar and W. O. Staab, all of Milwaukee, board of vice presidents. G. C. Cuenod, Galveston, international secretary; J. Brace Chittendon, New York, and Rev. C. C. Sylvester, Pennsylvania, directors-at-large.

Following the appointment of various committees, numerous reports were submitted, covering different lines of activity of the society. These were all referred to appropriate committees for study and such action as the members may see fit. This constituted the morning's business. During the afternoon the delegates enjoyed a visit at the Universal City studios.

EXHIBITION TONIGHT.

Considerable interest was manifeste the annual auction sale of the so scheduled for tonight in connection w an exhibition of rare stamp collection take place at that time. According Secretary Davis, it is expected that lections aggregating more than $150, in value will change hands at this sal

"While several of these collections up to several thousand dollars in va none of them are among the outstand stamp treasures of the country," said Davis. "There are American collect whose stamps represent values runn up in the millions."

The secretary then told of the col tion of Charles Hind of Utica, which cludes a stamp for which the philate paid $132,000 a few years ago.

"So far as I know, this is the high price ever paid for a single postage sta in the world," he said. "The stamp t brought this great sum is known as Boscawen stamp, and so far as anyb knows, it is the only one of its kind existence. It is a 5-cent stamp and issued by the postmaster of the little to of Boscawen, N. H., in 1845, two ye before the national government adop the stamp system in the Postoffice partment.—Times.

UNITED STATES "EDUCATORS"

For those who are not certain of their classifications of 19th Century U. S. stamps (and that means nine collectors out of every ten) we have made up this series of packets and approval booklets, in which every stamp has its correct catalog number.

Packet A. — 30 varieties of U. S. postage only, all classified, including every issue from 1851 to 1890 inclusive, only $2.00

Packet B. — 20 varieties of the hard-to-place Bank Note issues each one numbered according to Scott's catalog, 1871 to 1890 ..... $1.00

"Educator" Approvals contain almost all regularly issued stamps of the United States from 1847 to 1900. No stamp priced more than $5, most of them at big discounts from catalog prices. Sent only against references or deposit. [H

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERSON, 318 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

Fractions of stamps used for postage. While I know of no collector who makes a specialty of collecting these "Splits" on covers, the idea appeals to me immensely, there is such a diversity of them in our catalog. Am referring to the old classics, genuinely used in fractions for the correct rates. Frequently the "split" is accompanied by another stamp of the same (full) denomination, for example our 2c Black Jackson—the 2c stamp plus the half making the common and regular 3c rate.

Then there are the Early B. N. A. stamps cut in many shapes to complete their proper mailing rates. Some few of the early French issues show denominations cut, often to make up the extra 5 centimes when the regular inland postage rate was raised from 20 centimes to 25, directly after the Franco-Prussian war, no stamps of the 25c rate being available.

Then there are those old Mecklenburgs, they always look as tho they should have the pie treatment, and be cut into quarters. The Early Mexicans are cut into all shapes and sizes. The old first issue is even listed as being cut into eighths, and quarters are not uncommon on covers. Like court plaster, they are cut to fill the need of the user, some pieces being just little bits, others long strips, etc.

Think of a collection made up of these "Splits." Not only would collectors look at it with a great deal of interest; but any non-philatelist would take an interest in such an odd condition, which he has probably never seen or imagined as being in existence. Such a collection would be not only rare and interesting, for one would gain an insight into the wiles of the fakir, and possibly gather in a good one now and then from among the frauds, for many a "Split" is not just what it seems, after a careful scrutiny.

These "bad ones" would perhaps show up frequently. I have seen many of them, the most common being the rather juvenile stunt of raising up a half of the stamp and cutting it off, never forgetting to make a small part of the cancellation cover the cut, for even a fake must be "tied on," — as some philatelists prefer calling the covering of both stamp and cover by the cancellation.

Once in a lot of used stamps sent in to me was a Black Jack and the diagonal half of another the perfs as yet unbroken. To my hurried reply came the sad news that much time and trouble had been experienced by the sender, in tearing the stamps from the old envelopes and then soaking them from the pieces of paper. One learns from experience, so I cheered myself up a little by the gladsome thought that this was not a 90c '69, soaked off.

Several have inquired if a pair, or two copies of 2c Black Jacksons on a cover mean the Carrier rate is being used. The two copies give us the correct Carrier rate of four cents.

To begin with, few towns retained the Carrier rate and system in the '60s. These were big cities, Philadelphia and New York having the bulk of the Carrier mail. So if your cover with the two BJs on it is not sent to one of these two towns, or mailed from them, you had best cross off the "Carrier" annotation if you have made one. The person who mailed the letter just gave an extra cent to Uncle Sam, for he had the two 2c stamps, and no 3c at hand.

I have about 125 covers with two BJs on them, and not a one of this lot gathered at random over a long period of years shows a Carrier mark of any description, and I do not consider that any of them did carrier duty. In my collection are Carrier marks on 2c BJs not on cover, they have a large numeral "1" or "2," and are quite scarce, these coming from New York City, and they are cancelled in Black.

The 3c 1867 with the "Z" grill is listed at $25.00 in used condition in the 1926 Advance Sheets, and the 3c is very uncommon, the 2c and 12c being found most frequently of the denominations in the series. All the copies that have come to my notice show the 12c in intense black.

Have you started in yet to fill in your spaces for the grilled U. S. of 1867? If not, I am once again mentioning that they are perhaps the most difficult of all of our medium priced stamps to secure in fine condition. The perforating is such that we see few well centered copies, the perfs drop off where the grill crosses them, as you can readily see on any copy that is "grilled all over," and the colors seem to have become pale of fright from that merciless grilling.

Then to cap the climax, it surely seems as tho all postmasters who caught sight of those grill marks took an extra hard wallop at them to see if the ink would soak into those little waffle iron marks as predicted, for you know the idea of the grill was to absorb cancellation marks, especially those in manuscript, as the public, sad to state, were having a bit of success in removing ink marks by the eradicators which were becoming quite popular. There was apparently no ruling against this at the time, and time works wonders we are told, so that now it is quite unusual to hear of a person being "spoken to" about trying to send mail with stamps which had previously done postal duty.

DEATH OF SAMUEL R. SIMMONS

We are informed by E. Tudor Gross of Providence, R. I., that on August 19th Samuel R. Simmons of 421 E. 140 St., New York, passed away after a brief illness. Mr Simmons was one of the best known of the older stamp dealers of the country, and for a number of years edited the stamp page in the St. Nicholas magazine. He was a member of the American Philatelic Society, the Rhode Island Philatelic Society, a graduate of Brown University, and a man of the most charming qualities. Last winter he had an office in St. Petersburg, Florida, and for the past few years has spent his summers in Little Compton, R. I. He had a host of friends among philatelists throughout the country.

HAVE YOU REALIZED
How Difficult It Is To Find

Superb USED copies of Edwardian and Georgian Colonials? The Reason is that there is very little demand for values above 2½d for postage purposes in the smaller colonies. The higher values are really much rarer used than mint and are very difficult to obtain.

I have had the good fortune to purchase an immense accumulation of Georgians, both MINT and superb USED, and shall be pleased to receive Wantlists (Scott or Yvert) from collectors interested in these stamps.

LA CONVENTION PHILATELIQUE DE LOS ANGELES

As reported by JEAN COURTEAU, of Quebec.

Tres estimable M. Wylie:—

Since four years I am in the Milwaukee and the Minneapolis, and write to you in these times concerning conventions philatelic. Now I am improve my English tres much, but for exactly why he is called the English Language, I am not understand, unless she is one of those American japes no Englishman ever comprehend. Me, I am of the Quebec, but now I am resident of the Three-I League. You do not understand? No? But yes! Ioway, Illinoyse, and Indianny. These so wonderful commonwealths, they have all migrate to Los Angeles, which somebody he say last night, you can pronounce her 557 ways, all wrong. And this Three-I League name I can say, and everybody out here know what I mean and not tell me to say "Loss Anguluss," or perhaps "Lost Angie Lees," or again, sometimes, "Loose Angels Ease." Certainment, I prefer the Three-I.

Comes the first day with this convention, I find in each of these stations, the Gâre du S.P. and the Gâre de la Santa Fe, reception committees decked in the costumes á là mode de Francisco Villa, the Mexican bandolero. Me, I am convince that the police neglect their duty as usual, but when I see "A. P. S." on these two-gallon hats, I know all is safe, and perhaps also something is concealed under these so large chapeaus. Vraiment!

We go to the Biltmore Hotel, edifice magnifique, and find the so numerous tres cautious delegates already arrive. They have alight from the transcontinental trains in the villages suburban, and fly to the roof of the said Biltmore by aeroplane to avoid the so terrific traffic jams of the Detroit Orphans' Society which Mr. Ford maintain in Los Angeles all the entire complete year.

Among these so esteemed gentlemen I discover M. Charles Erudite Severn, whom I meet in Milwaukee and also in Twin-Beds Cities, Sink Paul and Mannyappleless, and as per the usual, he is being mistaken for Hollywood Apollo by the numerous concourse of beautiful Californiennes, who besiege him with requests for the autographed photos, and ask for leading lady engagements in his films! Helas! Me, I am envy this Paris de Philately! Los Angeles, she is filled with Helens!

Then I am discover this M. Huse Kluck, he tell me his name is. Or perhaps I am do the slight error typographique, and his name is Clack. At any antique rate, he is the fast talker, and he assure me that he comes to Los Angeles to bag this Sidney Bird, who, says M. Clack, must be restaurateur, because he put the catalog in the pan. Me, I don't acquire this commotion, but I think it is that M. Clack thinks he is cooked by this M. Bird, who is also cooked, because M. Clack aver he is hardboiled. However, this Three-I league, she is a dry country, so neither of these gentlemen can be stewed.

Then M. Clack, he introduce me to Madame C., who is, I make the discovery, M. Clack's Superior Six-Seventhes. It is so: I discover it, and he admit it to me. M. Clack, he knows the stamps, but Madame C., parbleu, she knows M. Huse Clack! She say to me she know not the stamps, but when I see her so beautiful gowns, I know she is the expert on covers! She has the wonderful collection au Paquin! Elegantly simple: simply elegant!

M. Clack, he confide to me he fears the private fights, but he enjoy the open-to-everybody kind! Merci! Yes, I obtain you now. You mean the free-for-all. But yes! M. Clack he say he must buy the gun, because this Bird flys high, but one hour later I find this Bird and M. Clack holding the friendly shooting competition, and I assure you, M. Wylie, they are hitting not merely the bull's eye, but they are shooting the entire bull. The last I see of them, they are supporting each other in the club-rooms.

When I determine to attend this congress, I receive the information that she is the American conclave. Then I discover that M. le President is M. Wolsieffer, and that his successeur is to be M. Wilhelm, and that M. le President of the Three-I branch is M. Weisbrod, and I am somewhat confuse. In the meet I hear someone say, "The I's have but it appear to me that the W's almost completely everything anyl can hold.

This M. Wilhelm, he is of the Francisco, and he must have the p hypnotique, because everybody in Angeles, he is for M. Wilhelm, and body should he cast at M. Wilhelm, of these which M. Bird call, "Babylo Biscuits," he will find in the way Los Angeles men to stop each one, eight more will be excessivement ung with the one who propels this bu Babylon.

There will be in 1925 and 1926 peregrination between the Los An and the San Francisco, because the ge men of these two so lovely places agreed that they will postpone their tempts to annex the rest of Calif until 1927, when there will be mor annex to each city, perhaps Denver, Orleans, Buenos Ayres, and Patag All this previously so wasted energy be used to acquire the 5,000 mem for the A. P. S.

The large delegation arrives from San Francisco, which delights the Ar extremely much. Among these Fra quitos I encounter the MM. McPher who shoot golfs and other things. bijou of the whole aggregation, what call jewel, is M. Louis Lazarus, "Ach Louis." M. Lazarus he is coll of many strange and unusual count like Camembert, Caviar, Kalbsfle Gebratene Gans, und so weiter, the of each of these being, "When do eat?" This motto M. Ach Louis ad as his war cry. He enjoys what call the large, open-faced time.

One member of European nobili present. He M. le Duc de Bosni Herzegovina, et Count of Luxembo This is M. Burmeister, of Milwau Three times I detect him in the ac entering the establishments of entr neurs, what you call the underta When I ask for why he does this reply that he like to hear someone "The relatives will now pass around Bier."

One evening we discover the abs of conspicuous members. They counting fence posts, proxies, wire, ballots. Eventually they appear and fess that no one has won any money, that the candidate most popular Director-at-Large is the Standard C log, which receive the vote of som in New York with most strange n Coonmiser, or perhaps Loonwiser. h do not this exactly acquire. Everyl else seems to be elected except s body's "Ten Commandments," accor to M. Jay Useless Gust, who seem much interested, because he say not except three smiles and one grin.

The next proceeding is the peregr tion of the assemblage au studios de l versal City. Two hours are consum inspect the establishments cinematogr ique; mais, M. "BITS OF PAPER"

By EDWIN B. HILL, Ysleta, Texas.

For A.P.M.

Half a century has passed since I commenced collecting, back in Detroit, Michigan, in the Autumn and Winter of 1874. It has been fifty years of fragrant memories,—for the adage still holds, "Once a collector, always a collector."

Fifty years ago the youthful stamp collector was not accounted purist. He was content with a damaged stamp, or part of a stamp, so long as he had no other copy in his little collection. Not that there were no seekers for perfection copies in those dark ages of collecting, for I recall one or two boyish lovers of the bits of paper who would steadfastly refuse a 'swap' unless the stamp offered was whole and clean. Centering, in those days, was not generally considered, if it were even thought of seriously.

The young collector gathered everything. Canada revenues were not uncommon in our collections, and as Detroit was a prominent center for the manufacture of matches, these stamps were numerous almost as the 'three-cent-green' of those days. I recall copies of the D. M. Richardson one cent red and three cents vermilion with many of the other denominations. We boys cut them from the match boxes,—not always to the good of the box, however, and even less to ourselves, for mothers did not approve matches loose upon the pantry shelves.

Albums were generally non-existent to the beginner. The Oppen and the Scott "International" were the best known, with an occasional German album. Home-made "copy-books" were utilized largely, and the stamps were stuck fast with flour-paste. The hinge was wholly unknown. This came later,—heavy gummed paper, out of which one cut one's own hinges. The die-cut hinge on this same heavy paper followed, and in time this was superseded by the "onion-skin" hinge now in general use.

We boys loved our stamps and cherished them and gloated over our acquisitions with the thrill of today,—only more so! It all seems very real, looking back over the years between.

The dealer of whom I had most knowledge those days was E. F. Gambs, of Saint Louis. His St. Louis Philatelist brought joy with each issue, and the bargains quoted were taken advantage of when the pocket permitted. L. W. Durbin, of Philadelphia, was another name to be conjured with. He was not so friendly to the boy collector as was his Western confrere, but our relations were always cordial. Both have taken the long journey.

Dealers fifty years ago sent out fair to fine stamps, in packets or on sheets, or on special order for "singles." Pairs were not collected. Ruthlessly were they cut apart to supply the trade demands.

Today the purists decree there shall be no stamps in their collections with even a hint of a thin spot, and a missing perforation is anathema. But to the average collector who has felt the pinch of poverty,—or, perhaps, more truthfully, the purse-strings tightening against reckless purchases,—to this "average" collector falls the average stamp. He may possess perfection copies of the common and many of the scarce stamps with an occasional gem in a rarity. But the general collector, as a rule, cannot afford the rarity at a high price, so he must content himself with the poorer copy at a valuation commensurate with condition.

For myself, I greatly prefer the stamp well-centered, lightly canceled, and in every way perfect: but, being no Croesus, and eschewing a Maecenas, I am content with the commoner stamps in finest condition, the scarce stamps in a condition within reason, and, for the rarities, damaged and unsalable copies have place in my albums.

I have no patience with the purist who destroys all damaged stamps which come into his possession. It is depriving some collector,—some stamp-lover,—of a thing to him of priceless value. In my collection are many stamps hopelessly damaged,—stamps which have come to me through purchase and through gift. My friends amongst the stamp-loving collectors at the outset sent wrecks and ruins with humurous missives, now and then chortling over my fads and foibles. Then they,

AT LOS ANGELES

There are enough members of the American Philatelic Society registered at the headquarters at the Biltmore Hotel to ensure the success of the Los Angeles convention. While the attendance from the east is not large, yet it is not unrepresented by any means. The west has come to the fore enthusiastically and the result is that there is no dearth of delegates. Much disappointment is felt at the enforced absence of President Wolsieffer but his reason for his eleventh hour decision is respected.

The Los Angeles entertainers are buckling down to their work in an experienced manner and they have distributed badges that are things of beauty. The Los Angeles papers are playing up the meeting in a readable way and it is a foregone conclusion that the sessions beginning Tuesday morning will be animated ones. The social diversions are attractive and western hospitality is at every turn.

The reception of Monday evening was the veritable crush of the newspaper reporter and stamps were on all sides. Fine collections are to be seen and the members are enjoying themselves from the outset as they are confident that the week will be one in which they may have as their own without let or hindrance.

It is anticipated that there will be plenty of action at the convention even though the political interest has not run high recently. All in all, the Los Angeles convention bids fair to be a memorable one.

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED AUSTRALIAN COLLECTOR

By CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

I regret to announce the death of one of the early Philatelists of Australia, Mr. E. D. E. Van Weenan, who died on 27th July, 1925, of heart trouble, age 79 years. Mr. Van Weenan was a collector from 1864 and for many years he edited the Australian Philatelist. He was prominent in journalistic circles and was editor of The Land newspaper. He was a fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, and this year was honored by election to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

ALL AROUND THE A. P. S. CONVENTION

By BILL BLOSS.

The big show is over.

The Fortieth Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society has passed into history, in a blaze of glory.

Everybody is tired—and happy. The members of the Executive Committee of Los Angeles Branch, No. 58, whose tireless efforts made the convention possible, are worn out from the mass of details involved in the entertainment of their guests. The guests are worn out from the hospitality of their hosts, who refused to permit them a dull moment. So, when the banquet ended the program, everybody said, "that's that" and hit the hay.

Sleep was at a premium during the big doings. Nobody could be bothered by going to bed. They all talked stamps, looked at stamps, talked A. P. S. politics until mid-night, then went up to Doc. Davis' room, or MacPherson's room, and sat up into the morning talking more politics.

Anyway, the citizens of Los Angeles found that there was something doing in their village besides the sale of real estate this week. The press was generous in giving the big show publicity, with the result that hundreds of non-collectors turned out for the exhibition and bourse on Wednesday night.

The visitors who went to Universal City Tuesday afternoon, to see how movies are made, discovered that California is a big state, for they walked over most of it. Somebody asked R. W. Rex how his feet felt. He said they were barking like two sick seals.

We sat in a committee room with president-elect A. H. Wilhelm. As we became better acquainted, we learned why this man of the West will go far in making the A. P. S. bigger and better, if given the co-operation of the men of the East. Truly he is a builder.

Colonel Partello was there. At the Banquet, he spoke of a glorious career as a collector since 1863—beat that if you can.

We missed P. M. who could not be with us. Somehow, the convention was not complete without him.

East met West when Hugh Clark, the guiding spirit of the Scottalog met Charlie Thompson. We looked for trouble, but didn't see any, for there wasn't any. Sydney Bird left his six-shooter at the door, and Hugh promised to look into the prices of Monaco, so a pleasant time was had by all.

We found Mrs. Hugh to be a charming lady who knows her 1869 inverts like Wrigley knows his spearmint.

It is not true that Mr. MacPherson presented Clarence Weisbrod with a fine pair of homing pigeons. There is nothing in the rumor.

J. E. Guest and Mrs. J. E. were much in evidence, each wearing a $50,126 smile. J. E. has modestly promised himself to sell $100,000 in the Sales Department as his next goal.

C. W. Best of Honolulu grabbed the honor of coming the longest distance to the Convention. He didn't wear a grass skirt however, so some did not know he came from Hawaii.

Sale 268 Next

It will include some very choice, fine stamps of many countries. Are you on my mailing list? The space in Sales 268 and 269 is all taken up, but a limited number of lots can be included in Sale No. 270 if sent in at once. Smaller properties are handled in order of receipt—first come first served.

THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP, JACKSON HEIGHTS, NEW YORK

A WONDERFUL BIT OF ENGINEERING

By W. GARDNER.

On June 25th, 1908, the Guayaquil and Quito Railway which runs from the coast to the capital of Ecuador, was opened for traffic amid great rejoicing. As an engineering feat it has probably no parallel, and so, in honour of this great undertaking, a series of stamps, five out of the seven of which are triangular in shape, was issued.

The decree authorizing the issue of the stamps is dated June 11th, 1908, and therein it is stated that the stamps were available for home or foreign postage from June 25th to July 25th. During the period of sale the ordinary adhesives were withheld.

By this issue Ecuador was the first country to immortalize an engineer by placing his portrait on a postage stamp. The 20 centavo stamp of this issue bears the portrait of Archer Harman, an American engineer, the details of whose life would fill a book. The Guayaquil and Quito Railway was projected forty years ago, and many firms had tried but not one was able to complete the enterprize till Harman came. It was only the nerve and undaunted perseverance of this man that carried the work to a point when success was assured: unfortunately he did not live to see the completion of his life's work. He died of yellow fever and was buried at Huigra, on the side of the railroad at the entrance to the grand cañon, which is followed by the line as it climbs up Mount Pistichi.

The railway climbs across the flank of Mount Chimborazo, seen on the 1 sucre denomination, at an altitude of twelve thousand feet, and the road in some parts makes some pretty steep climbs.

In the clear season, on leaving Riobamba in the morning, there is usually a fine sight of the snows of Chimborazo. Mount Chimborazo, or in Spanish, Altura del Chimborazo, rears its summit 21,525 feet high in the air. Later, if Cotopaxi is in eruption, which is usually the case, there is an opportunity to witness the enormous pillar of black smoke pouring from it, and sometimes at night the live volcanoes glow like a furnace. The Devil's Nose on Pistichi mountain and the Alausi Loop are the great engineering features of this railway. The grade on Pistichi is overcome by switchbacks. This "scratching the Devil's Nose" was one of the engineering feats declared by office experts to be impossible.

Major Harman climbed the steep sides with hand level and transit and ropes, and brought the workers after him to show that it could be done. He was the real constructing genius of this railway, and it was his personality that held the men together through the most discouraging period, when wages were months behind and no one could tell where the next day's provisions were to come from. Harman was greatly assisted in this work by another engineer, James Sivewright, and his portrait was placed on the 50 centavo stamp.

The two engineering features, previously mentioned, are the result of the ledge-like drop of the Alausi River. The cañon formed by this river winds round the foot of Pistichi, but does not afford a means of surmounting it. So an ascent of 114 feet was secured by a switchback. A further ascent of 290 feet was secured by a loop. In the boldness of its curves, and in the mountain panorama which it presents, this loop is unsurpassed.

Another engineering feature is a tunnel through 163 feet of solid rock. From the foothills of the Cordilleras at Bucay to the summit of Palmira Pass there are seventy-two ledges, in the construction of which more than six million pounds of steel were employed. The Alausi River is crossed twenty-six times.

The type of engine used on this railway is shown on the 1 centavo.

The remaining three values show portraits of three of Ecuador's Presidents. The 2c portrays Garcia Moreno, who was President in 1869. He was a chemist, poet, journalist, and perhaps the most noteworthy spirit of his time in Ecuador. Among Moreno's conceptions was the idea of a railway from Guayaquil to the capital, but forty years passed before it became an accomplished fact. Garcia was assassinated in 1875.

General Eloy Alfaro, who became President in 1905, through being the leader of a revolution against the arbitrary rule of Dr. Luis Cordero, figures on the 5c stamp. Alfaro had been exiled and knew what it was to endure great hardships. It was during his term of office that the railway was begun.

The 10c shows a portrait of Abelardo Moncayo, who was President at the time the railway was completed.

These stamps are beautifully printed, several of them in two colours, and reflect great credit on Messrs. Waterlow and Sons. Their imprint, Waterlow and Sons, Limited, Londres, is shown in microscopic letters at the base of each stamp. The stamps, it will be noted, are dated 1907, so the railway took longer to finish than was anticipated.—The Postage Stamp.

Important General Collection For Sale
I offer for sale my large general collection strong in stamps of the British Empire, Germany and South America, at about one-sixth the catalog (1925) value. The cataloguing has been done with the most studious care, and the valuation is therefore believed to be very accurate.
I have exercised great caution in the acquisition of my stamps to avoid the inclusion of counterfeits and reprints, many of my stamps having been submitted to experts for opinion. There are comparatively few minor varieties. The condition of the stamps will average good.
Have also for sale a smaller duplicate collection.
Accurate and comprehensive details of these collections gladly given to any Collector who is a careful investor in stamps. The buyer of either of these properties will know exactly what he is getting.

SOMETHING NEW

As a result of the numerous cities overprinting their stock of 1c envelopes, quite a few interesting varieties are coming to hand, for some offices seem to have had supplies of our older issues on hand, and these are being overprinted and put into the mails to get them out of the way. At the time of issue is the time to purchase such varieties, as many have found out through their experience with the former 2c on 3c envelope. Some of these that were distributed at a few cents at the time are selling for as many dollars to-day.

Provisional 1½c on 1c Envelopes

Up to August 22nd, the Department has issued thirty-nine dies for overprinting the 1c green envelopes in accordance with their recent orders. So far, these dies have been used in fifty-two cities and by the time these notes appear, many of them no doubt will have been transferred to other centers where quantities of 1c envelopes are on hand. Supplies are beginning to come to hand from these different offices and I note that many of them seem to be surcharging all of the old issues and other oddities on hand. One postmaster overprints his envelopes in magenta and when comparing them with the black, I believe that he has selected a better color. The postal order authorizing the overprinting did not mention the color of surcharge, if I recall correctly, consequently this postmaster was strictly within his rights. On several occasions, the Department has endeavored to collect postage due on communications transmitted within these provisional envelopes, for by the time the cancellation hits the stamp, it is difficult to see the overprint in cases where it is light. Had the Department specifically instructed the several offices to overprint in red, it would have made a much more satisfactory piece of work.

Since my last notes, fifteen varieties of interest to the entire envelope collector have come to hand and three new varieties of interest to the cut square collector, the latter including the first of the oval dies noted with the double line surcharge, the same surcharge on blue, which comes to hand for the first time and thirdly, the magenta overprint which is only to be found on the Die C on white variety.

Experimental Postage Stamp Plates.

In my recent list of postage stamp plates three of unusual interest are noted and I have just been advised through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, as to exactly why these plates were made. Plate No. 17506 which was described as 2c ordinary experimental was made so we are informed for experimental purposes only, and was canceled before any impresssions were printed therefrom.

Plates 17405 and 17451 which were made for the 2c booklets of 360 subjects were of the curved type designed for the rotary press, and these also were experimental. Stamps were printed from these plates but will not be issued to the public until the plates have proven successful and authority has been granted from the Post Office Department to proceed with same.

From this information, I judge that we can expect booklet panes from the rotary press in the near future.

Harding 2c Black Part Perforated

Mr. B. K. Miller kindly calls attention to the fact that in my recent notes regarding the part perforated Harding variety, that I described the stamp as imperforated vertically and perforated 12 horizontal. This, of course, is an error for the perforation horizontal was 11, as the old wheels for perforating 12 were out of use long before Harding ever became President.

Air Mail to Hawaiian Islands

Under date of August 31st, three planes left San Francisco for the Hawaiian Islands where they contemplate landing at Kahului Point. It will be of interest to stamp collectors to know that at least one of the planes will carry mail, and your editor who sent forward several communications via this route will await with interest their return—providing the trip is successful, and at that time we will fully advise as to postmarks, etc. The Associated Press of this date (Sept. 2nd) states that P. N.-9 No. 1 is believed to have been forced down due to the exhaustion of fuel. They are only about three hundred miles from their destination and it cannot be said as to whether this plane will be located or whether the other two planes will reach the Hawaiian Islands. It is stated that details regarding the search for the missing plane have been received by navy radio, but that no public announcements are being made.

Universal Postal Changes

The Postal Bulletin of August 29th carry changes effective October 1st next in accordance with rulings of the Universal Postal Union Convention held in Stockholm during July and August of last year. Beginning that date all articles other than letters and postal cards must have their postage fully prepaid instead of at least partially prepaid as heretofore. All such unsufficiently prepaid matter must be returned to the sender.

In connection with the collection of postage due on mail matter from foreign countries unpaid or unsufficiently prepaid. communications are liable on delivery to double the amount of deficiency as heretofore but the minimum charge has been reduced from 6c to 2c.

Reply coupons will be issued at a new price of 9c for exchange in every country of the Universal Postal Union except Persia and Uruguay for a postage stamp or stamps of value sufficient to pay a letter of the first unit of weight from the country of origin addressed to another country. Exchange must be made before the expiration of the sixth month following date of issue.

New specifications for sizes of postal cards are given and the rate for the single card is 3c and for the reply card 6c. This will possibly result in new postal cards for foreign use.

In the case of certain South American countries which at present enjoy a 2c first-class mail rate with this country, the postal card rates will go to 2c and 4c instead of 1c and 2c as heretofore.

Numerous other changes are made relative to the marking of certain kinds of packages placed in the international mail. I am communicating with Washington and hope to learn in short order as to what new stationery we might expect as a result of these new rulings.

We have received our first consignment the new issue and find they are a very ixed lot and appear to be overprinted discriminately either in red, blue or ack and it is possible that all values ist with all three colours of overprint; addition to this some of the over- ints have the date "1343" on the right d some on the left, the other overprint the day and month in Arabic. On one eet only we found an error, the error ling "1342' instead of "1343."

MOZAMBIQUE—Mr. C. B. Hardenberg ates that a special set of Charity amps is to be issued to commemorate boundary decision in favour of Port- al, given about fifty years ago. TURKEY—A cutting kindly sent us by Mr. Oswald W. Churchill states that Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. have secured the contract for printing a new issue of Turkish stamps to the number of 110 millions, the value of the contract being a little over £20,000. The designs of the stamps are to show the President of the Republic, several national heroes, and the Castle of Angora. —Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

ZANZIBAR.—We are officially informed that the present issue of stamps will be withdrawn and a new set issued in January next.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

"BITS OF PAPER."

too, began to look into the subject from a new view-point, and more seriously to reason the logical end.

Specialism and the hoarding for study of certain once common issues has depleted the stocks of the dealers,—minor variety collectors have taken unto themselves other issues of moment,—and the men with long purses have absorbed perfection copies of rarities.

Whither are we drifting,—we, the laymen amongst classicists? To us is left the flotsam and jetson,—the waifs and the strays. Let us, then,—we, the pariahs amongst purists,—take unto our hearts the discards,—the outcasts,—the hapless,—and love them and treasure them beyond price. Let us visualize. Let us take joy in our collections, bettering where we may, but loving unto the end.

The collector who picks up for a trifling sum the stamp discarded by the purist is building well. It is true, an excessively heavy cancellation destroys the beauty of a stamp beyond hope. But a missing perforation,—a torn corner,—part of a stamp, even,—is by no means evidence to condemn. Parts of stamps and damaged stamps are excellent, too, for study. My five cents New York Postmaster's stamp, with its humorsome outlook on fragmentary life, led me to search out the plated sheet, with gratifying results. The three cents 1851-1857, with its types and many varieties, may also be studied through the medium of fragmentary evidence.

All in all, there is hope and joy laid up for the collector who garners his stamps for the pleasure he finds in them, regardless of future monetary values. Let him be not of those who see through the eyes of the dollar, but preferably through lenses roseate with the hues of the world he loves and lives in.

THE COMING OF A NEW BUSINESS

IN all ages the NEW has been a subject of absorbing interest, speculation and curiosity to human kind; its raison d'etre is discussed, its object analyzed, its development keenly noted, and approval of its theories awarded or withheld according to the prevailing standard of contemporary enlightenment.

INVENTIVE genius leaves its vindication in Time's own hand, knowing well that the unproved NEW of Today is the ACCEPTED of Tomorrow. Nothing can arrest or even long delay Progress. It is the Spirit of the Age, and the Popular Voice hails the New, gives it trial fairly, and discards it only if it fails to make good its promise.

THIS SEASON America witnesses the advent of a New Comer in Philatelic Retail Merchandising, and, as we most earnestly believe, welcomes it right cordially.

The Pacific Stamp Co. proposes to be the very apotheosis of interesting novelty in the ways and means of endowing "Stamp Collecting" and "Stamp Buying" with a new significance and the superlative in pleasure.

At the Pacific Stamp Co. the contrast between the old and the new will, we hope, be unmistakable. This result shall in part be achieved through a pledge to faithfully uphold those splendid, time-tried principles of Integrity, Sincerity, Courteous Service and Liberality in dealing.

THE STAMPS OF THE NEW HEBRIDES

By ROMNEY GIBBONS.

So much has already appeared in print about the stamps of the New Hebrides that I do not propose to inflict upon you a detailed history of these issues. There is a well-known hand-book by "Single CA" which will always form a basis for serious study and, in addition, numerous articles have appeared in the philatelic journals of Australia and New Zealand. I shall therefore confine myself to a few general remarks, and only descend into particulars concerning points which are not yet completely settled.

In the first place, the arrangement of a collection of New Hebrides stamps, with their two forms of currency, entails some little difficulty. In Stanley Gibbons' and other catalogues, the issues in English currency are included amongst the stamps of the British Empire, while those with French currency are relegated to the foreign portion, but this action does not seem to me to be warranted. Both series of stamps are sold over the same post office counter, and as far as I can understand the revenue derived from their sale is pooled and placed to the credit of the Condominium Government. Indeed, except for the question of exchange, there does not seem to be any valid reason why the two forms of currency should not be placed on the same stamp. In addition, the cancellation stamps—English and French—appear to be used quite haphazardly, and when during the years 1920-21 a lack of low value stamps necessitated a crop of provisionals, stamps were selected for overprinting without any respect to their original forms of currency.

On the other hand, a strictly chronological arrangement is not altogether satisfactory, and in the collection that I am showing tonight I arrange the issues in the following manner, which seems to me most convenient—i.e., first, the stamps of the New South Wales and New Caledonian post offices in the islands, then the two local issues; next, the provisional Condominium series overprinted on the stamps of Fiji and New Caledonia respectively, then the Bi-national issues; and finally, the provisionals of 1920-21.

The New South Wales stamps used in the New Hebrides (1892-1908) are, of course, well known, but in my experience the New Caledonian stamps, which were also employed there, are a good deal scarcer, which may be accounted for by the fact that they were only in use for five years, also the bulk of the correspondence which passed through French hands would naturally be chiefly intended for Noumea. There were two branch offices of the New Caledonian post in the New Hebrides—one at Vila and the other at Port Sandwich; the latter cancellation, which was only in use for a short time, I have never even seen, and should say that it is of considerable rarity.

I might remark that, although the use of New Caledonian stamps ceased with the appearance of the Condominium issue in 1908, copies of New Caledonian stamps, postmarked with later dates than this, are fairly frequent, being cancelled probably by inadvertence or favour. Such specimens are, of course, of no particular philatelic value, and it is essential therefore to secure copies bearing the correct dates.

The local issues of the Australasian New Hebrides Co., Ltd., are common in an unused condition, as considerable numbers of remainders were disposed of a few years back. They are also plentiful in a "cancelled-to-order" state, and for really satisfactory copies, one must look for specimens on the original envelope. The French local issue is fairly uncommon, so much so that I think it is quite possible that the statement that the stock of stamps was confiscated by the Governor of New Caledonia is true. I have been on the lookout for these stamps for some years, but I can only show you tonight a block of the 15c, and if, as asserted, the stamps were speculative and intended for sale to collectors, one would expect to come across them a great deal more readily.

The provisional issue, surcharged at Suva on the stamps of Fiji, is the one most suitable for philatelic research, specially the values from 2d upwards. The stamps were overprinted in sheets of 120, and I might remark that the great rarity of the New Hebrides Islands, the 1d without overprint, of which six copies are known, must have existed along the whole row on the sheet—that is to say, there must have been originally 12 pairs of the variety in existence. I show an example of printers' waste of this denomination with the overprint greatly misplaced.

For overprinting the bi-colored stamps of this issue, two operations were necessary, and the colored bars overprinted at the top of the stamps were set up to cover an entire sheet at a time. Each bar was composed of two pieces of printers' rule—one rather thicker than the other; but they are placed so close together that it is generally impossible to detect (in single copies) the join. In most of the sheets of the 2d, 6d and 1sh values, all ten bars on the left-hand pane and the first nine bars on the right-hand pane have the thinner rule at the top; but in the 10th row of the right-hand pane the thicker rule is above the thinner. Usually in the 2½d and 5d values these conditions are reversed, showing that (if we take the first condition to be the normal one) these two values were inserted into the press the other way up. This point is not of very great importance.

There are on the other hand very distinct variations in the colors in which these bars were printed, and I think that where several distinct printings of a denomination are made and accompanied by distinct changes of shade, such shade varieties are worthy of some little attention as helping to build up the history of the issue. The 2d is known with the bar in deep orange and in pale orange. The deep orange shade was certainly the earlier, but as there were four printings of this value, it may have been repeated later. The 2½d, of which there were only two supplies overprinted, is known with two shades of the bar—deep and paler indigo; the latter color being accompanied by a dark and oily appearance at the back. The 5d is known with the bar in blue-green and in yellow-green. The first printing is that with the blue-green bar. There were two subsequent printings, to one or both of which the printing with the bar in yellow-green must be allotted. Of the 6d value there were four printings, and the bar is known in deep and pale carmine. The former shade appears in the first printing, and the paler carmine bar is met with in a subsequent printing, but which one I am unable to say. I have not been able to discover any marked difference in shade among the multiple shillings, though it might be noted that the 1sh single CA always is found with the bar in pale carmine, as against the deep carmine of the multiples. There were three supplies overprinted of the latter, and it is possible that varieties in their shade may be discovered.

If a sufficiency of dated copies were available, it might be possible to allot each shade to its particular printing, but such a task awaits the collector who has material available.

The later series of Fiji stamps overprinted in London by Messrs. de la Rue & Co. is not very interesting, and the same may be said of the two series on New Caledonian stamps which preceded the Bi-national issues. Of the second of the French provisional issues (that with Condominium added), the 25c and 50c are supposed never to have been issued in the islands, although placed on sale in Paris along with the rest of the issue in March, 1910. These two denominations did not reach Vila till well on in 1911, subsequent to the appearance of the Bi-national series. They were afterwards employed for the 5c and 10c provisionals of 1920, and from the quantities that were issued of the latter, it seems probable that they were never sold in an unsurcharged condition at the Vila post office.

The Bi-national series, I am afraid, have never aroused in me any great feelings of enthusiasm. The ungainly size of the stamps and their propensity for curling up at the slightest provocation makes them very difficult objects to handle, and for that reason I have rather neglected them. Some of the values, I believe, exist in very distinct shades. The English currency series are produced in sheets of 30, and the same size of sheet was also at first used for the French series. Some of the denominations of the latter have of late appeared in sheets of 60.

The provisionals of 1920-21 contain some of the most uncommon New Hebrides stamps, notably the 5c on 50c without Condominium, and the 2d on 40c "R.F." paper. Mr. J. F. Hambly has kindly lent me specimens so that I can place before you tonight the complete series.

The postmarks found on the stamps are not without interest. The first English cancellation (used 1909-10) had the words "New Hebrides" at top and "Vila" at foot, and the date in the centre in almost every conceivable combination of figures, normal or inverted.

During 1909 the cancellations are generally struck in blue-black ink, in 1910 in violet. In the latter year a new cancellation stamp was brought into use with the word "Vila" at top and "New Hebrides" at foot (reversed order to the previous one), and this is still in use, generally struck in blue-black or black, but more occasionally in violet.

The French cancellation used at Vila (or "Port Vila" as it reads on the postmark) is of the usual French colonial type. There is another French cancellation used on ship letters reading "Nelles Hebrides—Service Maritime."

In conclusion, I shall say a few words about the general standing of these stamps. In 1912 the editor of the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain wrote a series of articles on what he considered to be the world's most interesting stamps. Under "New Hebrides" we have the following reference: "These stamps are on a par with the Gilbert and Ellice labels." Under "Gilbert and Elice" is the following paragraph: "This small group of islands forms a Protectorate in the S. Pacific which it has been considered necessary to provide stamps for. As is usual with out-of-the-way places, with only an infinitesimal population of white people, the stamps have been speculated in with the result that the labels issued last year are now almost unprocurable. The second issue, fortunately limited to the face value of 6d. should be sufficient to meet all the needs of the half-dozen letter writers in the group; unfortunately, however, there are already rumors of high value King George stamps! It is the Cayman's, the Gilbert and Ellice, and the Brunei's which do a tremendous lot of harm to the hobby of stamp collecting, inasmuch as they disgust hundreds of collectors."

Like most sweeping statements, this quotation seems to me to be altogether too severe on the status of the New Hebrides' issues. There is a considerable white population in the group, and the peculiar circumstances of the administration makes the issue of separate postage stamps an absolute necessity. The fact that the French issues are on sale in Paris, as well as in Vila, is merely a similar custom as exists in all French colonies and protectorates. The various watermarks in the Bi-national series are not due to any philatelic influence. The provisionals of 1920-21, which I think we are entitled to regard as having been brought into existence through a bona fide scarcity of the lower values, were issued in fairly large quantities, and the scarce varieties which exist among them were no doubt overprinted through inadvertence owing to the existence of stocks of stamps with both watermarks being in co-existence. I have a great distaste for all speculative emissions, but I think that a general plea of "not guilty" might be entered with respect to the New Hebrides stamps, and, considering the facilities that have been afforded, the administration has really behaved very moderately. It might be noted that during the war no "red cross" stamps appeared, nor have the changes of colour, which have been recently made in other French possessions, yet eventuated. Considering the fluctuations in the French franc, it is a matter for some curiosity as to how the postal rates are maintained side by side with the issue in English currency.—Australian Stamp Journal.

PAN-AMERICAN ISSUE OF CHILI 1923

By G. HERBERT DANNATT, F.R.P.S.L.

The postal history of Chili shows an almost unbroken continuity of freedom from celebration and speculative issues, the only exception to this being the handsome Centenary issue of 1910, which can hardly be termed "speculative" inasmuch as the emission expressed a legitimate desire to make the history of the Republic better known by focussing public attention upon the hundredth anniversary of its foundation.

The Centenary stamps were freely on sale, without restriction, for many months at practically all post offices, and no "remainders" were ever sold at less than face value, so the most exacting of philatelic purists can hardly take exception to this issue.

The history of last year's Pan-Americans is equally "clean," and although there is very little to relate regarding these stamps, it is perhaps as well in the interest of serious Philately and for the benefit of future generations always to put on record every known fact concerning any new issue as soon afterwards as possible, the function of "New Issue Notes" in the philatelic press being to provide early information rather than details of production and the minutæ beloved by specialists.

For most of the information contained in these notes I am indebted to Captain H. S. Porter, the well-known philatelist of Santiago. All values of the stamps were printed at the Government Printing Establishment (Quinta Normal, Santiago) on unwatermarked paper, in sheets of 100 (10 rows of 10), perforated 14½x14 by comb machine (probably supplied by Messrs. Grover). The sheets have no marginal inscriptions, but the specialist may like to note a small guide-mark on the top and bottom margins in centre. The printing was evidently done by the same process as used to manufacture the stamps of the regular issue which seems to have been withdrawn from sale during the currency of the new series, automatically coming into use again as stocks of the Commemoratives became exhausted.

The new emission was intended to celebrate the Pan-American Congress held at Santiago and the design shows the Congress building in that city.

The stamps were first sold at Santiago on 25th April, 1923, which was the official date of issue, although for a time some of the smaller post offices were unable to get supplies and a certain amount of speculative buying took place, which fact probably accounted for the second printing of the lower values.

The numbers printed were as follows:

	1st printing. Decree No. 604, dated 24/4/23.	2d printing. Decree No. 739 dated 11/5/23.
2c red	1,000,000	4,000,000
4c brown	500,000	2,000,000
10c blue and black	1,000,000	1,000,000
20c orange and black	500,000	500,000
40c mauve and black	500,000	500,000
1 peso, green and black	500,000	Nil.
2 pesos, carmine and black	250,000	Nil.
5 pesos, olive-green and black	250,000	Nil.

The stamps appear to have been intermittently on sale from the date of issue until the end of the year, and some value will probably be still obtainable in the early months of 1924, but it is most unlikely that any more will be printed.

There are no varieties of importance but some impressions of the 40c value appear to have been over-inked.

Although many sheets were badly centred the work of production is most creditable to all concerned, especially when it is remembered that until 1915 it was customary for Chilian stamp printing contracts to be placed abroad.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

JAMAICA ISSUES OF WAR STAMPS

By DILETTANTE.

The Legislature in March, 1916, passed a Law to increase the revenue of the Colony by imposing a War Tax of ½d on all first class mail matter within the Empire, which included local ½d post cards, 3d on parcels arriving in the Island, 3d on local telegrams in addition to the sum collectible at the rates in force, that the payment of the Tax should be made by suitably overprinted adhesive stamps, that non-overprinted stamps of the required values would be available for payment, and that the Law should be in force for one year, as from April 1, 1916.

The stamps were overprinted locally at the Government Printing Office at Kingston. The varieties in type were numerous, and a check list to include them all, even if of interest, would create a record of no small dimensions. The only type of collector likely to appreciate a record of the kind, is the specialist or student. Not being either myself, and while I have paid some little attention to these details, I must confess that I have not recorded them all, so that at best, such a list compiled by me, would be incomplete, and as I write for the benefit of the collector from the junior to the semi-advanced stage, the object of these notes will be served, if attention is given only to the chronicled and unchronicled varieties which may be classed as major, and omit those of broken and defective letters, mutilated words, etc.

The first issue of War stamps was made on April 1, 1916, and consisted of ½d yellow-green, Gibbons type 15, and 3d on yellow surface coloured paper, Gibbons type 18 and No. 88. The overprint was in black, reading WAR STAMP, in small Roman capitals 1½mm high in one line, 16mm long.

The most noteworthy varieties of the first printing of the ½d were No. 44 of the third pane, which was without period, spaced W, No. 55 third pane, and Wari-stamp No. 55 second pane.

The only one of these which has been given catalogue rank is the "No Stop" variety, Gibbons No. 97a. Because of the mutilation of the words referred to before, great care should be exercised when selecting a specimen of this variety. This mutilation was caused by poor registering of the sheet in the press, and caused letters to be carried over from one stamp on to another; in this process many specimens are known with stop lost in the perforation, stop on white margin, and this last can be removed without readily visible damage. The true "No Stop" variety shows the overprint well within the frame, with room for the stop to appear on the stamp itself.

Gibbons 97b, double overprint, did not make its appearance for a little while. An entire sheet was purchased in the usual manner at the Post Office window, the two lower panes of which were found to be in this condition. The left and upper portions of these two panes showed one impression clear and distinct, the second faint, increasing in sharpness and visibility, the lower and more to the right that one went, until both impressions appear clear and well defined. The "No Stop" variety double impression appears on this sheet, and so far as is now known, is the only one of its kind in existence.

Gibbons 97c Inverted Overprint did not come to light until the close of 1918. An entire sheet existed, and apparently occurred in the first or very early printings, as the impression is in clear, thin letters. It was purchased by a clerk at the Post Office window, who though not a collector himself, was sharp enough to realise that his find was out of the ordinary, he kept quiet about it, expecting to hear of others and so learn the value. He eventually took the sheet to a collector, who arranged to market it for him. I was fortunate enough to see the sheet, as it was submitted to me for opinion. Comparison of the impression, setting, varieties of type, etc., all indicated that it was genuine. Sample blocks were despatched to England and the States offering the stamps. The reports from England were favorable, but to our local surprise, the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. denounced the overprint as forged. Their Expert, Mr. J. N. Luff, in their circular No. 147, April, 1919, writes as follows:—

"JAMAICA.—The half-penny war tax stamp of 1916, with the words "war tax" in one line, has recently appeared with inverted overprint and has been offered extensively to dealers in this country. On comparing the normal and inverted overprints we find their general appearance very similar but the latter seems to be from new and clean type with thin strokes to the letters, whereas the normal overprint has many defective letters and the lines are thick, as if the face of the type had been flattened by long use. On submitting samples of the stamps to the Manager of our printing department we are informed that though the two overprints have a marked resemblance, they are from two different styles of type, the normal being termed "Caslon" and the inverted "Roman". It is obvious that the latter is a counterfeit."

Naturally, this opinion, by a recognised expert, by such an authority as Mr. Luff, was almost enough to kill the variety, but the interested parties raised the question by referring the matter to the Postmaster for Jamaica, whom it is possible to quote as follows:—

"This Department keeps no record of the errors in overprinted War stamps, but from the variety of errors which come under its notice, particularly in the ½d denomination, overprint of 1916, I have not any reason to doubt that the overprint inverted in the half-penny stamp which you submitted is genuine, and I would not regard it as a forgery."

It was also submitted to the Superintendent of the Government Printing Office, where the work was done, who stated as follows:—

"This Department does not use Caslon type in overprinting the War stamps. Therefore, the statement that this description of type was used in the overprinting of these stamps is not correct."

Referring in particular to the difference between the first and later impressions, he said:—

"Not at all surprising. The first impressions of these prints appeared sharp, clean and well defined (and) the different appearance of the overprints in various sheets is no doubt due to wearing of the type from constant use. The first impressions of these stamps were quite in order, and free from defects or errors, so far as I am aware, but shortly afterwards it was noticed that the points were missing, and spaces and defective letters appeared. These defects were corrected. It was afterwards decided to alter the setting and the two-line overprint was introduced. An officer from the Post Office Department stands by the press whilst the stamps are being overprinted, and great care is exercised in this respect. Summing up the situation—I have investigated this matter since you brought it to my notice, and am quite satisfied that the inverted overprint stamps shown to me are genuine, and were printed from type set and used in this department. . . . . All single line printings were made from Roman small cap. Monotype, viz., 8-pt., 14a., and this is the description of type which is shown on the inverted specimens shown me.

It has been stated that Roman type in the course of wear, may take on the appearance of Caslon; if this be correct, it is strange that the Scott people were not aware of it, and as their opinion was based on a normal impression of type which showed "many defective letters", and thick lines, as if the face of the type had been flattened by long use", it is apparent that up to then, they had seen no specimens of the early impressions in clear, thin letters of apparently new type.

These statements, in addition to the bona fide purchase at the Post Office window, seem to remove all doubt and to place the variety where it properly belongs, i.e., in the ranks of genuine and legitimate errors.

The ½d blue-green, No. 98, did not make its appearance until May-June, and all the varieties noted, as on No. 97, except 97b, etc., are known. This shade with inverted overprint, is reported from America, but I do not know its history.

The 3d white back was overprinted from a comparatively small residue of stock, and as the non-overprinted stamp of the same type was concurrently in use, the supply was soon exhausted, and the War Stamp, Gibbons No. 99, became a fairly rare specimen, although there has been no movement in value since it was first listed. The variety recorded by Gibbons, "No Stop" No. 99a, is an unknown quantity, I have never seen it, nor do I know of anyone who has. Claims at discovery have been made, but when they have been seen, they have all proved to be "stop lost in the perforation". The fact that it is recorded by Gibbons must be accepted prima facie that it does exist, and for my own satisfaction I should dearly like to see a copy, as there is such strong evidence, which would seem to make its existence impossible. In this, and in nearly all subsequent printings, varieties which exist on the first and second panes of the two lower values, ½d and 1½d are faithfully registered in the same positions on the 3d, while those on the third and fourth panes, are, with one exception, unknown on the 3d. The ½d and 1d exist in sheets of 240 stamps, i.e., 4 panes of 60 each, the 3d is in sheets of 120 stamps, i.e., 2 panes of 60 each. The presence of the ½d and 1½d varieties when they occur in the first and second panes of these values, in the same positions on the 3d, suggests that forms were set up of 240 subjects to suit the sheets of the ½d and 1½d, but that in printing the 3d, only the upper half was used. This may or may not be correct, as while there is much evidence in support of the theory, there is one exception which indicates the opposite. The overprint Gibbons type 20a, for a short while showed an S with a crushed tail on No. 24 of the 3rd pane, which has also been found on the 3d, clearly proving that in this instance at least the lower as well as the upper half of the form was used, but as this seems capable of explanation, one is thrown back on the old doubt. Several sheets, but not all, of all values with the overprint, have been seen with pin holes through the central dividing paper, the explanation apparently being that pins were used to hold either, or both, upper and lower sheets of the 3d in place to be printed; as they were not noted in the previous printings, and have not been seen since, the lay mind suggests that the use of these pins was found to entail more time to print two sheets at once than was required for the double operation of printing them singly, and for that reason was abandoned. If this theory is correct, the explanation of crushed S from the third pane appearing on the 3d is found, and would seem to support the first, i.e., that in printing the 3d only the upper half of the form was used.

As the "No Stop" variety was No. 44 of the third pane, it does not seem possible that it could have appeared on the 3d white back. In the list of varieties given by Gibbons, type 19 on the 3d, the "No Stop" variety is shown as appearing on No. 17 second pane and No. 44 third pane. We know that no third pane of the 3d exists, and if this is meant that No. 44 of the ½d was really repeated on the 3d white back, then the record should read No. 44 first pane and the waristamp 55 of the second pane should be conspicuous by its absence, as well as the "No Stop" on No. 17 of this pane. If such a sheet exists, or has been known, it would at once settle the question.

THE FORUM.

By H. P. ATHERSON, 318 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

Stamps Used in 1708—This is such an early date for the use of stamps, that it may well be mentioned in the Forum, tho the stamps are English revenue stamps. This parchment bears a vertical pair of colorless embossed "VI PENCE" stamps on a gray paper, probably blue paper originally. The start of the document is with the two words "This Indenture", each of the capital letters being a real work of art, and giving the text a very ornate appearance, the whole being in black ink which has faded but very little. To quote one of the early sentences:

" in the saiventh Year of the Raign of our Soveraign Lady Anne—by the Grace of God Queen of Great Britain, France and Ireland Defender of the faith, and in the year of our Lord One Thousand eight hundred Eight."

The day was Aug. 3rd, and it was received here on that day, making this pair of stamps exactly 217 years old. They are the oldest stamps that have ever been my way on a document.

This parchment bears six seals in red wax across the bottom of the document, the names of each signer being alongside the seals, which bear embossed dragons, hearts and unicorns, etc.

Mr. M. C. Howe has shown me an eagle on a 3c 1867 which is added to our cancellations for illustration; also a very fine "Skull & Bones" from "Waverly Nov 15 5 PM 1886 N.Y." on a 2c 1883 cover. A 12c 1857 has received the red "19" right across one corner, and this is a very pretty item. Then there is a cover to Barcelona carried by a 5c 1857 Type I pmkd. from New Orleans, La. This 5c rate to Spain seems quite uncommon. On the reverse are several foreign marks and on the face of the cover in addition to the "Br. Pkt." in red, are large black characters, "8 Rs", the Spanish Due marks, for most everything seems to have been hit by a due mark!

Here is the first result from the inquiry re U. S. stamps with foreign cancellations used before 1870. There are two of these covers, the contents of each being unfortunately removed before they reached the collection of Mr. John W. Prevost.

Will mention first the earlier one, it being a 10c 1861 pmkd. in black ring of 26mm "P. O. D. U. S. Con. Genl." at top of the ring, and "Shanghai" at bottom, with the date "Jul 15" centrally spaced as with ordinary U. S. pmks. In addition this letter has the pretty elliptical cancellation reading "China and Japan" above with "Steam Service" in red below, an ornamental line running horizontally between the two parts of this inscription. The dark green stamp while touched by the red Service cancel, is hit in addition by a cork cancel cut in quarters, much as our common 3c 1861's were cancelled.

Its destination was San Francisco, Calif., and on the end of the cover is the mss. annotation "Ans'd Sept 1, '68.", while the back stamp reads "San Francisco Paid all Aug 16" in red.

The second cover shows the same pmk. as the first cover, tho dated "Jul 12" and from a note in mss. "R Aug 20th 1870", we assume it to be received at that time. This cover bears two 10c, '69's struck three times by a cut cork obliterator of small size cut into eight pieces.

Mr. Prevost has long been interested in the use of covers from the postal agency at Shanghai, and thro the aid of the late Mr. C. H. McBride he was able to secure this authentic information given below, which you may find of much philatelic value some day, if not right now.

"Sec. 7, of the Act of July 27, 1868, (15 Stat. Chap. 246) authorized the establishment of the General Postal Agency at Shanghai, as follows:

That the Postmaster General be and is hereby authorized to establish in connection with the United States mail steamship service to Japan and China a general postal agency at Shanghai, China, with such branch agencies at other ports in China and Japan, as shall, in his judgment, be necessary for the prompt and efficient management of the postal service in those countries; *****"

Then to quote further, from the Annual Report of the Postmaster General, John A. Creswell, for the year ended June 30, 1869, appears the following:

"I have not considered it expedient, in the present condition of the service, to establish a general postal agency at Shanghai, with branch agencies at other ports in China and Japan, as authorized by the 7th section of the Act of July 27, 1868. The United States Consuls at Shanghai and Kanagawa (Japan) still continue to act, with the consent of the Department of State, as resident mail agents at those ports, in connection with their consular duties."

From this we gather that all U. S. mail sent out of Chinese and Japanese ports prior to July 1, 1869, was carried by consular mail pouches. This is interesting, for you will notice that the stamps cancelled from Hiogo, Japan, bear a very peculiar pmk., quite unlike the letters which are common to the period in the U. S. pmks. In fact, the letters look as tho they were made up by a Japanese, and this had led me to believe that there was a Japanese mailing station.

Has any reader gathered any further information about the Far Eastern P. O. Agencies? Also have you any covers pmkd. from Kanagawa, or from ports unmentioned in the previous Forum? This is merely a start on what may prove to be a very interesting bit of philatelic research, and these cancellations may become as popular as our "Pony Express" cancellations. Will be glad to hear from you at any time.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF HAYTI.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XVI.

The 1902 Provisionals.

Early in 1902 one of the periodical civil wars, which have been the curse of this republic, broke out and for some months the state of affairs was serious. After several severe conflicts the revolutionary party was successful, Simon Sam's government was overthrown, and in May a Provisional Government was formed. To prove to the world at large that Hayti was once more fairly tranquil and under different government the stamps then current were overprinted "MAI — Gt Pre — 1902" in three lines within an oblong frame with rounded corners. The words "Gt Pre" in the centre are an abbreviation for "Gouvernment Provisoire."

The stamps were all overprinted one at a time by means of a single handstamp. There is only one type of genuine overprint characterised by a narrow "M" in "MAI" and small "0" in "1902." Many fraudulent types exist some of them being very plentiful and represented in nearly every dealer's stock. One type, having a very broad "M" in "Mai" and large "e" in "Pre," provides numerous errors — inverted, double, sideways, pairs with and without overprint, etc. This particular type was, we believe, made in Germany, under the following circumstances. One of the Haytian officials was forced to take his pay in postage stamps, a not unusual occurrence, and sent them to a German dealer. The dealer replied that if they were surcharged with the handstamp of 1902 they would be worth considerably more. The Haytian official was unable to find the genuine handstamp, which had been lost or destroyed, and had another one made, of the type described above, and with this he overprinted the stamps before again sending them to Germany. He had received a hint that errors would not be unwelcome and in marking up some of the sheets he exercised considerable ingenuity, for we have seen large blocks containing all the various errors se-tenant. Apparently the handstamp was sent to Germany with the stamps so that the dealer could manufacture other errors if so desired. Consequently stamps with one genuine and one fraudulent overprint are met with quite frequently.

All of the stamps with genuine overprint are known with the overprint inverted and all exist with double overprint. The 1c in both colors, 2c orange, 4 and 1 gourde are known in pairs one without overprint, and pairs of the 1c blue and 1 gourde are known showing one stamp without overprint and the other with the overprint inverted.

According to a list published in the WEEKLY some years ago the total number of stamps overprinted was as follows:—

1c blue,	30,000
1c green,	68,600
2c orange,	28,600
2c carmine,	67,400
3c green,	20,000
4c red,	14,800
5c brown,	10,000
5c blue,	21,200
7c grey,	13,340
8c carmine,	8,310
10c orange red,	16,812
15c olive grey,	7,000
20c black,	7,695
50c brown lake,	2,100
1 gourde mauve,	1,596

On December 21, 1902, Nord Alexis was elected President by his successful troops, and on the same day the overprinted stamps were withdrawn from use and the ordinary stamps were again placed on sale.

During the few months these provisional stamps were current similar varieties but with the months of June ("JUIN") and July ("JUILLET") instead of May were recorded in several philatelic journals but these turned out to be altogether bogus.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Commemorative Issue of 1904.

After the withdrawal of the overprinted stamps forming the preceding issue, the ordinary labels of 1898-99 were u until 1904, when two sets made th appearance simultaneously, one of more or less ephemeral character to co memorate the centenary of the Indep dence of the Haytian Republic and t other for equally indefinite "permane use. The Republic was so hard up this period that had it not been for generosity of a wealthy Haytian might have been spared these two issu But we had better relate the story in i as told in Ewen's Weekly for July 1904:—

"L'Echo de la Timbrologie gives inner history of the two recent issu It seems that the authorities were a ious to show their solicitude for the h public, and the centenary of proclamation of Independence appea a fitting occasion. What more natu than to have a new set of stamps, even two? It was therefore resolv to have a new series, but unfortunat all the state funds were all appropria to more useful objects. In this u tunate predicament M. Borro, a milli aire member of the Council, kin placed the necessary funds at the posal of the government, and even ca to Paris where he ordered, beyond commemorative set proposed, anot with the portrait of the President from M. Côte, the engraver and print

The designs proposed by the la having been accepted by the Haiti government, an order was given for number of sets not over 100,000. whole of the stamps were despatch from Paris in three consignments at tervals of one month, under the offic control of a representative of the H tian Embassy and the District Co missionary of Police. The plates w included in the last consignment, a defaced on arrival at Port-au-Prince. Borro refused to accept any moneta return for his outlay, but asked for a received part of the stamps.

These stamps were uncancelled a unsurcharged in any way. The Gover ment had, in the meantime, ordered so handstamps 'POSTE PAYE, 18 1904,' and all the stamps issued in t ordinary course through the Post Offi were so surcharged, thus rendering t stamps given to M. Borro useless eith for franking his correspondence or f sale to collectors. He, no doubt, pr tested against such a shabby trick a induced the Government to do away wi the 'control' surcharge. This has n been done.

ne points not explained in this his- are the facts that the stamps were ale in Paris from the first, and may be had unsurcharged for less than value. We are elsewhere told that reason the surcharged stamps were drawn was because an American bought them all up."

will now simplify matters to deal each of these issues separately, be- ing with the commemorative series. set consisted of four different de- s for seven different denominations, all were engraved and printed by E. Côte, of Paris. They were all ted in sheets of fifty, in five hori- al rows of ten, and all except the 1c bicolored.

ne 1c seems to have been printed n an engraved plate, while the others, ar as the borders are concerned at rate, were produced by lithography. design of the 1 centime is as fol- : in the centre, on an uncolored ground the marvelous conglomera- of flags, palm tree, cannon, etc., h compose Hayti's coat-of-arms is n, with the dates "1804-1904" above the motto "L'Union Fait la Force" v. On each side of this is a sturdy zon, the one on the left holding a ch of olive and the one on the a branch of palm, the branches ing each other. The female at the holds a spear in her right hand, e the more scantily garbed lady on ight holds what might be a paddle, is more probably a double-headed , in her left hand. At the top "RE- BLIQUE D'HAITI" is shown in e fancy capitals on a curved tablet color, while in the upper border NTENAIRE DE L'INDENPEN- CE" is engraved in microscopic cap- Below the Arms a large uncol- numeral "1" appears on a shaded with scroll ornamentation at each under this is "CENTIME" in tall als, on each side of which is a y ornate pillar supporting the two orical ladies. At the base of the e panel containing the Arms the of the engraver, "E. COTE- LPT" is shown in tiny colored als.

the other values the space occupied he Arms on the 1c is filled with aits of three Haytian notabilities. The top and side borders are the same as before, but the lower portion of the design differs materially from that of the 1c. Below the portrait the Arms with date and motto are shown, with "CENTIMES" on a straight label at the base. The ornamental columns supporting the female figures have been removed or, rather redrawn for utilitarian effect. On each of these is a plain square frame on which the requisite numeral of value appears. Under the left hand numeral is "E. COTE", and below the one on the right "1903." This latter is the date of the engraving and printing of the stamps, for they were not placed on sale until January 1, 1904.

The lithographic transfers for these values were apparently made from one common die with blank spaces for the numerals. Possibly the transfers were applied to the stones in horizontal strips of five or ten, but as we have no entire sheets available for examination at the moment we cannot say for certain. But that the transfers were in strips may be proved by the presence of minor defects, which are quite constant, in the vertical rows. Thus in the case of the 50c one vertical row shows a line of color across the top white border above the "B" of "REPUBLIQUE"; in the 5c there is a colored dash in front of the right-hand "5" in one vertical row; in the 7c one row shows a tiny colored dot above the foot of the right-hand "7," and so on. There are also small flaws on certain stamps in the sheet which the specialist might find worthy of note.

The portraits on the values from 2c to 50c run in pairs, i.e., Toussaint L'Ouverture on the 2c and 5c, J. J. Dessalines on the 7c and 10c, and A. Petion on the 20c and 50c. These were all printed in black and evidently from engraved plates.

Toussaint L'Ouverture is undoubtedly the greatest figure in Haytian history. Born at Breda, in 1743, he began life as a slave and joined the rebellious negroes after the general massacre of the whites in 1791. Jean Francois, the rebel leader, made him chief surgeon of the army, and his popularity so incensed Francois that he had him imprisoned in 1793. He was soon liberated, however, and took up arms against the French. At this time the island was in a turmoil, French, English, Spaniards, mulattoes and negroes all striving for the upper hand. The promise of a brigadiership brought Toussaint to the French side, and the Spanish and English soon fell back before his all-conquering arm. "Cette homme fait donc l'ouverture partout" said Laveaux, and henceforth Toussaint took the surname L'Ouverture. In 1795 he suppressed a negro rising, and in the following year he formed and disciplined another army with the idea of making himself master of the island. He compelled the French Commissioner to leave the island and himself assumed the reins of government. Shortly after the English were ordered to evacuate the island, and in 1801 the Spanish were conquered. Meanwhile, Napoleon determined to reconquer the island, and in 1802 sixty thousand picked French troops landed at Cape Francois and Toussaint was declared an outlaw. Leclerc, the French general, was anxious to come to terms as yellow fever was decimating the French troops, and Toussaint still retained his influence over the negroes. Specious promises of pardon led to his arrest and transportation to France. He was confined in the castle of Joux, and his captivity and the hard treatment meted out to him led to his death in 1803. Mr. Hesketh Pritchard paints his character in glowing words as follows:—"Judging from his pictures, you cannot but form the opinion that Toussaint was not a full-blooded negro; the features, the shape of the head, the setting of the eyes are also many strong reasons against such a supposition. Among all the leaders that jostle each other in the story of Haytian Independence, his is the only name untainted by obloquy, or unsmirched by the memory of some foul and savage massacre. In Toussaint you have a man whose word was his bond, whose acts of mercy are the sole bright episodes against one of the darkest backgrounds of history. A man really sans peur et sans reproche, who was actuated throughout his life by no other feeling than that of love for his country. The many tales of his acts of generosity, no one of which militated in any degree against the course of Haytian liberty, are legion."

General Jean Jacques Dessalines, whose portrait appears on the 7c and 10c denominations, was born in Guinea, Africa, in 1758. As a lad he was taken to Cape Haytien and sold to a French planter whose name he afterwards assumed. He joined the insurgent negroes in 1791, and when Toussaint went over to the French side he joined him. He was invariably chosen to undertake any military operations where severe measures had to be adopted, and his cruelties were so abominable that his very name caused his enemies to cower in terror. General Leclerc's invasion of the island found Dessalines at the head of a rebel band. He held the town of St. Marc as long as possible and finding further resistance impossible he butchered all the whites and burnt the town to the ground. Later he submitted to Leclerc and was made governor of the southern part of the island with the rank of general. It is significant of the bloodthirsty wretch that he treated the vanquished blacks with the same cruelty he had shown to the whites. In 1804, he was appointed Governor-General of Hayti for life and in October of that year he was crowned emperor with the title of "Jean Jacques I." He was unscrupulous, without an atom of honor, vicious, and cruel to an appalling degree. The nation groaned under his rule till in 1806 a certain faction rebelled, and the tyrant was slain by Christophe and Petion, two of his officers. He left the country in a ruined and desolate state with independence as her solitary possession. Yet it is typical of the innate savagery of the Haytian that of Toussaint and Dessalines the latter is today the national hero!,

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have been favored by J. A. Urquhart of San Francisco, Calif., with a first day cover bearing the 1½c surcharge on 1c envelope postmarked "San Francisco, Calif., August 29, 1925, 10 P. M.".

—In our issue of August 17th we gave the name of Bright & Son as the publishers of the Stamp Collectors Annual which has just appeared. This book is issued by Harris Publications Ltd., 46 Victoria St., London, Eng., who are sole proprietors. We regret our mistake and are very glad to publish this correction.

—H. A. Bullard, member of the Hackensack (N. J.) Philatelic Society, has been appointed Auction Manager of the United Stamp Societies for the current year. Mr. Bullard will also have charge of the auction sale of stamps at the 1926 Convention of the United Stamp Societies, which will be held in Hackensack.

—"A few weeks ago there appeared in the columns of your paper an article entitled "A Dusky Heroine" by W. Gardner, and taken from The Postage Stamp of London, England. The article is very interesting, and so far as I observe correct up to the last paragraph—the climax. Kapiolani the "dusky heroine" is not the person of that name portrayed on the 1882 15c stamp of Hawaii. The woman shown was another Kapiolani, the wife of King KaLaKava, and she was born December 31, 1834, and died June 24, 1899. The Kapiolani who defied the Goddess Pele, thus performing an act of almost superhuman courage in the year 1824, was a high chieftess, who died in May, 1841. Trust you will make this correction in the hope that it may sometime overtake the original error now going the rounds of the press."—C. F. RICHARDS.

BELIZE (BR. HONDURAS) G. P. O. CANCELLATIONS

By HARRY E. HUBER.

On August 17, 1918, the G. P. O., at Belize, British Honduras, was completely destroyed by fire, with all its equipment, and stamps in the hands of the P. O. clerks to the value of $2,833.53. The stamp reserve stock was in the Treasury vaults, but all the 1c War, London, overprint, were in the G. P. O. and were destroyed.

The cancelling stamps used by the G. P. O. previous to the fire were as follows:—

1.—Ordinary letters.—Steel stamp, single lined circle, 24 mm. diameter, lettered "Belize" at the top, and "British Honduras" at the bottom, conforming to the circle. Date in the center in 3 lines, B—AP 28—16. Impression, black.

2.—Registered letters.—Steel stamp, same as (1), except lettered "A" instead of "B". Impression, black.

3.—Registered letters.—Rubber stamp. Two concentric circles, 31 and 21 mm. respectively, with lettering between "Belize, B.H." at the top, and a six-pointed star at either side separating it from "Reg. Div." at the bottom. Date in the center in 3 lines, Oct—26—1916. Impression, violet.

Registration labels of the regulation type were also in use; printed in blue, and measuring 40x16 mm. A large "R" at the left is separated by a vertical line from "Belize—British Honduras—No. ." in three lines at the right. On the labels used between 1915 and 1917, the word "Belize" measures 12 mm. in length, while on those brought into use early in 1918, it measures but 8 mm. In both cases, "British Honduras" measures 23 mm.

Usually, cancellation No. 2 (or rarely No. 3) was applied to the stamps although at times both were used together, the former on the stamps, and the latter on the envelope.

These cancelling stamps were destroyed in the fire, and others had to be made locally.

4.—Ordinary letters.—Rubber stamp. Two concentric circles 34x24 mm. with between "Belize" at the top, and "British Honduras" at the bottom. Date in the center in 2 lines, Jan 23—1919. Impression, black or blue.

5.—Registered letters.—Rubber stamp. Similar to No. 4 but the circles measure 33 and 24 mm. respectively. Lettered "Belize" at the top, and "M. O. & Registration" at the bottom. Date in the center in one line (applied separately) Jan ter in one line (applied separately) Jan. 29 1919. Impression, black or blue.

Steel cancelling stamps arrived from England during 1919—that for use on ordinary letters about July, and for the Registration Division, several months later.

7.—Ordinary letters.—Steel stamp. Single lined circle 26 mm. "Belize" at the top, and "British Honduras" at the bottom. Date in the center in 3 lines, 3 PM—AU 14—19. Impression, black.

8.—Registered letters.—Steel stamp. Single lined circle 27 mm. "Registration" at the top, and "Belize, British Honduras" at the bottom. Date in center in 3 lines—10 AM—MY 20—20. Impression, black (rarely in violet).

9.—Registered letters.—"R" within upright oval, 20x26 mm. Impression, black or violet.

10.—Registered letters.—Rubber stamp. Single lined horizontal rectangle, 50x20 mm. Large "R" at the left separated by a vertical line from "Belize—British Honduras—No. . . . . ." in 3 lines at the right. Impression, violet. This differs from No. 6 in that the latter is without the vertical line, and No. 10 has the error in "British" corrected.

Registration labels were re-introduced in 1924; on these Belize measures 10½ mm.

Two stamps used by the Colonial Secretary's Office are worthy of note:—

11.—Two concentric circles (the outer being double lined) measuring 50x32 mm. and 37x20 mm. Lettered between the circles (at the top) "Colonial Secretary's Office" (all caps), separated from "British Honduras" at the bottom, by a six pointed star at either side. Date in the center, in one line—3 Dec 1921. Impression, red.

12.—Single lined circle, 30 mm. "Official Paid" at the top; "British Honduras" at the bottom, and across the center "COL. SEC." Impression, red violet or violet. Not applied to stamps, usually found on O. H. M. S. envelopes with stamps attached.

L. R. Hulse, for many years Colonial Postmaster at Belize, was succeeded in 1917, by H. W. Beaumont, who held the acting appointment until May 22, 1919, when Mr. Gerald S. W. Smith (formerly Colonial Postmaster at St. George's, Grenada) took charge. During Mr. Smith's regime an attempt was made to bring order out of chaos, and to put the postal affairs of the Colony on a business-like basis, a task which was attended with great difficulties inasmuch as the P. O. records had been destroyed in the fire of the previous August. On April 1, 1923, Mr. Smith took up his duties as Colonial Treasurer, and Mr. H. W. Beaumont succeeded him as Colonial Postmaster.

THE EMERALD PAPERS

The name "emerald," as applied to the bright green shade of paper introduced during 1920 for Colonial stamps, has been taken exception to in various quarters as being inaccurate. However, the name has come to stay; it includes several minor varieties of hues, some with more yellow in than others, as shown hereafter, but very easily distinguishable from all the earlier makes of green paper. Like other varieties of coloured paper (yellow, blue, &c.), used by the Crown Agents, these remained very constant all through the Edwardian era until 1913, when the surface-tinted varieties were introduced.

PALE OLIVE BACKS.

These notes, however, are confined to the emerald shade, so we will not describe the various tints used as war-time expedients until we come to the blue-green paper with a pale olive back, in use during the later years of the war.

This was evidently considered too dull a green for use on the 1s stamps, most of which were already printed in black, and the expedient was tried of brightening it. It was decided to coat it with a bright green pigment, applied by a special process which did not impair the gloss on the paper. It is believed that in all cases the stamps were printed on the paper afterwards, and the chalk surface also applied where required. Some emerald stamps, however, show but little trace of chalk surfacing.

The shading is a distinct improvement, and the bulk of the paper was used for printing various Colonial 1s duties (or equivalents) indented for during 1920-21.

As the provisional character of the paper was generally realized, a fair number of most varieties were imported by dealers. Owing to the great popularity these stocks appear to be rapidly getting absorbed, and rises are inevitable.

It is not my task to pick winners, but the following emerald-surfaced varieties all seem likely to rise substantially over present quotations—1s Gibraltar, 1s Nigeria (mint), 1 rupee Mauritius. There are others, of course, much rarer, but they are already recognized and command high prices, whereas the above are still quite cheap.

This first emerald paper is often brighter and usually has more blue in it than the second, or "emerald throughout," paper which followed it. The former only shows slight variations compared with the latter, and the pale olive backs in used specimens tend to become paler still. There is no fear of confusing copies of this with any other classification.

EMERALD THROUGHOUT.

The paper which followed that described above showed the emerald colour on the back as well as the front. A much wider range of shades may be found in this type, and these point to different makes, some being very bright, like the 1 rupee E. Africa and Uganda of 1922, while others are a very dull emerald, like the 1s Barbados of 1922 issue. Another example is the 1s Virgin Islands Arms type. The first printing was in grey-black on bright emerald, and the second printing was in jet-black on a somewhat duller emerald paper which shows more yellow. These are all quite distinguishable, even in artificial light.

THE TINTOMETER.

The name "emerald" having got into common use among philatelists for such a range of bright green shades, it seems best to adhere to it to cover them all. The specialist with a scientific bent may use the method of the Tintometer, as recently described in this journal, both for these and other coloured papers, and may record the variations with an exactitude difficult of attainment otherwise.

Used copies of the stamps of this "emerald throughout" paper may show considerable variation on their backs, due to the wetting prior to use. Sometimes these turn paler, but they more frequently develop a bluish-green, absent from the stamps as issued.

This change may occur when the stamps are well soaked to remove the adhering paper, and it is best to remove this with as little moisture as possible.

GUM.

In some hot countries not much gum is applied to the stamps before being sent out, and the sticking properties are not good. This applies particularly to the higher values. It is therefore the practice in these tropical countries, when stamps are to be applied to telegraph forms or parcels, to smear the space with a gummy mucilage and stick the stamps down without any prior wetting. They adhere fast, and when the collector comes to remove them he may be surprised at the quantity and quality of the gum, which may require much soaking after its tropical baking. Stamps so treated are best avoided by the colour specialist, as the delicate colours are usually altered in the process.

SCRIPT CA's.

A very similar paper, but showing the Crown Agents' new watermark, was manufactured during 1922; the rare 10s St. Kitts Tercentenary was one of the first stamps to be printed on it. It has since been brought into general use.

RARITIES.

Most of the rarities, however, on the emerald paper are stamps of which no record was kept, or at least no prior announcement made by the Crown Agents. Only a few sheets of some of these can have been issued and they may have been overlooked officially.

In this category are East Africa and Uganda 75c surface-tinted, and the same stamp surcharged G. E. A.; the Gold Coast 1s, emerald surfaced, and both varieties overprinted for Togoland; and the recently chronicled Sierra Leone 1s emerald on old watermarked paper. A printing of 1s Dominica old type, on emerald paper, appears to have been destroyed without being issued.—Stamp Collecting.

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."
C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

The Fact That—

during the last twelve to fifteen months I have possibly sold more United States postage stamps than any other dealer means that I have also been one of the largest purchasers of the rare and unusual—I have had no slack seasons, but contemplate a larger business than ever this fall, and as a result am anxious to invest substantial amounts in really important properties.

I desire anything unusual in early United States postage stamps—more especially, fine things in the 1847 issue. Can use mint blocks and the like of the other classics. In the 1867 grills, I desire unused blocks, but would like superb mint singles of any denomination. Of the 1869 emissions, mint blocks of the higher denominations, as well as mint inverts if they are available. The scarcer Bank Note issues are wanted in block form and from 1890 on, mint blocks of the higher values, in addition to the subvarieties such as the part perforates, inverts, varieties of perforation and the like. Unusual Department pieces are required, such as blocks of the scarcer varieties, "Specimen" sets and "Sepcimen" errors.

To the Handler of Current Postage Stamps in Quantities:--

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is now turning out stamps by the billions — naturally, in such quantities, errors of printing, perforating and the like are bound to occur. The Harding part perforate was found in New Jersey, the 5c current issue imperforate in Connecticut and the 10c in like condition in Oklahoma. All of these naturally gravitated to me—on account of my U. S. 20th Century activities and outlets. Remember, I am always in the market to buy such items at substantial figures. If you possess the unusual in U. S., be sure and communicate with me.

To clients desiring to fill in their spaces or those who specialize in our several issues, I offer a very unusual, as well as substantial stock of practically all of our general adhesive issues. May I be favored with your want list along with the usual reference?

Stamp Plates by New Process

The Bureau is now experimenting with an electrolytic process for producing the rotary plates whereby they will be turned out much quicker and at less expense, and it is hoped that they can give depth to the color so that the stamps will not have the washed out appearance found in the case of many of our rotary issues. A saving in this line at present would mean considerable for we are fast approaching the point where the majority of our stamp issues will be produced by the rotary press.

Our readers have been promised a detailed report as to these methods at an early date.

Current Special Delivery Stamp

My attention has been called to the 10c blue current Special Delivery stamp, perf. 11 on unwatermarked paper, which is now found in three very distinct shades, two of the shades being well worthy of catalog rank. We have the dark indigo which resembles the 1c 1861 August in intensity of color. We have the blue which is the normal stamp and also a distinct violet blue or some may designate it as ultramarine. These shades stood out so clearly that one of the postal clerks brought them to my attention, for although he is not interested in stamps, the difference was immediately noticed and he inquired if there had been a change of color. Whether one shade will turn out to be rarer than the other I cannot say but in those that I have had an opportunity of examining, I find the deep indigo seems to be the scarcer variety. They are certainly distinct printings.

Revalued 1½c on 1c Envelopes

Upward of seventy cities are now revaluing their 1c envelopes. Mr. James A. Urquhart kindly sends a copy placed on sale at San Francisco on August 29th. Several of the offices seem to have on hand quite a few of the earlier issues, especially the unpopular sizes, Nos. 2, 3, 11 and the like. One office from whom I have just heard, surprises me with the die D on buff of the circular type. This has always been a very desirable envelope even without overprint. Two or three cities have had amber varieties and it wouldn't be surprising if some oddities came to hand as replies are received from the many offices where the work has not as yet been completed. I have written to the entire list of postmasters and by the time we are through, it is hoped that the Chronicle will have mentioned every variety surcharged. If any of our readers have run across new varieties not mentioned, we certainly would like to be informed of the fact.

The revaluing this time is being done in a very careful manner, something we cannot say for the former revaluing of the 3c envelopes. Here and there an envelope escapes the die — hence, short changes the purchaser, but the doubles, the surcharges in the wrong place and the like have been surprisingly few and far between.

Some offices are overprinting a single size only, while others have run to twenty or more different combinations of paper, watermark and size. Since my last notes I have seen the following nine varieties which contain three for the cut square collector that have not been listed heretofore.

Canal Zone

In a recent Chronicle attention was called to the fact that the current 3c stamp recently overprinted for the Canal Zone was in a type somewhat larger than that used for overprinting the previous series including the 14c that was issued along with the 3c.

Mr. Willard P. Snyder now writes that he has seen the 10c with the large overprint. This evidently is a further supply delivered to the Zone since the 3c stamp appeared. If it is from the same plate it is quite likely that the stamp may also be found with the "Zone Zone" erro We are communicating with the prop authorities in Washington to learn as what other denominations have recent been overprinted.

FRANCE.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us t 30c blue, in the Sower type, for chronicl

NEW ZEALAND.—Messrs. Bright & S advise that the 1p Dominion type, is no coming with watermark star and N printed in blue on the back.

SALVADOR.—Mr. Paul C. Standley sen a copy of the 60c violet of the 1921 iss with the surcharge "2" on each side the top of the monument and with "152 just above and the figures "1925" acro the base. The overprint is in red a the figures and words of the former val are obliterated by blocks and lines.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Stanley Gi bons Monthly Journal chronicle the fo lowing postage due stamps with scri watermark, perforated: 1c bright viol 2c greyish black, 8c red, 10c yello orange and 12c blue.

TONGA.—Current printings of son values are in rather different shades. Th 1d, Tree type, has varied considerably shade in its long life. The current sha is more of a scarlet than earlier shade which might be described as vermilio We have the 2d in a bright violet (col showing through) and in a duller viol with more red in it, the paper of the la ter being quite white at the back. Th 10d now comes in an aniline shade carmine, which shows very clearly at th back. The 1s also shows slight varia tions.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journa

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

Bolivia.—Mr. E. K. Crews and Mr. Frank Aretz have been making enquiries from friends in Bolivia as to the authority for the recent use of bisected stamps. They agree that no special authority has been given by the postal powers for such bisection, but the practice is quite general when any particular value is subject to a shortage, and no difficulty attends the transmission of letters so franked. Mr. Aretz suggests that the legal authority for the practice may be found in the law of 1869 (quoted in Kohl's Handbuch), which at that time authorised postmasters to use and permit the use of bisected stamps. If this law has not been rescinded, he suggests that it gives these "splits" an official status.

Denmark.—Mr. Svend Ramsing states that the new Air stamps are designed by Mr. Axel P. Jensen, and printed by Messrs. H. H. Thiele. The sheets consist of five horizontal rows of 6 stamps each. These stamps can only be used in prepayment of postage on correspondence carried by air, though ordinary postage stamps are also available for this purpose.

Finland.—Mr. Alex. Kaleva tells us that the following stamps have been withdrawn from issue:—

S.G. Nos. 181, 194 to 197, 199, 201 and 201*a*, 204 and 204*a*, 208, 209, 217, 218. Also three post cards of 20p, rose, 40p, purple, and 60 on 40p, purple.

France.—Presumably the new 75c, which adds yet another atrocity to the Exhibition series, is an allegory of broadcasting. If this is not the case, our alternative guess is that it is an impressionist sketch of Suzanne as she appeared to her opponent in the final of the Championship singles.

Cameroons.—Prof. F. P. Renaut states that in every sheet of the first printing of the new 5 fr the second row contained one cliché of the 2 fr. The error was noticed by a dealer, who informed the Administration and the stamps were recalled. We wonder how many the dealer found first?

Persia.—The International Stamp and Commercial Agency show us an apparently mint strip of the 2 ch, S.G. Type 58, printed in sepia and red-brown. Does any reader know anything about this variety? From the same source we have the 3 ch with the "Controle" overprint at the top of the stamp instead of at the foot.

Portugal.—Mr. J. N. Marsden states that one result of the latest batch of provisionals is that collectors will no longer be troubled with the 1902 provisionals as the Mint holds no further stocks of these. Catalogue editors will also breathe a sigh of relief, as no issue has been so freely overprinted, surcharged, and re-surcharged.

Mozambique.—Mr. C. B. Hardenberg states that a special set of Charity stamps is to be issued to commemorate a boundary decision in favour of Portugal, given about fifty years ago. We should have thought this old question might have been allowed to lapse after so long a period, but instead of that it is to be made the occasion for the issue of sixteen unnecessary stamps. Like father like son is evidently true of Portugal and the Portuguese Colonies.

Russia.—Mr. V. Tchertkoff states that the perforated stamps of the Lenin Mausoleum type exist on thin and on thicker paper. The 5 kop, in the current type, now comes in a grey-lilac shade, very distinct. 5 and 10 rouble stamps are being prepared with portrait of Lenin.

Turkey.—A cutting kindly sent us by Mr. Oswald W. Churchill states that Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. have secured the contract for printing a new issue of Turkish stamps to the number of 110 millions, the value of the contract being a little over £20,000. The designs of the stamps are to show the President of the Republic, several national heroes, and the Castle of Angora.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

WE'LL GIVE YOU A LIFT

With your Stamp Collecting Troubles

Mr. Justa Klector was not a hard man to please. He didn't demand any particular stamp or issue of any particular country; he didn't send in long and tiresome want lists; . . . he was just an ordinary, every-day sort of a person, a good scout, with an inordinate love of stamps and a faithful devotion to his hobby.

He wasn't bent on getting any certain stamps, but he was mightily interested in certain groups of countries . . . British Colonials, for instance . . . and South and Central America . . . and 20th Century European.

Justa Klector was, we repeat, a good-natured soul, but his habitually happy countenance was beginning to assume a belligerent, half-angry expression.

He had written, in the course of time, to a score or more of stamp dealers for approval selections of his favorite groups of countries.

The ultimate result was always discouragingly the same:

If he asked for South America, he frequently received nothing at all, or at best a watery-looking assortment, mounted in a hit-or-miss fashion.

When he plainly wrote for British West Indies, he sometimes got an unsatisfying few and just as often would be the exasperated recipient of Portuguese Colonials, Neurope, or a heterogeneous mixture of everything under the sun except what was asked for and wanted.

It was to him an inexplicable situation. There he was, with a comfortable supply of spending money to devote to the upbuilding of his stamp collection—and the dealers of his experience all seemed to be too busy, or too indolent, or too careless, to give him decent attention and service.

Then He Wrote to Reimers!

Then he wrote to Reimers of Fort Worth; and the old, good-natured disposition and the sunny smile came back to stay!

For he found that Reimers was never too busy to give prompt, careful and courteous attention to his every wish and inquiry.

And he found, too, that Reimers possessed, at extremely reasonable prices, one of the most comprehensive and finely-arranged stocks of medium grade stamps and SETS in the country.

. . . That was several years ago. To this day, Justa Klector has never made another change. His collection is assuming soul-satisfying proportions, and he still congratulates himself on his perception when he obeyed that impulse to "Write Right to Reimers."

Have YOUR Experiences Been Similar?

Are you having difficulty in getting satisfactory selections from your favorite groups of countries? Has your dealer failed to establish that cordial "entente" which is the natural result of a Service that is attentive, equable and sincere?

That and more is the constant function of the Reimers Approval Service. For Real Service is one great essential to success, and we believe unalterably the old teaching: "If a man would be greatest of all, let him be the servant of all."

Can we be of help to you? The form below is for your convenience and will bring the Reimers Service to your door.

FINLAND

By C. A. HOWES.

We often hear, amongst other attributes of Philately, of the way in which "history is shown by postage stamps," and perhaps there is no better illustration of this phase of its instructive qualities than the postal issues of Finland. When its philatelic era opened, Finland was a Grand Duchy, whose hereditary Grand Duke was the Czar of Russia by right of conquest; but the state was not administratively attached to Russia, save through the Governor-General appointed by the Czar—otherwise its government was in local hands. Its first issues bore the value in Russian currency which was expressed in both Finnish and Russian. From 1866 the values were given in Finnish currency, expressed in dual language form as before, and in addition the highest value (1 mark) had the value repeated twice in Swedish! In 1875 a new design dropped the Russian inscriptions entirely and expressed the name of the country as well as the currency in Finnish and Swedish. This seems to have been "the limit," for a post office circular in 1889 announced that "by special order" the name and value would henceforth be expressed in Russian as well upon the stamps. The "Russification" of Finland was begun upon its postal issues as well as in its government. In 1891 a further step was taken: Correspondence addressed to Russia had to be franked with Russian stamps, the designs of which were modified by the introduction of little circles enclosing dots, thus indicating their Finnish origin. In August, 1900, it was decided that this distinction was unnecessary, and from that time the stamps of Russia were used without modification. Up to this time the Finnish stamps themselves were permitted for use locally or on correspondence abroad, excluding Russia; with this last change came the requirement that Russian stamps must also be used for correspondence abroad, and from January, 1901, the distinctive Finnish stamps were suppressed for local use. One small concession only to Finnish sentiment was left: for interior correspondence alone stamps expressed in local currency might be employed, provided they conformed in every other respect to the stamps of the Empire. This lone crumb of comfort was seized upon and the issues of 1901 and 1911 were the result. Then came the great War and the break-up of Russia; Finland saw her opportunity and regained the independence she had lost over six hundred years before, but this time as a Republic recognized by all the Great Powers as a full-fledged member of the family of nations.

Finland, the name, is of Swedish origin and means the same as the "land of marshes" or "fens," as used in England. The Finnish equivalent appears on the stamps as Suomi. The Grand Duchy was enterprising enough to follow Great Britain in the introduction of prepayment by stamps within four years, but it confined itself at first to stamped envelopes which were authorized "during a period of three years as an experiment." They were issued in two values on January 1, 1845. Their use was evidently successful enough to warrant the addition of adhesives, which were issued on March 1, 1856. But meanwhile, a new design had been adopted for the stamped envelopes on January 1, 1850, and when adhesives were authorized they simply used the envelope dies. These were engraved on steel and struck singly by means of a small lever press. For the adhesives, a strip of paper was used, fed from left to right, beneath the lever to which the die was attached, and receiving an impression at each stroke along the whole length of one edge; the strip was then turned around and passed through again, receiving a new row of impressions along the other edge of the strip, but of course inverted with respect to the first, thus producing as many tête-bêche pairs as there are stamps in a row. These stamps were supposed to have been issued at first without the "pearls" in the bell of the posthorns, the "pearls" or uncolored dots having been placed there very shortly afterward as secret (!) marks to foil possible counterfeiters. Only one copy of the 10k, however, is said to be known. The stamps were printed on white wove paper and the 10k also on white vertically laid paper. Early in 1858 the pearls in the post-horns were enlarged in the 5k value only to double their previous size. These stamps when found on diagonally laid paper had been cut from envelopes.

The dies for the previous issue were engraved by one Mellgren and the printing done at the Stamp Control Office at the Treasury in Helsingfors. In 1859 it was announced that stamps "of another and more convenient form" would be issued from January 1, 1860. These were of the usual adhesive form and the dies were again engraved by Mellgren, but they were printed typographically at the printing office of the Finnish Senate in sheets of 100, each sheet being in two panes of fifty, of five horizontal rows of ten each. The separation of the stamps in the sheet was effected by the curious "serpentine rouletting" peculiar to these issues of Finland. It was "produced by means of a steel disc, with the pattern cut in relief upon its edge, and formed, when the stamps were unsevered, a wavy line between them, interrupted at the sides of the interlocking projections by small spaces sufficient to prevent the stamps from being completely separated by the process. This disc, which per-

These stamps are unused, generally mint, unless marked used. Condition is good to very fine, and the prices, averaging 50% of Scott's 1925 catalogue, are very low for this grade and condition. The offering is made subject to my usual guarantee of satisfaction or immediate refund of remittance.

As I have in stock some thousands of varieties of these stamps not listed here, both 19th and 20th centuries, want lists are invited and will receive prompt attention.

Fine Set of 16 Stamps
25 cents

VAHAN MOZIAN, Incorporated, 1409 Broadway, New York

In order to facilitate the prepayment of foreign postal rates an 8p stamp was issued on January 1, 1867, and a 1m in May following. The 8p is similar but not identical with the two types of the other values, and the 1m is in a modified design. The 8p was engraved by Mellgren, but the 1m was designed (and probably engraved) by a lithographer of Helsingfors named Bolags. Both values were printed at the Senate Printing Office as before, however. The 5 and 10p were first printed on vertically laid paper, both thick and thin, and later, in 1870, on wove paper. The 20 and 40p were only printed on wove paper, both thick and thin. The 8, 10 and 40p are also found on ribbed paper, used in 1870.

The rate on letters from Finland to Russia had been for long at 10 kopeks (or 40 penni) per loth (the Russian ounce). It was reduced to 32 penni on July 1, 1875, hence the issue of this new value on that date. It was in an entirely new design, submitted by the "Lithographic Printing Co." of Helsingfors and adopted for the entire set, but was engraved by W. Brandstake. The plates were made by H. H. Thiele, of Copenhagen, whose establishment has printed the Danish stamps from the beginning. In order to show the excellence of his work, probably, he had a supply of the 32p printed and sent with the plate. These were the ones first issued in the lake shade and perforated like the Danish stamps 14x13½. All other printings of this and the other values were made as usual in Helsingfors and perforated 11. The plate arrangement was like the previous issue, two panes of 50, one above the other, separated by a space of about the height of a stamp. As stocks of the old issue were used up before the new stamps were put in use, values other than the 32p appeared at various subsequent dates in 1875, except the 10p, which did not appear until 1881. The 1m stamp was issued in the new design on January 1, 1877, and a reduction of the letter rate to Russia to 25p caused the issue of this new value on May 15, 1879. The 8 and 32p stamps were suppressed on August 15, 1879.

From 1881 the stamps were printed at the new printing establishment of the Senate called the "Kárta Sigillata Tryckeri." The only change seems to have been the introduction of a new perforating machine, gauging 12½ and the mixing of this with the former machine to make compound perforations. All six values in use come with 12½ and 11x12½ perforations, and the 5 and 10p and 1m with 12½x11 perforation. The 5, 10 and 20p occur tête-bêche.

In order to conform to the Postal Union colors for the printed matter, post card and letter rates, the colors of the set were changed, the 5, 20 and 25p and the 1m on January 1, 1885, and the 10p on May 1st following. The 2p was not affected. They are perforated 12½ only. and the 5, 10, 20 and 25p are reported to occur tête-bêche. Two higher values were issued, identical with the rest of the set, on December 1, 1885.

formed the part of a rouletting wheel, was pivoted in a slit in the end of a short iron rod, which was fixed in a wooden handle. Holding the instrument by the handle and pressing hard upon it, the disc or wheel was guided between the rows of stamps, and in order that the lines might run straight, a steel ruler was employed as a guide. . . As may be easily supposed, this method of perforation, which would only be applied to one sheet of stamps at a time, was very slow. It was in order to obviate this inconvenience that more than one of these instruments were employed at the same time." This accounts for the differences in the gauging of the rouletting as noted in the catalogues.

The preceding issues had been valued in Russian currency (kopeks), but in November, 1865, a Finnish currency of marks divided into 100 penni had been adopted and on January 1, 1866, an issue of stamps in the same design, but expressed in the new units, appeared. They were engraved and printed as detailed for the previous issue. There are two type varieties, however, the first having the lines of the background and of the shield close together, while the second has them much wider apart. The 5 and 10p are of the first variety, and the 20 and 40p of the second. The plates of the 5 and 10p each contained at first one cliché of the other value by mistake, which caused the errors of the 5 and 10k in exchanged colors. This was discovered toward the end of 1868 and was immediately corrected.

1½c Revalued Envelopes

An unusual interest is being taken in the revalued 1½c on 1c envelopes which are now appearing and almost every mail brings to hand communications relative to these varieties. We wish to thank Mr. L. D. Peaslee, H. Clay Reed and F. B. McGown for early copies of varieties from their cities.

As a number of our subscribers have asked for a list of cities receiving dies, we are pleased to give this information at this time.

So far, the Department has distributed twenty-one dies of the Universal Type, that is, the one that prints the double line surcharge and has distributed eighteen of the Flyer Type, which is the die that prints the single line type. These dies have been distributed as follows:

UNIVERSAL MODEL G DIES

No.
0. Nashville to Charleston to Jacksonville to Birmingham.
1. Richmond.
2. Shreveport to New Orleans.
3. Dallas to Houston to Galveston.
4. Stamford.
5. New Haven to Waterbury.
6. Altoona to Harrisburg to Scranton.
7. Atlanta to Macon.
8 and 9. Chicago.
10. Little Rock to Kansas City.
11. Louisville.
12. Springfield, Ohio to Toledo.
13. Des Moines.
14. Los Angeles.
15. Sacramento.
16. Minneapolis.
17. Seattle.
18. Omaha.
19. Lancaster.
20. Concord.

FLYER DIES

0. Washington to Baltimore to New York.
1 and 2. Philadelphia.
3 and 4. St. Louis.
5. San Francisco.
6. New York to Watertown. (New York, however, did not use the die.)
7. Indianapolis.
8. Detroit.
9. Jersey City.
10. Brooklyn.
11. Cincinnati.
12. Cleveland.
13. Columbus.
14. Harrisburg.
15. New London.
16. Boston.
17. Bellingham.

With such a large number of cities overprinting stocks on hand, it is not at all surprising that so many varieties have so far appeared. Since my last notes, a second city has issued the single line surcharge on the oval stamp on amber, and there has also come to hand a manila and blue envelope of the same issue with the double line surcharge. I recently listed the brown glazed kraft variety on a thin paper with single line overprint, and I now find the variety on a thick brown paper unglazed, very distinct from the previous. The glazed variety turns out to be much the scarcer.

Our readers are requested to make corrections in our previous list, wherein I chronicled the double line overprint Die D on white, size 5, Wmk. 25, L. B. This should be deleted as the watermark is 24.

1½c ON 1c PROVISIONAL ENVELOPES

SINGLE LINE OVERPRINT
On issue of 1907-1910. (Oval Stamp)

Die A on white, size 8, Wmk. 27, L. B.
Die A on blue, size 8, Wmk. 25, H. B.

We would thank our readers for copies of any varieties that have not been chronicled.

Air Mail Notes

The newspapers of Wednesday, September 9th, carried notes of the fact that aeroplanes of the Ford Motor Plane Company would carry United States mail between Detroit and Chicago, the service supposedly to begin before the end of September. On the same day, the Postmaster General characterized this news item as "at least premature," for while he stated that he spent the morning of September 8th in conference with Mr. Ford and his agents on the subject of air mail generally, and that they were interested in transportation by air, that the post office must, of course, proceed in accordance with existing laws, and that it required that air mail contracts be awarded to the best bidders.

It is assumed, however, that the Ford Company being interested will no doubt offer an attractive bid, so that we may look for an official service between Chicago and Detroit at an early date.

Under date of September 10th, the Postmaster General announces that he has received a petition signed by postmasters at New Orleans, Jackson, Memphis and St. Louis, asking for the establishment of an over night air mail route between New Orleans and Chicago. The petition was not signed by the postmaster at Chicago, but a similar one to the Department two months ago signed by the postmaster at Chicago, Moline and St. Louis called for daily service by air between Chicago and St. Louis.

The Postmaster General will, if, after investigating, it is found feasible, advertise for bids under authority of law.

I have hundreds of covers, which I have accumulated during many years. These have just been looked over, classified, written up and priced by a specialist, who knows this stamp from A to Z.

The rare items have been sold, but much of great interest remains and can be seen

DEATH OF MR. E. M. CARPENTER

It will come as a great surprise to a very large number of those who knew Ernest M. Carpenter of Salem, Mass., to learn of his death on September 14th. He had been at the Appalachian Club camp in North Chatham, N. H., in August, where he was stricken with apoplexy on the 12th of that month. He was later brought to Salem and suffered a second shock about two weeks ago, from which he never rallied.

Mr. Carpenter was born in Salem, Aug. 16, 1860. He graduated from the Salem High School in 1876, but took an extra year in special studies. In 1878 he entered the employ of the Naumkeag Clothing Co. as bookkeeper and was chosen in 1881 to open a branch store for them in Gloucester, Mass. He later returned to Salem and became assistant manager, which position he occupied until 1895 when he had a protracted illness. On his recovery he purchased an interest in the New England Stamp Co. of Boston then two years old, and became both secretary and treasurer, which two-fold position he held until the company was purchased by other interests in 1915. In this company he was associated with Mr. Albert W. Batchelder, also of Salem, who was the manager, and together they became widely known in the stamp business and made an international reputation for the concern, both for square dealing and "big deals." He made trips not only covering this country but also abroad in the interests of the firm.

Mr. Carpenter retired several years ago and for some time past had been spending the winter season with his wife in Florida, whence he had returned about Easter. His home was burned in the great Salem fire in 1914, but he had rebuilt and owned a handsome house on Lafayette Place. He was a member of Starr King Lodge, A. F. & A. M., the Salem Temple Club and an attendant at the Universalist Church. He was prominent throughout the World War as a Red Cross worker and also in Liberty Loan drives and all other war work. He leaves a widow but had no family.

In philatelic activities it may be mentioned that Mr. Carpenter began collecting stamps in 1872, but gave it up on leaving school and only resumed it in 1895, when he joined the New England Stamp Co. He then became interested in Portuguese Colonies and 20th Century stamps, having been awarded a cup on the former and medals and ribbons on both in different exhibitions. The 20th Century collection was practically complete from Jan. 1, 1901, up to the time it was sold in 1913, all specimens being picked copies, unused and "o. g.," except a few in used condition which were much rarer thus. He has been a prominent member and held official positions in both the American Philatelic Association and the Boston Philatelic Society, of which latter he was president throughout 1915-1916. He was a genial, courteous gentleman, greatly esteemed by all who knew him, and will be sincerely missed by his circle of friends.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

THE FORUM

By H. P. ATHERTON, 318 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

One interesting part of stamp collecting is the meeting with a philatelist whose activities follow the same lines of collecting as do your own. The past week Mr. Francis Wheeler, who travels thru the East in the musical interests of the "Playgrounds and Recreations Association of America" talked Forum with me, and kindly placed his collection at my disposal for perusal.

It helps greatly to have such collections before me, and from this one several new cancellations of unusual types appeared. Then, too, new channels of collecting were mentioned, as he has met many collectors on his trips, and sees a large field of odd forms of the collecting of our own United States stamps. He also spoke of the training of the junior collectors, and mentioned how he makes the boys actually work to get the coveted stamps which he offers their club.

One cover, 3c used in 1854, shows the blue Charleston, S. C., pmk. with a huge numeral "1" in the center, no month or day, and the numeral measuring 10 mm. in height. A 3c 1861 is about the queerest off centered stamp that I have ever seen, it is about three-fifths printed, and the remaining two-fifths is just white paper, the large unprinted white area being quite startling.

From the cancellations I have selected the following for reproductions. On 3c 1861's, a very small four leaved clover in black, clear and delicate; a curious design in blue, being of rectangular form, diamond shaped in the center; then two copies that lap over each other show a "Pa" cut into a cork obliterator of irregular cutline.

A 6c American looks very classy wearing a cancellation "Used Up", this is in a slightly curved form, "Used" at top, a short line under the word, and the "Up" is under this line. This is a decidedly unusual cancel, and does its duty both verbally and actually much as does the old "Used and Done For" on the 3c 1851's from West Haven, Ct.

In the later pmks. we see a 3c American on cover "Pitts. Titusville (?) & Buffalo R.Y. Aug 5 1879 Hickory". Then a 1c American is struck by a 21 mm. ring with the word "Forwarded", running horizontally in small type. A 3c American cover is hit by the pmk. "East Hickory Pa. Dec 10 1880 Forest Co." in magenta with same color 5 point star on the stamp. A post card has this communication "First one stamped with the new stamp O M H". Mr. Wheeler says O M H was the postmaster who is calling attention to his new postmark, which reads "West Hickory Jun 27 1881 Pa." The obliterator is a 5 point star, the town and state being in slanting capitals struck in a deep gray blue, and no wonder that the P.M. was well pleased with his "new stamp", as it is a beauty.

Another 3c American hit in purple reads "Youngsville Warren Co., Pa. Apr 4 1881 A. M. Belnap P. M.", the stamp hit by six horizontal bars also in purple. A pretty cover has a 2c green pmkd. in three horizontal lines "Dunsmuir Jun 4 1890 Siskiyou Co., Cal." with four bars falling on the stamp.

In going thru this stock book, for he fetched along his loose stamps, too, I remarked at the faint perfume of benzine, he said, "Oh, yes, these are the Stitch Watermarks", and showed me several copies of the 3c Americans with lines running vertically thru them, being the faint stitch markings, readily recognized as watermarks under benzine. Before you dispose of your duplicates it would be well to give them the once over for these watermarks, you'll find them all listed in the Scott Specialized Catalog, and they are nice to have around, as they are quite uncommon. From Nos. 182 to 212 the stamps are all listed with wmk. except Nos. 191, 205 and 206.

A lot of legal sized covers have arrived. Collectors do not fancy these big covers with Bank Note issues, yet to secure high rates on cover, one must be content with big envelopes. We all prefer the "TNT" covers—"Tiny, Neat 'n 'Tractive" as the saying is.

This lot is all from California, coming East. Some of the pmks. are quite pretty, one reads "Lundy Apr 26 1883 Cal." the letters being extremely big and clear, inside a double lined ring, falling on a strip of three of the 3c re-engraved stamps. One very beautiful cover has a block of six with a pair of the 5c Taylors American prints, each stamp lightly hit in black, with the purple pmk. in three lines—"Registered, May 1 1882, Bodie, Cal." This of course is a very unusual cover. Other covers show the 6c re-engraved stamp in singles, pairs and strips, tho they are off centered, and hit "as usual", meaning rather heavily in this instance. Some of the letters are carried by 15c or by 30c stamps. One beautiful cover has a chain of stamps across the whole top of the cover making a 58c rate, composed of a strip of five 10c re-engraved, a 5c yellow brown Garfield, 2c vermilion, and a 1c re-engraved, each stamp struck by a deep blue target, and with this pmk. in a double lined ring measuring 33 mm. across, "Bennettville Mono County Jan 3 1883 Cal Tiogo Mining District."

Never having spent a winter "sum-mering" in California, am unable to recognize this "District", it looks as tho the postmaster were putting across a neat bit of advertising in the interests of his mining district however. I have never seen any pmks. like this one before.

Mr. R. S. Nelson has forwarded a cover which is so plastered with Registry labels and pmks. including "Vol 23 D.L.O. Record No 10412" that you might like to hear of it. It left Birmingham, Ala., on Apr. 28, 1899, for Honolulu, with instructions to forward to Switzerland if the party had left the Islands—he had. The cover has 23c in stamps on it, and assuming that 23 really means skiddoo, which I had previously doubted, this cover lives up to that reputation. There are three Registry labels affixed, and some twenty pmks. It visited Honolulu twice, May 1, '99, and again in July. Then it spent several happy weeks touring Switzerland, only to end up in our Dead Letter Office, "Nov 2 1899." Hoodooed for fair.

HAVE YOU REALIZED
How Difficult It Is To Find

Superb USED copies of Edwardian and Georgian Colonials? The Reason is that there is very little demand for values above 2½d for postage purposes in the smaller colonies. The higher values are really much rarer used than mint and are very difficult to obtain.

I have had the good fortune to purchase an immense accumulation of Georgians, both MINT and superb USED, and shall be pleased to receive Wantlists (Scott or Yvert) from collectors interested in these stamps.

JAMAICA ISSUES OF WAR STAMPS

By DILETTANTE.

In May-June the 3d on lemon yellow, and on orange yellow paper, appeared, and supplies were overprinted in the same manner as the April issue. The "no stop" variety appeared on No. 17 of the second pane and on later printings of the ½d it was found there in this position, but corrected on No. 44 of the third pane. The waristamp re-appeared in its old position. This variety shows two types, the first is a clear and well-defined capital I with serifs right and left; the second is merely a bar, suggesting a space block not sufficiently depressed, and thereby allowed to print.

The relative values of No. 100 and No. 101 have been the subject of some speculative thought, based on the difference of the paper. In every case a greater measure of variety has been claimed for No. 100, and in considering this, a little examination of the movement of the general issues will help. The orange yellow paper brought us the first Georgian 3d, it disappeared and was followed by the white back, it re-appeared with the lemon paper. Exactly similar movement took place with the 4d printed on the same descriptions of paper. The possible deductions seem to be fairly obvious, when it is remembered that the white back varieties were created by a shortage of the paper colored through. When this shortage was corrected, the lemon paper appeared. Is it assuming too much to suggest that the lemon paper was a new manufacture obtained to fill the shortage and that such varieties as then appeared on orange paper were printed on a residue of paper which at the time of the appearance of the white back, was not in itself enough to fill orders, and so forced the expedient of the white back? This seems reasonable or plausible enough, and if we look at the following printings, No. 104 and No. 105, we see how sharply the difference in value is intensified there.

Messrs. Gibbons for some little while placed the value of the orange paper variety, No. 100, as 1 is to 2, but have since evened them up. I do not think that either basis is correct, and suggest instead, as 3 is to 5. Their stocks may have caused them to advance the price of No. 101 to the level of No. 100, but if I may risk a prophecy, sooner or later it will be found that the basis I have suggested, is more nearly correct.

It had been decided to provide a stamp which would embody both postage and tax, and on July 13th, the 1½d stamp in singly colored orange was issued, Gibbons No. 84.

On September 1st the ½d stamp in blue green appeared with apparently different setting, as the position of the overprint varied from the centre to the lower line of the ribbon with motto, while in the earlier printings, the variation had been from the line of the value labels to the centre. The "no stop" variety was noted, No. 1 of the fourth pane, the stop appearing on No. 2, so that this last appeared with stop both before and after the words. This was the last appearance of the ½d with overprint in one line.

As stated at first, the local printing was not very satisfactory, as due to the poor registering of the sheets in the press many sheets were destroyed and useless. In order to stop this waste, and to get better centering an experiment was made on the new 1½d by altering the setting to two lines, and on September 1st it was issued with the new overprint in black, in the same letters from the same font, but in two lines spaced 2½ mm. apart.

It was learned about this time that the printings would be done monthly, estimating a month's requirements of all values at 500 sheets ½d, 1,000 sheets 1½d, 250 sheets 3d. This fact accounts for the apparent inconstancy of most of the Jamaica errors, and varieties of the major class, as the errors of one month were usually promptly corrected in the next printing.

We know as a fact, however, that this first printing of the 1½d consisted of 1,500 sheets, and variety of note was the "no stop", Gibbons 103a. It appeared in this printing only. I note six of thes each sheet, i.e., first pane No. 48, sec pane Nos. 24, 58, third pane No. 1, fo pane Nos. 48, 54. Gibbons note yet other on No. 4, fourth pane, and w they must have very good reason to so, this stamp is known on many sh clearly and readily showing a sm stop than the normal, on some sheets without stop, so that it is a freak, veloped into the genuine variety. A estimate of the number of these vari produced in this printing is 9,500, so at its present price, the stamp is cheap. An interesting item to note one worth having, is the block o formed from Nos. 47, 48 and 53, 5 the fourth pane, by which one get block, two horizontal pairs, both sh ing the normal with variety se ten as only 1,500 such blocks could have isted, and it is very certain that number does not now exist. The "no s variety disappeared when this prin was exhausted, and did not again ap on this value with this overprint. printings produced the varieties liste Gibbons and one which I think worth that honour, i. e., No. 55, second p spaced S. Just why this specimen, a with the spaced W of the early printi are refused catalogue rank by Gibb is incomprehensible. The same clas variety on the Grenada locals, Nos. and 110, is also omitted by them. yet der French Morocco, the "Protecto issue they list 151a, 152b, 157c, 158c, the variety so listed for this foreign i is "1 & 0 in 10 widely spaced". Why discrimination against British Colonie favour of the foreigner? What is reason for it? It certainly is not the Jamaican and Grenadian varieties unknown to Gibbons, as they note spaced W as a minor variety, unwo of a place in the catalogue.

In dealing with 103b and 103c, the given, apply exactly to the same varie on Nos. 104 and 105, except that No. and No. 105 were first in evidence. though both values of the error were issue at the same time, so perhaps it be best to leave this and deal with when we come to the issues of the and go on for the time being to 103d. Washburn Ave., Detroit, Mich.

t is unknown to me, as I have seen used copies and only 3 at that, but very obvious, the inserted letter beet at acute angle from the left. This ty should be very rare.

bbons 103e does exist, but I think less of this than I do of the spaced nd S referred to, and as the listing his is an afterthought, a variety of raised from the notes to catalogue , there is hope, perhaps, for the ed varieties to which attention has directed.

October the ½d received the new print and was issued. The ½d variety ote was No. 25 second pane, "no '. This only appeared for a very while, was promptly corrected and ot again appear.

ie spaced S variety on No. 55 second is also known, and appeared through al successive printings.

unlisted variety of far greater imnce than either of these, is pair enant with and without overprint. e such pairs are known, one is in a te collection here, one was sold America, and the third was purd by a prominent London dealer.

inserted by hand is also known, but been seen only on used copies, and ese I only know of two.

ie 3d was issued at the same time ie ½d, and showed the "no stop" ty on No. 17 second pane, as well ie spaced S on No. 55 of the same . Both papers, i. e., Nos. 104 and were noted as in issue at the same and the same varieties occur on . The "no stop" variety had about same length of existence as that on ½d, disappeared and was known no .

December the famous "TAMP" became known. There are several told of its discovery, some of which been printed, but as none are ger-, there is no necessity to repeat any of them, it is enough to know that sheets showing the error were acly and truly sold in the usual course siness at the Post Office Window.

ie fact that it did not appear on the ber nor the November printings, was not known until December, support to the statement made r in regard to monthly printings, if the figures given to me are correct, i. e., 250 sheets of the 3d, it is clear that only 250 of the 3d error could have existed, that this has to be apportioned between the error and the correction, and both these further apportioned between the two papers. Speculation on these points would be idle, but it seems beyond doubt that based on the comparative variety of the normal specimen, No. 105b must take precedence. This is based on the known fact that just as soon as the error was discovered by the authorities, and that was only after a very few sheets had been sold, the hand correction was applied.

The description of the error is as follows:—It appears on No. 36 of the second pane, the overprint being without the letter S in the word "Stamp." It is known on both papers of the 3d, and on the 1½d in the same position, but is unknown on the ½d. Prior to the appearance of this error, No. 36 of the second pane was known as a minor variety, i.e., "Dropped T," this letter being out of alignment below the line. The dropped T existed through all the values and the TAMP error retains it. The correction of the error was made by inserting the letter S by hand, thus producing yet another variety which shows many sub varieties, such as (1) inverted S, (2) S far above the line and spaced to the left, (3) S below the line, (4) S leaning acutely to the right, (5) to the left, (6) spaced S in which the presence of the poorly aligned T distinguishes between this and the similar variety on No. 55. Several corrections exist, which are by no means as obvious as those already named, but are discernible with a little care, for instance S in normal position, but too close to T either wholly or in part, if the latter, necessarily having a slight slant, but in these the presence of the marginal paper as well as the dropped T is best proof.

The details apply to the same error on the 1½d, except insofar as the hand correction goes. On this value it was much more carefully done, and more often than not, very close examination is necessary.

Although the error is not known on the ½d, there seems to be strong presumptive evidence that it did exist, but was discovered and corrected before issue, as No. 36 with spaced S and dropped T exists. The spacing, however, is not very much beyond the normal, and might be due to a slightly thicker space block than in the last printing. That argument implies or assumes that the form was pied and specially set up again for the ½d, but as No. 55 spaced S appears on the same sheet, the first theory seems more correct.

EDITORIAL.

The recent convention of the American Philatelic Society at Los Angeles, viewed in retrospect, affords many angles on which to hang banners and festoons of thought; and the meeting demonstrated that a national philatelic convention could be held successfully in the extreme west, albeit there is no disguising the fact that the attendance from the east was not all that could be desired. However, the Los Angeles convention had all the aspects of the usual annual convocation with an unusual setting for the social favors. The character of the entertainment was of distinctive kind and was well calculated to impress the visitor from afar whose knowledge of the abundant attractions of California was gained from reading or hearsay. Even the most unthinking of us could not help but be touched by the consideration shown the delegates from a distance and it is certain that the plans that were carried out so smoothly were the result of much preliminary work. Unifiedly and wholesouledly the local members pulled together with the one thought in mind and that was to make the stranger within the gates suffer no discomfort or dismay. This spirit was one that did not escape the eye of the newcomer and it is needless to say that it added to the gayety of the occasion. Los Angeles has made good with a vengeance on its promise to provide a convention that would remain long in memory and hospitality had a big inning.

Several factors contributed to the shortness of the business sessions of which there were but two, but in the six or seven hours of deliberations there was something accomplished. The enforced absence of the ex-president, Mr. Wolsieffer, was a disappointment and to some extent it curtailed the proceedings and discouraged new legislation. The non-delivery of the report of the by laws committee until after the close of the meeting demoralized the work of the convention in one of its important aspects although the report was received just before the close of the convention but was not delivered until after it was over. The absence of several of the members who usually attend conventions likewise disturbed the regularity of procedure and so, under the circumstances, the record made at Los Angeles was a good one. Only one member of the board, Mr. Arp, other than the secretary, was present and while Mr. Wolsieffer delegated Mr. Severn to represent him, the substitute was not as acceptable as the real and original article. With the tools at hand, the convention builded about as well as possible.

When the well-advised report of the temporary committee on by-laws was given to the convention, a movement to adopt the recommendations of the committee was halted by a realization that the report of the standing committee might cover the points under discussion, and finally, in order to avoid confusion and conflict, it was decided to take no action on the report, especially as it was felt that at any moment the report from Mr. Stone's committee might be received. In Mr. Stone's report, which was not delivered until after the convention had adjourned, certain recommendations were made that the committee thought might be acted upon at this time. We quote: "We recommend that the convention amend the Articles of Incorporation by striking out the reference to capital stock, etc., and substituting therefor 'an entrance fee of two dollars, or such sum as the Society may from time to time prescribe. Such entrance fees to be maintained as a permanent fund to be called the Endowment Fund of which only the income may be used.' Strike out in Article IV of the by-laws, the words: 'The remaining six directors must' be residents of as many different states.' Strike out the clause forbidding Directors to hold proxies. Increase the number of proxies that an individual can hold from 50 to 100. Continue the present committee in force until the next convention that they may revise and codify the by-laws in accordance with the change above suggested for the charter. There are a large number of places where slight changes must be made when the charter is amended and others where it is difficult to explain the reasons therefor on paper. It should be done when some member of the committee can be present to make them clear. Last year, the question was brought up as to the duration of a charter, several members being of the impression that there was a time limit. I am assured by the Minnesota Secretary of State that our charter is a perpetual one, which will put such rumors to sleep." The report is signed by Wm. C. Stone as chairman of the committee. It is evident that the action on the proposed changes will be deferred until the next convention.

The report of Mr. Henry A. Diamant, chairman of the much-heralded publicity committee was received and in order that those who may be puzzled to know why the committee after making a flying start banged against the traditional stone-wall, the report is here set forth. The chairman says: "In submitting this report, it is necessary to say at the outset that it is not a record of accomplishment. The reason for this is not to be charged against the committee but is due to an impasse that developed soon after the committee was appointed by President Wolsieffer. It is a matter of record that the American Philatelic Society at its convention last year voted an appropriation of one thousand dollars to the use of the publicity committee, working under the auspices of the society. Assuming that the mandate of the convention would be obeyed, the chairman of the committee worked out a somewhat elaborate plan of procedure for a year of action. Sub-committees were appointed and preliminary work begun when the Board of Directors decreed that it would be inadvisable or unwarranted to give the money that was pledged in effect. This unexpected development made it utterly impossible for the committee to accept funds that might be contributed in the name of the society and the result was that its activities ceased, the expenses already contracted being met at no cost to the society. Further than to record its disappointment at the outcome, your committee has only to say that the welfare of the society will not be conserved until the vote of the convention is made effective, as otherwise a feeling of confidence will be lacking by those who are appointed to work on committees to carry out the will of the convention." In view of the fact that in his address President Wolsieffer recommended that the chairman be awarded a sum equal to that he expended, the report was received without discussion, the understanding being that the new board of directors will take steps accordingly. As there were no expressions of opinions on the question of publicity, the subject was dismissed so far as any action of the convention was concerned and it is believed that this course is in consonance with the wishes of Mr. Diamant, who has labored so valiantly in behalf of the cause for some years.

The committee on choice of 1926 convention city must have had a few things to worry them in the course of their deliberations. It must have been sensed that a number of collectors wanted the convention to be held in August as usual and that other members were bent on having New York chosen with the convention date approximating that of the International Philatelic Exhibition in October, 1926. An invitation was received from New York and one came from St. Louis and the committee reported its findings with the result that the convention voted to hold the convention at New York just before or after the exhibition. The resolution that the next convention be held in August was rejected and New York was chosen. The members probably understand that the attention and energies of the New York folks will be demanded by their own big show and while we have no doubt but that they will be gracious hosts, it must be admitted that they will have a go many fish to fry just before and aft the exhibition. Yet, New York seem to be the logical city and the conventi did the natural thing in wanting to sco twice with one shot. It will be fou that there will be glory enough for a no doubt.

The suggestion that the term of t sales superintendent be made three or fi years has much to recommend it but t feeling prevailed that it would be ind creet, to put it mildly, to make a chan of this kind so radical in its significan without giving members generally chance to speak their minds on the pr posal. The recommendation while giv a hearing was not acted upon becau of the wish to get a broader expressi of opinion on it before attempted ena ment. At first thought a change su as mentioned seems contrary to the spr of our institution, but upon further co sideration, the arguments in behalf of present themselves. This recommend tion is one that will be offered at t next convention.

The convention had its very hum side. The loss sustained by Mr. Enelc of Chicago was detailed to the membe and the letter reporting the theft w ordered incorporated into the recor President Wilhelm exhorted the membe to do all in their power to help appr hend the thief and recover the stam and in a discussion, the advisability giving wide publicity to the loss w urged, although a few members felt th the step was ill-advised for reasons th they repeated and which were based up the fear that the relative immunity th stamps have been enjoying from the a tention of criminals is becoming violate The sympathy of the members was giv to the victim of the bold crime. It w reported that a crook that stole a colle tion from Mr. Bierbauer of Pasaden California, had just come to grief wh he tried to dispose of the stamps in S Francisco and was being held in jail.

The new president of the Americ Philatelic Society, Mr. A. H. Wilhel of San Francisco, is not known perso ally to many members outside of his se tion of the country but those who wer responsible for his candidacy had ever confidence that he would measure up the requirements of the office. He w induced to run on the representation th if elected, he would have the co-operatio of all the members. At the Los Angeles convention, there re things in the reports of the va-us officers that were of particular in-st. President Wolsieffer's recom-ndations made an impression and it s felt that the summaries of the vice-sidents, the secretary, treasurer and nterfeit detector were definite and rough. Interest was shown in Mr. est's figures as sales superintendent the report of Mr. L. R. Saunders as irman of the recruiting committee ked favorable discussion and the thanks of the society were tendered him for his activity and devotion to his work. The reports of the editor of the American Philatelist and the attorney were accepted and the records achieved by each were applauded. Mr. Fennel covered his editorship exhaustively and showed that his financial administration was sound and greatly improved over previous years in a dollars and cents showing.

It was felt that the remuneration of the salaried workers in the society was generally inadequate but in consequence of a wish to proceed conservatively, the only salary increased was that of the secretary, who was awarded one hundred dollars a month. In view of the recommendation of President Wolsieffer that a permanent fund be established, it was the opinion that present financial conditions should be disturbed as little as possible, in order that a free hand might be given to those who may concern themselves in working out the suggestion. It was thought that the dues should be increased and particularly the life membership fee should be raised materially and tentative proposals were offered which were withdrawn when the need for an extended survey of the general financial situation was admitted on which to base added expenditures. The financial analysis submitted by the vice-presidents was in mind and the task of basing findings, with the figures submitted by them was one that could not be disposed of hurriedly, it was realized. It would seem that a proper course in this connection would be through the study of a report of a special committee composed of members with accounting ability and experience; and then procedure would be definite and in accord with the income of the society.

The publicity value of the convention was great and the local papers vied with one another in their presentation of news and special features. Pictures of some of the delegates were run and columns in the aggregate were used to exploit the philatelic theme. The reporters were keen after "stories" and they did their best to give readability to the accounts, even though they did not always ring true to the subject as understood by philatelists. As usual, the "big" element was emphasized and while this tendency to over-capitalize philately was probably acceptable to the public, it was felt by some of the members that it was not always advisable to magnify the monetary angle. A number of old collections were brought in by outsiders and a few desirable things came to the surface in consequence of the publicity.

Too much praise cannot be given those who had charge of the arrangements and the entertainment was of engaging kind. The trip to Universal City, where so many pictures are filmed, was a revelation to those who never got behind the scenes and that to Catalina Island was a novelty that is without competition. The banquet was one that upheld the best traditions of the society for affairs of this kind and the "cabaret" numbers were of no ordinary merit. Sightseeing trips were enjoyable and the ladies were given the undivided attention of Mrs. Passmore, special entertainment having been provided for them. The promises made last year that Los Angeles would take good care of its guests were more than met and the delegates from a distance feel that the trip was well worth while.

The auction sale held by Mr. Poole was a great occasion and for a time the large room was so crowded that it was difficult to find a place in it. There was hot competition for some of the lots and prices were generally good. The Bourse was signalized by a great out-pouring of members and others and stamps had their night. It was well that an evening had been assigned to a real stamp social with its trimming of barter and sale as the purely stamp spirit needed an outlet. The exhibition was one that commanded respect and a list of the stamps shown would prove that it was a display worth anyone's eye.

The personal side of the occasion was of interest, as usual, and many acquaintances were made that will prove pleasant and profitable as time goes on. The actual contact of collectors has an inspiring effect and affords a short-cut to business and other relations and this advantage of a convention may fairly be stressed.

During the absence of the editor, the following letter was received from Martin Johnson, 900 Montrose Avenue, Chicago, in consequence of a news account that appeared in our issue of August 17, 1925: "It seems to me that every time anything is printed or said about me it always has to be exaggerated. I do not know who the people are but they seem to know more about other people's business than their own! I am merely writing to you to inform you that I was never jugged away, held for trial before a jury or under $20,000 bond. Whoever told you that is a darn liar. Even if I am not an angel, you should be a little more careful with what you print in the paper. Print the truth but not lies. I am at any time willing to take my medicine if any is to be taken. Also, I am willing to do the right thing towards the people who have a claim against me but so far I haven't seen anybody who was willing to listen to me and let me tell my side of the story. Furthermore, I am not trying to defraud anybody but conditions always seem to be against me and so it appears that way. I am today what the people made me when they started hunting me six years ago in Portland, Maine. If they would have left me alone and minded their own business things would have looked different today. I am sending you this letter and expect to see it printed in your paper as a statement against what you had in the paper this week about me."

Mr. Johnson's letter is dated August 17, 1925.

Magenta Provisional Envelope

1½c ON 1c GREEN

One of the numerous cities revaluing the 1c envelopes used a magenta surcharge and when I originally acquired my supply I naturally assumed that the variety would be available in large quantities. I now understand that the sale was restricted by order of the Department, due to the fact that they should not have been overprinted in magenta, although I do not recall that the postal order instructed them to overprint in black ink.

This office only surcharged two varieties, namely, a size 5 and a size 13, both die C. Can furnish these while a fair supply lasts at 50c each, or the two mailed flat, unused and entire for a $1.00 bill.

The scarce provisional brown kraft envelope now comes in two distinct varieties, namely, on thin glazed paper (Price 50c), and on thick unglazed paper (25c).

Have just issued a little list showing those varieties of the revalued 1½c on 1c envelopes which I can furnish, that are of interest to the cut square collector. A copy will be gladly mailed upon request.

Can furnish most of the other known varieties. Want lists solicited.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

ALBANIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 1q on 2q with the surcharge "Republika Shqiptare" inverted.

BELGIUM.—It is not always near home that one should look for varieties in the stamps of a particular country. The business of Mr. J. M. Hemsley, one of our regular readers, takes him to all parts of the world, and while in St. Helena recently he had the good fortune to secure from a friend resident there a batch of stamps taken from correspondence received in the ordinary course of business. The friend was not interested in them and, seeing they were apparently the usual run of recent issues, Mr. Hemsley did not pay them any particular attention. When mounting them up, however, he found that a copy of the 55c on 65c provisional of Belgium, 1921, had the surcharge inverted. Mr. Hemsley has kindly shown us this stamp, and there seems little reason to doubt that it is a genuine error, an opinion which is confirmed by the circumstances of its discovery. The postmark is

24 x 24

and it is pretty evident that at least one sheet with inverted surcharge has been sold over the post office counter. The error does not appear in the latest Gelli and Tani Catalogue of Belgium, but similar errors turned up in the surcharged Olympic Games series. The present "find" should be even rarer as the surcharge was only applied to alternate stamps in each sheet. If other readers come across specimens of this error we shall be glad to hear from them.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

BRAZIL.—Mr. G. E. Steward kindly forwards a copy of a decree authorising the issue of special aviation stamps for use in connection with the aerial postage service, when one is established, and until then as ordinary postage stamps. The 200 reis value will be in honour of Santos Dumont, the famous Brazilian pioneer of aviation, the remaining designs of the new series being allotted to allegories representing aviation and recording the experiments from which the present state of the science has resulted.

A letter received from another reader in Brazil is franked by an automatic machine, the value of the frank being 400 reis, and the device, so far as can be seen, the Southern Cross surrounded by a circle of stars, on a diamond-shaped background, with "BRASIL" above and value below, and with a border in imitation of perforations.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

BRITISH BECHUANALAND.—Mr. R. Roberts submits for chronicle the 2p orange with the new block type watermark.

CANADA.—The Economist Stamp Co. inform us of the appearance of the 3c in blue.

CHINA.—Mr. R. Strange informs us that though the $5, $10 and $20 have been withdrawn from use, they are on sale in used condition at all post offices for stamp collectors only. Our informant does not say whether face value is charged for them, but presumably this is the case.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

ECUADOR.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us two values of a new series of stamps. They are the 1c ultramarine showing the likeness of "Roca" and the 5c rose, picturing Urvina.

FRANCE.—The Economist Stamp Co. and Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 40c (Sower type) in an olive brown shade.

JUGOSLAVIA.—Whitfield King & Co. and the Economist Stamp Co. advise us that the 3 dinars blue has been surcharged for use as 25 paras and also for the 50 paras. The overprint is at the bottom of the stamp and is in black.

NORWAY.—We have received from Whitfield King & Co. the following values in the Spitzbergen Commemoration series: 10o green, 15o indigo, 20o magenta and 45o blue.

PARAGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. send us the 1 peso, blue, Columbus issue, with the overprint "C" in red for inland use and also a copy of the stamp without the overprint.

PERU.—The Economist Stamp Co. and Whitfield King & Co. report that the 20c blue, with the view of the statue of Jose Olaya, has been surcharged "Dos Centavos 1925" in three lines in red.

TANGANYIKA.—Whitfield King & Co. note that the 1sh green and black, 2sh purple and black, 5sh red and black, 10sh grey blue and black and the 1 pound have been issued with upright script watermark.

PHILATELISTS I HAVE KNOWN

By SENNA BRIGHT.

Philatelists are those humans who ride the hobby of stamp collecting. This variety of hobby-rider is dominated chiefly by the acquisitive impulse. It manifests itself in various degrees of intensity. At one extreme is the man who collects from the standpoint of the artist. It is he who admires a stamp because of its clean cut beautiful engraving, its interesting design, and color, and for the associations surrounding its use. At the other extreme is the man who collects for the sake of possession alone.

The collector who gets the most thrills and the most fun is the small boy. Such struggling during the week to do without ice-cream cones and movies, so as to have his allowance safe and sound for Saturday's investment of stamps! Such a reckless feeling of wealth as he walks down to the stamp-dealers on Saturday morning with the quarter clutched tightly in his hands! Such an agony of choosing!

"I can buy fifty different ones maybe for a quarter or one keen triangular like Fatty's. Which shall it be?" he thinks to himself. "Fatty Brown has more than six hundred kinds and I have only three hundred and twenty-three, but most of his are damaged. Gosh! I sure would like to have a keen one to wave in front of his eyes." At the dealers he finds big albums filled with thousands of varieties; Abyssinia, Cyprus, Ionian Islands, Cape of Good Hope—visions of strange seas and stranger lands.

"I always thought Gibraltar was just a rock. Gosh all hemlocks! Who would have thought they made postage stamps there!" The different colored squares danced alluringly before his eyes, ultramarine, lilac, carmine, rose, vermilion, sepia. "Say, mister, what is reseda?"

He finally chooses a Liberian stamp with a coiled snake on it, "just out, a rarity" is the advice. And he goes home in triumph to get Fatty's goat.

Quite far removed from the small boy is the collector-de-luxe. He is usually a man of great wealth who hires some one else to find the stamps for him, and to clean and arrange them artistically in his magnificent albums. There are more than a few collectors of this type in the country who kept a highly paid philatelist for the sole purpose of caring for their collections.

The collector-de-luxe invites his friends and enemies into his home, takes them to his library, opens wide his albums, and commands his guests to behold and see. Among the cognoscenti no words of explanation are necessary. To see is to admire, to despair, to envy, to covet, or to be filled with secret triumph at the thought of one's own specimens according to the nature of the beholder. The collector-de-luxe is comparable to the man who collects old masters in painting. Their pleasures and aims are identical.

Then there is the man, who puts his money in stamps as an investment. Old stamps have a mysterious way of doubling and tripling in value. "Ach gewalt," Louie moans. "If I had only put dat tausand dollars in stamps like I should have done instead of buying Germans marks just because Moey Einstein told me marks was going up and instead they went down."

I mustn't forget the man who doesn't dare tell his wife how much money he spends on stamps each day. John plays the cello in a large symphony orchestra and spends his odd moments fooling with stamps. But his thrifty wife nearly faints with horror over every dollar he spends on them. So John lists all his stamp purchases in his budget under "upkeep of cello." The thrifty wife sees a rather large sum of money spent on the upkeep of the cello, and observes, "Why such an ungodly amount on your fiddle?" "This fog and rain is awful hard on strings. Had to get new strings every day," he answers. Goodbye conscience! What are the pangs of a black fib compared to the joys of having acquired a Grenada in perfect condition with that charming little head of the young Queen Victoria so beautifully engraved on it.

There is no denying the fact that sooner or later the average stamp collector gets the "me and mine" attitude towards even his dearest friends. Henry and Herman were old friends, staunch and loyal, until they became interested in philately. Then Henry said to me one day, "Herman isn't the same any more. When I go down to his house for dinner, he asks me to bring my stamps. Well, I bring them to oblige him—but do I get a chance to show them to him? No, I should say not. Herman sits there and gloats over his own collection, and brags because he has more stamps used on cover than I have, and because he has a block of the Brazil Bull's-eyes and I have not, and to cap the climax he tells me that four of mine are counterfeits!"

To my inward glee and amusement Herman himself came to me saying, "Oh! but Henry is changed. You can't do nothing with him any more. I ask him down to my house for dinner, and he brings his stamps along. I show him my stamps also and expect that he will show me enough courtesy to admire them. But no, he is changed. He can't see nothing but his own stamps, and he crows to me because his cancellations are better than mine and because he has more U. S. than I have, and finally he had the nerve to tell me that sixteen of my stamps are counterfeits! Oh! Herman is nothing more than a spoiled baby. I am off of him for life!"

Don't be too harsh in your judgment of these harmless maniacs. If you have a philatelist friend don't laugh at him and call him a squirrel because he has found the joys of forgetting himself in a hobby. A man who rides a hobby can usually laugh in the face of Father Time.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY

The opening fall meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society, held in the clubrooms on September 15th, was attended by thirty-five members who were given a full evening's entertainment in the form of a talk by Mr. Albert Marcher on, "The Wonders of Japan." The wonders that were shown were all philatelic ones, and Mr. Marcher's exhibit of the stamps of that country proved highly entertaining, with the earlier issues very thoroughly worked up and cancellations and perforations well displayed. The counterfeit collection played no small part in the exhibit, as there were many such spurious emissions in early Japanese postal history.

Prior to the entertainment a brief business meeting and an informal auction were in order.

THE IMPERFORATE CRACKED PLATE

By EARL D. EMERY.

In MEKEEL'S of July 27, under the Chronicle of New Issues, there appears a short article on the 1916, 2 cent imperforate, broken plate. I have found out more details of this unusual item that may be of interest to those who specialize in United States issues. The variety shows a distinct vertical crack, 8cm. in length. It is located in the lower right hand pane, between the 4th and 5th vertical rows from the right and extending upwards to between the third and fourth rows from the lower margin of the sheet.

The sheets having this variety bear the plate No. 7582.

I recently wrote to the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Mr. A. W. Hall, in an endeavor to find out just how many sheets of the 2 cent imperforate were printed from plate No. 7582. In reply Mr. Hall stated: "I regret that I am unable to furnish you the information desired, as this plate was canceled June 22, 1916, and the Bureau did not keep such a record until recent years." The plate was evidently withdrawn soon after the crack was discovered, but not until several sheets having the crack had been sent out to at least two post offices, Chicago and Detroit.

I have also written to several dealers who specialize in U. S. varieties and they all said that they had not seen the cracked plate variety and that the item was undoubtedly a rarity.

The Philatelic Agency informed me that they, too, were unable to furnish sheets with the crack.

It has been my good fortune to procure and examine several sheets having the crack at the Chicago post office, and they all were exactly alike. However, all the sheets that were printed from plate No. 7582 do not show the crack. As a result, it is my opinion that the number of cracked plate sheets is comparatively small.

TWO EDITORIALS

The two following editorials show that philately is not an unknown quantity to these newspaper conductors; and we thank the several editors for their intelligent and sympathetic grasp of a subject that is an elusive one, we still must admit, to many newspaper workers. The Grand Rapids editor draws a rare picture of the times of his boyhood and the sentiment that he expresses rings true.

IF STAMPS COME BACK.

Stamp collecting is coming back into popularity among the younger generation, according to dealers in philatelist's supplies. To an older generation, looking back with fond memories to a time when the Charleston was unknown and when gasoline was an explosive compound used for cleaning purposes, this news inspires heart-warming hopes.

Stamp collecting is an indoor sport without headaches or heartburns. It is fascinating, yet at the same time it gives a profitable return in valuable education. Many is the mature man of today who first learned of the existence of Switzerland through acquiring a Swiss stamp from a dealer or by trade with a stamp-collecting chum. Similarly, the particularly elaborate stamps of our Central and South American neighbors expanded early knowledge of geography, and the various series of American prints introduced him to names, faces and phases of history.

In the days when stamp collecting was a popular fad, "Jim" and "Jack" used to meet after school to examine "approval sheets" and trade stamps. Many the shrewd barter that was made on the front porch or, in colder days, in "Jack's" back bedroom. In those days "Authors", too, was a favorite game. Who wrote, "The Old Curiosity Shop", "The Scarlet Letter", "Evangeline" or "Maude Muller"? The boy or girl who knew his "Authors" could tell you in a minute. In those remote times collecting foreign coins also had a fascination entirely aside from fluctuating exchange value; and the boy who had the best assortment of "Petoskey stones" was looked up to by his fellows.

The youngsters of yesterday found a "kick" in those fads. They would walk a mile or more to trade a Mexican stamp for a Spanish, and nobody ever yawned during the play of "Authors", although their elders approved and the net result was wholesome. True, few boys or girls ever became so enthralled in "Authors" or stamp collections that they stayed up until 1 a. m., playing at the games; but in those days decorous youth looked upon an early bedtime as an accepted routine.

If only we dared to hope that the return to interest in stamp collecting might be taken as promise of a revival of the wholesome enthusiasms of the yesterdays, countless distraught parents might at last welcome the swing of the pendulum for which they long have prayed. If a pre-war stamp ever becomes as interesting to high school youth as post-war jazz, there may be a way out of the present mad maze of modern youth. Incidentally, the lad who has found it difficult to "work" dad for the price of gasoline, fox trots and cigarettes, will be surprised if he ever asks funds for a stamp album and the nest-egg for a collection, at the enthusiastic ease with which father pries loose his purse strings.—Grand Rapids Herald, Sunday, September 6th.

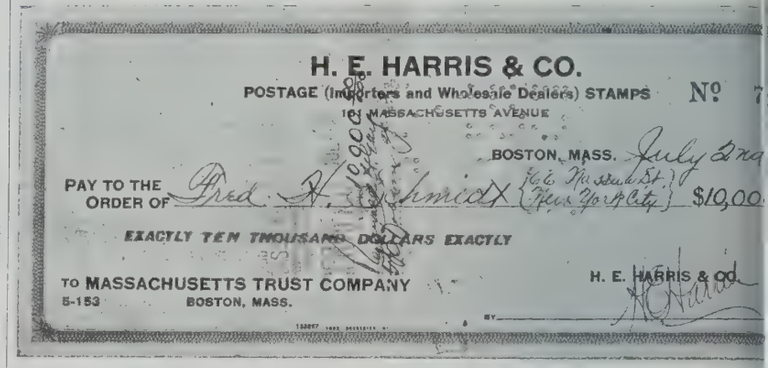
STAMP COLLECTORS HERE.

The philatelists are here for a convention which will last several days. The philatelists are people who collect postage stamps of all nations, both as a pastime and as a business, and there are many thousands of them in the world today. Those gathered here are from the American Philatelic society and they will have many curious specimens of the postage of every civilized land on exhibition.



Some of these stamps are literally worth their weight in gold—and more. That is, the valuation put on them by the collectors, because of their rarity, make them subject to such classification.

The matter of stamp collecting is not a mere childish pastime, although many youngsters indulge in it. For a few pennies any boy or girl can purchase several hundred "foreign stamps, no two alike," and this always proves attractive. When these common varieties are in hand, however, it costs money to increase the collection, and then is tested the real interest which the individual may have in philately. Several collections in the United States are held at more than $100,000 each, while one notable aggregation of postal varieties is valued at $500,000.

The collection of postage stamps is not only pleasing, but also informative, as it is an interesting way to learn much about the history of the various nations.

It is hoped the philatelists will have a successful conclave here, will enjoy the sights they see, and will come again whenever they feel so disposed. They will always be welcome.—Los Angeles Evening Herald, August 24th.

Want to Sell?

Mr. Fred H. Schmidt of New York had been trying for almost a year to dispose of the wholesale stock of United States and foreign stamps left to him at the death of his father.

He offered the stock at various times to several New York dealers. Some were reluctant to purchase because of the comparatively large wholesale quantities; other dealers wanted the stock badly but did not have the necessary cash at their disposal.

Mr. Schmidt was advised to see Harris & Co., so he packed the entire stock in a large trunk and brought it to Boston.

By 1 P. M. of the following day he was on the way back to New York, minus the stock—but with a ten thousand dollar check in his pocket.

We are always in the market for good collections, large accumulations, or entire dealers' stocks. Hardly a month passes but what something along this line is acquired.

And those who have done business with Harris & Co. know that we pay not fancy, but good, fair prices—and spot cash.

If you have anything to dispose of or know of an important stock or collection (nothing valued at less than $500 net) which could be acquired at a reasonable figure, it will pay you to get in touch with us immediately.

FINLAND

By C. A. HOWES.

"By special order," as before related, inscriptions in Russian were again added to the stamps, whose design was otherwise only slightly modified. The new dies were engraved by W. Branstake, the plates made in Copenhagen and the printing done in Helsingfors, just as before. The first stamp that appeared was the 25p in November, 1889, followed by the 2, 5, 10 and 20p in January, 1890, and the three mark values in August, 1890. The perforating machine gradually wore out, producing quite rough perforations by 1892, and finally a new one gauging 14x13 was put in use in 1895. The 5, 10, 20 and 25p seem to have been the only values actually issued with this perforation, though the 2p and 1m have been chronicled. The 5 and 10m were probably not prepared. This was the last distinctively Finnish set of stamps under Russian dominion, and they were suppressed on December 31, 1900.

As already noted, correspondence for Russia was required "to be franked with the postage stamps of the Empire, but bearing a special mark, consisting of a small circle, indicating that the money received for these stamps is retained by the Finland Treasury. As a consequence of the preceding, the sale of stamps not bearing this special mark is forbidden in Finland, and the sale of the stamps with this mark is forbidden in the other parts of the Empire"; this new regulation coming into force on May 1, 1891. The Decree ordering the change says: "The Post Offices in Finland will be supplied with the postage stamps of the Empire by the Department of Posts and Telegraphs, through the Director of Posts in Finland. The cost of the manufacture of these stamps will be paid by the Post Office Department of Finland to the Imperial Treasury at Helsingfors." The stamps were of course engraved and printed at the Imperial Printing Office in St. Petersburg in the same manner as their Russian prototypes, and are therefore in sheets of 100, in four panes of 25 each, for the kopek values, which are perforated 14x14½. The ruble values are in sheets of 40, eight rows of five each and are perforated 13½. This Russian perforation is done by a so-called "harrow" machine, which perforates a whole sheet at one operation. The values followed those of Russia with the omission of the 70 kopeks. The error of the 3½ rubles in the color of the 7 rubles was found at Helsingfors among the sheets of the latter stamp, and only one sheet of forty was discovered.

The letter rate for the Russian stamps was 3k for local, 7k for inland, and 10k for foreign correspondence; registration fee 7k inland and 10k foreign; printed matter 1k if not over 1 loth (13 grams), otherwise 2k for 8 loths.

The final blow came in a decree dated July 4, 1900, wherein it is stated that "it has been thought right to suppress, from Aug. 1/14 of the present year, the use of the Finnish stamps for correspondence addressed to places abroad. After that date letters despatched from Finland to any foreign country should be franked solely by means of stamps of the Empire. . . . In regard to correspondence within the interior of Finland, it is permitted . . . to employ either stamps with the value of the currency of the Empire, or stamps with the value in the currency of Finland. These latter, the design of which is fixed by the Ministry of the Interior, must be similar in outward appearance, including the arms, ornamentation and color, to those of the Empire. . . . The privilege of franking inland correspondence with the Finnish stamps now in use will cease on January 1/14, 1901."

Already, in March, 1899, the Russian Minister of the Interior had ordered that the stamps with circles in the designs should be abolished, as soon as the stock was exhausted, and replaced by the corresponding regular Russian stamps. The above quoted decree simply amounted to the death notice of the distinctively Finnish stamps. When the decree took effect, on August 14, 1900, there was issued by private enterprise and by way of protest, a label with a black ground bearing the arms of Finland in red and yellow and the words SUOMI and FINLAND in white. The price "1—PENNI" was printed on the back. It has been termed the "Mourning Stamp" and was affixed by many in the usual place for a letter stamp while the Russian stamps were placed on the back of the envelope. The Governor-General immediately referred the matter to the Russian Ministry of the Interior and received authority to suppress the practice, which he did by refusing to forward mail matter bearing the labels. They were not employed for more than forty-eight hours.

With the suppression of the Finnish stamps for local use, on January 14, 1901, there was issued a series of seven values in the designs of the corresponding values of Russian stamps but expressed in Finnish currency. These first appeared in lithographed form as a provisional series, to be replaced by typographed stamps of the same designs when exhausted. The designs were drawn and engraved at St. Petersburg, but the lithographing was done by F. Tilgmann & Son at Helsingfors, and the perforating at the Senate Printing Office as before, where a new comb machine gauging 14½x15 was used, which had recently been purchased in Berlin. The 10 mark stamp, being of large size, was perforated with a single line machine gauging 13½. It was typographed in sheets of fifty, two panes of 25, each surrounded by a double-lined black frame. The other values were in two panes of 50 each as before, and the whole set was upon chalk-surfaced paper. The numbers supplied of this provisional issue were as follows:—2p 593,600; 5p 3,088,000; 10p 1,104,200; 20p 3,365,200; 1m 150,000; 10m 13,500.

Previous to the lithographing of this set Tilgmann had attempted to make typographical plates, but had met with such poor success that they were rejected and only some 200,000 of the 5p stamps thus printed were used. These were very similar to the lithographed 5p but were in a deep olive green and printed on ordinary paper, perforated 14½x15.

Meanwhile the electrotypes for printing plates had been ordered from H. Berthold in Berlin and they arrived in the summer of 1901. Plates were made up as before in two vertical panes of 50 clichés each, except that the 10 marks was in a sheet of 100 without any marginal frame lines. The printing was done at the Finlands Staempeltryckeri (Finland Revenue Stamp Printery) on ordinary wove paper. The perforation of the small sized stamps was done by a machine gauging 14x14½. The first stamp issued was the 10p on September 10, 1901.

As it is somewhat difficult for the general collector to distinguish between these two sets, we will endeavor to give the most prominent points by which they may be differentiated. 2p: the best identification is the color, the lithographed stamp being yellow and the typographed orange; a further distinction is in the figure "2" beneath the center oval, which leans somewhat to the right in the former. 5p: both abbreviated words beneath the center oval are somewhat smaller in the lithographed than in the engraved stamp, and the period after the "H" in the former almost touches the letter, while in the latter stamp it is mid-way between the letter and the "5"; the background of the lithographed stamp shows three little dots perpendicularly in the dotted lozenges, while the typographed stamp shows only one dot in the upper part of the lozenges. 10p: the figure "1" is thinner and the serif at its foot thinner and longer in the lithographed issue than in the typographed; the printing of the former is not as sharp and clear as the latter while the color is carmine-rose, the typographed stamp being carmine-red. 20p: the "20" is squeezed in between the abbreviations and touches them in the lithographed stamp, while the typographed stamp shows spaces between the figures and the words; the background shows the same differences as in the 5p. 1m: the figure "1" after MARKKA has no serif at the bottom in the lithographed stamp; the center is yellow-green in the lithographed stamp and blue-green in the typographed issue. 10m: the figures and letters are thinner in the lithographed stamps than in the typographed, particularly the top and bottom strokes of the ciphers in "10"; the letters MA in the top label are joined at the bottom by their serifs in the 1901 issue but are separated in the later issue; the black frame in the 1901 issue seems to be printed more heavily than the later issue, while the background of the later issue approaches a brownish tint rather more than the gray of the 1901 issue.

On July 1, 1908, the 10p, and on August 1, 1909, the 20p appeared, printed from new plates. The 10p is distinguished by having the two white frame lines under the oval of equal thickness where the previous stamp had the lower line much heavier than the upper. The new 20p is generally of a lighter blue than its predecessor and the background is in groups of five dots. The "XX" in the oval band have no serifs at the bottom. These new plates were made in Helsingfors by Lilius and Herzberg, but were printed at the Government Printery as usual.

In 1906 a new perforating machine was brought into use gauging 14 all around and this was used on the typographed 5, 10 and 20p and the printings from the new plates of the 10 and 20p, though these latter also have the 14x14½ gauge.

In 1909 Russia began the issue of a new series, some of the values being in an entirely new design and all being printed upon a wove paper with diagonal crossed lines of "varnish," so-called, upon its surface. According to the decree requiring the Finnish stamps for domestic use to follow the designs of the Russian stamps, a new issue for Finland was necessary and was announced for January 1/13, 1911. It was delayed ten days, however, and appeared on January 23d of our calendar, in five values, a 40p stamp taking the place of the previous 1 mark. As these stamps were printed locally as before, they are upon plain wove paper without the "varnish" lines and are perforated 14. The 10m appeared in 1916 with a greenish-gray background and with 14 perforation like the rest of the set.—New England Stamp Monthly.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF HAYTI.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

Alexandre Petion was born in Port-au-Prince on April 2, 1770. He was the son of a colonist named Sabes and a mulatto woman. Receiving a good education he joined the French army and took a prominent part in the civil war in the island. When Rigaud left for France in 1800, Petion accompanied him. He returned with Leclerc in 1802, with the rank of Colonel. As Leclerc paid no attention to his prudent counsels, he transferred his allegiance to Christophe and later joined Dessalines. Joint author of the death of the latter monster, he was chosen President of the lower part of the island in 1807, when Christophe was in command of the northern portion. Under Petion's rule the western province recovered some share of its prosperity. In 1810, Rigaud returned from France, and soon afterwards was declared Governor of the southern province. Thus Hayti was divided into three hostile provinces; all with mulatto rulers. Petion tried hard to unite the nation once more, but the conflicting elements were too strong for him. He took his failure much to heart and died, it is said, of wilful starvation, on March 29, 1818.

A curious variety of the 2c and 5c stamps is described in the Monthly Journal, for November, 1904. It is said that on the tenth stamp of the top row of all the sheets of these values Toussaint L'Ouverture is shown with a moustache!

The 2c, 5c, 10c and 50c values are all known with the head inverted and the 7c exists with the portrait doubly printed, one being inverted. All six denominations are known without portrait, both perforate and imperforate, but it is believed that these are only proofs or essays.

The stamps were all printed on white wove paper, and some sheets may be found with a marginal watermark reading "Papeterie de Renay," which evidently is the trade mark of the papermaker.

The perforation was made by two single-line machines gauging 13½ and 14 respectively. These were evidently in use concurrently, and not only may all values be found with both perforations, but compounds are also frequently met with. All seven denominations are known entirely imperforate.

As we have already stated these stamps were at first issued with a disfiguring overprint, which was struck by hand in dark blue. This consists of an oblong frame containing the words "POSTE" at the top and "PAYE" below separated by a thick line. On the left side "1804" reads upwards, and on the right side "1904" reads downwards. There are two distinct types of this overprint, one having larger letters and figures than the other. The length and thickness of the line between the two words is also different in the two types. All values are known with the overprint inverted and most if not all are also found with double overprint. The 1c, 2c, 5c, 10c and 20c denominations are known in pairs with and without overprint and it is quite probable that the 7c and 50c also exist in this state.

The 1c of this overprinted issue is known imperforate horizontally and also imperforate vertically.

Varieties with overprint in bright blue are probably counterfeit.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Regular Issue of 1904.

Though we may grant that the issue last described was unnecessary no reasonable objection can be raised to the "permanent" series of the same date. True, large supplies of the 1898-99 issue were still on hand and this issue seems to have been ordered by M. Borro on his own responsibility, but Hayti had a new President and it was therefore fitting that his portrait should adorn the stamps instead of the effigy of Simon Sam.

The set consisted of six values (the 7c being dispensed with) and, as before stated, these also were engraved and printed in Paris, by M. E. Côte. They were printed from engraved plates made from dies adapted from those used in the production of the commemorative series. In the case of the 1c the border at the top was re-engraved, so that the inscription "CENTENAIRE DE L'INDEPENDANCE" does not appear. The base of the design was made to correspond with that of the other values, i.e., the Arms were shown under the portrait and the numerals of value on the columns supporting the female figures. The dates "1804-1904" have been erased, and in place of "1903", which is shown under the numerals at the right on all the other values, "PARIS" appears in tiny letters.

The plates for the other values were made from one common die with blank tablets so that the desired numerals could be inserted in the lower angles. This die was also adapted from that used for the commemorative stamps, the inscription being removed from the top border, which was then re-engraved, and the date above the Arms being erased.

The portrait of General Nord Alexis is shown on all these stamps and, of course, forms a part of the two dies. Nord Alexis was born at Cape Haytien on August 2, 1820. He joined the army at the age of nineteen and in 1847 became adjutant of his native town. When the Empire was founded he was the recipient of numerous honors. He fought with Salnave, Telemaque, and Lafôret in the revolution of 1865, but was defeated. He joined Salnave on the latter's return to power in 1867, and in the following year he acted as Minister of War in the Provisional Government formed at St. Marc. His fortunes varied with the many revolutions and changes of presidents, and he suffered imprisonment on many occasions. In 1888 he joined Telemaque, his former associate, and together they were successful in bringing about the downfall of Salomon. In the civil war which followed, Hippolyte ultimately secured the Presidency, and under his rule Nord Alexis was made delegate extraordinary and returned to his command.

After Hippolyte's death Simon Sam was elected President, and Nord Alexis continued to hold the same office. He joined the revolutionaries against Simon Sam, and was largely instrumental in the formation of the Provisional Government of 1902. At last the Grand Old Man's many services to the State were recognized, and at the advanced age of eighty-two he was elected President.

At first this issue was also disfigured with the "POSTE—PAYE" handstamp, the same two types being known as in the commemorative set, and there are innumerable varieties. All values exist with inverted and double overprints, and several values are known in pairs with and without overprint se-tenant.

The 50c without overprint is known tête-bêche as shown by the following paragraph from the Monthly Journal for February, 1905:

"We are shown a block of ten of the 50c, consisting of two vertical rows of five, one of which is one way up, and the other reversed, thus giving five horizontal tête-bêche pairs. We are informed that an outside (right or left) vertical row was inverted on a small number of sheets only, and we must suppose that a row of impressions was made the wrong way up on a plate which was rejected on the discovery of the mistake. It seems more likely that this curiosity has been produced by taking two impressions from the plate close together on the same sheet of paper".

We believe this variety was caused by printing two impressions on the same sheet of paper, one being upside down in relation to the other, as it is highly improbable such a variety, affecting five stamps, could have occurred by accident on the plate itself.

The paper is similar to that used for the commemorative issue, and the same two single-line machines were used for perforating the stamps.

All values without overprint are known entirely imperforate and the 2c, 10c and 20c values with overprint are known imperforate vertically.

Reprints or very accurate imitations of all six values without overprint are known and also of the tête-bêche variety of the 50c. They are found both perforated and imperforate and are characterized by the whiteness of the paper and the bright colors of the impressions. Most of the imperforates on the market are the reprints, the originals in this condition being quite scarce.

THE FORUM

By H. P. ATHERTON, 318 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to 19th century United States postage stamps; Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

The collectors are already voicing their annual complaints that they didn't add much to the old collection during the summer months, and that they begin to believe that good U. S. are about off the market in fine used condition. It is the same talk we hear every year.

Over in Europe all the little folks are after our used U. S., such as 5c yellow brown and 5c indigo Garfields, 5c blue Taylors, and the 4c blue green, and the carmine Jacksons, also the 1890's, Columbians, Trans-Mississippis, Pan-Americans, etc., etc. They please the boys over there, as they are pretty stamps, and free from technical stuff—wmks., perfs., etc.

As these stamps are said to be hard to find there, some of the more thoughtful ones have made arrangements with our U. S. dealers to secure the pretty 2c and 5c Norse-Americans, with orders to mail these on letters, both registered and regular mail, in order that they may not be without this latest issue, a wise precaution, as they seem scarce to us here in the U. S. A. When their covers arrive they will look so pretty that even a boy who "must have" a single copy of each for his Album, will think twice before removing them from the covers.

Good used U. S. are so scarce that a man will show his friend collector a nice copy of the 4c Trans-Mississippi with some pride, if it is possible to see the "Indian hunting buffalo" thro the cancellation. Wonder what has become of all the nice used copies of recent U. S. stamps?

Years ago the old shop window of the J. W. Scott Co., off Nassau St. in New York City, was the 7th wonder of the eye philatelique, for towering far above the head of the tallest "window shopper" rose the tops of the twin piers, in replica, of the Brooklyn Bridge, modeled in tied up bundles of 100's, of our used 2c Columbians, and the card in that window as I recall announced that this model was made from over one million stamps, a million!

What a shock to the poor visiting country boy who had pestered every mail receiving neighbor till he had finally amassed a grand total of 383 copies! and today when he digs out his 383 to pick therefrom a couple of dozen perfect lightly cancelled copies, ah ha, it is to be surprised, for perfection in stamps is one difficult problem to solve.

In making a collection of the 1847 issue, one writer has computed that possibly one letter in every 200 mailed while '47's were current, bore a stamp. Few small town post offices had '47's, and many of the large offices frequently ran out of their supplies. In the '50's too, many offices were without stamps. These letters without stamps have probably fed bonfires in most every town in the U. S., and perhaps the very paper you are writing on contains a small percentage of some old letters sold as waste paper to the paper mills.

The collecting of these old stampless covers is a rapidly growing hobby, more than a hobby, a study. Those old rates look quite unusual to us now "18¾" stands out prominently on many old covers. To mail just an ordinary letter telling 'em "We're all well, and hope you are the same, weather is lovely, write soon, Good bye" cost 18¾c. That is more than we now pay for a registered letter here in the U. S. A. Postal regulation of rates then and now interests us, for today we pay a 15c registry fee to send mail to our correspondent in a nearby town, while to send the same abroad we pay but 10c; odd, isn't it?

These old stampless covers are often very beautiful, for example I have a wonderfully fine folded letter emanating from "Paper Mill Village, N. H.", a town now extinct, which started out pmkd. in neat little letters with a huge "5" alongside the pmk. all in a bright green. It went to "Hadley, Ms.", and as the addressee had moved on to Springfield, the P. M. at Hadley applied his neat red pmk. and another huge "5" in red under the green "5". Then he drew a line in ink, and added them up to the correct total of 10, which he entered in mss on the cover, thereby saving further arithmetical labors, and adding a pretty cover to my lot of the stampless covers.

Then there are the many covers of the '47 vintage with the Roman "V" or "X", depending as you know on whether the town addressed was over the 5c limit of 300 miles. One very pretty cover is from "Elyria, O.", struck in red, its rate of 20c being made thus "XX", and as these letters are with large open bars, it makes a striking double rate of the over 300 miles type.

Then there are the figures in ellipses; and in rectangles with the corners cut away by segments of small circles; others have very neatly made figures alone, or with the word "PAID". You have undoubtedly saved some of these, most collectors have, urged by the scarcity of our U. S. stamps. You will appreciate these more and more as time goes on. While this is no new idea, the mention of it may call to your mind that the last lot of covers you found, you left the "Stampless" ones, and the suggestion now is that you go and get them before the fall bonfires are started. Maybe you overlooked a cover with a block of 5c 1847's, too!

One way of arranging your finds is to put them into groups chronologically, all the old 18¾ stuff together along with its various other rates, these figures being mostly in mss. Then the 5s together, and the 10s, these coming mostly in 1847 period, once in a while a Confederate pre-stamp cover shows up with these same figures, and they are of course in a class by themselves. Then later on we find all those circles with the "PAID 3" in them, and this will group your covers so that you may have them at your finger tips for reference.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Bronx Philatelic Society was organized on Sept. 17, 1925, at 1017 Tinton Ave., Bronx, N. Y. City. The following officers were elected:—M. Judas, president; E. Lynch, vice-president; C. Burk, treasurer; S. Matzkowitz, secretary; and P. Reebeshel, auctioneer. Meetings of the society will be held on the second and fourth Wednesday evenings of each month at 8 P.M. at 1017 Tinton Ave., Bronx.

—Mr. C. S. George, Grinnell, Iowa, sends a clipping from the Grinnell Register, as follows:

"The collapse of the giant dirigible "Shenandoah" in Ohio a few days ago has unusual significance for Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Steiner, for it carried, on that ill-fated voyage, a message to them from Jeannie Todd Christensen and Soren C. Christensen, of Tom's River, New Jersey.

The card reads as follows:

Dear Dr. and Mrs. Steiner:

Best wishes carried to you by the "Shenandoah," in care of Captain Landsdowne, who will drop this by parachute somewhere enroute to Des Moines. Kind remembrances to you all and to all our Grinnell friends.

Jeannie Todd Christensen
Soren C. Christensen.

Alfred Carlisle C.
Jeannie Catherine C.
Laura Isabelle C.—4 months.

The card was found near Caldwell, Ohio, and was sent on to Grinnell by rail.

With it was the personal card of Soren C. Christensen, senior inspector of construction, U. S. Navy Department."

Mr. George adds: "Dr. Steiner is the author of many books and is a famous lecturer. I wonder if this air-ship carried regular mail?"

—A clipping mailed by Mr. Frank W. Heckler says that the Ford airplanes will carry mail when the route is opened between Chicago and Detroit, although the announcement to that effect has not been made by Washington.

—Word has come from Mr. L. T. Brodstone, publisher of the West, who has been relaxing in England, that he expects to sail for home about September 25th.

—The Anderson Galleries, New York, will sell at auction the stamp collection of William Whiting Nolen, according to announcements that have been received, and it is interesting to learn that these prominent galleries will provide the setting for a stamp sale.

—The Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, Cleveland, gave a house-warming in its new quarters, 2077 East 4th Street, Room 700, on the evening of September 25th. Special entertainment and refreshments were offered.

—The death of Silas Chapman at Hartford, Conn., will be heard regretfully by philatelists who remember his collecting interest and publishing ventures. Mr. Chapman, who was eighty years of age and affectionately termed the dean of Metropolitan Stamp Co., 1482 Broadway (Opposite Times Bldg.), N. Y. C.

Connecticut insurance agents, was singularly happy in his relations to collectors and others and put in practice those little graces that did much to ease the journey onward. We quote from a newspaper:

"For twenty or twenty-five years it has been Mr. Chapman's custom to call at the postoffice before Christmas each year and inquire about foreign letters on hand held for insufficient postage," Mr. Taylor said. "Mr. Chapman would buy stamps for these letters and packages, saying, 'I don't want anybody to know about this. It is my Christmas contribution to the people who live in foreign countries, who might want their mail for their Christmas.' Frequently the postage bills on such mail ran from $20 to $25."

—From the September number of The Stamp Hunter, we learn that Mr. MacLaren was royally entertained when he appeared as the guest of honor at the A. P. S. Branch of Detroit some weeks ago. He mentions incidentally that he and Herman Boers began to correspond and swap stamps forty years ago, which is a little side-light that puts to blush the chap that prates about the "impermanence of stamp collecting."

—Mr. Alex A. Cohen, office of the military attaché, American Legation, Guatemala, Central America, was a welcome caller, and from Mr. Cohen we learned of philatelic conditions in his part of the world. It seems that almost without exception, the stamps most esteemed in a country are its own issues and the rule holds good southward. Mr. Cohen is both a collector and dealer and is particularly well versed in the philatelic history of Central American stamps. He expects to attend the convention of the American Stamp Dealers' Association in New York.

—Mr. H. R. Harmer of London, tells of another find in the lee of the famous Mayfair sensation as follows:

"The sale of the whole of the stamps comprised in the now celebrated Mayfair find has been fixed by Mr. H. R. Harmer of 6, 7, 8 Old Bond Street, W. 1, for Monday, November 9th.

By a happy coincidence the results of another extraordinary find, scarcely less romantic than the Mayfair Find, will be sold at the same time. This consists of some wonderful sheets and part sheets of the rare numeral issue of Uruguay (1866-67) which it will be recalled were lithographed in Britain by the old established Glasgow firm of Maclure, Macdonald & Co.

Mr. Harmer has also succeeded in securing some other unique items which have never been offered at auction before, including such remarkable pieces as a block of 18 Malta 4d brown imperforate, a complete sheet of the 1d lithographed Trinidad (1860), a unique mint corner block of 25 Ceylon 10c on 64c red-brown, perf. 14 x 12½, a superb lower half sheet of 50 (two panes) of the 15 cents orange yellow first issue of Holland, in glorious colour, a mint block of the 1½d rose-red Great Britain, including the OP-PC error, and many other notable items."

INCREASED RATES ON FOREIGN CARDS

In view of the adoption by the Universal Postal Congress of Stockholm of 3 cents (15 centimes) and 6 cents (30 centimes) as the standard postage rates, respectively, for single and reply post cards (including private mailing cards) in the international mails, said postage rate of 3 cents for single cards and 6 cents for reply cards will be applicable, effective October 1, 1925, to Government post cards and private mailing cards mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in foreign countries generally.

In view of the above increase, the rate applicable to post cards (Government and private) when addressed to those countries participating in the provisions of the Pan American Postal Convention of Buenos Aires and certain other special postal conventions, is increased from 1 cent for single and 2 cents for reply cards, to 2 cents for single and 4 cents for reply cards. Said countries are Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Republic of Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Salvador (El), Spain, and its colonies, and Uruguay.

W. IRVING GLOVER,
Second Assistant Postmaster General.

AIRINGS

Two additional bids on air mail contracts arriving a few minutes after the closing hour have been held acceptable and will be considered with the other sixteen bids, under a decision by Horace J. Donnelly, Solicitor for the Post Office Department.

Both bids were for western routes, one to carry the mail between Seattle and Los Angeles and the other between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. They were mailed in California on September 13, destined for dispatch by air mail. The plane on which they travelled was delayed because of weather conditions making flying unsafe and arrived in New York on the morning of September 15 instead of the previous evening. The bids were received at the Post Office Department shortly after 5 p. m.

On the route between Seattle and Los Angeles, Vern C. Gorst of North Bend, Oregon, offered to carry the mail by air at 75 per cent of the air mail postage. On the Salt Lake City-Los Angeles air route J. J. Murray of Los Angeles made a bid at 80 per cent of the postage for the first year, 78 per cent for the second year, 75 per cent for the third year and 70 per cent for the fourth year.

EDITORIAL.

Montreal is awaiting the opening of the exhibition on October 5, 1925, with a feeling of confidence that the occasion will result in a triumph for our pursuit. A correspondent says that while the hearty co-operation of collectors in the United States has done wonders to insure the success of the exhibition through their promised participation as judges, exhibitors and attendants, yet the Canadian collectors and some of those in the mother country have been unremitting in their work for the great display. The attendance from the United States will be good as we learn that some of our readers are getting ready for the trip and in this connection we quote from the New York Times of September 20th:

"Many New York philatelists are preparing to attend the Canadian Philatelic Exhibition at Montreal from Oct. 5 to 9, and some of the best collections in this country will be entered in the competitions. The Collectors Club of this city will be represented by four of its leading experts on the Board of Judges, Alfred F. Lichtenstein, Charles J. Phillips, Theodore E. Steinway and J. A. Klemann. In addition, the judges will also include from this country Eugene Klein of Philadelphia and B. L. Drew of Boston."

Some days ago, Mr. Lyman J. Seely, of J. O. Moore, Inc., Hammondsport, New York, was in Chicago having in custody a valuable lot of stamps and the WEEKLY editor had the opportunity of seeing him to his train. The second episode of what developed into a tragi-comedy is furnished by Mr. Arthur W. Line, Dunkirk, N. Y., who mailed the following clipping from the Buffalo Express of September 18th:

"Strange Clue Leads Police to Valuables — Collection of Stamps worth $20,000 traced through cake of soap—The wrapper on a piece of soap, bearing the label of a Battle Creek (Mich.) hotel was the direct means of returning to Lyman Seeley, a Hammondsport philatelist, his collection of rare stamps, valued by him at more than $20,000. Buffalo police yesterday recovered the stamps from John Snyder, an ironworker, who lives in Lackawanna, and returned them to Seeley.

Seeley and Snyder last week were on the same train en route from Battle Creek to Buffalo. Both had similar grips, and when Snyder got off the train at Buffalo he took Seeley's grip containing the stamp collection, mistaking it for his own. Seeley did not discover his loss until several days after his arrival home.

The only article among Snyder's effects that presented a promising clue was the bar of soap with the Battle Creek hotel label. Seeley communicated with Buffalo police, who, in turn, got in touch with the Michigan city authorities and learned that a man named John Snyder of Lackawanna had checked out of the hotel the same day Seeley passed through that city.

The rest was easy. Snyder was as pleased to get back his own bag containing his extra clothing and toilet articles as Seeley was to get his $20,000 stamp collection. Snyder told the authorities he had not known the value of the stamps."

From Mr. Seely himself, we have received a moving recital of his adventures that furnishes in another column about as good a story as we have had the satisfaction of running for some time; and the happy ending is not lacking to make the tale a finished product.

The envelopes that were prepared for passage on one of the long distance aerial flights to Hawaii have been returned to the senders we are informed, and in this connection, we append the following interesting account of the activities of collectors from the Santa Rosa, California, Press Democrat of August 27th, which is headed: "Stamp Collectors Add to Grief of Daring Flyers." This bit of information is readable even though the object of the flight was defeated, as is known, as it reflects the degree of interest shown by collectors in the philatelic phases of the flight. The article is copyrighted and tells of piles of letters sent in by collectors for transportation in one of the planes. Some enthusiasts have sent as many as a hundred envelopes; and a "reverend official of the Aero Philatelic Society of America" is specifically mentioned, among others. It was said by an officer who was in charge of this mail and described as one who in his youth cherished stamps, that in all probability provision would be made for a light bag of mail. A boy who sent in three envelopes, one for himself, a second for a friend in Hawaii and the third for another youthful collector, was likely to make the desired impression and secure a place for his envelopes in the mail bag; he had a twenty-four cent stamp on each letter.

From Mr. P. J. Drossos, Athens, Greece, the following particulars of impending issues have arrived: "I have just been informed that a Navigation Congress is to be held in Cairo, Egypt, during 1926, and that special stamps have been ordered in consequence to commemorate the Congress, as the three stamps for the Geographical Congress this year. Four designs have been submitted to the King, for the three values of 5, 10 and 15 m. The size of the stamps is to be smaller than that of the Geographical Congress (a good thing, too). The designs submitted are: the light-house of Alexandria; an old Egyptian ship on the Nile (which was discovered buried in the sand); the Nile near the Pyramids and the Pyramids and an allegorical symbol. A special delivery stamp has also been ordered."

From Messrs. Wilcox, Smith & Company, Dunedin, New Zealand, the following letter has come: "All of our New Zealands are now in fine Cowan paper, ordinary watermark, and the experiments are a thing of the past. The most remarkable of the latter was the paper with lithographed watermark. Only the ordinary ½d, 1d and 2d were printed on this paper, and all were very limited in issue. This paper was most unsatisfactory. The watermark was literally lithographed on the back, and then gummed over. It is the most remarkable issue that we have had for a long time. Our big New Zealand and South Seas Exhibition approaches completion and will be opened in November. The exhibition issue will consist of three varieties and we will give you more information in regard to them later.

The newspapers have reported that there is no likelihood that the portrait of President Wilson will appear on a special postage stamp in commemoration of the anniversary next December of his birth. Those who have been active in promoting the suggestion that place be given to President in our postage stamp gallery have been told that for a variety of reasons steps cannot be instituted now to meet their wishes. It appears as though the department was well fortified in its refusal to act favorably on the adoption of the Wilson portrait just now when it says that there is no money available for a special stamp. It has been intimated as well that it is felt in some quarters that the liberal policy of the department in issuing "extra" stamps should be curbed because of the confusion that results in accounting for the many varieties. However, it must not be construed that the department does not view with sympathy the idea of recognizing Woodrow Wilson as Postmaster-General New has not hesitated to say that with a reasonable time the memory of the distinguished man will be perpetuated postally.

From the Washington Herald of September 19th, via Mr. J. W. Creegan, comes the far-flung echo of the recent convention: "It's too bad the Philatellists, conventioning in Los Angeles, didn't pass resolutions urging better flavored postage stamps." The writer, who is too generous with his l's should know that stamps are to lick and not to lunch on.

Then there is the dramatic critic who says that something or other is as uninteresting as watching the painless dentist at work and "let us say, or a postage-stamp engraver." Why pick on stan when the innocent little things mod mind their own business. We know t there are a good many thousand pers in this country who would follow the erations of a stamp engraver with in ested eyes; and anyway the simile i shoddy one.

* * *

The newspapers have contained counts of the purchase by Mr. Edw Stern of the Economist Stamp Compa New York, of the collection of reve stamps belonging to Mr. W. S. Wh valued at twenty-five thousand dolla approximately. Mention is made of so of the rarities, such as the inverted he three cents, green and black, and the t teen cents, third issue, invert; and a bl of fifty of the one cent playing card. fi issue. This bit of publicity is excepti ally good and is prefaced with the sta ment that the coming international ph atelic exhibition next year is stimulati interest among intending exhibitors perfecting their collections. There little doubt but that many of the inte ing exhibitors are beginning to rep any weak spots in their fences.

NEW INTERNATIONAL REPLY COUPON

WASHINGTON, September 16, 1925.

In accordance with the provisions of the Stockholm Convention of the Universal Postal Union, the sale of 11-cent international reply coupons will be discontinued at all post offices at the close of business September 30, 1925, and a new coupon of the 9-cent denomination, which has been provided by the international bureau, will be placed on sale October 1, 1925.

In order that stocks of the new coupon may be available for sale October 1, postmasters at direct and central accounting post offices having sale for reply coupons should submit requisition on Form 3201 to the department promptly for a small stock of 9-cent coupons, based on an estimated three months' supply, until a larger stock is available in the department. To expedite the shipment of an initial supply all other stamp items should be omitted from the requisition.

District postmasters will obtain needed supplies of the new 9-cent coupons by requisition on the central accounting offices, accompanied with postal cash in payment.

Instructions relative to the recall of unsold 11-cent coupons on hand in post offices at close of business September 30 and rules for redemption coupons effective October 1 will appear in the September supplement to the Postal Guide, which will be received by all postmasters before the new coupons are placed on sale.

R. S. REGAR,
Third Assistant Postmaster General.

PROGRESSIVE P. M.

FULTON, Mo.—Fred Williams, postmaster of Fulton and former newspaper man, believes in advertising, and when he took over his present position he carried his advertising ideas into the post office, with the result that not only the citizens of Fulton, but visitors to the town, have been forcibly impressed by his methods.

"I realize that Uncle Sam never holds a reduction sale in stamps or other postal necessaries," said Williams, "but he does like to make as many sales as possible."

So Williams is trying to bring about that result, using cards and printers' ink. Placards in his post office call attention of patrons to things they should know about. Records of the office reveal that sales have been increasing and that the signs have been creating business along lines that had been neglected by former postmasters.

"Patrons not only desire stamps and envelopes," continued Williams, "but unless you call their attention to the other needs or conveniences for sending mail and for getting mail, they are not going to avail themselves of those things. You've got to advertise them. Some people didn't know we carried special delivery stamps or rented the boxes they saw lined up in the lobby. They thought the latter were placed there for ornaments."

So when you enter the Fulton post office you see neatly framed placards that read something like this:

"A special delivery stamp costs a dime. It helps your mail make better time."

Right in the middle of the sign is a brand new 10-cent special delivery stamp so that the prospective purchaser can see what is being offered him. Williams has taken the precaution to protect the stamp from pilferers by placing a glass plate over it.—St. Louis Post Despatch.

OUR HONOR CLUB

Herbert Armstrong, North Bend, Ore.
Sumner Gary, Riverside, Ill.

These two new members of our Honor Club are introduced by Mr. Severn of our Chicago office.

In renewing old acquaintance, Mr. Herbert Armstrong of North Bend, Oregon, took a five-year subscription, thereby rounding out a subscription term covering many years. We remember Mr. Armstrong when he was in Michigan and as a caller at the Chicago office on frequent occasions; and the Los Angeles meeting was not the first convention that he attended. He is a consistent collector who has the stamps.

Mr. Sumner Gary, Riverside, Illinois, not content with the five-year term, made a ten-strike and for ten years more he will receive the WEEKLY. For about thirty years he has been a supporter of the paper, first from Ohio, later from Chicago (Riverside is a suburb of that city), where he is chief clerk to the general agent and superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Mr. Gary has made several interesting discoveries in U. S. stamps of which he has an exceptionally fine showing and we welcome him as a double five-year adherent.

THE HUSSMAN CO. FIRM

It will be noticed that for some time the advertisement of the Hussman Stamp Co. has appeared in our columns. This company is one of the oldest and best known among stamp dealers and collectors and in the past eight months has been reorganized and is now under the management of Mr. C. H. Calman. An investigation of their financial responsibility leads us to believe that one can do business with this firm without fear of dissatisfaction. The company is now located in the very heart of the downtown business district of St. Louis, No. 620 Olive Street, and is now considered one of the largest retail stamp stores in the United States.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

Magenta Provisional Envelope

1½c ON 1c GREEN

One of the numerous cities revaluing the 1c envelopes used a magenta surcharge and when I originally acquired my supply I naturally assumed that the variety would be available in large quantities. I now understand that the sale was restricted by order of the Department, due to the fact that they should not have been overprinted in magenta, although I do not recall that the postal order instructed them to overprint in black ink.

This office only surcharged two varieties, namely, a size 5 and a size 13, both die C. Can furnish these while a fair supply lasts at 50c each, or the two mailed flat, unused and entire for a $1.00 bill.

The scarce provisional brown kraft envelope now comes in two distinct varieties, namely, on thin glazed paper (Price 50c), and on thick unglazed paper (25c).

Have just issued a little list showing those varieties of the revalued 1½c on 1c envelopes which I can furnish, that are of interest to the cut square collector. A copy will be gladly mailed upon request.

Can furnish most of the other known varieties. Want lists solicited.
